FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

HENRY CLAY.

NEW-ORLEANS:

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 28, 1843.

PUBLIC MEETING OF THE FIRST AND THIRD MUNICIPALITIES.

The Whigs of the First and Third Municipalities will hold a public meeting in the Rotunda of the St. Louis Exchange, on SATURDAY EVENING, the 29th instant, at half past seven o'clock, for the purpose of appointing Delegates to the Convention of the First Congressional District to nominate a candidate on the Whig ticket.

TEXAS—MEXICO.

By the late arrival from Texas, we have been furnished, through our private correspondents, with information of an interesting character. It is now certain that the governments of the United States, of England and of France have joined in remonstrating against the predatory war carried on by Mexico against Texas. The instructions of the United States Secretary of State to Gen. Thompson (our Minister at Mexico) are quite explicit in declaring the war, as conducted by Mexico, to be contrary to the laws of nations. Mr. Webster asserts the undoubted right of Mexico to re-subjugate Texas, if she can, by the common and lawful means of war; but that other nations are interested, more particularly the United States, in the manner in which the war shall be conducted.

We have heretofore contended for this principle. It is not optional for one nation to keep a question of war an open one—to be pursued at pleasure. Civilization abhors this flickering and fantastic species of warfare; and it behooves those nations at peace with the belligerent powers, to interpose, in the most formal manner against such proceeding. In the recent irruption of Mexico upon Bexar, several citizens of the United States, at that place, were taken prisoners. These persons were in Texas upon lawful business, and although there is reason to believe they will all be liberated, yet their captivity was unjust, and their detention from their business hurtful and tortious. In this instance we see the consequences to other nations of an irregular and predatory war. Had the government of Mexico pursued her remedies to reduce the state of Texas with a force and activity corresponding with the solemnity of the claim set up to the territory of the republic, these citizens would not have gone to the theatre of war,—or had they done so, they would have been there in their own wrong. But Mexico had so long suspended hostilities against Texas, as to leave no grounds to believe that she would ever be able to prosecute the war successfully, or even that she would resume the attempt to do so. The independence of the republic had been recognized during the cessation of hostilities, and the incursion upon Bexar was altogether irregular and against the law of nations. The citizens of neighboring states had no reason to expect such an incursion; nor had their government the information necessary to put them upon their guard. In so august an exercise of sovereignty as the making of war, the law of nations admits of no equivocation, no dallying in doubtful demonstrations,—it must be prosecuted with reasonable vigor or cease altogether, and a resumption of belligerent operations must be accompanied with formal notice to neutral powers. These principles are not only founded in christianity and conformable to common sense; but the recent evidence of wrong done to innocent persons by the adoption of a course by Mexico at war with them, exhibits in a striking light the necessity of neutral powers insisting upon their being respected. It becomes a part of the duty of all governments in amity with Texas, to interfere in a matter which so vitally affects their own citizens trading to and travelling in that country; and we are glad to learn that the United States Secretary of State has intimated to General Thompson the intention of the government to remonstrate in a yet more serious manner, if Mexico declines making peace, unless she shall show the disposition and ability to prosecute the war with a force equal to the solemnity of the undertaking.

We have no doubt that Mr. Webster has also addressed letters to the U. S. Chargé in Texas, offering to mediate between the two powers, and to discourage retaliatory irruption into Mexico. The United States as a neighbor to both parties, ought to endeavor to bring about a state of amity between the two—if she fail in this attempt, her duty to her own citizens requires of her to see that the war is prosecuted according to the rules established by all civilized nations—openly, honorably and continuously.

We understand that the instructions of the French Cabinet to their Minister in Mexico are more peremptory and decided than those of the United States or British Governments; and from the position assumed by those powers the impression is gaining ground in Texas that the contest is drawing to a close.

We learn from our private correspondence, that the Commissioners of Texas, who arrived in New Orleans a few days before the sailing of the Texian fleet, had instructions from President Houston to demand the vessels of war from Commodore Moore and to apply to the United States authorities for aid in taking possession of them in case the Commodore refused to surrender them. They had likewise a proclamation from President Houston denouncing the expedition as piratical and unauthorized by government, in the event the vessels could not be taken. Com. Moore, we are informed intimated to the commissioners that he would proceed to Galveston and have a talk with the President upon the matter, which induced them to keep quiet until he got ready to go to sea. One of the Commissioners went on board the Austin with the Commodore, thinking to have a pleasant trip to Galveston in a Government vessel; but we learn through a gentleman who also set sail in the Austin for Texas on a matter of business, that the Commodore informed him at the Balize that if he was anxious to get to Texas soon, he had better get on shore as he did not expect to be there himself in a hurry. The gentleman took the hint and left the ship—the Commissioner is in all probability at this time in Campeachy. The Commodore apologized to the gentleman for not having informed him at New Orleans that he did not purpose sailing for Texas, saying that it would not be prudent for him to have disclosed his destination at an earlier period.

We learn also, that the last packet carried out an official notification to Judge Eve (our Chargé in Texas) of his recall, and the appointment of Wm. S. Murphy to his place.

☞ We perceive by the last Planters' Banner, that the Hon. John Moore has been nominated for re-election from the Fourth Congressional District. We entertain no doubt that the nomination of this sterling republican will be acceptable to every whig voter in the district, and that he will be triumphantly sustained by the people. Without pretending to forensic talent or claiming the graces of rhetoric, John Moore is one of the most laborious, intelligent and devoted member of Congress. He has ably and faithfully represented at once the interests of his immediate constituents and those of the entire State. The people of the Fourth District know him to be honest and true, and thus knowing, they will elect him by a signal majority.

Death of a Representative.—Hon'ble Charles Aubert, one of the Lafourche Representative in the Legislature of this State, died on the 20th instant. He had been ill for some time previous to the adjournment of the legislature, and had obtained permission of the House to return home. In politics, Mr. Aubert was a staunch Whig. In manners, feelings and principles he was a gentleman and a kind-hearted, honorable man.

Engraving of Henry Clay.—We have received from Mr. Mallory, the agent, several copies of this magnificent engraving. It is from the original full length portrait by Lane, painted in 1839, and is executed in the best style of mezzotint on steel. The likeness is excellent, but the chief merits of the engraving, are its spirit, truth, vigor and extreme beauty and finish. A few copies are for sale at McKean's book store.

Daniel Webster at the last accounts was at Marshfield. It is stated generally by the Northern papers that he does not intend returning to Washington as Secretary of State, and that his resignation is already in the hands of the President. The changes in the Customhouse at New York—by which Messrs. Lord and Taylor (naval officer and appraiser) have been removed to make room for two rabid Tyler-locofocos, Messrs. Torole and McKibbin—appear to strengthen this opinion.

Commander Mackenzie.—This gentleman is about taking effectual steps to arrest the tide of miserable and malignant calumny, which certain journalists have profusely lavished against him. The editors of the Journal of Commerce in particular, will be called on to make good some of their assertions before a court of justice or otherwise abide the penalties due to such wanton aspersions as have been poured forth through the columns of their journal.

The New York Standard, edited by John Mumford, an old Federalist, has raised the Van Buren flag. Mr. Mumford, within a year or two, has been anti-Van Buren, Tylerite, Cassite, and now perceiving that his services are not duly appreciated, he has gone into the ranks and file and huzzas for the "Sage of Lindenwold."

Guadaloupe.—In New York the subscription in favor of the sufferers by the earthquake at Pointe a Pitre, reached $2000 on the part of the French; $400 on that of the Germans, and about $5000 on that of the Americans. Besides these contributions, a dramatic performance and concert are to be given for their benefit.

☞ The New York Legislature adjourned on the 17th, after a long and laborious session.

The Manufacture of lard oil and stearine candles has been a highly important article of Western Trade. The Cincinnati Gazette states that there are nine oil factories in that city, each on an extensive scale, four of which have manufactured 128,144 gallons, the best retailing at 75 cents per gallon. But the stearine or star candles and a great variety of soaps, are branches of the business not less valuable and lucrative. Messrs. Verdin and Werk, manufacturers in Cincinnati, have made 150,000 lbs of star candles within the past year. Those who have used this light declare that it is in no respect inferior to that afforded by spermaceti. The candles burn longer, emit a brilliant radiance, and are generally free from grease, as the degree of heat required to melt them is high. The average price of sterine is just one-half that of spermaceti.

☞ The following table shows the value of Spanish small coins, according to the United States mint assay, being their intrinsic value in silver for re-coining:

☞ Information from Washington has been received to the effect that Thomas Barrett, Esq., has been appointed by the President, Receiver of Public Moneys in New Orleans, vice Greenbury Dorsey, resigned.

☞ The First Monday in June has been fixed by the Governor of Massachusetts for another trial to elect members of Congress in those districts where vacancies exist.

A New Paper has started in Assumption, called "The Star of Assumption." It is locofoco in politics.

CHARLESTON, April 23th.

FROM NASSAU.

By the Br. schooner Morning Star, Capt. Prudden, we have received a file of Nassau papers to the 12th inst. The only item of news they contain is copied below.

Nassau, (N. P.) April 12.

The American schooner John Spofford, Dudley P. Spofford, master, from Savannah, bound to New Orleans, with a cargo of rice, went ashore on a reef off Umbrella Key, Abaco, on the night of the 2d inst. The cargo was saved in a damaged state, and disposed of at Green Turtle Key, on account of all concerned. The vessel will be a total loss.

Steam Packets.—The Britannia was to leave Liverpool for Boston on the 4th instant, and may be daily expected.

The Great Western was to leave Liverpool for New York on the 15th instant, and will be in about the 30th. The Hibernia, (new) the packet of the 19th, to be commanded by Capt. Judkins, will leave Liverpool on Wednesday the 16th, thus making three steam packets during the month of April.

The Globe gives the following definition of a Tyler Democrat.

A TYLER DEMOCRAT.—The Spectator undertakes to make it appear that we unite with it in recognising Mr. Tyler as a Democrat, because in the enumeration of the candidates for Congress in Virginia, we put down Mr. Wise as a Tyler Democrat.

Speaking of the Globe list, the Spectator says:

"Under the head of Democrats is the name of HENRY A. WISE, and that there be no mistake, he is designated as a TYLER Democrat! Had this appeared in the Spectator, what a confirmation it would have been of our Tylerism!"

Now, that there may be no mistake in regard to our idea of a Tyler Democrat, we define the phrase: It means, not a Democrat at all. We think Mr. Wise has no claims whatever as a Democrat—less than Mr. Tyler himself.

Naval.—The U. S. brig Truxton, Lieut. Commandant Upshur, dropped down from the navy yard to the anchorage off the Naval Hospital yesterday morning.—There are at present lying at that anchorage, in addition to the above brig, the U. S. ship of the line Pennsylvania, Capt. Zantzinger, bearing the broad pennant of Commodore E. P. Kennedy; frigate Brandywine, Capt. Parker; sloop of war St. Louis, Commander Cocke; Vandalia, Commander McCluney; Lexington, (store ship) Lieut. Commandant Glendy; United States steamer Engineer, and also, a little below, United States revenue cutter Taney, Capt. Webster: the whole making an imposing display at the fine anchorage in our beautiful harbor.—Norfolk Beacon.

The Dayton Postmaster.—James Brooks has lately been appointed postmaster at Dayton, (O.)—With this the people are very much dissatisfied. A mass meeting of citizens, without distinction of party, was held at the Court-house, who resolved that Brooks's standing was such in that community as should have prevented his appointment, and should forbid his continuance in office. Brooks published an address to the people, giving a history of himself, and of his having left Pennsylvania under a threat of prosecution for passing counterfeit money, which he denies having passed, and which, as he has since learned, was not counterfeit. He blusteringly declares that no man shall repeat the slander against him "and go unwhipt of justice." In the face of this, the electors took a vote upon his continuance at the township polls on Monday week. The result was 50 in favor, and 531 against him! The Whig paper at Dayton intimates that this Administration postmaster walks the streets with pistols to terrify people into a good opinion of him.—Boston Atlas.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Recent intelligence from the missionaries at the Sandwich Islands, is of a very interesting and encouraging character, as we learn from the Boston Recorder. A letter from Mr. Armstrong, pastor of the First Church in Honolulu, dated October 12th, states that during the year he has had the care of the church, (since Rev. Mr. Bingham left,) three hundred persons have been propounded as candidates for admission. The schools are in a prosperous condition. Nearly all the children over eight years of age at Honolulu can read the New Testament, a copy of which has been given by the missionaries to every child who can read it. The temperance cause is advancing also, and Mr. A. had known but two or three violations of the pledge for six months.

On the 21st of July, the new meeting house at Honolulu was dedicated, 4 or 5000 persons being present on the occasion. During the services the King rose and presented to the Church a deed of the meeting house and the land on which it stands. The building is 137 feet long, and 72 wide, and cost $30,000, the principal part being given by the King himself.

On the Sabbath the people assemble in their churches in neat attire, and some of the females have manifested such fondness for gaudy dress, that the pastors have felt it their duty to attempt to check it by admonition and reproof.—N. Y. Tribune.

RUSSIA.

An American gentleman residing in Russia writes as follows to one of the eastern papers:—

"You have no idea of the rapid improvements going on in this country. The activity of the Imperial agents abroad under the orders of government exceed all belief; and the liability of the Russian government insures success every where. Every improvement in the armies or navies, or in mechanics or the arts, which may be invented or introduced either in Europe or America, is immediately communicated by the consuls of Russia to their government. On its receipt in Russia, the foreign department immediately examines into it, and ascertains if it is applicable, or can be made useful or profitable; if so, it is communicated to the Emperor, and the inventor or his invention, or both, are immediately transferred to Russia."

To this policy, says the New York American, may be attributed the vast improvements every where seen in Russia. The Emperor lately caused war steamers to be built simultaneously in England and the United States, that they might be compared and held up as specimens to the Russian artists and mechanics. Some of the best workmen in England within the last ten years have been employed at the highest wages in Russia. Wherever a very superior mechanic or engineer appears, he is instantly reported to the Russian government and has an offer of service. Several of our best Civil Engineers are now in Russia, engaged on the great road from St. Petersburgh to Moscow. Individuals engaged in the construction of rifles have been spirited away. And even the inventor of the great shovel for digging, with his invention, is on his way to Russia.

It is for warlike purposes chiefly that the new improvements of the age are eagerly seized upon by the Russian government and applied to practical uses. A system of railroads pervading that vast empire will enable the Emperor to diffuse from the capital with rapidity and with unabated vigor the energetic sway which belongs to despotic rule, and will afford facilities for a speedy concentration in an extraordinary degree of the immense resources of the empire.

Surgical Operation.—We learn that an exceedingly delicate operation was performed at the hospital in this city on Wednesday last, by Dr. P. W. Ellsworth, a surgeon of Hartford. The subject was a girl eleven years of age, of Humphreyville, who was horribly deformed from a burn which she received when three years of age. The scar covered the whole of one side of the neck, extending from the left ear to the middle of the chin, and again from the anterior to the posterior end of the collar bone. By the contraction of the skin the lower lip was completely turned out nearly to the bottom of the chin, and the jaw was drawn down to the breast so that the position of the lower teeth was horizontal. Dr. E. divided the scar and brought the jaw and lip up to its proper position; but this left a large gaping wound which was necessary to fill, and this was done by cutting a strip of skin large enough to answer the purpose from the shoulder; this strip, several inches in length and breadth, was not entirely detached, but was connected at one end where it was twisted and then laid over the wound, the fleshy substance of course down; and the wound was then bound up.

The wound on the shoulder was carefully drawn together and the patient is doing well. She bore the tedious and painful dissection with great fortitude. The entire operation, we learn, was never performed in Europe and never before in New England. It is not unusual to release such contractions of the skin by the knife; but Dr. Moter, of Philadelphia, first attempted to cover the wound from the adjoining skin. It has been tried five or six times in the country since with success, and it is believed that the first case in New England will result satisfactorily. Dr. Ellsworth has been very successful in other delicate operations, and takes a high rank in his profession.—New Haven Palladium.

Type Composing Machine.—We have received the twelfth number of a paper printed in London, "The Family Herald," by Young's Patent Type Composing Machine, a description of which we published some two months ago. Six or eight thousand types are set up by this machine in an hour, and the whole cost of composition, including distribution, is only two pence per thousand—and can be managed by two young women. The Family Herald is a little smaller than this paper, and is sold for one penny sterling—two cents. This machine cannot be used in the publication of a daily paper, although we hear that the effort is being made in this city.—N. Y. Sun.

No. 34.

AN ACT

To amend the Black Code.

Section 1st. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Louisiana in General Assembly convened; That upon the trial of any slave or slaves as provided for in an act entitled "An act to amend the provisions of the Black Code relative to the trial of slaves," approved February nineteenth, eighteen hundred and twenty five, the six freeholders in said act mentioned shall form and constitute a Jury, and in order to convict the accused said Jury must unanimously concur in a verdict to be by them signed, on which verdict the Parish Judge, senior Justice of the Peace or other Justice of the Peace (as the case may be) shall endorse the sentence thereon pronounced and rendered.

Sec. 2d. Be it further enacted, &c., That the Parish Judge, senior Justice of the Peace or other Justice of the Peace (as the case may be) who shall preside at the trial of any slave shall take no part in the deliberation of the Jury, but shall in the conduct of the trial exercise such powers and perform such acts, as are now exercised and performed by other Judges of the State presiding on the trial of criminal cases.

Sec. 3d. Be it further enacted, &c., That it shall be the duty of the District Attorney for the District where said trial is to take place, when notified by the Magistrate who may be charged with said trial to attend the trial and prosecute in behalf of the State; either by himself or by his appointed deputy, and in default of such attendance, it shall be lawful for the presiding Magistrate to appoint some licensed attorney to act as prosecutor for the State.

Sec. 4th. Be it further enacted, &c., That the Clerk of the Parish Court of the Parish where said trial is held shall discharge the duties of clerk to said tribunal.

Sec. 5th. Be it further enacted, &c., That any slave who shall hereafter encourage, move to or excite any insurrection or revolt in this State or who shall be in any wise concerned in instigating to the same, on due conviction thereof, shall suffer death.

Sec. 6th. Be it further enacted, &c., That any slave who shall hereafter with a dangerous weapon and with intent to kill, cut or otherwise wound any person, or who shall attempt maliciously to kill by drowning or strangling, on due conviction thereof shall suffer death.

Sec. 7th. Be it further enacted, &c., That in all cases where capital punishment or imprisonment at hard labor for life is inflicted for any crime committed by a slave, the Jury trying the same shall in its discretion pronounce sentence of death, imprisonment at hard labor for life, or for a shorter term in prison or in irons in the service of his master or order that corporal punishment be inflicted.

Sec. 8th. Be it further enacted, &c., That it shall be the duty of the Sheriff of the Parish where said trial is held, on receipt of a proper order from the Judge accompanied by a certified copy of verdict and of judgment thereon, to deliver such slave into the possession of the person having charge of the state convicts, who shall receipt to him therefor.

Sec. 9th. Be it further enacted, &c., That the owner of any slave convicted as above, and sentenced to imprisonment for life shall be entitled to the same retribution from the State as is now accorded to the owners of slaves executed for crimes.

Sec. 10th. Be it further enacted, &c., That all laws or parts of laws contrary to the provisions of the present act be and are hereby repealed.

(Signed) C. DERBIGNY, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(Signed) FELIX GARCIA, President of the Senate.

Approved, April 6th, 1843.

(Signed) A. MOUTON, Governor of the State of Louisiana.

No. 131.

AN ACT

Relative to the advertisements of Judicial Sales and Monitions.

Sec. 1st. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Louisiana in General Assembly convened; That it shall no longer be the duty of the Sheriffs, Coroners or Constables of the different Parishes of the State, to cause to be inserted in any newspaper, the notices or advertisements of sales, to be made by them, unless the same shall be required by the plaintiffs or defendants or their attorneys, in which case it shall be done at the charge of the party requiring the same; and that a publication of such sales affixed at the Court-house door and at two other public places in the Parish, shall be sufficient, any law or parts of law contrary to the intent and meaning of this section being hereby repealed.

Sec. 2d. Be it further enacted, &c., That whenever a notice or advertisement of any sale not above provided for or of any monition is required to be inserted in a newspaper, the publisher thereof shall not be entitled to demand more than at the rate of one hundred cents the hundred words for the first insertion, and one half of that sum for each subsequent insertion of the same notice, advertisement or monition, for the time prescribed by law, and in the event of the refusal of the publisher of a newspaper to publish at that rate, then the publication may be made by the nearest publisher out of the parish.

Sec. 3d. Be it further enacted, &c., That whenever a notice or advertisement of any sale required to be inserted in a newspaper cannot be so inserted on account of the inability of the officer making the advertisement to procure an insertion upon the terms and at the price mentioned in the preceding section, then such notice or advertisement shall, in lieu of such insertion, be affixed for the usual time at the Court house door, and at two other public places in the Parish, in which said notice or advertisement is now required to be affixed, when inserted in a newspaper; Provided however that the officer making the sale, shall in his return or proces verbal thereof, state the inability to procure an insertion in the newspaper upon the terms aforesaid and in lieu thereof has affixed the notice or advertisement as above directed and in case of failure to so state he shall be personally liable for all damages sustained by any person interested therein.

Sec. 4th. Be it further enacted, &c., That whenever a monition cannot be inserted in the newspaper in which it is now required to be inserted, at the price and the rate in the previous sections mentioned, then in lieu thereof such insertion may be made in any newspaper published within sixty miles of the place where the sale was made and said publication shall be sufficient so far as relates to the newspaper in which the insertion is to be made; Provided however that the Judge shall be satisfied by the oath of the party or a competent witness of the reason why the publication is so made and shall make mention thereof in the decree or order homologating the sale.

Sec. 5th. Be it further enacted, &c., That the Parish of Orleans be and is hereby excepted from the provisions of this act.

AN ACT

An act to improve the navigation of Bayou Boeuf, and to provide for the maintenance of the same.

Section 1st. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Louisiana in General Assembly convened; That the State Engineer be instructed to cause to be removed, the logs and other obstructions to navigation between the town of Washington and the point of Bayou Boeuf at or near the present termination of the Alexandria rail road, and that he shall also cause to be cut, and removed, the trees from one margin of the water courses sufficiently wide to admit of a towing path, and that the division of the State hands now engaged in this service, shall not be removed for other purposes until the instructions herein given shall have been executed, provided that the hands shall not be employed thereon more than three months in the year.

Sec. 2d. Be it further enacted, &c., That when the provisions of the first section of this act have been complied with, the State Engineer shall give notice of the fact in writing to the Presidents of the Police Jury, respectively, of the Parishes of St. Landry, Avoyelles, and Rapides, and that from the period of such notification, the water course between the points before designated, to wit: from Washington, to a point at or near the present termination of the Alexandria rail road, shall be declared a public highway, and it shall be the duty of the Police Jury, of each of the parishes aforesaid to appoint annually a syndic of the said navigation, whose duty it shall be to maintain the water course and towing path in good order, and to that end, the syndics shall have the same power and authority to call upon the population resident along the water course on both sides, within the limits aforesaid as is now authorized or may hereafter be authorized by the laws for maintaining the public roads.

Sec. 3d. Be it further enacted, &c., That any person or persons who shall fell trees into the water course, and not remove the same within three days after discharge saw-dust or cotton seed therein, or wilfully cause obstructions to the navigation, shall on conviction before any court of competent jurisdiction be fined for each offence a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, one half for the use of the parish, and the other to be paid to the informer and that henceforward no ditches or land drains shall be cut into the Bayou Boeuf, and proprietors of land with ditches now running into the bayou, shall at their own expense, remove from time to time any bars or deposits occasioned thereby, and should any proprietor or tenant fail to comply with this requisition within ten days after having been duly notified in writing by the syndic, the syndic shall employ labourers and cause the work to be performed, and the delinquent shall pay the cost thereof, at the rate of two dollars per day for every laborer employed, and three dollars per day for the superintendent, which amount may be sued for by the syndic, and recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction.

LOUISIANA COURSE.

The Races to continue two days, commencing on SATURDAY, 29th inst. at 4 o'clock, P. M.

ORDER OF THE RACES.

1st. Otto Motty will appear before the Course, standing on two strange Horses in an erect position, without saddle or covering of any kind and perform his ... and heroic Race, entitled NUMIDIE DESULTORKS!—Never before seen in this country, and never attempted by any other Equestrian in the world. He will perform the circuit of one mile in that position, in the space of two minutes and twenty eight seconds. After the heat, will be performed the inspiring and patriotic "Marseilles Hymn," by a superb Band of Music engaged expressly for this occasion. Intermission of fifteen minutes.

2d. GREAT ROMAN CHARIOT RACE; between three Roman Chariots, each drawn by two splendid Horses, and driven by Otto Motty and two Charioteers in Roman style, correctly and magnificently attired in the Ancient Costume of Roman Characters—displaying the most incredible skill and address, turning and management of their spirited steeds, during their fearful flight around the barrier. The Chariots, which are constructed in the strictest conformity with those used by the ancients, are decorated in the most gorgeous splendor, and of sufficient strength to protect the daring riders from accident. The Victorious Charioteer will be crowned with an oak wreath, after the manner of the Olympic Heroes. After the first Chariot Race there will be an intermission of ten minutes, during which time the audience will be regaled with a variety of National Marches and Airs, by the Band.

GREAT MATCH RACE!! between Otto Motty, standing on two Horses, without saddle, &c., and the Victorious Charioteer driving the winning Horses and chariot the former race.

The face and festivity of the day will close with an Overture by the Band. Admission to the gate $1. Children under 12 years, 50 cents. Carriages and drivers free of charge.

The horses for this occasion are selected by Otto Motty from "Tattersall's Stables."

The Members' Stand for this occasion will be reserved expressly for the ladies and under the management of a committee of gentlemen.

OTTO MOTTY,

DAVID STEPHENSON.

N. B. The Pontchartrain rail road cars will commence at half past 3 o'clock running for the Race Course, during the days above mentioned.
