New Orleans, 12th May 1834.

On the invitation of Mr. Dolbear, a teacher of Penmanship in this city, upon the Carstairian system, we have carefully examined specimens of the writings of his pupils, whose ages range from 8 to 50 years, written through an entire course of instruction; and after having done so, it is with the highest satisfaction that we can testify to the rapid, if not UNPARALLELED progress which they have made.

From the specimens seen, and the examination of the system made, we cannot withhold the expression of a current opinion, that the system is greatly superior to any hitherto taught. It is to write legibly, elegantly, rapidly, and in good taste, is an accomplishment, useful or desirable, it is upon the principles of this system that it is to be acquired. We therefore, anxiously solicit of the public a liberal patronage in favor of an instructor, whose qualifications are of the highest order, and whose labors promise to be exceedingly useful to this and other communities.
