Shipwreck and terrible Loss of Life.

NEW YORK, April 19th—An emigrant ship, supposed to be the Portsmouth, was wrecked day before yesterday, near Long Island, and about two hundred persons, likely immigrants have perished.—Nearly one hundred bodies have already washed ashore.

The Gadsden Treaty.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Much speculation exists here as to the extent which the objection of the Gadsden Treaty here. It is current in conversation that if the treaty has been under discussion in the Senate, the President and certain members of the Cabinet intimated that a refusal to ratify it, would lead to an immediate war with Mexico (the President) should feel himself called upon to do so in the Mesilla Valley, let the cause be whence or when they might.

These intimations were considered as intended to intimidate certain Senators who were opposed to the treaty.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Sales of 1600 bales of Cotton to-day at unchanged rates. Rio Coffee is quoted at 11½c; Ohio Flour at $8 25; Corn 70 to 81½c; Pork then again advanced, with sales of Mess at $14 62½ and prime at $13.

LOUISVILLE April 19.—There is now a depth of seven feet three inches water in the Canal.

The steamers Antelope, Belle Key, Sheridan, Chancellor and Empress have departed for New Orleans.

[By the Southern Line.]

Storm at the North.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The late storm along the Atlantic coast has proved very disastrous to life and property. The Delaware Breakwater has been very much damaged, and a large number of houses were unroofed in that vicinity.

Seven ships have been driven ashore on Squam Beach.

It is believed that with the assistance of steam tugs, the ship Undowvier will be got off at high tide.

Removed Failure.

BOSTON, April 19.—It is rumored here to-day that the commercial house of this city has failed.

Another Shipwreck.

LOSS OF ALL ON BOARD.

The Powhattan.

NEW YORK, April 19—night.—The ship before reported lost, proves to have been the Powhatan, from Havre for New York. She went ashore at 3 o'clock on Sunday, morning, and out of 200 passengers not one escaped. Not a vestige of the vessel left.

The ship Comet Manhattan went ashore at the same time, and all on board, with the exception of one, perished.

A LEGISLATIVE HOSPITAL.

The House of Representatives of Massachusetts has adopted a novel rule during its present session, it is to pay all the expenses, medical and otherwise, of members who may be taken sick while in the discharge of their legislative functions—the per diem compensation going on all the while as usual. The consequence has been (animated by the "Post") that an alarming degree of illness has existed during the last winter so much so as to lead to the belief that legislation is any thing but salutary to health. In consideration of the facts, the "Post" makes the following suggestion, which a heartily responded to by the "Chronicle":

"The sick members of the Legislature are treated so generously by the robust members, that, if a regular hospital were established, it would be filled immediately."

NEW YORK ITEMS.—The correspondent of Baltimore Sun writes as follows, under date of the 12th inst.:

Great excitement existed in Brooklyn, yesterday morning, in consequence of the discovery of the body of a man, with his head blown to atoms in a grocer's store. The deceased proved to be a Mr. Cross, Boatswick, lately in the employ of the Commodore and the Navy Yard. It is supposed he committed suicide by himself, by others, that he had been murdered. Certain facts that have come out, however, make it quite certain that Boatswick committed suicide. He was a man of extraordinary habits, though connected with some of the best families in this city. Deceased was the husband of Mrs. Emma C. Boatwick, a lady well known in musical circles here.

The celebration of Henry Clay's birth day, this evening, at the Metropolitan Hall, will be an interesting event in the political world here. There will be many distinguished Whigs present—including, probably, two or three members of Congress.

Southerners begin to travel Northward in good earnest, a sure sign that hot weather is at hand. The steamer James Adger, from Charleston to-day, had 150 passengers. The Savannah steamers are also bringing a larger number than usual so early in the season.

The sale of the steamer Wm. Norrislas been postponed until the 25th inst.

Mr. Manners, who, was re-elected Mayor of Jersey City, yesterday.

Last night, a young man named Barny Lynch, was fearfully stabbed in the left side by a large pocket knife, in the Bend of Michael Gaffney, while in Albany street. John Reddick, stabbed man alfray on the Five Points, a few days ago, died yesterday.

A SURVIVOR OF THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL.

—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican contains the following notice of a survivor of the battle of Bunker Hill, who is now living in Western Massachusetts:

"Western Massachusetts is the residence of another, if not the last, survivor of the battle of Bunker Hill, in the person of a venerable patriot Samuel Fullarton, of Worthington, a stench Wing, who voted for Emory Washburn at the last.

Mr. Fullarton was born in Attleborough, Bristol county, Mass., on the 17th July, and consequently is in the 80th years of age when the battle of Bunker Hill, and is now in his 99th year. He was living in the town of Swansey (N.H.) at the time of his first enlistment in the regiment commanded by Col. Read, of Fitzwilliam. He joined the army twice afterwards during the Revolution, successively as Capt. Harrington, of Holden, and again under Capt. Grout, of Worcester. He moved to Worthington in the year 1787, where he has since resided. He voted for Gen. Jackson and Gen. Scott, and we believe upon every Presidential election intervening. We visited the old practical sentiment of human rights at a time since, and found him sawing wood, with his body guard (crutches) attending him. With the exception of a rheumatic affection, which nearly deprives him of the use of his legs, physically there are but few signs of decay; mentally there are scarcely none. He reads without the aid of glasses, his memory is still with remarkable faithfulness, his conversational powers remain unimpaired, and he still writes a legible hand. Even in his 97th year he is exceedingly entertaining, and his conversation is mingled with facetious allusions and dry wit."

☞ At Troy, on the 12th inst., a man named John H. Phelps, machinist, murdered his wife, with a butcher-knife. Her body was terribly mutilated. He resides in West Troy.

HON. TRUMAN SMITH, Senator from Connecticut, has resigned his seat. His resignation is to take effect from and after the 24th May. He says:

I am impelled to take this step by the urgency of my private affairs, which have been too long neglected by reason of my engagements here. I find myself under the necessity of being absent several weeks during the present session of Congress, and it does not consist with my sense of right to hold a place of so much responsibility when I am unable to discharge its duties; but I am willing it should be understood that I do not dissolve a relation the honor of which I shall cherish so long as I breath without a pang. I am, however, but anticipating, as every man, however exalted his station may be, must, sooner or later, sink into the constituent body. I therefore, cheerfully embrace now the inevitable lot of all, and, retiring into the midst of the people, I shall continue to sympathize with them in relating what wise and good men regard as evil, and in promoting all that is best adapted to ensure the success of our free institutions and the prosperity and happiness of the American people.

☞ The London correspondent of the "Journal of Commerce," writing in reference to the effect in France of the disclosure of the secret correspondence with Russia, says:

"The indignation of the French knows no bounds, as is evinced by the sentiments expressed by the journals throughout the whole of France; while the honorable conduct of England is now the universal theme, and we are not likely soon again to bear the epithet perfide Albion." The only exception to this appears to be a ministerial organ, L'Union, which has been mole-hill-making by throwing doubt on the good faith of the English government; and emissaries of the same party have been darkly hinting that there may exist other documents which have not yet been made public, which will tell against the conduct of England.

CONVENTIONS BY THE AMERICAN CONSULS.

A number of splendid entertainments have been given to the British Governor, officers and citizens of Hong-Kong, on board the United States fire-ship Susquehanna, the Minnesota and Powhatan, consisting of blockhead performances by the Chinese troupe of which the sharp and boast, music, dancing, and a magnificent supper. The China Mail speaks in the highest terms of the courtesy of Commodore Perry and the American naval officers generally on the occasion.

☞ The Telegraphed Route to the Pacific has always labored under the serious disadvantage of reaching a suitable harbor on the Pacific, but lately a most admirable one, it is said, has been discovered in the Bay of Ventura, which opens at the mouth by the heights of the Morro, and open at the south and west, which, the position of the Bay allows vessels to have a great and secure superiority of the quarter from which the wind blows. The bay affords great anchorage, and every where there is a good anchorage.

COLT'S PISTOLS IN RUSSIA.—Col. Colt, it is said, has received an order from the Imperial Russian Government to furnish Rifle Rest, with 1,000 of his navy pistols, as soon as possible; and he is entitled, then the order has to be furnished with them. The armory at Hartford, Conn., will be employed to do a great portion of this work. The European orders for Colt's pistols, it is supposed, will be immense.
