☞ No mail steamers left Charleston on the 25th ult., for Savannah or Wilmington, and none arrived from either place. The weather was boisterous and cold, a westerly wind prevailing.

South Carolina.

The Legislature of South Carolina assembled at Columbia on the 23rd ult. In the Senate the Hon. ANGUS PATTERSON was elected President. In the House the Hon. WM. F. COLCOCK was chosen Speaker.

Gov. AIKEN's message was transmitted the next day. It is a document of commendable brevity—not exceeding a column and a half of the Charleston Courier. After the usual preliminary felicitations, the Governor remarks that the great failure in the provision crop of the State last year, has been followed during the present season by a most plenteous yield. The cotton crop is a fair proportion. Public health has been uncommonly good. Then follows an allusion to the policy of the Federal Government upon the Tariff question, in which his Excellency of course takes occasion to express his gratification at the overthrow of the protective system, and at the progress given to the principles of Free Trade.

In respect to the Mexican war Gov. Aiken views it as a measure forced upon this country by the utter disregard of national obligations imperative upon Mexico. Though its progress has redounded signally to the glory of our arms, he regrets its continuance, as tending to infuse new and dangerous passions into our people, and perhaps, new and dangerous elements into the administration of our Government—leading us into wars and conquests, away from that peaceful policy by which our Constitution is to be preserved, and the permanent prosperity and greatness of our country most effectually secured. He commends the effort made by the Government to renew peaceful relations in the very midst of our triumphs, but until Mexico shows a disposition to meet us in a friendly spirit, trusts that the war will be prosecuted with efficiency and vigor.

The message next adverts to local affairs. The subject of education is earnestly pressed upon the attention of the Legislature, and the Free School system is stated to require several modifications. Military Academies are urged as important and useful nurseries of soldiers. The South Carolina College is in a flourishing condition. A professorship of Geology and Agriculture is suggested. The Charleston College and the Medical College in the same metropolis are institutions that enjoy a large share of public favor. An appropriation of five hundred dollars is asked to purchase copies of Professor HOLBROOK's great work on Icthyology.

The indebtedness of the State has been materially reduced. A balance of $500,000 has been paid off by the Bank of the State, and the several issues of State Stock have been redeemed as they became payable. A reduction of the rate of interest to a lower standard—six per cent,—is advised.

The message strongly urges the enlargement and improvement of the internal communications of the State by means of railroads. The South Carolina railroad company is in successful operation, and the patronage of the State can be properly transferred from it to other enterprises requiring encouragement. A geographical and agricultural survey of the State is greatly needed. The establishment of a Penitentiary is recommended as an effectual mode of substituting wholesome and just punishment for the unnecessarily severe penalties that darken the criminal statutes of the commonwealth.

The condition of the Militia is such as to inspire the highest confidence in its organization and efficiency. An increased appropriation is recommended to maintain this strong arm of State and national defence. The requisition upon South Carolina for a regiment of infantry to aid in prosecuting the war with Mexico, has been promptly met. The only difficulty was to make a selection from the large numbers that offered their services.

The message closes with a compliment to the Hon. GEORGE McDUFFIE, whose resignation as United States Senator, is officially transmitted. Altogether Gov. AIKEN's communication is a model document—brief, perspicuous, elevated and dignified.

Mr. Buchanan.

The probable withdrawal of Mr. BUCHANAN from the Cabinet is just now a theme of [illegible] letter writers. It is said that the Secretary of State has determined to abandon his post, and it is surmised that the main reason for this movement is the radical difference of opinion existing between himself and the President on the subject of the Tariff. But with due deference to the quick apprehensions of the letter writers, this reason hasn't a particle more force now than a year ago.—If Mr. BUCHANAN considers his position in the Cabinet irreconcileable with his opinions on the Protective principle, he should have resigned immediately after the passage of the Act of 1846. That must have convinced him—if he needed any further proof—that the President was a partisan of Free Trade. Besides, we are told by these same shrewd correspondents, that Mr. BUCHANAN is, in the main, in favor of the new Tariff, "with certain modifications"—which doubtless would include a high protective duty on coal and iron. Yet, as the Union declares that the administration is determined to adhere to the bill in its present shape and to accept of no modification with a view of conciliating great interests, it is probable after all, that if Mr. BUCHANAN should resign, his conduct will have been dictated by the conviction of the impossibility of accomplishing anything for his native State.

We trust that whenever Mr. BUCHANAN retires, he will clear up one mystery in his public career—that he will explain to the people of Pennsylvania by what process of ratiocination he came to the conclusion two years ago, that Mr. POLK was the staunch advocate of protection, and that the Tariff of 1842 was as safe in his hands as in those of Mr. CLAY. We hope for his own sake that Mr. B. B. will elucidate this problem, in order that the democracy of the Key Stone State may discover whether they were duped by him, or whether he, in his turn, was the victim of perfidious protestations and promises deliberately made and as deliberately violated.

There is yet another point upon which Mr. BUCHANAN can and ought to furnish explicit information. He has been repeatedly called upon by a journal of his own party to state the part taken by him in the intrigues and caucusses which preceded the election of JOHN Q. ADAMS to the Presidency in 1824; and thus to vindicate the fair fame of Mr. CLAY, or blast it, if such a thing be possible. He has thus far preserved an unbroken silence. Perhaps when released from the cares and responsibilities of public station, he may deem it his duty to answer the appeal. We hope so.

Col. Walker.

A public meeting was held at Richmond, Va., on the 21st ult., to respond to the proclamation of the Governor of Virginia for the enlistment of a regiment of volunteers. Capt. EDWARD C. CARRINGTON was called to the Chair. After some remarks explanatory of the objects of the meeting, he introduced Col. SAMUEL H. WALKER, of Texas. The Richmond Times gives the following account of the brief harangue made by that daring soldier:

"Col. WALKER came forward amid deafening cheers, and the most eager curiosity was exhibited to see the gallant Ranger, the fame of whose daring bravery and brilliant services had become so familiar in every ear. He is a thin man, of medium size, without the usual erectness of the soldier, with sandy hair and fair complexion; and, on the whole, at first, certainly unprepossessing. He bore on his face, however, the honesty and determination of the true soldier; and when excited, his eye discovered plainly enough of what stuff he was made. He said he had never spoken to so large a number of men—except, he added, on the field of battle; and went on, in his plain soldier-like way, to tell those who might wish to volunteer what sort of life they might expect. He said it was no child's play, but any man who had the resolution, could easily stand all the hardships of war. We observed that he dwelt most upon the hardships of marching, as being the chief difficulty in the way of the volunteers. But this, he said, was nothing, if the men would determine to go through with it.—'You must expect,' he told the volunteers, 'to meet with many difficulties—and you must be disappointed.' He expressed perfect confidence in the ability of the army to whip the enemy out of all their strongholds, and said, in conclusion that if the Richmond volunteers would enter the war with the right spirit of determination, they would find it an easy thing, and would be sure to be at the battle.

The gallant Colonel, adds the Times, showed very plainly that he knew more about action than talking; but he had an audience who honored him as much as if he had spoken with Ciceronian oratory.

FIRE IN LYNCHBURG.—On Sunday Evening, 15th inst., about dark, the small frame building in the rear of G. W. Smithson's Confectionary Store on Main street, in Lynchburg, was discovered to be on fire. It was partially consumed before the flames were gotten under. On the next morning, about 1 o'clock, another alarm of fire proceeded from a stable, belonging to Capt. Pleasant Labby, in rear of Dr. Seay's Apothecary establishment. The flames, however, were quickly arrested.

FLORIDA OLIVES.—[illegible] of the St. Augustine News has been [illegible] the cultivation [illegible] of commerce.

THE CALL FOR TROOPS.—The new movement of the Administration in calling out nine additional regiments of volunteers, is ascribed, by the intelligent and well informed correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot, to a letter from Col. BALIE PEYTON, to the Secretary of the Navy. Col. PEYTON, he says, tells his friend, Secretary MASON, that the 50,000 troops which Congress authorised the Executive to call out, should forthwith be brought into the field, and that, if the Government wishes to bring Mexico to terms of capitulation and peace, a vigorous blow must be struck in the right quarter, &c. The writer adds:—

Col. PEYTON has been much with Gen. TAYLOR and Gen. WORTH, and doubtless knows their sentiments in regard to what step ought next to be taken, if we intend to effectually whip Mexico. It is better for him, perhaps, to speak out on the subject, than for those distinguished officers, who prefer to follow the orders of the Government, rather than to dictate to it what ought to be done.

It is fair to presume that the Administration has been induced to take the new step in question by the patriotic advice of a distinguished Whig. For one, I freely give Mr. POLK credit for following the advice of Col. PEYTON, a man that he loves just about as little, perhaps, as he does Col. PEYTON's devoted friend, HENRY A. WISE!

THE MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH.—The Richmond Whig says:—The Telegraph is about to be extended as far South as Petersburgh—preparations for that purpose being already in progress. The Fredericksburg Recorder says, the wires will probably cross the bridge at Georgetown, and continuing through Alexandria, Occoquan, Dumfries and Stafford Court House strike the railroad at Brooke's Station, and follow that road into Fredericksburg. It is to be hoped that some arrangement will be made to secure this medium of transmitting intelligence from the abuses now charged, in the New York and Baltimore papers, upon that portion of the line between the former city and Boston. The managers of that line are charged with inaccuracy in the transmission of news, and with favoritism to speculators, by which both the press and the public are deprived of their rights. Ought not Government to take the whole line under its own control!

UNGRATEFUL.—A very downright piece of rascality was perpetrated in Philadelphia on the 19th, as described by the N. Y., Mirror. During the heaviest of a severe shower, a gentleman was hurrying along with an umbrella over his head, when he was accosted by a well-dressed fellow, who asked to be permitted to avail himself of his shelter, as they were going one way. The privilege was instantly accorded, and the twain walked together for four or five squares, when the umbrella-less individual took his leave, with a profusion of thanks. In a few minutes thereafter, the man with the umbrella discovered that he had been robbed of his gold repeater, which was taken from his fob, unperceived. The Jeremy Diddler is described as being 'irresistibly amusing, possessing a rich fund of anecdote, and a remarkably happy way of telling short stories.' All attempts to recover the watch, or find the thief have proved fruitless.

FROST.—Yesterday morning, says the Savannah Republican of the 25th ult., we had an old fashioned, substantial white frost—one that was visible around the city. The incident caused us to look over our old files, where, among many other items of interest, we came across the following:

From the Savannah Republican, Oct. 16th, 1818.

It is a fact that on the 23d of April, 1818, we had a severe frost, and on the 5th October, same year, a frost—allowing the planters in Georgia only five months and thirteen days to raise their crops. Scarcely any corn has been raised, and the yield of cotton will not be half of that of last year.

MORE INCENDIARISM AT CHARLESTON.—The Evening News of the 25th ult., says about 12 o'clock last night, the servants on the premises of Mr. John Smith, corner of Magazine and Mazyck streets, were aroused by the noise of some one getting over the fence and attempting to get into the kitchen. They immediately gave the alarm, and the neighbors were called, but the villain succeeded in making his escape over the fence, showing his indignation at his discovery by cursing the negroes who exposed him. The premises were searched, and where he leaped over the fence a box of matches was found. Citizens had better be on the look out, and the City Guard more vigilant.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning as the mail boat Mount Vernon came along the wharf at this place, Mr. Chas T Hull, the worthy and popular mail agent, met with a serious accident. He was in the act of throwing the mail bags from the boat upon the wharf, when one of the gangways, which was laid across the rail, came in contact with one of the posts of the wharf and was thrown back with great force, the end of it striking Mr Hull just under the right eye and inflicting a deep gash, which bled profusely. The cheek bone was also slightly fractured. The wound was promptly dressed by Dr. Murphy, and Mr. Hull returned to Washington a few hours after the occurrence. We trust he will be able to resume his duties in a very few days.—Alexandria Gazette, 20th ult.

Col. P. M. BUTLER is now in Columbia, and will remain there for the purpose of completing the organization of his Regiment, and should be addressed, for the present, at that place.

J. P. DICKINSON, the Lieut. Col. of the Palmetto Regiment, reached Branchville yesterday, and proceeded on to Columbia immediately, prepared to enter on the duties of the office to which he has been elected. Col. D. was in Alabama, when the news reached him that the services of the Regiment would be required. He abandoned all business, and made his way at once to Head Quarters.

All the Field Officers of the Regiment are now in Columbia, ready for service.

Passengers on the Railroad inform us that in Lexington about 100 men had enrolled their names, and that much enthusiasm prevailed in the upper districts.—Charleston Courier, 26th ult.

GUN-COTTON.—It seems positive, after all, that the process for preparing this explosive material originally described by Professor OTTO and published in the Washington Union, is not absolutely correct, and that the cotton thus treated, exhibits the detonating and propelling property in but an inferior degree. Professor HUME of Columbia, S. C., in a letter addressed to the editors of the Courier, informs them that in following OTTO's process, he produced an article that would burn vividly, but had not propulsive force to do more than drive out the wad from a percussion pistol. He adds that Professor ELLETT of that town, had succeeded by a variation of the process, and that he acquired from him the secret, and had repeated the experiments with the most complete success. In what this variation consists, is not stated, but Mr. HUME furnishes the following examples of the powers of the Gun-Cotton, when manufactured according to the directions given by Professor ELLETT:—

I have witnessed the following experiments—a pledget of prepared cotton was put into an ordinary six inch barrel pistol, with a ball to suit the bore, and fired at an inch hard pine board; the result was a complete perforation of the wood and escape of the ball on the other side. A rifle was charged with 10 grains of the cotton and ball to suit, and from a distance of 25 yards was aimed at five pieces of northern pine, each about 1 1-4 inch thick, leaning against a brick wall; the result was the successive perforation of each, and considerable impression in the wall—the ball was flattened.

Ten grains of good rifle powder, said to be Dupont's FFF., was put into the same rifle with a similar ball, and fired at the same object from the same distance; the result was the re-bound of the ball and an impression into the wood one-eighth inch deep. These experiments were conclusive to me, and I hope will be credited by those who shall witness them hereafter.—A traveller 135 miles from home may write marvellous stories, but however marvellous the story may appear, I shall be prepared to exhibit the marvellous feat, whenever I can collect a few who are credulous enough to give the matter a second thought. I have extended my letter to so great a length that I will not enter into the description of physical and chemical changes which the cotton undergoes during the process of preparation. Suffice it to say, that by Dr. Ellet's process and calculation, the cotton may be manufactured at 48 cents per pound, and that one pound of cotton is equal to four pounds of ordinary gunpowder in explosive effects. I must apologise for consuming so much of your paper; but I conceive that my fellow-citizens are as much interested in the matter as I am, and the majority more so, for cotton and gunpowder are the most entertaining and interesting objects to both old and young in South Carolina.

BEAUTIES OF THE SUB-TREASURY.—The Augusta (Ga.) Sentinel furnishes the following illustration of the beauties of this exquisite contrivance:

The officer in command at the Arsenal, near this city, received a few days since, a Treasury draft on the deposit bank in Charleston, for eight hundred dollars, with the proceeds of which he was to pay those in the employment of the Government at that post.—In due time he offered the draft in this market for sale, and was offered the coin for it at 1-4 per cent discount. This he could not take, because he is required to sell it at par, and as he is also required to pay coin to the government creditors, he was compelled to set out yesterday for Charleston, to draw the coin from the deposit bank and return with it to this city, at an expense of eighteen or twenty dollars to the Government. Thus, the government is made, by the requirements of this glorious democratic measure, to expend about twenty dollars to obtain eight hundred, which under other circumstances, would have been obtained for TWO DOLLARS! Verily, this is a "measure of deliverance and liberty," and well may the people exclaim, huzza for Democracy! huzza for the Sub-Treasury! For from this little operation of eight hundred dollars, they may draw some inference of the expenditures necessary to obtain and disburse the hundreds of millions which have to be disbursed by the General Government. Comment upon such a state of things is indeed superfluous—the facts address themselves to the most common understanding, and sooner or later, the people will be aroused to the injuries to which they are subjected by this Administration.

☞ The London correspondent of the Charleston Courier has the following allusion to the mental condition of the Queen of England:

Whispers are afloat, as to the eccentricities of the Queen. That the public will be studiously kept in the dark on such a subject, there can be no doubt; but truth leaks out now-a-days in a wonderful manner, and, from what I hear, I am myself inclined to think that the English have some grounds for uneasiness.

City Intelligence.

☞ The General Council will meet this evening, at 5 o'clock.

COUNCIL OF MUNICIPALITY NUMBER TWO.—The Council met last evening, Recorder Baldwin, in the Chair.

The weekly report from the Treasurer was read as follows:—

Balance on hand at last report,	$13 01
Amount received since,	4,472 29
		$4,485 30
Disbursed this week,		4,439 86
Balance on hand,		$45 44

Mr. Reynolds, moved that the resolution appointing a Committee of three members to confer with similar Committees from the First and Third Municipalities, in order to make suitable arrangements for the reception of the remains of Major Ringgold, Colonel Watson and other soldiers who fell on the field of battle of Mexico, be so amended as to include the name of Captain Ridgely, who was accidentally killed at Monterey.

Mr. Reynolds, observed that he forgot entirely to make this motion at the last meeting. The Chair decided that the motion was out of order, as the resolution was already adopted.

A communication from the Treasurer, asking leave of absence for a few days, was read; on motion of Mr. Reynolds, the prayer was granted.

A long communication from the Comptroller, was read: it was submitted, in conformity with a resolution of the Council, instructing that officer to furnish the members with the names of all the officers of the Municipality, together with their respective salaries.

Mr. Reynolds, moved that said communication be referred to a special Committee, consisting of five members, and that it be printed: adopted.

The Secretary then read a communication from the Surveyor, informing the Council that he had already given notice that he would proceed to place hydrants in each of the Wards of the Municipality, and respecting some other matters: it was referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication from Mr George W McCerran, was read, praying the Council to remove from office Mr Francis Isley, Recorder Baldwin's Secretary.—Said communication was, on motion of Mr Reynolds, laid on the table indefinitely.

Sundry petitions were read and refered to the various appropriate Standing Committees.

Mr Osborn, from the Committee on Streets and Landings, reported against the petition of the Mr T B Eastland, asking that one of the wharves in front of the Municipality should be expressly reserved for government vessels, during the Mexican war. Said report was accepted.

Mr Smith's resolution granting permission to owners of property residing in the Fourth Ward, to erect such buildings as they may deem most convenient not withstanding the ordinances now in force, was next taken up, and after a short discussion adopted, 6 yeas, 5 nays.

Mr Davern's resolution, instructing the Attorney of the Municipality not to institute suits against owners or drivers of cabs, for remaining in front of the St. Charles Hotel, was taken in order. It was carried by 7 yeas; 4 nays.

Mr Reynold's resolution concerning the sale of a portion of the batture in front of this Municipality, was next taken up.

Mr Reynold's moved that it be amended by inserting the following: "Because this Council deem it inexpedient to sell it at the present time."—He said that his reason for moving this amendment was that a writ is now pending in the Fifth District Court, brought by sundry individuals claiming from the Second Municipality the title of said batture. The Council passed unanimously the resolution as amended.

Mr Reynolds submitted a resolution providing for the sale of all Real Estate seized by the Sheriff, to satisfy a judgment obtained against the Second Municipality by the Bank of Louisiana and Robb & Hoge. The resolution states that the sale will take place on the 3rd Monday in January next, at one third cash and the balance in notes satisfactorily endorsed, &c. Mr Reynolds said that as this was an important subject, he would not ask for a dispensation of the rules. The resolution was consequently laid over till the next sitting.

Shortly after, the Council adjourned.

A DECISION.—Judge McHenry delivered yesterday his decision on the question raised by Counsellor Wolf as to the legality of all the indictments found by the Grand Juries since the creation of the Criminal Court, in the year 1818. The Court decided that the omission on the record of the swearing in of the Grand Jury did not vitiate their proceedings. He considered that the best evidence of the above fact was the indictment itself, which begins in these words "The Grand Jurors being duly sworn," &c. The records of the Court, he said, were memoranda kept in perpetuam rei memoriam. As to the present jury term, the Court has ordered the record to be amended merely for the sake of form, but without presuming to add any virtue to the proceedings of the Court.

INQUEST.—An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Spedden on the body of a white man named Francois Lecoq, aged 30 years, who was found dead in a house [illegible] No. 28. Verdict. Died [illegible]

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.—Daniel Bryan, was yesterday tried upon a charge of larceny. The jury being unable to agree upon a verdict, were discharged.

W. H. Hunter was next tried upon a similar charge, and had a verdict of "not guilty" returned in his favor.

Manuel Wallace, accused of harboring a runaway slave, was also acquitted.

The District Attorney entered a nolle prosequi in the case of Patrick Eagan alias Regan, charged with larceny.

A MOTHER SHOT BY HER SON.—The police of the Third Municipality were informed yesterday morning that an attempt to commit murder had taken place the evening previous at Milneburg, at the lake end of Pontchartrain Railroad. Two officers were immediately dispatched, and they succeeded in arresting the accused, named Philip Dietz, and bringing him to this city. The person wounded is the prisoner's own mother. Dietz, it appears, being intoxicated, took up a gun and fired its contents at the poor woman. Dr Lewis was soon upon the spot, but he entertains no hope of his patient's recovery. The weapon used by Dietz was loaded with buckshot. Recorder Suzeneau will investigate the case in a few days.

The Van Ness Case.

As this singular law suit attracts universal attention, we copy an excellent summary of the whole, including an account of the progress of its investigation. It is from the pen of the Washington correspondent of the Charleston Evening News:—

The case of Mary Ann Van Ness vs. the heirs of Gen. John P. Van Ness, has been before the Circuit Court of this District for the last three days, and has absorbed no little share of public attention. Indeed it could not well be otherwise, when we take into consideration the relative social position of the parties and the thousand and one ridiculous rumors that have been set afloat in relation to it. As your readers may feel some interest in the matter, I will endeavor to give you such a bird's eye view of the case, as will enable you to understand it in all its main bearings. Gen. John P. Van Ness was one of our most wealthy citizens, having married in early life a daughter of a large landed proprietor by the name of Barns, when Washington was little better than a large swamp. The General had nursed the lots with care through a long life, towards the close of which he found himself the master of an immense property. Having died without making a will, or rather no will being found after a most diligent search, and a large reward offered for its recovery, the heirs proceeded to administer upon the vast estate. A lady here, known as Mrs. Conner, claims to have been the wife of Gen. J. P. Van Ness, and to be alone entitled to take out letters of administration. She filed her papers in the Orphan's Court, and the Orphan's Court turned the matter over to the District Court, in which the lady in question brought suit against the heirs, claiming to be the widow of the late Gen. J. P. V. and in the suit now pending she will have to establish her claim. The absence of a Will in this peculiar case, is a most remarkable fact. 'The lady offered a reward for its recovery, and says that she was appropriately remembered in the document. The heirs also offered a reward, declaring that the property was given for the most part to them;—but no Will was to be found, and if the lady can make good her right of dower, will be immensely rich, and her daughter an heiress of no mean attraction. The lady informed the brother of the General of her position in the outset, and offered a compromise, but the idea of the thing was scouted at, and the lady charged with conspiracy, forgery, and perjury, and she and all her advisers and abettors were threatened with the penitentiary.

As far as the evidence has yet gone, nothing direct has been proved as to the marriage; but it is proved that the General acknowledged her as his wife, in a letter, wherein he says, "You are now my wife;" though the place where, and the person by whom, the ceremony was performed, have not yet been brought to light. That the General travelled with this lady and visited his wife, under the name of Wallace, has been abundantly proved; and that he was detected by the accusers who delivered the lady, in representing himself as Mr. Wallace. This stands this strange affair so far, involved, of course, in all the glorious uncertainty of the law, and many [illegible] attorneys are [illegible] of the lady will [illegible] pretty looking [illegible] —touching the marriage of her mother. She avers that she went off with her mother for the purpose of being married to Gen. Van Ness; that the marriage [illegible] was to be secret; and that she had importuned the General to be present, to which he refused his assent, declaring that the ceremony could be as well performed without her as with her, and that having little time to spend with her mother, he desired to spend it alone. All this is collateral evidence, and helps on in the link. This child will be subject to a most searching cross examination, and it is only by having truth on her side, that she will sustain it. Of the result, I will inform you. Meantime, I cannot but express my regret that the brother of Gen. Van Ness—ex-collector of New York—had not seen proper to have compromised the business, and saved the reputation of the General from the thousand rude assaults which this trial will give rise to. Gen. Van Ness could not have been less than 73 or 75 years of age when he was philandering about the country, travelling incog. with this lady as Mr. and Mrs. Wallace. The widow, though somewhat passée, has still great claims to personal attraction. The whole idea of the connection between these two parties, reminds one of Death and Venus playing at bo-peep. The ladies here "to a man," condemn the poor widow, while with the other sex she finds more favor and sympathy.

WHA'LL BE KING BUT CHARLEY.—A Washington letter in the New York Tribune, says:—

"It is now understood that Senator Benton is to take his seat in the Senate at the coming session, as the leader of the administration party. During the last session, it will be recollected that he filled a doubtful position. Recently, however, it is understood that he has had a long interview with the President, the result of which was an amicable adjustment of all the difficulties previously existing between them, and a cordial re-union. Every point of difference was stated, discussed, explained, obviated. Mr Benton jumps down from the interesting elevation known as the fence, on which he has hitherto stood. The rank and file of the administration—Allen, Cass, Hannegan, and all—must fall into line, from the first day of the session, and they will find Senator Benton a tall captain—and inexorable disciplinarian."

FROM HAVANA.—By the arrival of the brig P. Soulé we have received our files of papers to the 22nd ult. They are of no later date than those obtained by previous arrivals.

LARCENY.—Ellen Dorman was arrested yesterday, on an affidavit of Mrs Catherine Black, charging Ellen with stealing several valuable articles, such as a Bracelet, two pairs Ear Rings, three Finger Rings, a Breastpin, &c. The accused was remanded by Recorder Baldwin.

Since our last report there has been more business doing in Cotton, but at lower rates, the late news from Europe having induced purchasers to hold off, while buyers have been more anxious to realize. The sales of the past three days amount to 11,000 bales, of which 6,000 on Saturday, 4,000 yesterday and 1,000 to-day, of which the greater portion was taken for England. Prices are fully ¼ cent lower, and we alter our quotations in conformity.

SUGAR.—There has been a moderate demand for Sugar during the past few days which has resulted in sales of 900 hhds., within the range of former prices. We quote from 5@6⅜ cents ⅌ lb., for extreme qualities. Nothing has been done on Plantation.

MOLASSES.—The market since our last has been steady, accompanied with a good demand, and the sales have been principally effected at 23½ cents ⅌ gallon. We have not heard of any sales on Plantation.

COFFEE.—Rio Coffee has been in good request since our last, and sales have been made to some extent at 7¾ cents ⅌ lb.

FLOUR.—Shippers have come freely into the market since our last, and the sales of the past three days amount to 20,000 bbls., chiefly at $5 00 ⅌ bbl. In some instances lower rates were paid; but the market has rather stiffened, and the above figure may be quoted at the current price for shipping brands.

GRAIN.—There has been a good demand for Corn since our last, and the sales amount to fully 25,000 bushels at 66@70 cents ⅌ bushel, for good lots. At these rates there is still a good enquiry, notwithstanding the upward movement in freights. Oats have been sold at 30 cents in bulk, and at 35@37½ cents ⅌ bushel in sacks. A lot of 1,000 sacks Wheat have been sold at private terms.

WESTERN PRODUCE.—The business in Provisions has been to a fair extent since our last, without any change in prices. About 800 bbls. Pork have been sold at prices ranging as before, say for Mess, $9 00; M. O., $8 25@8 50; Prime, $6 10@6 25 cents ⅌ bbl. Bacon continues in very limited request. The sales during the past three days sum up about 250 casks. We quote Sides, 5@5¼, with occasional sales at 5½ cents; Shoulders, 3½@3¾; Hams, Plain; 4½@5½; Covered do. and extra cured, 6@8c. ⅌ lb.

The market for Beef has been very quiet since the date of our previous report; small lots of Mess and Prime are selling from second hands, for ship stores, etc., at our quotations. There exists some enquiry for prime Mess, but but the only sale that we are aware of, is 54 tierces disposed of $14 00 ⅌ tierce. The greater part of the receipts of tierces for some time past, have been forwarded to the English market. We quote Mess, $11 00@11 50; do. in half bbls., $6 50@7 00; Prime, $7 25; B Beef, $4 50 cents ⅌ bbl. LARD—There continues to be a good export demand for Lard. The transactions during the past three days have been somewhat restricted, owing to the very small quantity of Prime in bbls, which is readily taken for the English market. The sales since the 27th ult., amount to 350 bbls. and tierces and 2,500 kegs. We quote the market firm at from 8⅜@7⅞ cents ⅌ lb. for Ordinary to Prime. WESTERN BUTTER is selling at 11@12½ cents ⅌ lb., and CHEESE at 7 cents ⅌ lb.

WHISKEY.—The transactions in this article since our last have been to a limited extent, but prices are unchanged, say 19¾@20 cents ⅌ gallon for Rectified. Nothing doing in Common.

EXCHANGE.—Foreign Exchange is dull at former rates. We quote Sterling 5¾@6c. ⅌ cent prem.; Francs, 5f 45 @5f 47½; New York, 60 days, 1¾@1¾ ⅌ cent dis. count; Sight Checks, ¼ ⅌ cent dis.

FREIGHTS.—Freights are tending upwards, and shipmasters generally refuse to engage at our quotations.
