BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL

FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Under the Superintendence of Madame ED. LOCQUET,

No. 240 Camp Street,

ASSISTED BY JULIA AND ST. JAMES STANDIS.

THIS establishment, established by Dr. and Mrs. Ed. Locquet, whose high reputation has never been equalled, will commence its 17th scholastic year on MONDAY, the 16th of September.

Mme. ED. LOCQUET, assisted by her sister, Mlle. STANISLAS LOCQUET, will use her best endeavors to render to much the attendance regard, for its comfort, as in her predecessors.

Professors of the highest talent are engaged in all the languages, both useful and ornamental. Piano, Music, Drawing, Painting, Dancing, will be taught assiduously and the study of the Bibles, will be attended to as professed by the Mission. Lectures on Science, Literature and Morals of much had been so well appreciated by the numerous families who have entrusted their wards with their confidence.

The French language, the native tongue of those in charge, and the acquisition of which is now indispensable to the education of a daughter, will be the utmost care, and is a great advantage to a night with the utmost care, and is given in the Institution. Young ladies will therefore find it a great advantage in connection with these teachers, every facility possible for perfecting themselves in this very desirable acquisition.

The establishment, always so commodious and well ventilated, has recently been enlarged, and improved with regard to the comfort and health of the pupils. Mme. Locquet respectfully invites parents and families to call and visit her school, where, from experience, all other information which may be desired, can be obtained.

Letters of inquiry will be promptly attended to by the Principal. sept 1

MISCELLANEOUS.

Preservation of the Sight.

MR. S. DUHAMEL, optician, 241 Dr. St. Charles street, has for years in his possession all those spectacles and eyes defective that he has purchased a fresh invention of patent Cylindrical Spectacles, received by the undersigned, opinion in Paris, and the Board, Paris, Cravenne, Nice and others in New Orleans. The curb is such that these glasses may be used without the least danger of the slightest pain.

Persons with skillful opticians have made a report declaring that the above articles are unquestionably the best for preserving over all others consists in the fact being equally divided over the whole surface, instead of being in the center only, as in the case with spectacles generally. The interposition of the two cylindrical surfaces makes bordered achromatic, and, consequently, much clearer than the others.

Persons and persons will find a great improvement in these glasses.

A pattern showing the advantages of these new glasses will be exhibited and explained, on application to Mr. Duhamel, to all those who may be desirous of being further informed on the subject. feb11
