SALES AT AUCTION.

BY F. DUTILLET.

PLANTATION MOSSY, in lots, at public auction.—The subscriber begs leave to notify the public, that having been repeatedly solicited for years past, to divide and lay off into town lots, (by persons desirous of purchasing and establishing themselves there,) his beautiful, and in point of situation, unique, country seat, (believing that the time has now arrived, when the public interest, requires that it should be done,) has, in consequence formed a plan thereof, assisted by Joseph Pilie, Esq. the city surveyor, on a grand and extensive scale, and will offer it for sale in lots, at public auction, at Hewlett's coffee house, on Wednesday, the 27th day of February inst. at 12 o'clock, on a credit of one, two, and three years, with notes, satisfactorily endorsed, and mortgage on the property till final payment. To my fellow citizens generally, nothing further than the above notification would be necessary, but for the information of the great number of strangers now among us, I will add, that this estate, now laid off into town lots, is situated on the right bank of the river Mississippi, immediately in front of the city of New Orleans, (covering its point, from opposite the lower market house, up to the custom house,) that its site is not equalled in beauty by any other in the neighborhood of New Orleans, and that it possesses many and great advantages. The city and harbor of New Orleans, laying in front of it, (the whole of which is taken in by the eye at a single glance,) with the river, and adjacent suburbs on either hand, makes the view from it magnificent and delightful. Its harbor is excellent, and in point of security for vessels, greatly superior to that of New Orleans, as it is defended by its bank and position, from the most dangerous winds; and possesses a bold shore with water of sufficient depth for vessels of the largest class; ships, in consequence, can heave down, or load and unload their cargoes there, with great facility; and the time is not distant, when in its magazines and storehouses, will be deposited a great part of the productions of our vast interior. From the situation of this town, it must rapidly increase, laying (as it does) in between the two towns of Macdonough on one side, and Duverges on the other; with the streets and avenues of which towns, the streets and avenues of this, are made to intersect and correspond. Nothing is wanted to give an immediate and great value to property on the opposite side of the river to New Orleans, and to induce persons in easy circumstances to reside there with their families, in preference to residing on the city side, but two steam ferry boats, which would constantly ply between the two banks, (which boats are now about to be established.) Were those boats now a running, would any man of common sense, let me ask, any mechanic, carter, draymen, or laborer, whose business lay in the city, purchase property or reside in the suburbs Lafayette or Livaudais, (requiring a walk through the mud or hot sun, of three miles, to reach their house, and three miles back, to return,) when they might cross the river, and be at their home in five minutes time—certainly no, not one. Even now, with the common boats used as a ferry, the river is crossed in six or eight minutes, (it being nineteen hundred feet only in width,) so that a person living on the other side of the river, may leave Mr. Hewlett's coffee house, and be at home in eight or ten minutes with all ease. In point of health, (the yellow fever never having been on that side of the river,) and the elevation of the land, it is not exceeded by any situation on the river. As those lots will be sold without reserve, for such prices as shall be offered, it is but seldom that such opportunities for good investments occur. The plan, [which is one offering great advantages,] will be exhibited at the coffee house in a few days.

ALSO, after the sale of the lots, a gang of 40 slaves belonging to me, will be sold at a credit of 1 and 2 years.

SCHOOL FOR PISTOL SHOOTING—Ch. Andrieux, professor and inventor of a sure method for shooting perfectly well with pistol, gun or rifle, after having given his lessons during seven years in New York and Philadelphia, where the excellence of his method has been universally acknowledged, as well on account of the short time required to learn it, as for the advantages it offers of not being forgotten by want of practice, has the honor of informing the public that he has established in this city a school for pistol shooting. He makes his pupils shoot at 25 and 30 feet distance, and equally with both hands, and finally they are taught to knock off a small bird three or four consecutive times, and the balls which do not hit the mark, are not more than two or three inches off. He pledges himself to his pupils to bring them to that perfection after 8 or 10 lessons, if not, he asks no compensation.

The price of lessons is $30; for shooting 50 balls $1. Each pupil will pay besides $1 for each rifle will break at the shooting gallery. Persons who have but a few days to stay in the city, and are desirous to take lessons, are at liberty to do so. He may be found above Mr Lewis Mahl's store, No 114 Chartres street.
