

Sub-Capacity Licensing for Distributed Platforms

Products Eligible for Sub-Capacity Licensing

As the power of a single processor continues to increase and customers continue to install servers with multiple powerful processors (n-way systems), they increasingly would like to license selected software on only a subset of the total number of processors in the server.

On April 19, 2005, IBM extended sub-capacity licensing benefits to selected DB2 and WebSphere products when running on select partitioning technologies. The list of IBM software products, available through Passport Advantage, which are eligible for sub-capacity licensing are as follows:
