MR. WEBSTER AND MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, which had given some signs of redeeming grace by its determined surrender of the fugitive slave SIMS, in the face of the howls and clamors of the abolitionists, has, we fear, covered itself, once more with disgrace, by the contemptible littleness of the Board of Aldermen, in refusing to DANIEL WEBSTER the use of Faneuil Hall to address the citizens. What a despicable position the authorities have assumed! They have offered no indignity to the illustrious Statesman, for he towers immeasurably above them; but they have made themselves a reproach and a by-word to the whole country. Just think of it: because Faneuil Hall was denied to a foul-mouthed alien, who came amongst us to spit forth his venom and virulence upon our people, that ancient Temple of Liberty must needs be closed to the noble, fearless, eloquent, American champion of the Constitution and the Union! There is no palliation or excuse for the scurvy, mean and truckling spirit displayed by the Board of Aldermen. Thank Heaven! It will only serve to exalt the reputation of the great patriot whom it was designed to mortify. The American people will venerate still more the man against whom Boston has sought to vent its petty spite.

We hardly regret a circumstance which has called forth from Mr. WEBSTER so admirable a response, as is contained in the subjoined letter, addressed to the gentlemen who had requested him to speak at Faneuil Hall:

MARSHFIELD, April 15.

Gentlemen—I duly received your letter of the 11th of this month, and had fully made up my mind to comply with your invitation; for although I have entertained no purpose of discussing either at present the political questions which have agitated the country, yet I would not deny myself the pleasure of meeting you and your fellow citizens for mutual congratulation upon our escape, so far, from dangers which one year ago seemingly threatened the very existence of our national institutions, and upon the prospect of an early return, in all parts of the country, of feelings of good will and fraternal regard.

But the newspapers of this afternoon informs me that the Board of Aldermen have refused your request for the use of Faneuil Hall. I care not for this personally, except that it deprives me of the gratification, of so meeting you. Though I supposed that the general voice of the people of Boston approved this proceeding, it would, I confess, cause me the deepest regret.

The reason for denying me the Hall has been assigned, if I mistake not, by the same Board which has practically refused to join with the other branches of the city government in offering the hospitalities of the city to President Fillmore.

Gentlemen—For nearly thirty years I have been in the service of the country by the choice of the people of Boston, and the appointment of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

My public conduct through the whole of that long period is not unknown, and I cheerfully leave it to the judgment of the country now and hereafter.

Since the commencement of March last year, I have done some things and hazarded much, to uphold the constitution of the U. S., and to maintain in force of the most vital importance to the citizens of Boston, and I shall do and hazard more, wherever in my judgment it becomes necessary that more be done and more be hazarded. I shall perform with unflinching perseverance to the end my duty to my whole country, nor do I in the slightest degree fear the result.

Fury and fanaticism may have their hour—They may not only affect the minds of individuals, but they may also seize on public bodies of great and respectable dignity; but their reign is destined to be short—even where for the moment it seems most triumphant.

The of Massachusetts are not doomed to a course of political conduct such as would prostrate her character, destroy our own prosperity, and expose us to the derision of the civilized world.

In such future as before us; for otherwise—Perish that, the union of good men, fidelity to the Constitution in all its provisions, and that love of liberty which has hitherto enabled the people of this State to deserve and to appreciate the blessings they possess, as well as what is due to their own history and character, will bring them back to their accustomed feelings of piety, and of respect and veneration for institutions.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

We are glad to see that the popular branch of the City Government—the Common Council—has promptly condemned the action of the Board of Aldermen, and unanimously passed resolutions highly complimentary to Mr. WEBSTER, and have also made the amende honorable to the President of the United States. The following are the resolutions referred to:

Resolved, That while this Board would not interfere with any rights which the Mayor and Aldermen may have over Faneuil Hall, it cannot but not consider their action in the present instance unprecedented and injudicious, calculated to increase, rather than diminish, the public excitement.

Resolved, That it would have given to the Common Council of the City of Boston the highest pleasure to have met our distinguished fellow citizen, Faneuil Hall, and hence respectfully unite with him, and hear him once more express his friends and neighbors in support of Law Order, the Constitution, and the Union.

Resolved, That this Board, by a unanimous vote passed an order for the appointment of a special Committee to invite the President of the United States to visit this city, in which action the Board of Aldermen refused to join, therefore, Ordered That a special Committee of the Council, consisting of the President of this Board, together with one member from each Ward be appointed, with full power to invite President Fillmore in the name of the citizens of Boston to visit this city at such time as may be found agreeable to him.

Like Massachusetts altogether, and she is seen as also the meanest State in the Union. Her citizens suffer themselves to be brow-beaten by a set of insolent fanatics; the municipal authorities of her capital city endeavor to insult the best, purest, and ablest of her sons; and to crown the whole, her Legislature has, after a prolonged struggle, been coerced by abolition influence into the election to the U. S. Senate, of a president advocate of the higher law. It will not take long before the people of the Bay State discover, that the South understand how to retaliate upon them in a lawful and constitutional way. When Southren merchants avoid Boston as they would a plague-stricken city; when Southern cotton finds its way to other ports; and Southern thrift empties its wealth in New York and Philadelphia, to the exclusion of Boston, the citizens of Massachusetts may discern in their declining prosperity and dwindling commerce, the consequences of their misguided action and their senseless fanaticism.

New Orleans Mobileville and Jackson Railroad Co.

The books of subscription to the Capital Stock of this deservedly popular enterprise will open to-day, and we hazard little in stating that the amount requisite for the organization of the Company, will be obtained in half the day allotted. There is a growing feeling in favor of this Road, and though it has not manifested itself in corresponding amounts of subscription, yet now that the matter has been fairly brought before it will be seen that the friends of this undertaking at least, may rely confidently on voluntary contributions to perfect the [illegible] design of connecting New Orleans with the capital of our sister State.

The following gentlemen compose the committee on subscriptions for the city of New Orleans:

COMMITTEE ON SUBSCRIPTIONS.

First Municipality—R M Davis, G Brusle, P Devergen, Wm T Hepp, Wm Massey, A Baudouin, Jas Lilly.

Second Municipality—S F Slatter, Dr. Eastman, John R Marshall, C S Cutter, John Egerton.

Third Municipality—A Leseps, P Pique, P G Collins, F Siewerson, S Maspereau, John Calbertson, Michel Aime.

ORLEANS FIRE COMPANY, NO. 21.

Yesterday being the Anniversary of the formation of this gallant Company, the members proceeded to celebrate it in a most becoming manner. In the forenoon, preceded by a splendid band of music, they marched through our principal thoroughfares, eliciting unusual admiration by their manly bearing and handsome appearance. On passing through Customhouse street, Mr. Boudousquie in a most hospitable manner, invited the company into his house and regaled them with a choice lunch. The members speaking in high praise of the politeness of this gentleman, who on a previous occasion, had already shown himself the fast friend of No. 21.

At 2 o'clock the active and honorary members as well as a large number of invited guests, including several Aldermen at the First Municipality, assembled at the St. Louis Exchange, and after marching through a portion of Chartres, Toulouse and Royal streets, proceeded to the White Hall, where a most magnificent dinner, had been prepared by the company. Upwards of one hundred sat down to the hospitable board which literally groaned beneath the luxuries of the season. Amongst the guests were many of the most esteemed members of the Fire Department, including delegations from most of the Companies.

After the desert had come on the table, Mr. LAMOTHE the popular foreman gave the regular toasts, assisted by Mr. SURAPORE the worthy President, and Mr. HUARD, the gallant Secretary of the company. These included "The President of the United States. "The Army." "The Navy." "The Governor and Lieutenant Governor," and the Mayor and city authorities. In response to the latter a letter was read from the Honorable A. D. CROSSMAN regretting his inability to attend, but sending in lieu an appropriate toast which was received with much applause. Thereeforward the volunteer sentiments flew rapidly about, keeping equal pace with the frequent explosions of the exhilerating champagne. Many good things were said, so many indeed, that they have entirely escaped our memory. Suffice it to say, that wit, sentiment, joviality and good feeling had full sway of the assembled company, and kept them together until past six in the evening—The best possible good humor prevailed and every body was delighted with the hospitable entertainment of No. 21.

After dinner the active and honorary members proceeded with their fine band of music up town, and did not disperse until a late hour of the evening.

☞ We are indebted to the obliging officers of the steamer Yorktown for late Cincinnati papers. The Yorktown is a safe and commodious boat, commanded by one of the most prudent and most experienced captains on the Western waters, and with a gentleman remarkable for humanity of manners and constant attention to his passengers. We commend the boat and her officers to the traveling community.

THE KENT COUNTY MASSACRE.—There is at length reason to believe that the perpetrators of this horrid deed have been discovered, and will be brought to justice. A man by the name of Drummond, upon whom suspicion had fallen, was arrested in March, and although an attempt was made to prove an alibi, the magistrate were not satisfied, and remanded him to prison. He has now confessed, declaring that Murphy, Shelton, Ford, Sills and Taylor, are the parties who committed the bloody outrage. They have not been arrested except Shelton, and the officers are in pursuit of him. This is not the same Shelton, the miller, who was among the first arrested. Ford is the same man who testified at the examination that Drummond did not reach his house until after midnight.

The officer who arrested Murphy says that Drummond declares that he had no hand in the matter himself, and that the only object of the band was plunder; that his guilt only consists in a knowledge of the conspiracy before the deed was committed.

Webster, the uncle of Mrs. Corlies, who has so long rested under the suspicion of having been the instigator of this dreadful tragedy, seems to be in no manner implicated by the confession of Drummond, who intimates that if some of the Goeden family had not escaped and given the alarm, it was the intention to have followed up the work of plunder and blood, and that other families would have been massacred the same night.

Murphy, on being arrested, appeared to be the least concerned of all the crowd assembled. Ford and Sills have been lodged in jail at Elkton

ALBANY, April 17.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE NEW YORK LEGISLATURE, BOUNTIES, &c.—Both houses of the Legislature adjourned to-day sine d.e.

One hundred guns were fired this afternoon, in front of the Capitol, by the democrats, as a rejoicing over the defeat of the Canal bill. They are in high spirits, and many of their distinguished leaders from several parts of the State are here.

ALBANY, April 17—10 1-2, P.M.

TERRIBLE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The express train from the west is just in. There has been a serious collision at Geneva. While the express train was waiting for the accommodation train, it was run into at the height of its speed by the latter, smashing five cars to atoms and badly maiming four persons, viz: Isaac T. Riley, confidential clerk of Corning & Co.—both legs smashed, one it is deemed necessary to amputate. S. S. Scott, Kenosha, Wis., both legs smashed; Mr. Petrie Milwaukee, do; another, name not known, was thrown from the car and seriously wounded; his life is despaired of. The accident was caused by the carelessness of the switchtender.

ALBANY, April 18.

At the whig caucus, last evening, great unanimity and good feeling prevailed. A committee was appointed to draft an address, which will be submitted to-night. There was no diversity of opinion on the subject.

The democrats also held a caucus, and adjourned in high spirits.

The extra session of the legislature will probably meet in June, before which time the vacancies in the Senate will be filled.

UTICA, April 17.

HEAVY LAND SLIDE—SERIOUS DAMAGE TO THE CANAL.—A heavy slide of the canal bank one mile west of Oriskany has taken place. Fears are entertained of a large break in the canal, and all is being done that can be to prevent it.

The water in the canal, at this place is two feet below high water mark, and loaded boats cannot pass.

CARLISLE, April 18, 1851.

PEACE RESTORED IN DICKINSON COLLEGE.—The difficulties in the Dickinson College are all happily and honorably settled. The suspended and dismissed students were restored, upon a paper being presented to the faculty, at the instance of the Hon. James Buchanan.

PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT.—A despatch from Washington of the 26th inst. says: President Fillmore, being apprehensive that a military expedition is being fitted out by citizens of the United States against Cuba, has issued a proclamation, warning all who engage in the undertaking that they will thereby subject themselves to heavy penalties, and will furthermore forfeit their claim to protection from the United States.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.—Gov. Hunt has issued his Proclamation convening the Legislature as the Capitol on Tuesday, the 10th of June. The election to fill vacancies will take place about the 20th of May.

Four Days Quicker than Steamer.

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

The Collins steamer Pacific, Capt. West, left Liverpool on the 9th instant at 2 o'clock, and arrived at the New York Quarantine, two minutes before 10 o'clock, on the morning of the 19th, thus making the passage in 9 days and 20 hours, being about half a day's less time than the ocean has ever been crossed from Liverpool to New York.

The most interesting item by this steamer is the debate upon the Income Tax, on Monday evening, April 7th. Mr. Herries moved the following resolution:

"That it is the opinion of this House that the respective duties in Great Britain on profits arising from property, professions, trades, and the stamp duties in Ireland, granted by two acts passed in the sixth year of her present Majesty, and which have been continued and amended by several subsequent acts, were granted for limited periods, and to meet temporary exigencies; that it is highly expedient to adhere to the declared intentions of Parliament when these duties were granted and continued; and, in order to secure their speediest practicable cessation, to limit the renewal of any portion of them to such an amount as may be sufficient, in the existing state of the public revenue, to provide for the expenditure sanctioned by Parliament, and for the due maintenance of public credit."

He supported this motion in a long speech, in which he declared that it was the maladministration of the whigs previous to 1841, that had made the income tax necessary, which Sir Robert Peel proposed to meet a temporary emergency, and that in his hands the result had been not only to make up for the deficiencies of his predecessors, but to reduce many taxes. He urged the reduction of the tax, not on the ground of policy, but on that of good faith with the country; for it was well understood to be a temporary tax when it was imposed. He went into an estimate to show that there was opportunity for the reduction of two-sevenths of the tax, and contended that the remission of £1,560,000 of income tax, would be a greater relief than the removal of the window tax. The debate was continued at considerable length.

There are later advices from the Cape of Good Hope. The forts of Cox and White had received assistance both in troops and ammunition, which will prove of immense advantage in future operations. Upon the search of the colonial army through the enemy's country to their appointed destination, they met with some resistance from the Kaffirs, but a few shell soon baffled all opposition, and they were allowed to proceed almost without further molestation.

From France we have little news. There are constantly fresh reports of new ministerial combinations. There is a rumor, not without probability, that three warm personal friend of the President—Baroche, Fould and Abbatucci—would take office. Several Socialists, who had insulted the president, have been convicted. The Assembly has lost hold upon general sympathy for its apathy towards the laboring classes.

Gen. Bedeau's letter to Marshal Bugeaud begins to excite attention, as it is stated that the former has made important omissions. In fact Constitutionnel publishes an extract from Marshal Bugeaud's letter, giving the lie to Gen Bedeau's statement that the conduct on the Boulevards had been approved by the Marshal.

From Germany, we hear that there is great excitement in Vienna and Munich at the decision of Prussia to complete the Frankfort diet. Hanover it is said approves of the measure.

From Holstein the news is not agreeable. The Danes wish to send the Danish officers with the Holstein troops, which the Duchy contributes to the Germanic federal army. But the Austrian and Prussian Commissioners declare that none but Germans can be put in command. A cabinet council was held about it.

Indictments are laid against Mr. Harkort for a pamphlet against the Ministry, seized before publication, and against M. Von Arnim, late Foreign Minister, for his "three weeks of foreign policy."

The Cassel Commission decides that the staff officers who were conspicuous during the late troubles are guilty, but the subalterns guiltless.

The upper Rhine has risen considerably, has caused partial inundation and may do great damage.

Prince William of Prussia is well again.

A horrible accident took place at Cologne on the 1st inst. A military magazine, where cartridges were being prepared, exploded while upward of a hundred men were at work in it. Thirty-six sufferers, sadly scorched and mutilated, were conveyed to the hospital; an officer, two corporals, and seven men were buried under the ruins.

From Italy there is positively nothing.

There are two or three important reports from the Levant, of which the most serious is contained in a letter from Marseilles of the 1st instant.

It seems there has been a serious revolt at Sennaar, far in Upper Egypt, in which the Pacha of the Province and the Egyption troops had all been massacred. Preparations were making at Cairo to dispatch troops to the scene of tumult.

Letters from Damascus, received in Constantinople on the 19th March, state that several French travellers, amongst them M. de Rothschild, have been seized by the Bedouins and mulcted of 40,000 piastres by way of ransom.

From Greece we learn that the government which has recently met with several defeats, dissolved the Chambers on the 24th March.

ITEMS BY THE PACIFIC.

The Freeman's Journal says: "His Excellency Baron Schoepping, the Charge d'Affaires for Russia and Sardinia, has transmitted to Ireland £30,000, to be laid out in the purchase of incumbered estates.

The Cork journals announce an epidemic among horses in that district, which is becoming almost as fatal as the malady which prov so destructive to cattle last year.

It is intended to establish a Literary Institution on a large scale for the parishes of Saint James, Westminster, St. Martin's in the Fields, and the adjacent districts. Right Hon. T. Macaulay, M. P., has expressed his willingness to serve the office of President, and the Earl of Carlisle has consented take the chair at a public meeting on Wednesday evening, when the subject will be taken into consideration.

A trial is coming before the assizes at Vienna, which will prove a counterpart to the chronique scandaleuse of high life. Mad. Spezzafico, a popular prima donna of the Imperial Opera, is charged with having robbed a Serbian Bishop of a sum of 9,000 florins during moments when his grace was as heedless of his calling as of his property.

The third monthly sutures of the National Reform Association was held at the London Tavern last night—Sir Joshua Walmsley, M. P., in the chair—when Mr. Edward Miall delivered a lecture on the extension of the franchise as the means of training the people to a better understanding of their political rights and appreciation of the constitution under which they were governed. The amusements of the evening were as usual diversified with music.

A return to parliament has been printed, showing that on the 25th of March, last year, there were 27,351 boys in the workhouses of England and Wales, and 22,838 girls; making 50,819: being a decrease of 11 per cent. on the number in 1849. The illegitimate children amounted to 12,694, of 8,874 of whom the mothers were in the workhouse. The deserted children, whether by father, mother, or both, amounted to 8,354, and those whose fathers were transported, or suffering imprisonment for crime, to 1328.

The Spanish Commissioners appointed by the royal decree of the 26th ult. to proceed to England, France, Germany, and Belgium, in order to study the different railway systems, and the development of material interests in those countries, left Madrid on the 1st.

On Saturday a number of young men, dressed in red uniform, and furnished with apparatus for cleaning clothes and shoes, were stationed in the vicinity of the Exhibition Building and West end thoroughfares. They are all lettered, and wear badges inscribed "The Shoeblack Society." They have been selected to these offices from the London Ragged Schools previous to being assisted to emigrate.

Mr. Chubb has been commissioned by the Executive Committee of the Great Exhibition to manufacture an apparatus (according to a design submitted by him) for the safe custody of the Koh-i-noor diamond. The plan adopted, whilst providing for the complete security of the gem, will allow a perfect view of its lustrous beauty to be had.

CHARLESTON FOR TRIAL.—The examination of Wm. Reed alias J. W. Davis charged with forgery and counterfeiting, took place on Saturday before Recorder Conlie. The circumstances have already been detailed at length, and it merely remains for us to say that the accused was fully committed for trial on both charges.

INQUEST.—Coroner Scudden was engaged in holding an inquest on Friday and Saturday at the Charity Hospital, on the body of Martin Schwanger of sixty-seven years, a shemaker by birth. The following verdict was rendered: "Died from a penetrating wound of the chest, on the right side, inflicted with a dirk." No evidence could be procured before the jury, and it is not known in what part of the city he received the wound. No information could be obtained in relation to the circumstances of this case.

The deceased was admitted to the Hospital on the 14th instant, and died on the 25th. The broken point of a sharp, flat two-edged dirk, about three inches long, was found lodged inside of his chest. It had cut through the seventh rib and the point lodged where the sixth rib joined the breast bone. Coroner Scudden made much exertion to unravel this mysterious case, but it was fruitless, as the young man had never told any one in the Hospital where or by whom he was wounded.

CHRISTMAS FOR TRIAL.—The examination of Wm. Reed alias J. W. Davis charged with forgery and counterfeiting, took place on Saturday before Recorder Conlie. The circumstances have already been detailed at length, and it merely remains for us to say that the accused was fully committed for trial on both charges.

INQUEST.—Coroner Scudden was engaged in holding an inquest on Friday and Saturday at the Charity Hospital, on the body of Martin Schwanger of sixty-seven years, a shemaker by birth. The following verdict was rendered: "Died from a penetrating wound of the chest, on the right side, inflicted with a dirk." No evidence could be procured before the jury, and it is not known in what part of the city he received the wound. No information could be obtained in relation to the circumstances of this case.

The deceased was admitted to the Hospital on the 14th instant, and died on the 25th. The broken point of a sharp, flat two-edged dirk, about three inches long, was found lodged inside of his chest. It had cut through the seventh rib and the point lodged where the sixth rib joined the breast bone. Coroner Spedden made much exertion to unravel this mysterious case, but it was fruitless, as the young man had never told any one in the Hospital where or by whom he was wounded.
