

Using Scorecarding and Dashboarding to Monitor and Measure Key Performance Indicators In Education

Speaker: Jonathan Linchek, Business Unit Executive, Cognos Solution Architects: Public Sector

Rising expectations for public sector performance have driven many education institutions to use scorecarding and dashboarding to monitor and manage their way to improved performance- with well-documented successes. Scorecarding and dashboarding helps you answer the fundamental performance question "How are we doing?" and provides the means to capture and clearly articulate an institutions strategy, align all stakeholders and employees toward those goals, and help measure and manage the organization's progress towards those objectives.

During this live workshop, we will review best practices for implementing and navigating dashboards and scorecards to manage your key performance indicators.