Saturday morning, May 19, 1849.

Mr. Macready.

Despite the solicitation from Washington [illegible] gentleman, to continue his engagement at the Action Place, Mr. Macready [illegible] a kindly and admirable letter [illegible] Irving, William Kent, &c. [illegible]

I have the honor of acknowledging [illegible] delivered to me this day.

[illegible] the public, in its usual strong [illegible] and other tokens offered me in [illegible] Place, I was certainly my desire [illegible] purpose to avail myself of the legal [illegible] offered me, and withdraw at once from [illegible] I stand there.

[illegible] which has been endeared [illegible] long and strong attachments. I [illegible] the opinion of associates [illegible] Kent, with the ill death of [illegible] duty to be found in [illegible] and in the same spirit [illegible] I have [illegible] in a hasty and unwise [illegible] the late occurrence. I [illegible] feeling grateful [illegible]

W. C. MACREADY.

New-York 12th May 9, 1849.

In connection with this subject, it is as well [illegible] pamphlet has been received from [illegible] containing a full and complete refutation [illegible] charges preferred against Macready [illegible] embraces statements and letters [illegible] Messrs. Forrest, Scott, Mitchell, and [illegible] meeting and expressions [illegible] inside, which [illegible] the sincerity or courtesy of Mr. Macready. We have never read, says the [illegible] a more elaborate statement of the kind [illegible] in the conversation [illegible] Mr. Forrest's acts [illegible] and we think, the public at large have [illegible] with the entire [illegible] cannot possibly [illegible] champion of Mr. F. He has [illegible] professional services gratuitously [illegible] the country have commenced an [illegible] there. He acts well; and the [illegible] Mr. Forrest has no right to [illegible] feeling to bear him out and sanction [illegible] private controversies. That he [illegible] the cause of the disgraceful [illegible] disorders which lately occurred in New-York, none even among his warmest admirers can doubt. He conduct has been that of a [illegible] and conceited person, who [illegible] the whole American people were [illegible] to himself, and who consequently be [illegible] any personal grievance that he [illegible] Unfortunately he did succeed in [illegible] ideas in the minds of [illegible] and unremunerating [illegible] and violence and bloodshed [illegible] with strong reproach on the [illegible] of a great city. Mr. [illegible] not so sympathetic towards [illegible] Mr. Macready is considerable [illegible] Mr. Macready has abused Macready [illegible] of unique form of wrongs which are [illegible] imaginary, or with which that [illegible] proved to have had no connection [illegible] Forrest cannot, therefore, even [illegible] the paltry pretext of suffering from the [illegible] of Mr. Macready, as justification of the [illegible] assaults which inflamed the passions [illegible] New-York population and incited them to [illegible] disorder.

[illegible] of these remarks will be appreciated [illegible] our readers who are aware [illegible] we have the [illegible] to offer very much [illegible] opinion generally [illegible] Mr. Macready's histrionic excellence [illegible] in being the most admirer of [illegible] in his mind, he [illegible] the accomplished reader of Shakspeare [illegible] not make the view which [illegible] seem most like of the discrete [illegible] he has received, and of the [illegible] to which we must look for its [illegible]

John A. Matson, of Franklin co., [illegible] nominated for Governor by the 2d Whig Convention, in place of Judge Eustis [illegible] the convenients require for Congress. Mr. Matson was recently the Whig candidate for Congress in his district, and is a [illegible] man. The several State tickets are [illegible]

[illegible] Gov. Kent, Lieut. Gov. Fr. Gardner, Auditor, H. Clayton; J. A. Wright, Treasurer, Charles Lee; Attorney General, [illegible] Secretary of State, James H. Lane. [illegible] Supreme Court, Cass 74,745 [illegible] Lane 71 and A. B. Everett, 3,262.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE.—One of [illegible] M. Guizot, while on a visit to him [illegible] established the subject of Universal [illegible] in the course of conversation suggested [illegible] Universal Suffrage might give him [illegible] entertaining to France. Guizot laughingly [illegible] the remark, "No Sir"—I have [illegible] universal suffrage. How could [illegible] I have opposed it from the first, as [illegible] morality, and who have treated the [illegible] as a mere [illegible] of intelligence. Sir"—I [illegible] of marrying my maid-servant. Since that time, M. Guizot has thought [illegible] He has married the maid servant, [illegible] the happiest married marriage. So much [illegible] the sincerity of M. Guizot.

CHOLERA IN YAZOO CITY.—We regret to learn, says the Vicksburg Sentinel, that this dread disease is raging with great fatality in the adjacent counties and parishes. At Yazoo City the cases have been very numerous and severe, and we learn that there were six or seven deaths a day for several days of last week. This is equal to three times the number [illegible] to fall a day at New-Orleans. Major Tait, one of the best and above Yazoo City, has lost 20 negroes. In of the number died hands, out of a force of about 150. Mr. C. F. Hamer, on the Yazoo, has lost seven or eight, and several other planters a proportionate number. At Milliken's Bend, 22 miles above this city, and on several other plantations in the vicinity, the disease has been [illegible]

☞ The tenacity with which the Democrats cling to office, has been exhibited more strikingly in the Post Office Department, than in any other department, so far. Mr. Collamer has been compelled to order a mandamus to issue in some half dozen cases. Oh, these office-hating Democrats!

MEYERBEER'S NEW OPERA, THE PROPHET.—At the first performance of Meyerbeer's Opera, seats in the parterre were sold at 40 to 60 fr.—the ordinary price is 1 fr.—just twenty times the usual price; boxes of four seats 500 fr. and one brought 800 fr. at a quarter before 6, in the evening of the performance. Considering the universal misery in the city this was paying high prices for pleasure.

Guatemala.

The National Intelligencer has received files of Guatemala papers to a late date. The bloody war which had been for some time raging is for the present at an end. Gen. MARIANO PAREDES is President of the Republic. Mr. Wise, charge d'affaires of the United States, has been received publicly with great ceremony. We understand, says the Intelligencer, that he has succeeded in making a treaty with Guatemala, and likewise with Nicaragua; the ambassadors from the latter were very desirous of entering into relations with the United States. The sympathizers in Guatemala, Nicaragua, and all the other States, are represented to be with the United States rather than with the English, who, by continually keeping men-of-war in their neighborhood, may at present be said to rule supreme over them. Mr. Chatfield, the British Consul General, has great influence with one of the parties, the Servile, to which the new President belongs; and it is represented that not long ago, upon some unimportant question with the State of San Salvador, the Consul sent for a man-of-war and blockaded the port of San Salvador—the vessel going off after a few days and leaving a boat and a few men to blockade the port.

The government of Guatemala, being in want of funds, determined to lay a forced loan upon all merchants in the country, and, as most of the business men are Spaniards, the weight of the measure fell naturally upon them. They made a protest; but, being of no avail, they put themselves under the protection of the French Consul, who undertook their defence, and there has been a flare-up in consequence, which ended in the Consul receiving his passports and leaving the country.

A robber and assassin called Leon Raymond who styles himself Rey del Mundo, "King of the World," who likewise aspires to the Presidency, is still making war upon all whom he meets on the roads. He has a large party of such gentry under his command.

CHOLERA AT ST. LOUIS.—The Republican of the 11th states that 26 new cases of cholera and nine deaths occurred in the previous 24 hours.—The disease, it is thought, is far from decreasing.

Arrival of the Canada.

The bulletin of yesterday published the following despatches:

BALTIMORE, May 16, 1849—12 M.

Intelligence received from St. John, N. B., half past one, yesterday, of the arrival of the Canada, which left Liverpool on the 5th inst.—Since the sailing of the Hibernia, imports of Cotton had been 113,277 bales, of which 104,149 were American. Prices of American are particularly low, and middling qualities are higher. Egyptians and Brazils quoted at 4 3/8 8d; Orleans 4 3-4d. The sales of the week ending May 4th, were 46,190 bales, of which nearly 30,000 were American. Speculators took nearly 300 bales, and exporters 2710 bales.

THIRD DESPATCH.

BALTIMORE, May 16, 1849—1 P. M.

A further feeling of depression existed in the Grain market. The weather has been very favorable to the growing crops, causing buyers of Corn to limit their operations. For the immediate wants at Mark Lane, English Wheat sold with decline of 1s to 2s a quarter. A similar deduction existed in foreign Wheat, and concessions were made in Flour and Corn. On the Leaf, Indian Corn was the demand for Four and Wheat was unsettled and previous rates barely maintained. Indian Corn was in brisk request, and 1c covered from its previous depression. Indian Meal was dull at 19s per bbl. Flour brought 22s. In Wheat business had declined, buyers refused 22s 6d, and some transactions took place at 22s 9d. Prime Ohio was quoted at 22s to 24s per bbl; best brands at the latter price. Indian Corn had improved and brought 31s to 32s per cwt—Best was in better request, and prices of Pork, both Western and Eastern, lower. The Canada has made a splendid trip out.

FOURTH DESPATCH.

BALTIMORE, May 16—5 o'clock P. M.

The London Money Market continues steady, and securities were on the advance. Consols on Money Account opened on the 4th inst. at 92 3-8, and closed firm at 92 1-2. The stock of bullion in the Bank of England was undiminished. The amount of gold shipped to the United States, exclusive of the shipment per Canada, is £225,000, and nominally to £111,900.

Accounts from New-York per Niagara had tended materially to check exportation of specie. There was an improved demand in the London market for American Stocks, and particularly Pennsylvania fives, which are quoted at 77 to 79—the only stock mentioned in the London papers.

The accounts of the Bank of France show an increase of specie to the amount of six million of francs. Freights
