We [illegible] give some addditional information concerning the State Election; we do not make positive assertions, but we give a faithful report of the opinions generally entertained in the parishes of which we speak. Where credit can be given to what has been stated to us, it will appear that, notwithstanding the small majority at present in favour of the Jacksonists, their cry of victory is somewhat premature and may very probably in a week's time be changed [illegible] not quite so [illegible] ing.

A part of Florida and the parish of Orleans has given [illegible] a majority of but 200 [illegible] Opposition [illegible] of 300 votes, the Administration is known to possess at least 300, [illegible] the other parishes [illegible] would not materially change [illegible] ears in their favour, so that we may reasonably suppose the battle [illegible] so much decided as our inebriated antagonists would suppose.

We have not received official returns from Plaquemines, but the Jacksonites [illegible] have given [illegible] have given on the [illegible] comparative [illegible] on at the present election with [illegible] of [illegible] last.

Sir,—In [illegible] of the conversation I had [illegible] two days since on the subject of the ports of Buenos Ayres [illegible] under [illegible] by the Brazilian squadron [illegible] providing [illegible] subject, I will be greatly [illegible] you giving me explicit answers [illegible] following questions [illegible]

Would you consider the port of Buenos Ayres under a state of blockade?

Would you consider a vessel bound hence into that port liable to capture or condemnation, without previously [illegible] her papers endorsed?

Should [illegible] be thus warned off and put into [illegible] to wait until any force that might be temporarily placed off that port, to blockade it, said again on information of such force being withdrawn would she, having already had her papers endorsed, be liable to capture, and if so, to condemnation?

Respectfully, your [illegible] JAS. SMITH.

RIO JANEIRO, August 3, 1828.

Sir,—I have received your note of this day's date. At the time I left the River Plata in June last, I did not consider the port of Buenos Ayres under a state of blockade, because no force was regularly maintained off that port. In January last, the Brazil admiral informed me, by letter, that according to the instructions of his Government, vessels found to the westward of a certain line passing through Point Piedras, on the south shore of the River Plate, were liable to capture. [illegible] was [illegible] to [illegible] the City of Buenos Ayres [illegible] ports are west of [illegible] Piedras, they are also south of [illegible] to all probability, deemed to be without the blockade limits of the River. I am not informed, since I left the River, whether the Brazil Admiral has other instructions from his Government, or whether an adequate blockading squadron is stationed and maintained off the Salado.

To your other questions contained in your note to me, I should refer you from our Diplomatic [illegible] this Government answers [illegible] you may more safely rely.

I am, respectfully, your most obt. [illegible] JAMES BIDDLE.

From Guatemala.—Capt. Hull, of brig Joseph, arrived at Baltimore on the 2d inst. in 28 days from Truxillo, informs, that the misunderstanding between the Guatemalians and St. Salvadorians still continued, and there appeared to be little prospect of a speedy termination to the unhappy difference. Capt. H. mentioned that an order had been made by the government of Central America, prohibiting the introduction of any article of Spanish growth or manufacture into the country.
