FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,
HENRY CLAY.
NEW-ORLEANS
THURSDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 14, 1843.

WHIGS OF MUNICIPALITY NO. ONE.

The undersigned, President and Secretary of the Executive Committee of the DEMOCRATIC WHIG ASSOCIATION OF MUNICIPALITY NO. ONE, invite their fellow-citizens to meet on SATURDAY, 16th September, 1843, at 7 o'clock P. M., at the St. Louis Ball Room, to receive the report of the Delegates and concur in the nomination of the candidate for the place of Recorder of the First Municipality.

ALEX. PHILLIPS, President.
J. A. QUEMPER, Secretary.

WARD MEETINGS.

The undersigned, members of the Executive Committee of the DEMOCRATIC WHIG ASSOCIATION OF THE FIRST MUNICIPALITY, and Presidents and Secretaries of the Ward Committees of said Association, respectfully invite their whig fellow-citizens of the Municipality to meet at the places hereinafter named, THIS EVENING, Thursday, 14th inst., at 7 o'clock, in order to choose delegates (in a like number to the aldermen of each ward,) who shall proceed on Friday Evening, 15th September, at 7 o'clock, at the Executive Committee Room, Blasco's House, Condé street, to appoint the candidate of the Democratic Whigs for Recorder of the First Municipality, to wit:—

First Ward—At the Conti-street Hotel—M. Musson, President; N. Delaplaine, Secretary.

Second Ward—At the Orleans Hotel—N. Garlie, President; E. Perillat, Secretary.

Third Ward—At Blasco's House—M. Blasco, President; H. Gilly, Secretary.

Fourth Ward—At the corner of St. Phillip and Royal streets—Louis Seré, President; F. G. Labarre, Secretary.

Fifth Ward—At Bowman's—Jules Benit, President; Louis Surgi, Secretary.

Our guidance were again disappointed yesterday, in the expected arrival of later European news.—The mail failed beyond Charleston.

THE WARD MEETINGS.

The attention of the Whigs of the First Municipality is directed to the several WARD MEETINGS to be held this evening, for the selection of Delegates, whose to nominate a whig candidate for Recorder. We trust that the attendance will be general at these assemblies. The mode of making the nomination is so truly republican, that it must meet with universal consent, while its results will doubtless satisfy every one.

The Greensboro' Beacon—a paper published in Alabama, says: "The doctrine of nullification must not be proscribed. It is the quintessence of democracy, and so acknowledged at this day by the great majority of the active and controlling members of the party." We do not exchange with the Beacon, but infer from the above citation, that it is a Calhoun journal. Really these champions of Calhounism are becoming somewhat insolent—when they claim that a doctrine of their faith, or which was universally repudiated by the so called democratic party, and which exposed Mr. Calhoun himself to the wrath and (but for Mr. Clay) to the vengeance of Gen. Jackson, should now be essentially incorporated with the democratic creed. We wonder how the old union party of Alabama will relish this sprout of nullification grafted on the sturdy evergreen of locofocoism! How will the unionists of Georgia, the original Jackson and Van Buren men of that state, who are already sufficiently discontented at the cool effrontery with which nullifiers and recreant whigs take precedence in their ranks, how will they receive the information that hereafter nullification is to be regarded as the quintessence of democracy? And yet the combination of Calhoun nullifiers with the party which they were wont to denounce as "rogues and royalists united together by the cohesive power of the public plunder," is scarcely less strange than would be the adoption of the principles of the Calhounites by the locofocos. We would not be greatly surprised if locofocoism in the south were thoroughly affiliated with nullification. Why not. Locofocos and nullifiers act together as a band of brothers. A union of individuals can be easily and naturally followed by a blending of principles.

The Mobile Register—a Van Buren print—is, however, not at all disposed to swallow the mixture proffered by the Beacon, but rejects the dose, if not with unmingled nausea, at least with exceeding distaste. That paper denies emphatically that nullification is democratic doctrine, but is accommodating enough to be willing to act with and support its old opponents, on common grounds on which the two factions can consistently meet. The Register is too indulgent by half. Let Mr. Calhoun secure a majority in Alabama, and nullification will become as rampant there as it is now in Georgia. Rule or ruin was long ago said of Mr. Calhoun's policy, and he bids fair to carry it out, in fraternizing with locofocoism.

The Boston Courier is a paper notoriously unfriendly to Mr. Clay, devoted to Mr. Webster, and hitherto disposed to view Mr. Tyler's administration with an indulgent eye—yet the recent dismissal of Levi Lincoln from the post-mastership of Boston—an office he had filled with the utmost ability and satisfaction of the people of that city, seems to have ruffled Mr. Buckingham's temper most decidedly.—In the following comments on that unjust exercise of executive power, the Courier has told Mr. Tyler some plain truths, which, coming from such a source, might be expected to make any other man pause in his career and reflect upon the suicidal folly of his course; but the acting president is so completely the dupe of interested and intriguing sycophants, that we have not a doubt, he will regard the Courier as a foe, and consider its counsels as officious and impertinent. He doubtless is written.

From the Boston Courier, August 30.

THE COLLECTORSHIP.—The Times of yesterday expresses its belief that the appointment of Mr. Benjamin to the collectorship of Boston, in place of Mr. Lincoln, is given general satisfaction!! It must have required a good degree of credulity and no small quantity of assurance to enable one who mixes much with the people in the public streets to promulgate such a declaration. We believe that no change of public officers ever made by the National Administration was more unpopular in Boston than this. There is not a voice heard in approbation. The feeling against it is all one way. Whether the change be agreeable to the editor of the Times or not, is a question which he may decide with perfect propriety; but he has no right (we say it with great deference) that the declaration silent. It is a great personal fact.

It is laughable to see the feeble attempts made to impress on President TYLER a belief that his recent measures are popular with the people. Those who have witnessed the attempts doubtless have no object and expect to reap the benefit of the delusion. They may, for aught we know, be rewarded for their knavery and among themselves, may acquire credit for their skill and success in the sort of diplomacy, but the President is evidently the dupe of these artifices. The President has never sought our friends hip, nor are we under any obligation to step between him and the men who are using him as an instrument to a scoundrel their own selfish purposes, and who will let, mentally laugh as even now! laugh at him for his credulity and subserviency to their plans, but are voluntarily and gratuitously assume the character of his friends. If he is sincerely desirous of being thought by the people to be a friend of the Whigs, he will be wise in bestowing his favors. If he expects, by the course he has evidently pursued, to gain friends or popularity, he will find himself subsequently disappointed. He has not attached to himself a friend a single faithful adherent of that branch of that democratic party which supported the election of Mr. Van Buren. That party will not be deceived in his character. They are as shrill and they will be as in 1844. He is not our friend. He has no friends. He is no boilmaker, but serious, sober truth—he does not find it so, now, every human testimony.

NEW WORKS.—We acknowledge from Messrs. J. and H. G. Langley, publishers, the work of J. B. Steel, Esq., the author of copies of two new works. The first is entitled the Poetry of Life, by Mrs. Ellis. It is an essay on the various sources of the poetical in nature, and is characterized by great elegance of style and copious and choiceness of illustration. The other is the first volume of Dr. Forry's New-York Journal of Medicine and the Collateral Sciences. It is published monthly, and appears from a hearty glance, to be filled with subjects of great interest to the medical profession, and to the cultivators of kindred sciences.

LAUNCH.—A noble ship of about 1600 bales capacity, called Lake Ashland (from the place her keel was laid), was launched from the slip yard of Jacob Parkham, at Manchuchak Station, on the 5 20th ultimo.

DEATH BY DRAWING.—The last Illinoisan says: "It is with deep regret that Hugh Donaghue, recently elected sheriff of Cass county, is dangerously ill, from the effects of being drawn, four daily miles upwards of his residence, by a team of horses."

GEORGIA.—The Locofoco Central Committee of Georgia have nominated Herschell V. Johnson, as a candidate for Congress, in place of Col. J. B. Lamar resigned. The whigs have not yet announced their candidate.

CURIOUS EXPERIMENT.—The Charleston Courier says:—"Let a wine glass be filled to the brim with water, and then be gradually supplied with needles or pins as it can hold, and it will be found that the water will not run over the glass. Can any of our scientific readers explain the principle of the phenomenon?

Mr. WISE, the aeronaut, made his forty-second balloon ascension from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, about two weeks since, ascending to the height of four thousand feet, and alighting in safety about nine miles from the place of ascension. In describing the voyage he says:

"During this voyage, I made particular observation in regard to the exhilaration of the human system. I find that the action of internal organs are augmented with the diminution of atmospheric pressure, and consequently followed by a rapid exhalation of the fluids of the body; this becomes very sensible to any part of the body on which the clothing is drawn tight to the skin; the sensation on any shaded part of the body is similar to that produced by blowing on it with a bellows, and in the sun it produces a painfully pricking sensation.—To this cause I must attribute the prevalence of that voraciousness of appetite and thirstiness experienced by other aeronauts as well as myself, which must naturally follow a violent healthy action of all the vital organs of the body."

SYRACUSE LOCOFOCO CONVENTION.—"This much talked about meeting is to be held to-morrow. We have already given the upshot of the existed preliminary meetings to select delegates from this city. They are thirteen, nine understood to be favorable to the election of Van Buren, and four to that of Calhoun. There was an attempt to substitute Benjamin F. Butler for Alderman Brevoort, the delegate elect from the 12th Ward; the latter to resign on account of sickness in his family. But it was ruled irregular, and Mr V. B. will not have the vote and influence of his fidus Achates in the Syracuse convention.—New York Express, 4th inst.

FREE TRADE.—I have corn and I want pork. My neighbor has pork and wants corn. We exchange.—This is free trade. The shoemaker makes shoes for his neighbors and takes their grain, meat and potatoes in payment. This is free trade. Would it be better for him and his customers to make him pay the Government the value of one dollar out of all he gets in exchange for labor? This is free trade in the tariff policy. So it is with all other classes of society. Free trade permits every body to sell what they have for the best price they can get, and buy what they want as cheap as they can.

A farmer drives his wagon to market, gets the best price he can for his load, buys what he wants, and is on his return home. It is free trade thus far, but at the boundary of his country he has to pay more or less of a little tolls, the value of which make him pay the Government a sum of money equal to one-third of the value of all he has in his wagon. This is the tariff policy. Is it better than free trade? Is it better than carrying home the money he has left? Would it be a good thing to have these toll-houses at the lines of all our towns, counties and cities, to take a third for all that comes in, or is exported in money, from farmers, mechanics and manufacturers, who are always carrying the products of their own industry to and fro for a market? Would it be better than free trade?—Kendall's Expositor.

What ridiculous sophistry! We have seen it going the rounds of the British Free Trade papers for some months, and wondered at the men who could imagine that such arguments could have any influence over the people of this country. "I have corn and want pork"—this is Free Trade! Now in the name of all that's good, what bearing has such an illustration upon the question of Free Trade or Tariff! If there be a total prohibition of the pork, the farmer, forsooth, could still have still exchange my corn for pork; and could not the shoemaker get grain, meat and potatoes from his neighbors in exchange for his shoes? There does not exist, and never has existed, any tariff upon the products of domestic industry—as is implied by this sage Expositor. The Tariff policy is designed by taxing foreign labor, to promote the industry of every portion of our own people, and to increase the exchanges among them—to take from the manufacturers of Europe the profits of these exchanges, and confine them as much as possible to our own country.

But supposing that foreigners are as dear to us as our own people, or that they raise articles which we want, can we get them by the process of free trade? Will they take our corn, wheat and tobacco in exchange for their manufactures? Are we admitted into their dominions? Will they receive ours on the same terms? Have they ever done it, or will they ever do it? We have numerous cases recited in the quotation alluded to the Free Trade papers; and still the protective system was enforced abroad with all its rigor upon us. And what were and must be the effects of this one sided Free Trade? Is it not entirely at our expense? Does it not impoverish our people, and enrich other nations? Why should they thus sacrifice our best interests, and actually endanger our independence, in the pursuit of an abstraction? Do we give credit to the thanks of foreigners for our simple and injudicious liberality, or rather ruinous folly? By no means. We are laughed at by the people who profit by our stupidity, and then by the unpromising object of our Sunday Free Trade, we are unable to pay our debts, we are obliged to borrow money, when by the improvidence of our
