Institution for Young Ladies.
Founded by Madame Aarix, directed by Madame DERON, late Miss HUET.
Nos. 107 & 109 Burgundy st. between Conti and St. Louis streets.

MADAME DERON, late Miss HUET, in assuming the direction of the Institution, conducted for the last seven years by Madame Aarix, solicits a continuance of the kind support which has been justly extended to the instructress whom she succeeds.
A distinguished pupil of the "Maison Royale de St. Denis," possessing the diploma of superior Instructress, and formerly first Mistress in two of the most celebrated Boarding-Schools of Paris, Madame DERON, who has already passed several years in this City, is equally well known for the mild firmness of her character, and the excellence of her method of instruction.
She will be ably seconded by her husband, Mr. DERON, who has similar guarantees to offer to Families. Recently arrived from Paris at New Orleans, he is already known under the most favorable auspices. A Bachelor of Arts, a Licentiate of the Faculty of Paris, formerly a pupil of the "Ecole des Chartes," at the King's Library, and professor of Literature, History and Philosophy at Paris. Mr. DERON is also the author of several works. He will devote his whole time to the French classes in the different branches of instruction.
The English language will be the object of particular attention governesses of acknowledged capacity, and a distinguished Professor, Mr. Orton will be especially entrusted with the direction of the English classes.
Ladies of the most remarkable talent and eminent science, will give instruction in Music at the Establishment.
Madame Boyer will continue to give lessons on the Piano, and Madame Lavillebeuvre on the Piano and Harpe.
The other accomplishments will also be taught by the best Professors.
Such in a resumed form is the order of the Establishment, and such are the titles and means by which Mr and Madame DERON, are enabled to assure parents that the studies of their children will be conducted in a superior manner.
As those considerations which constitute the order of education should prevail over all others, Madame DERON will principally exert herself to justify the confidence of Families by the physical, moral and religious care that she will bestow on her pupils.
To form in young Ladies, first the heart and the character and the mind; to inspire them with true and pure principles, to prepare them to enter the world with ease, but also with a profound sentiment of duty; to render them not only mild and gentle, but firm and decided; to endow them with an intelligence equally brilliant and solid, and above all, to prepare them to become hereafter good mothers of Families, are the ends which Madame DERON proposes to maintain steadily in view.
The practice of such a system of education and instruction, Madame DERON ventures to hope, will secure to her all the esteem and confidence which it has already procured for Madame Aarix.
The terms of payment will remain as at present established by Madame Aarix.

COMMERCIAL AND CLASSICAL INSTITUTION OF G. Boyer and L. Siret.
No. 148, Conti st., between Dauphin & Burgundy.

MR. G. BOYER, the founder of this Institution, which is the oldest in New Orleans, has the honor to inform patents that he has confided the entire and absolute control of it to Mr Siret, his associate.
The selection of this gentleman who, for more than ten years, has been favorably known to the citizens of Louisiana, is, in the opinion of Mr. Boyer, calculated to merit the continuance of that patronage of which he himself has been the honored recipient for the last sixteen years.

Mr. SIRET, ex vice president of Jefferson College, is no longer a novice in the art of teaching. He, too, feels proud of those of his pupils who occupy an honorable rank in the society of Louisiana. He undertakes a new labor with confident hope as well as unremitting zeal.
It is his opinion that the first principle of action is to inspire young persons with a taste for labor; to teach them to study. He has no ambition to create peculiar methods of instruction, nor to reap intellect in a hot bed. As a pupil of the University of France he has learned to vary his instruction according to the differences of climate and country, of intellect and industry.
The course of study will be as complete as possible. The Manual of the Bacca Laureate of France, slightly modified, will furnish an intelligible summary of it.
The modifications apply chiefly to the study of the English Language, the importance of which augments every day, and which consequently occupies a prominent place in the outline.
The elementary studies receive special attention, as they exert a decisive influence on the lessons to be subsequently conned by the pupil.
Particular attention is paid to discipline—without which, study is for the most part fruitless. It is based upon a paternal and necessary firmness regulated by the age and intelligence of the subject, and will be so used as to form correct ideas of the necessity of order and of the regular fulfilment of the duties prescribed.
The Institute receives day scholars, half boarders and boarders. For terms, see Prospectus. se30

ACADEMY FOR YOUNG LADIES.—DIRECTED by MADAME GRANET, formerly Bourbon st. now No. 80 Customhouse street, between Royal and Bourbon streets.
This new residence is better adapted for an Institution than the one she occupied a year since. The apartments are spacious and airy and well suited for dormitories, class rooms &c. &c. The yard for recreation, is also large and entirely unconnected with all exterior communication.
The branches of Instruction are the English and French, Reading, Writing, Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, Mythology, Astronomy, History, Literature, Drawing, &c., and are taught by Messrs. Fellows, Nores, Lind, &c. Latin is also taught.
Madame Granet is seconded in her arduous duties by her daughters, and the pupils receive the same parental care, attention and vigilance as her own family.
Particular attention is paid to Music. The piano and harp are taught by Mrs. E. Granet, and singing by Mr. Brocard. Dancing by [illegible] Brooks. [illegible]

DISEASES OF THE SKIN,

SUCH as Tetters, Syphilis, Scrofula, Itch, Gout, Rheumatism, Pimples, Freckles, &c.
A prompt, certain and final cure may be obtained by the use of the SCHORIFIC prepared by B. GIRARD, Druggist, No. 8, Enghien street, at Paris, approved by the Professors of the Faculty of Medicine, and published by order of the Government.
This syrup, purely vegetable, is recognized by the Royal Academy of Paris as preferable to all the alternatives in use up to the present time. It is easily administered, and is of an agreeable taste; a tea spoonful in a tumbler of water, is equal to a cup of concentrated ptisan. It is likewise used as a tonic, exciting the appetite, facilitating the digestion, dissipating watery humors, and keeping the Bowels open. It purifies the blood, corrects the acidity of the humors, re-establishes perspiration, and produces plumpness and freshness of the skin.
It is sold at Paris at 10 fr. a bottle, with directions. Agency—At New Orleans, at F. DUCONGE, Chartres street. fe26 1e1al
