A member of a late Democratic cabine aid in this city, yesterday, that he consid-red Mr. Buchanan's chance of being elected is utterly hopeless. A gentleman here, also rom Pennsylvania, who has been a Demo from Pennsylvania, who has been a Demo-cratic elector, tuld me yesterday that Mr. Buchanan could not carry that State, and his opmion was that unless Mr. Fillmore could carry New York, Premont would be elected. Gen. Purviance, a leading and indusorial bemecratin the western part of Pennsylva-nia, has abandoned Buchanan and taken the atump for Fremont. But Mr. Fillmore will carry Now York; he is gaining strougth there daily, notwithashed ing the superhumm efforts made by Greeley, Weed, Webb & Co. to defeat him.

As many of the old Freeson, Hoft Democrats have joined them, the National Democrats have joined them, the National Democrats have joined to unite in the support of Fillmore, and I presume will, as such is the wish of prominent Pomeerats here.

I shall go over to Baltimore to modrow, and will write you again on my return.

THE WHIG NATIONAL CONVENTION

THE WHIG KATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Baltimore evening papers of the 17th arafiled with details of the proceedings of the West National Convention, which as sembled that day at the Hall of the Maryland Institute.

At 11 o'clock the doors were thrown open for the admission of the public to those parts of the Hall reserved for their accommodation. The galleries were reserved for the atternate delegation and for the ladies. A large number of the latifies were present.

Many of the delegates were in their seats at an early hour, and as 12 o'clock approached they assembled in large numbers, until the whole of the space set apart for them was fully occupied. The New York delegation, headed by ex-Governor Herst, Hon. Paasers Granogra, and Hon. Hirak Kercsux, moved into the Hall in a body and were received with hearty applause. Other distinguished Whigs, from different sections of the Union, were also recognized, as they assumed their places, with flattering marks of approhation. The personal appearance of the immers of the Convention—(Says the America) embracing among them a number of distinguished and eminent men from all parts of the Cincon is alike conservative and intelligible, and calculated to inspire the utimest confidence in the wisdom of their proceedings and in its impressive effect upon the country.

It is for you just to decide in the names of the Whigs of the United Rates, whether we shall select another candidate whose contendents are both patriotic and anticast, who would administer he government whether we shall take the other of the patriotic and anticast, who would administer he government whether we shall take the other than the patriotic and actions the patriotic and action the Presidency, I will not undertake to indicate what policy is should be pursued.

It deserves your serious thought and consideration. It is a great question for you to decide. My idea—and I will make free to any here, for this is a land of free speech, and I am accustomed to geak my opinion with perfect Frankness—it has appeared to me, that our true policy at this time is to organize the Whig party, all that remains of it, where more or loss, for it is all powerful the white more or loss, for it is all powerful the soule and position—to not not on the confection and secure the choice offs man true to act so as to turn the soule and position—to act so as to turn the soule and position—to act so the turn the soule of the position of our country. I applause, I be made the Union. I applause, I be to an intended to the business of this and the soule in the other of the American people and the other of the American people against the other.

In an accustom that it is in order now to proceed to the business of this assembly, and to take the necessary steps for a permanent organization of the body; and it will give me pleasure to receive any proposition that may be submitted for that precious graph of all strengths made to the tendent of the thing to make the necessary steps for a permanent organization of the body; and it will give me pleasure to r
