FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

HENRY CLAY

NEW-ORLEANS
WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 26, 1843.

The Morning Herald copies an article from the Mobile Register, in which Mr. CLAY and Judge BARBOUR are sneered at for being associated together on the same ticket in Georgia, as the whig candidates for President and Vice-President. The Herald is pretty well tinctured with Calhounism, while its compeer, the Register, is a thorough-going Van Buren print. From both of these papers the sweet comes with the worst possible grace. The Herald, on the one hand, assaults Mr. CALHOUN, as a leader of a party which he declared, a few years back, to be composed altogether of "Rogues and Royalists," but is prepared, at the bidding of the National Democratic Convention, to champion the claims of Mr. VAN BUREN, whom Mr. CALHOUN, about the same time termed a "fox and a weasel," and in favor of whose disgraceful recal from the English mission his casting vote was recorded in the Senate of the United States. The Register, on the other hand, very unceremoniously the pretensions of Mr. VAN BUREN, but is equally prepared, should the Convention so decide, to battle for Mr. CALHOUN, who, in 1841, was the sworn foe of the so-called Democratic party, the most invidious leader of the Register's favorite; the reviler and detester of General JACKSON, and the father of Nullification, against which impracticable spawn of political transcendentalism, the Register, in common with nine-tenths of the American press, ran full tilt from 1830 until the compromise act laid it in the grave. It would be some what surprising that with such vulnerable points of attack, the Incofoco press should attempt to prate about consistency, and direct their pointless satire against the friends of Mr. CLAY, did we not know that the policy of Incofocoism has always been to assail the whigs most vehemently for the very sins of which it has itself been guilty. Like the robber who mixes with the crowd and joins lustily in the cry of "stop thief," to avoid suspicion, so the Incofocos are ever making a pother over the fancied inconsistencies of others, in order to prevent too close a scrutiny into their own manifold and glaring delinquencies.

We can hardly imagine how the Incofoco press can undertake to utter a solitary syllable respecting consistency, with such notable examples of inconsistation on the part of their cherished leaders staring them in the face. Take a single illustration: Mr. CALHOUN, who is now a prominent, if not the most prominent, candidate in that party, never discovered his Democracy until he found his political hopes had become at variance with the will of the Democracy, and until the scales were marvellously removed by a certain potent mesmeric agent styled self-interest.—When he found that though he stood high in the ranks of the whigs, he was not foremost; that his fellows, was rebuked by Mr. CLAY as ANTHONY was by CAESAR; and that his chances of aggrandizement by the side of Harrison were small and desperate, he wrote his celebrated Edgefield letter, in which he told his constituents that further adherence to the whig party would be a "treason to his benefit." Since then, Mr. CALHOUN has become a most enormous Democrat. Though the fact of his conversion, he assures us, is due to the force of Truth, he is now its most unremitting and zealous votary. He has become a most enormous Democrat. Though the fact of Protection, he is now its dreadfully fearful. Though the most determined stickler for a National Bank, he now rejoices furiously the bobby of a metallic currency, though he considered Mr. VAN BUREN "no gentleman," and avoided all intercourse with him until the memorable reconciliation of 1840, he is now ready to go shares by post with the Sage of Lindenwold into the National Convention, and give him the support of his South Carolina demand, should the ex-President succeed in obtaining the vote of that body. Consistency, forsooth! Laugh!

☞ Yesterday and the day before, were, we believe, the hottest days yet experienced during the present summer. They were hot positively, compared with any previous days. There was no alteration in the normal state of the sidewalks. The pavements still retained the heat of the sun, while the brick buildings on either side reflected the calorific rays, and a still and breezeless atmosphere returned them until surcharged with the principle of heat. The thermometer, an hour after sun-down on Tuesday, is a cool spot, indicated 88 degrees of heat. At noon the Mercury had risen several degrees higher. The evenings too, are less pleasant than in seasons in this latitude—there is not enough of wind to temper the warmth of the air, and by no means sufficient to keep off those insupportable plagues—those restless and unmusical musicians—those itinerant bag-pipe players, who will be heard, and whom no compensation will satisfy, save your blood. Happy those whose occupations, unlike those of an editor, do not bind them to the dull and hot and sickly city, who can inhale the pure, bracing atmosphere of the lake impregnated with sea-breezes, who can fly from miasmatic heroes, infernal airs and all the multitude of ills and apprehensions that beset us city denizens.

☞ We got a struggling mail or two yesterday, by way of novelty. The dates from Boston are to the 15th, from Washington to the 17th.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Elias Kipp, brother to Mr. Kipp the celebrated stage proprietor, died suddenly in New York on the 14th, of bleeding at the lungs.

THE EXAMINATION of Mrs. Cochran alias Gilmour, in New York, was still going on at the last accounts.—Her counsel were trying hard to establish the usual plea for the escape of criminals—insanity.

DEATH OF COMMANDER DALLAS.—The New York papers make mention of the death of Alexander J. Dallas, late Browne, a commander of the U. S. Navy. He died in Troy on the 12th. He had been in bad health some time.

THE GREAT WESTERN left New York for Liverpool on the 13th instant, at 2 o'clock P. M., with one hundred and two passengers, among whom was Mr. Greenough, the sculptor and his family, who are returning to Italy.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—The Elkton Democrat states that on the 4th at Chestertown, Md., a son of Mr. Van, born, aged about 18 months, having been carried by its nurse too near the muzzle of the cannon at the time of its firing, was struck with the wad, and so much injured that it died in about 24 hours after the accident occurred.

☞ ARREST OF COUNTERFEITERS OF AMERICAN COIN.—A man named Fason, a wealthy black-smith in New York, together with a number of accomplices, has been arrested for manufacturing spurious eagles, and half eagles, and half dollars. The implements of their nefarious occupation were found in their house, together with a quantity of spurious coin.

☞ We have been requested to call the attention of those papers which have published the advertisement of the Medical College of Louisiana, to an alteration in the time of the delivery of the Course of Lectures in that Institution. They will commence the last Monday in November, and close the last Saturday in April.

☞ The Secretary of the Treasury gives notice that applicants for the renewal of lost certificates of stock, or for payment of lost treasury notes, must accompany their applications with a statement of the whole case under oath, a bond with sureties to refund in case of error, and proof that the loss had been advertised in some public newspaper.

MADAME CASTELLAN.—The Bowery, New York, has effected an engagement with the charming cantatrice, to appear at that theatre in Italian operas, during the coming autumn and winter. She is engaged for six months at $20,000, payable in installments of $5,000 each, guaranteed to her satisfaction. Two eminent artists were written for by the Great Western, and are expected out in a few weeks, to give strength to the Italian company. As a set off to this engagement, the True Sun says, letters went by the same steamer to secure the services of Cerito at the Park.

A GREAT FORTUNE VANISHED.—The statement which has been going the rounds of the papers, representing that a poor Irishman in Boston had fallen heir to an immense estate in Great Britain, proves to be all wrong. The documents which were relied upon to secure possession of the fortune to the supposed heir, proved to be forgeries, and Pat goes without his ready money and the lawyer without his immense landed estate, which is to be given him as a consideration for his advice.

ST. DOMINGO.—The brig Maria, Captain Stetson, arrived on the 12th at Philadelphia, from Port-au-Prince, which place she left, on the 1st instant, reports that the market was well supplied with American provisions.—Flour very abundant; about 3000 bbls., on hand, and no demand; considerable of it must perish before it can be consumed. No definite quotations can be given.

No election of President had yet taken place; the convention of delegates for that purpose was to assemble in Port-a-Prince this month.

LATER FROM MEXICO.

The U. S. ship Vincennes, Capt. BUCHANAN, arrived at Pensacola on the 18th, from a cruize in the Gulf of Mexico, during which she visited Vera Cruz, Campeachy and Tampico. The Vincennes brought papers from the city of Mexico, to the 27th of June, containing the following order of President SANTA ANA:—

Ministry of War and Marine.

Antonio Lopez de Santa Ana, meeting well of his country, General of Division, and President provisional of the Republic of Mexico to the inhabitants of it, Know ye, that considering the criminal and detestable abuse which has been committed and is now being committed by many foreigners, belonging by birth to nations now living in peace and amity with the Mexicans, in usurping their territory, in invading it with arms in hand, by attacking the troops of the Republic, by despoiling their property, and by committing excesses worthy of bands of robbers and pirates, that act with out the pale of the laws of nations, and in fine that the time has arrived to put an end to these evils and scandalous proceedings. Exercising the rights and employing the energies which is authorized in such cases, because those whom the generosity and clemency of the government has pardoned have returned to commit new aggressions and to carry forward their injurious views, I have resolved for the good of the nation, in order to save it from the attacks of these adventurers and to manifest the firmness with which I sustain the rights of the Republic, that, that which the following article shall contain, be decreed, and I have for authority the 17th of the articles of Tacubaya—sanctioned by the nation.

Art. 1st. For the future no quarter shall be granted, on all foreigners who invade the territory of the Republic on their own account, that may be captured under arms, shall be put to immediate death, whether accompanied in their enterprise by few or many adventurers, and although ostensible it may be justified by the pretext of interfering in the civil dissensions, with the view of aiding a political end.

This penalty shall be inflicted upon all foreigners who of what country they may, because the Mexicans being at peace with all other nations the responsibility of he who may make war upon them is purely individual, and places him without the protection of existing treaties.

2d. The generals-in-chief of the army, the generals commanded of the maritime and frontier departments, and all lawful military authority that shall superintend the action tending our territory or promoting civil war with arms in hand, shall be responsible for the most scrupulous accomplishment of this decree, and the punishment for its infraction shall be the loss of office by the person responsible.

Therefore I command that this be printed, published and circulated and receive the proper execution.

National Palace of Mexico, June 11, 1843.

ANTONIO LOPEZ SANTA ANA.
Jose Maria Tornel, Minister of War and Marine.

From the Boston Courier, July 11.

THE FULL MOON.

The loss of this fine steamship is no longer a matter of conjecture. Notwithstanding the hopes and wishes of all who were willing to believe in any thing rather than the sad story, it is now ascertained beyond doubt, by all the letter-writers from the steamer herself, confirmed by many eye-witnesses, that the ill-fated Fullmoon, in the night of Sunday, 2d inst., was lost in the Gulf Stream, off the coast of Florida, and that the crew were left, with the hope of being able to get out the engines from the wreck of the hurricane, which, it is said, would take place on the first violent commotion of the waves. The report that a person was missing from her arose from the fact that the number of her sailors, in attempting to launch a small boat on the ship's quarter, on the evening of the 1st instant, lost one man in the fog, and was driven by the wind and tide out of the bay, till some time after day, when he was picked up by a vessel bound for the bay from Boston, and was thus taken on board.

The Columbia, if she does not cost $30,000, and was insured for $30,000, was commanded by Captain Shannon, formerly of the Mail-line, and by the Boston Board of Halifax—a gentleman of long experience and high reputation, who has been employed by the company on that capacity since the first establishment of the line, and previously, he commanded one of the British Government packets, which plied monthly between Falmouth and Halifax, with the Falmouth, (England) Packet.

At a meeting of the passengers held on Seal Island, on the 6th, Captain Shannon was unanimously elected to command, and the Honorable Abbott Lawrence was unanimously requested to act as commander of the conduct. Other action was also had in relation to those who had exhibited no sympathy and assistance, and provisions was made for the publication of all the proceedings in the Boston, Halifax and Liverpool papers. A committee of the passengers, on the same day, addressed a letter to the Honorable Samuel Cunard, Thomas Marshall and J. P. Miller, Esquires, Commissioners of Legislation, informing them of the great attention received from the keeper of the light-house at Seal Island, and requesting that his conduct might be favorably considered.

HYDROPHOBIA.—A writer in the National Intelligencer denies the efficacy of the alleged cure for Hydrophobia, which has been going the rounds for some weeks. It consisted, as our readers will recollect, in opening the pustules, which were said always to appear under the tongue. The writer says:—"The means used by the writer of the article in question are not unknown to the profession, either in this country or in Europe. They have been considered, put in practice, and found, I regret to say, unsuccessful, if not altogether worthless."

A violent storm swept over the district of Montreal on Sunday, the 24 inst. Rain fell in torrents, accompanied by wind and hail-stones of very large dimensions. Many trees were uprooted, fences blown down, and in St. Marie no less than twenty-three buildings were destroyed. At Shenington two men were killed by lightning, and a third was seriously injured; at St. Antoine, not one of a number gathering strawberries in a field, a son of Mr. Laperre, 10 years old, and a younger daughter of Mr. Archambault, were killed, and the other piece struck to the ground. At St. Denis, Rowlar, St. Barthelemy and other places, several buildings were more or less seriously injured.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Last Monday evening as a negro belonging to J W Dawson, Esq., was driving a large ox team on the Comite road, two small children—the offspring of Mr. Thomas Fitzsimmons—accidentally crawled between the front wheel of the wagon and the oxen. The larger of the two in endeavoring to extricate its almost helpless little mate, was thrown down, and both were dragged by the lumbering vehicle passed over their bodies about the region of the abdomen. The little sufferer survived but a few minutes. The other was but slightly injured.—Baton Rouge Gazette.

GEN. JOSEPH VANCE, OF OHIO.

It is with great satisfaction that we learn, from the Ohio papers, that this sterling Republican patriot has been put in nomination to succeed Gen Mason (who declines a re-election) as Representative in Congress from the district in which he lives. The Ohio State Journal, remarking on his nomination, says:—"His election being certain, we can congratulate the District, the State, and the Country upon having secured to them the services of this experienced, talented, well-informed, jealous, true American Whig former and statesman in the National Councils. Gen. Vance is a living history of record of Ohio—an embodiment of the knowledge of her best interests and the true policy of our country."

A DEBAUCHED ACCIDENT.—A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer states that a drunkard accident occurred on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Rail Road, on Saturday the 8 inst. at Tiscolore Titus and lady, of Wilkesbarre, and their son, an interesting youth of about fifteen years of age, were returning to their residence, and in consequence of the public conveyance, Mr. Titus took a lumber car, which he had been using on the rail road to run lumber from his landing to the Lehigh. After passing down the first inclined plane in perfect safety, in attempting to descend the second, which is about three miles from Wilkesbarre, for want of proper precaution in starting at the top, the car became unmanageable, running with astonishing rapidity, and in turning a curve just before reaching the foot of the plane, Mrs. Titus was thrown off, precipitated nearly one hundred feet, her head striking a rock, and almost instantly killed. Mr. Titus and son kept on a few moments longer, when they were also thrown from the car, and so much injured that their recovery is considered doubtful.

EMIGRANTS

The New York Courier says:

"Two hundred and fifty arrived at this port yesterday from different ports in Norway, with 250 passengers, nearly all of whom are agriculturists. It is their intention to proceed at once from the vessel to the low lands of the Western Territory, and as they have brought a considerable quantity of specie with them, they cannot fail to become a valuable acquisition to the neighborhood near which they may locate. The emigration from the north of Europe will be much larger this year than usual—about 12,000 are expected from the different ports in Norway, Antwerp and Hamburg in vessels consigned to one house in this city.
