Display the Flag.

While the United States is facing a crisis, keep the American flag in prominence. There is nothing that appeals to the deep heart patriotism like the red, white and blue.

The American flag is inspirational. Its story is one of liberty and freedom. It stands for a nation where justice and humanity have swayed every action. It is a flag of a tolerant nation, a nation that loves peace, but a nation that will protect its honor with its last drop of blood.

Woodrow Wilson has painted a picture of what the flag stands for in these words: "That flag stands for honor, not for advantage. That flag stands for the rights of mankind, no matter where they be, no matter what their race; it stands for the absolute right of political liberty and free self-government, and wherever it stands to the contrary, American traditions have begun to be forgotten."

So, citizens, hang out the flag. Display the emblem that means so much to every American heart.—Illinois State Register, Feb. 5.

National Maritime League.

The work of the National Maritime League, with headquarters in New York City, is to develop the sentiment throughout the United States and its possessions for the enlargement and upbuilding of the merchant marine and in connection with its work is about to begin the publication of a magazine "The National Marine Magazine", which all members of the League will receive without charge beyond their nominal dues of $2 a year. In order to make the magazine the success it deserves to be, however, additional members are required and Mr. W. O. Hart, who has long been a member of the League, will be glad to receive applications for membership therein.

Civil Service Reform.

The paper prepared by Mr. W. O. Hart for the recent Convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Louisiana on "Civil Service Reform," which discussed the question from the foundation of the government of the United States to date, has been sent to the National Civil Service Reform Association and will probably be published in whole or in part in its monthly bulletin, and if so, Mr. Hart will then be glad to send a copy to any person interested.
