DAY AND BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES,

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF

MADAM CHARPAIN,

At the corner of Bienville and Claiborne streets.

THIS SEMINARY, whose existence dates some six years back, has met with a success that proves, beyond all cavil, the capacity of Madame Charpain to share of it.

Determined to merit the confidence of parents, Mad. Charpain will do her utmost to make her seminary equal to the best institutions of the kind in New Orleans, and in order to do this, she has employed the ablest teachers.

Madam Charpain has purchased a large and airy edifice on one of the finest squares of the city and the better to consult the health of her pupils she has had spacious and elevated apartments built for purposes of school and sleeping rooms, through which there will be a constant circulation of air from many windows.

Gymnastics have all paid to the improvement of scholars in the English language. For this purpose, American ladies of the highest capacity, and of long years, will constantly reside in the Seminary.

The English, French and Spanish languages, geography, arithmetic, and in short, all the branches of a polite education, will be taught in the Seminary.

As religion should be the foundation of every education, it will be carefully attended to by Madam Charpain, who will conduct to church and preliminary catechisms all her young ladies who may have their first communion to make.

Music having become a most desirable branch of the education of young ladies, Mr. Charpain, from the best musical school in Paris, and ex-artist of the Orleans Theatre, will devote all his time to teaching music. All the Scholars, besides their regular lessons, will practice daily under the eyes of the professor. The study of the piano will precede the performances, when Mr. Charpain will put the pupils through the execution of the regular keys and notes, and this will be attended with no extra charge.

In order to kindle emulation among the pupils, and improve their singing, on the morning of the last Saturday in every month there will be a musical examination and a distribution of premiums.

Madam Charpain, in order to complete the education of her scholars, has opened a dancing class will be taught all the ancient and ornamental branches of needle-work.

During the summer the classes will open at 8 o'clock, and close at 3. Re-open at 4 and close at 6 o'clock, P. M. In winter, they will open at 8½, and close at 3. Re-open at 4½, and close at 6 o'clock, P. M.
