☞ We were rather ahead of the times, in announcing the speedy departure of the snow-king. His majesty sojourned in our city all of Monday night, and did not leave us, until he had plentifully bespinkled the streets with abundant evidences of his visit. In other words, the snow fell until it attained a depth of several inches. Had the frost been more severe, it would have been hard enough for sleigh riding.

GRAND CONCERT.—On Wednesday the 21st, the artists of the Orleans Theatre, assisted by a very large number of prominent musicians, and by the singers of that establishment, will give a grand vocal and instrumental concert, at Armory Hall, for the benefit of Mr. KUFFNER, a worthy member of the Orchestra, who had the misfortune last summer to lose his right hand by the accidental discharge of a pistol, and now finds himself destitute of the means of obtaining a livelihood. The artists, who are always foremost in works of generosity and benevolence, have resolved to make an earnest and united effort in behalf of their afflicted brother, and appeal to public sympathy and munificence to sustain them in their liberal undertaking.—We trust that their appeal will receive a prompt and cordial response.

CONGRESS.

In the SENATE, on the 5th, the doors were not opened till 11 o'clock. At 12, the Senate was called to order, and a vast throng assembled, for the purpose of witnessing the reception of Kossuth.

On motion of Mr. Mangum, the rules were suspended, so as to admit ladies to the floor of the Senate; and, accordingly, Mr. Gwin entered with Madame Kossuth, followed by Pulsky and several ladies. Every available standing place in the Senate was at once occupied by ladies.

Several Senators gave notice of bills, among them, Mr. Rusk gave notice of a joint resolution authorising the Postmaster General to contract for an ice boat, to be placed on the Potomac.

A bill to revive the act of 1816, granting pensions to widows of deceased soldiers of the war of 1812, a pension for the residue of their lives—was taken up, and after debate the bill was laid on the table.

The Senate then, on motion, took up the bill for the relief of Wm. Darby, and after some remarks by Mr. Downs in its favor, it was laid on the table till after the reception of Kossuth.

At one o'clock Gov. Kossuth entered the Senate, leaning on the arm of General Shields, and accompanied by Messrs. Cass and Seward, and others of his suite. When arrived at the bar, General Shields said: "Mr. President, we have the honor to introduce Louis Kossuth to the Senate of the United States."

The chair requested the committee to conduct M. Kossuth to a seat. The committee conducted him to a seat in front of the Secretary's desk.

Mr. Mangum said that in order that all might have an opportunity of paying their respects to the illustrious guest, he would move the Senate adjourn.

And the motion was agreed to.

M. Kossuth remained in the Senate chamber some 20 minutes receiving introductions to Senators, ladies, and others, and then retired.

IN THE HOUSE.—Mr. Carter, of Ohio, moved a suspension of the rules, for the purpose of introducing the resolution authorising the appointment of a committee of five members to welcome Louis Kossuth, and introduce him to the House.

Mr. Stuart, of Michigan, proposed an amendment, that the Chairman introduce M. Kossuth with these words: "We introduce Louis Kossuth;" and that the members then rise, and the Speaker invite him to take a seat which was objected to, and therefore could not be put.

The yeas and nays were then taken on Mr. Carter's motion, which was carried, yeas 117, nays 41.

The previous question having been carried, Mr. Carter moved the adoption of the resolution, upon which the decision was 123 in the affirmative and 54 in the negative.

A resolution was made to refer a bill relative to public lands in the territory of Minnesota to the Committee on Public Lands instead of the Committee on Territories, which was supported by Mr. Hall of Missouri, the chairman of the former committee.

Mr. Richardson, of Illinois, expressed a hope that the Committee would report some system respecting the public lands of the States as well as Territories, and that the government would deal liberally as to donations, and thus promote the settlement of the territories as fast as possible.

The motion was then agreed to.

Mr. Bayley, of Virginia, moved for the suspension of the rules, and submitted a resolution calling on the President for information with reference to the proposition of the British government for sending colored persons in the West Indies, and suggesting that a law be passed, rendering binding such agreements as might be entered into. The rules were suspended and the resolution passed.

Mr. McNair, of Pa., moved for leave to introduce a resolution for appointing a committee to examine the foundations of the wings of the capitol, and to report if they are of sufficient strength to support the building which it is intended to erect thereon.

The rules were suspended, but no quorum voting, it was proposed that the House adjourn.

Mr. McNair again called for tellers, but no quorum voting a second time, a motion was carried to adjourn till to-morrow at 12 o'clock.

A SEASONABLE CAUTION.—We understand says the National Intelligencer, there is good reason to believe that persons in New York and in this city have been endeavoring to thwart important measures of the Government bearing upon its relations with Mexico, and especially the Tehuantepec Treaty, by corresponding with persons of supposed influence or in high office in that country. Whatever may be the other motives of those persons in adopting such a course, it cannot reasonably be ascribed to a sense of patriotic duty, especially when they must be presumed to be aware that they are guilty of the penal offence denounced in the law of the United States which we subjoin.

An Act for the Punishment of Certain Crimes therein specified.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That if any person, being a citizen of the United States, whether he be actually resident or abiding within the United States, or in any foreign country, shall, without the permission or authority of the Government of the United States, directly or indirectly, commence or carry on any verbal or written correspondence or intercourse with any foreign Government, or any officer or agent thereof, with an intent to influence the measures or conduct of any foreign Government, or of any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States, or defeat the measures of the Government of the U. States, or if any person, being a citizen of or resident within the United States, and not duly authorized, shall counsel, advise, aid, or assist in any such correspondence with intent as aforesaid, he or they shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and, on conviction before any court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, and by imprisonment during a term not less than six months, nor exceeding three years. Provided, always, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to abridge the right of individual citizens of the U. States to apply by themselves or their lawful agents to any foreign Government, or the agents thereof, for redress of any injuries in relation to persons or property which such individuals may have sustained from such Government, or any of its agents, citizens, or subjects.

[Approved, January 30, 1799.

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE.—The Legislature of our Sister State assembled at Jackson on Monday, the 5th inst. In the House Hon W. S. Patton, of Lauderdale county, Union democrat, was chosen Speaker on the second ballot. On the first ballot Dr. T. J. Catchings, of Hinds, received 42, Patton 40, and J. W. King, of Coahoma, 3. On the second ballot the vote was for Patton 46, Catchings 4, and King 2, whereupon Col. Patton was declared elected, and was conducted to the Chair by Mr. Benton of Marshall and Mr. Hinds of Jefferson.

F. L. Swan was elected Clerk by a vote of 61. Mr. Dezier receiving 28. Messrs Chiles and Russell were put in nomination, but withdrew before the vote was taken. Mr. Swan was the Union nominee.

THE NEW FRENCH CONSTITUTION.—A Paris correspondent of the Commercial Advertiser, writing under date of the 19th ult., says—"The new constitution to be "granted" by the President after his election is already shadowed forth. According to well informed parties, it is likely to be as follows:

A Council of State, to be named by the President.

A Senate of eighty members—forty one to be named by the President, and thirty nine by the Councils General, from a list of candidates made out by the President.

A Legislative Chamber of two hundred and fifty. Each commune is to name an elector by universal suffrage. The number of these electors will be 60,000. They are then to name 500 representatives. From this list of 500 the President will select 250, who are to form the Chamber.

The President to be elected for ten years, with the title of Regent of the Republic. He shall be responsible unless the communal electors shall, three times consecutively, return a body of representatives out of whom the President shall be unable to select a Chamber in his favor, when, if they refuse the budget, he is to retire.

The press to be free—but not to call in question religion, the "rights of property," or the existing social organization.

LOCOFOCO DECENCY.—Some paper having complained of the discourtesy evinced by the managers of the dinner given to Kossuth by the New York press, in omitting the usual toast in honor of the President of the United States, the Baton Rouge Advocate says:

We don't see the necessity or propriety in doing honor to any man who has not done honor to himself. Neither his personal or official conduct entitles him to any such distinction. And from the probable sympathies he has manifested in favor of monarchies and against republicanism, we doubt whether he would take a toast on such an occasion as any compliment. Had it been a celebration of the taking of Rome by the French Usurper, or of the execution of Lopez, and no toast had been given him, there would have been real grounds of dissatisfaction.

Comment is unnecessary.

INTERESTING FOREIGN NEWS.

Further by the Franklin.

Affairs in France—The election—New French Loan—Coolness Between the French and English—Louis Napoleon and the Despotic Powers, &c.

The consulate Commission was announced to meet on Tuesday, the 23d ult., for the purpose of examining the votes on the Presidential election.

In the army, 243,858 voted for the President, 16,384 voted against, and 345 abstained.

In the navy, 14,675 for Louis Napoleon; 4,830 against him, and 417 abstained.

The polling places in Paris were guarded by detachments of troops of the line and National Guards. In the arrondissements of which the National Guards is dissolved, the troops of the line alone were on duty.

NEW FRENCH LOAN.—The London Daily News, on the faith of advices from its Parisian agent, announces that the French Minister of Finance is about to raise a loan of eight millions sterling, about $40,000,000; but this news is not confirmed by the other newspapers, although no doubt the President's government will shortly be embarrassed for resources. The same authority states that Louis Napoleon is going to abolish the detrio duties and the tax on wines. To supply the deficit that must result from these measures, the government thinks of laying a heavy tax on the rich classes. It will thus be seen that both politically and financially, Louis Napoleon is playing a desperate and hazardous game, and it is predicted that financial embarrassments will eventually join with other contingencies to hasten the fall of the French dictator.

RELATIONS OF FRANCE AND ENGLAND.—A coolness has sprung up between the British and French governments, arising out of the late despotic proceedings of Louis Napoleon. Upon this important subject we copy the following from the letter of the Paris correspondent of the London Times, dated the 20th December.

Soon after the coup d'etat of the 2d, a communication was made in the name of the English Cabinet to this government, in which, while any irritating expression or comment appeared to be avoided, explanations were asked as to whether it was contemplated to completely abandon the liberal and constitutional policy which had previously formed the bond of alliance between the two countries.

The President of the Republic was reminded that England and France, connected, as they had so long been, by the similarity, so far as the difference of character of the two people permitted, of their respective institutions, were at the head of European civilization, that both still enjoyed, with the necessary modifications, the advantages of a representative government, freedom of the tribune and liberty of the press; that a suspension or cessation of such guarantees for public liberty would necessarily imply an abandonment on the part of France of those political advantages, and would necessarily diminish, in a considerable degree, the sympathies entertained in England for a system like the present, so widely different from its own, that a coup d'etat which abrogated the constitution, annihilated the Legislature, and destroyed the liberty of the press, was, and must be distasteful to the people of England, so remarkable for its enthusiastic attachment to all those institutions; and the French government was earnestly called upon to give some explanations of its intentions, or of what it proposed doing, so soon as the embarrassment of the present situation had disappeared or been materially diminished.

The note which I speak of was of considerable length, and its tone was, I am assured, though not irritating, at all events decided and energetic. The answer is said to be what perhaps might be guessed under the circumstances. It is purported to repudiate all intention of abandoning a liberal policy; it spoke of the President as having no desire to establish a despotic authority, it alleged the difficulties of his situation; the dangers that had threatened not only France, but the European continent, from the rapid and fearful progress of socialism, &c, and it repeated the arguments already so often put forward in excuse of the act of the 2d inst.

This answer, though I believe of equal length with the original communication, was not considered as sufficiently satisfactory; there were not found in it assurances of a positive nature, sufficiently so to satisfy the parties to whom it was addressed. A second communication was made, less of an official than a personal kind, and in the name of one of the most prominent members of the English cabinet—not the Foreign Minister, and I use the word non official, because it was addressed not to a member of the French Government, but to a personage who, nevertheless, is supposed to possess, and I believe does possess, no inconsiderable share of influence, owing to circumstances no way interesting to the public. This second communication was also replied to, but the answer, entering as it did into it, greater detail, and repeating with more force the reasons and arguments used in the first, did not produce any greater satisfaction.

It has been urged on the part of the noble Lord referred to, that it was absolutely necessary to give explanations of a still more precise kind, that public opinion in England required them; that the momentous events which had just taken place in France would, no doubt, be commented on in the English Parliament, as they had been in the press of the same country; and that it would be not merely satisfactory, but absolutely indispensable, for the British Cabinet to have some data—some assurances some thing positive, in fact—to present to Parliament when, as would certainly be the case, explanations were demanded, and that it was scarcely necessary to say these explanations ought to be of a satisfactory kind.

In addition to this reply to this second note, it was decided that a person should be sent to London to confer directly with Lord Palmerston and give explanations which, it was hoped, would be satisfactory. The party in question, however, is said to have declined the mission on the ground of not be able to give positive assurance, or an explanation of the intentions of the government of that precise nature which it was evidently the desire of the English Cabinet to possess. Such, I am led to believe, is the situation of affairs up to a very recent date.

Louis Napoleon and the Despotic Powers.—The personal relations of Louis Napoleon with the despotic powers, are scarcely more satisfactory than with England, as will appear by the subjoined paragraph from the letter of the correspondent of the London Times, in the French capital:

With reference to the continental powers, I am assured, on the same authority, that what has lately occurred has not disposed those powers to regard the act of the President as one that ought necessarily to induce them to give him any more sympathy or support than they have hitherto done. While admitting that to use their own terms, the President has succeeded in restraining and crippling the power of the "enemies of order," in all continental countries they still regard that act quite as conducive to his own interests as theirs. The suppression of the revolutionary party ought not, they are said to allege, to change their views with reference to a power that had its origin in a popular movement.

They admit that as France is the hot bed of revolution, any blow aimed at it there must necessarily produce a corresponding effect elsewhere; but even that advantage does not, and cannot, induce them to consider the power of the President or any power similar to it, otherwise than as provisional, or as a stop gap, but by no means such as would induce them to regard it in the light of a legitimate and permanent authority, and that in fact a ruler whose sway might be stopped by the merest accident, to say no worse, is not quite that on whom reliance could be placed as on one of a legitimate kind. They admit the services rendered to what is considered by the powers in question the cause of order, and their relations with France will otherwise continue the same as heretofore; but on questions of European policy the provisional nature of the present system cannot be forgotten. Such, I am assured, is the present position of the President with these powers.

FRENCH REFUGEES IN BELGIUM.—The French Minister of Foreign Affairs has intimated to the Belgian government that the government of France cannot tolerate that the political refugees, who have either been sent away by the French police or have sought safety in voluntary exile, should find a refuge within the Belgian territory. The whole of the French political refugees in Belgium have consequently been invited to "move on." Piedmont and Switzerland have also received hints on the subject, and it is said that, if they should not accede to the wishes of the French government, some more active measures will be adopted next spring, with the consent of Austria, to force them to do so.

MISCELLANEOUS.—The Franklin could not, in consequence of her great draft of water, obtain egress from the Havre docks, owing to the low state of the tides on the French coast, on her appointed day of sailing, viz: Wednesday, the 17th December, and her departure had to be postponed for four days.

Hon. Robert J. Walker was about to embark for the United States.

A telegraphic dispatch from Vienna, given in the Kreuz Zeitung, states that the sisters of Kossuth will be shortly removed to Pesth."

A company is at last forming, and has applied for an act of incorporation, for establishing steam communication between the west coast of Ireland and the United States. The association is to be called the European and American Steam Packet Company, and is advertised in the Times of the 19th ultimo.

The Kreuz Zeitung states that there is a probability of the Emperor and Empress of Russia visiting Berlin during the ensuing spring.

The Austria cabinet has announced to the German government that, though it regrets Prussia will not accept its invitation to send an envoy to the Continental Congress, to be held at Vienna, the conference will be held as appointed.

Louis Napoleon is said to have given the Prussian government and other great continental powers the most formal assurance of his intention to preserve peace, and devote all his force to the repression of the anarchical elements within the French confines.

The federal corps of twelve thousand men, to be stationed near Frankfort, is already marching to the quarters designated for it.

There is little doubt that the treaty of Hanover with the Zollverein will be affirmed. The Hanoverian Chambers are about to adjourn till January.

Quite a stampede took place to day in Vermont Central Railroad Stock, in consequence of a report current in the street that certain collateral bonds of the company had been repudiated by the directors. It is also reported that the gentleman who pledged the bonds has assigned his property to the Vermont Central Company to protect his liabilities contracted in the name of the Company.

The New York Tribune of the 5th says:

The creditors of Messrs. S. G. Cornell & Co. had a meeting a few days since, and upon an examination of the affairs of the concern, they look more promising than was anticipated.—Messrs. Houghton, Merrill & Co. was one of the firms we alluded to some days since as having failed.

BOSTON, Jan. 2, 1852.

The late heavy rains and melting snows have caused freshets in the Vermont rivers, with damage to the Northern Railroads. The engine of a wood train on the Central Railroad, fell through a wash in an embankment at Bolton—the engineer and firemen were caught by the footboard—and Myrick, the engineer, was burnt so badly that he died. The fireman will recover. At West Lebanon, a temporary bridge erected in place of one lately burned, was carried away. The rivers are all very high, but we hear of no other damage.

WALPOLE, N. H., Jan. 2.

The water in the Connecticut river rose very rapidly, and to a height never before known, last night. It carried away the bridge at this place, breaking telegraphic poles, and covering the meadows with ice. It also carried away a large culvert on the Valley River railroad.—The Rutland cars have not arrived this morning.

ALBANY, January 2.

The Hudson River Railroad has been submerged by the freshet for several miles, and some mile or two of the tract below Castleton is washed away. The business of the road is suspended. Passengers coming and going from New York go by the Housatonic line. The crossing here is by ferry; but the water is still over the dock and pier.

The new State officers entered upon their duties this morning. Several changes of clerks have been made in the Comptroller's and Secretary's offices.

The river commenced rising rapidly at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when it reached a greater height than any time since 1839, in which year it was but a trifle higher. It has been receding since last evening.

HONOR TO HENRY CLAY.—The Maysville, (Ky.) Eagle, alluding to the resignation of Mr. Clay, suggests:

"Whether it does not become the Legislature of Kentucky to signify, by some fit and appropriate form of expression, its own as well as the general sense of the people of the State, of the great and patriotic services of Henry Clay, not only to his country, but the cause of man's freedom in all climes, the public regret at the cause of his retirement from the public service, and the pride felt in contemplating the glorious career of his public life."

Upon which the Frankfort (Ky.) Commonwealth remarks:

"We second this suggestion with all our heart, and the more earnestly, because we believe the time has come when both parties can unite to do honor to Henry Clay. He is no more to be a candidate for office. His connexion with party politics is past and gone. He stands before the country in a position higher than that of any party leader. The whole Union, the whole world, regards him as the great statesman and patriot who has thrice saved his country. The representatives of the people of Kentucky will gratify their constituents and honor themselves by distinguishing in some appropriate manner the close of his public life. Now seems to be the fitting time for such an honor, for it is much to be feared that, when the next General Assembly shall convene, it will be too late for him to reach his ear."

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. American and U. S. Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4th.

Despatches have been received at the State Department from Mr. Rives up to the 18th ult. which express the opinion that the coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon was a complete revolution, and movement and furnish details similar to those already published. Mr. Rives and the Swiss minister were the only members of the diplomatic corps who had declined to attend the President's soirees, and the latter had finally resolved to present himself. The views of the Administration on the whole subject will be forwarded to Mr. Rives immediately.

The fear seems to be now here, that the affair of the Prometheus will be satisfactorily adjusted, and that no British force will be maintained at San Juan hereafter. Mr. Webster's despatch on this subject to Mr. Lawrence had been sent to Lord Palmerston. Its high spirit is commended.

Sir Henry Bulwer will go to Italy for his health, probably on a diplomatic capacity. A new minister, the United States will soon be appointed, a special authority will be conferred on Mr. Crampton to settle all pending questions.

At a meeting of the Council held at the sitting above written, the following report and resolutions were unanimously adopted, and, on motion, ordered to be inserted in the city papers for general information, together with the annexed letter and extract from the Act of Compromise:

The Finance Committee have to report: That within the last few days they have learned with regret that certain parties who signed the late Act of Compromise before H. B. Cenas, Esq. notary public, for the settlement of the Batture question and of the municipality, had erased their names therefrom, upon which information your committee addressed a communication to H. B. Cenas, Esq., notary, who were the parties who had so erased their names, [illegible] stated that Messrs. H. R. Done, H. Hardy, and Carl Kohn, who represent several of the parties, claimant, had erased their names about the [illegible] in person from the said contract. Your Committee also addressed a note to Mr. C. Roselius, attorney for the municipality, in the premises, requesting him to inform whether or not the parties who had signed the act, could thus legally revoke it by crossing out their names, and, if so, what would be the effect of the erasure. Mr. Roselius in his reply, which is hereto annexed, states it as his opinion, that the parties who had signed the act cannot, by erasure, revoke their signatures thereto, and that the contract is binding on all who so signed, and the contract was fully [illegible] although no such erasure had taken place. Your committee recommended that the sale of the property be proceeded with as advertised. Your Committee have therefore instructed the auctioneers to proceed with the sales, believing this course to be for the best interests of the Municipality, and in furtherance of the act of Compromise.

A. P. OTHER,
HENRY RENSHAW,
C. D. YANCY.

Your committee offer the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, This Municipality through her Finance Committee did, in conjunction with certain other parties, on the [illegible] of 1851, sign an Act of Compromise before H. B. Cenas, notary [illegible] and whereas certain of the said parties have since erased their signatures; and whereas the Finance Committee of this Municipality have consulted with counsel, who have given it as their opinion that the said act being now in full force [illegible]; Therefore,

Be it therefore Resolved, That the said Finance Committee proceed to sell the lots [illegible] on the Batture in front of this Municipality, as advertised, provided in their judgment the said property shall sell for a fair price.

Be it further Resolved, That the Finance Committee be authorized to postpone said sale, if in their judgment the said property does not bring a fair value.

Be it further Resolved, That the Municipality will warrant and defend [illegible] on the authorization of their Finance Committee.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. [illegible]

A. Brother, Esq., Ch'rman of the Finance Committee.

SIR—In answer to your note of Saturday last I [illegible] to state that the parties who [illegible] the act of compromise, in relation to the batture in front of the municipality, had no legal right to withdraw their names from said act, [illegible] erasure of their names cannot affect the validity [illegible]. I think it is clear that the contract was perfect and obligatory upon the municipality and all the other parties who had signed it. In contemplating agreements it is true the parties have a right to retract their steps as long as they have not signed, but the right is based on the principle that one party cannot be bound unless the other is equally so, but I consider that the act of compromise has not entertained any reciprocal obligations as between the original donors and the parties, and set up by them must necessarily be confined to the property originally belonging to them or to those under whom they claim. The obligations created by this contract are distinct and independent of each other so far as the donors, or their representatives are concerned. As the proper representatives of the municipality have signed the act of compromise and have thereby bound the corporation, it seems to me to follow as a necessary consequence that all the parties who have given their consent to the contract by affixing their signatures to it, are equally bound, and cannot be permitted to release themselves by the erasure of their signature, the erasure being in my opinion, illegal, must be considered as if it had not been done. My advice, therefore, is, that the sale of the property be made as advertised, that is to say that the property formerly belonging to the persons who had signed the act be thus sold, leaving unsold, for the present the property in which the donors are interested who have never signed the compromise.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

C. ROSELIUS.

[Extract from the Act of Compromise.]

Section 2. That the lots composing the squares or islets between the said three new streets shall be sold at public auction by Beard & May, auctioneers of this city, or by such other auctioneer as may be named by the Council of Municipality No. Two and the parties to this act. And it shall be made the duty of each auctioneer or auctioneers, to draw up a formal process verbal of the sale of the said lots, and to sign the same, and to deposit a duplicate thereof with the undersigned notary, and acts of sale of the said property shall be passed before the said notary and shall be signed by the Finance Committee of the said Council and by the purchaser or purchasers, and the acts of sale thus signed shall be binding upon all the said parties of the second part as vendors.—That the said auction sales shall be made after advertisement in at least two newspapers published in New Orleans, and shall be continued from time to time until all the lots are sold. That the lots in the squares between New Levee and Fulton streets shall be sold in the winter of 1851 and 1852, unless the sales shall be postponed by consent.
