CARSTARIAN SYSTEM OF WRITING,
No 48 Canal Street.
MESSRS T. P. & R. DOLBEAR have the pleasure to inform the public that they have permanently established their writing academy in this City—and intend hereafter to keep it open about 8 months in the year; the session this year will be much shorter in consequence of the indisposition of the Principals. Classes write from half after 9 to half after 10 a. m. from 4 to 5 p. m. from 7 to 9, and from 9 to 10 at night—Also, before breakfast in the morning—hours not mentioned above are reserved for private lessons. Ladies who prefer can receive lessons at their residences A deduction made to families—also for classes formed at schools. Applications for private lessons must be made before the warm season commences. Visits will please call while the pupils are writing, that they may see with what ease and facility they execute.
N. B.—Those who attend the Academy are not restricted to a limited number of lessons—but are desired to continue till they write sufficiently well to keep books in a bold mercantile style.
From His Excellency Governor Roman.
I have examined with attention, the system of writing taught by Mr. Dolbear, and it is with pleasure that I certify to its superiority over any other method with which I am acquainted Mr. Dolbear, having given private lessons in my family, I consider it but justice to add, that I believe him as much worthy of public patronage on account of the correctness and mildness of his character, as on account of the rapid improvement of those who receive his lessons.
New Orleans, July 2, 1834. A. B. ROMAN

NEW ORLEANS, 12th May, 1832
On the invitation of Mr Dolbear, a teacher of Penmanship in our city, upon the Carstairian system; we have carefully examined specimen of the writings of his pupils, whose ages range from 8 to 50 years written through an entire course of instruction; and after having done so, it is with the highest satisfaction that we can testify to the rapid if not unparalled progress which they have made.
From the specimens seen, and the examination of the system made, we cannot withhold the expression of a current opinion, that the system is greatly superior to any hitherto taught. If to write legibly, elegantly, rapidly, and in good taste be an accomplishment useful or desirable, it is upon the principles of this system that it is to be acquired. We therefore anxiously solicit of the public a liberal patronage in favor of an instructer, whose qualifications are of the highest order, and whose labors promise to be so exceedingly useful to this and other communities.
