Officially declared to be state capital October 19, 1857
State records brought on ox-drawn bob-sleds December 1857
Temporary capitol given state on site of soldiers' monument
W. A. Scott and others donated 40 acres for capitol site
Appropriation of $150,000 to commence work on capitol
Cost restricted to $1,500,000 by law in 1870
First capitol commission organized, nine members, May 25, 1870
Corner stone first laid November 23, 1871
Second capitol commission with four members organized April 10, 1872
Unsuitable stone removed, loss about $100,000
Corner stone laid second time September 29, 1872
Architects—Cochrane & Piquenard, and Bell & Hackney.
Capitol dedicated and used January 17, 1884
Commission finished work July 4, 1886
Third capitol commission to modernize capitol organized 1903
Fire burned north wing January 4, 1904
Total cost including remodeling after the fire $3,296,256
Audit of accounts showed net loss of $3.77 on errors made
Work all done by direct labor under supervision
Size of capitol 363 ft. 8 in. x 246 ft. 11 in.
Height to top of finial above dome 275 feet
Foundation and basement built of Iowa stone
Main structure of Missouri stone—Carroll Co. and St. Genevieve Granite, Iowa boulders and Minnesota and Missouri stone
Marble, Tennessee colored, also from Italy and Belgium
Allegorical statuary high in rotunda cast in bronze
Lunettes in rotunda by Kenyon Cox
Painting "Westward" by Edwin Blashfield
Mosaics in east hall by Frederick Dielmann, made in Venice
Woodwork entirely from Iowa wood with fine hand carving
Original capitol grounds about 9 acres increased to 93 in 1913

THE Iowa state capitol is located on a hill commanding the city of Des Moines, in the center of a park of 93 acres, and its imposing proportions and pleasing design is the admiration of all discerning visitors. It is the home of the General Assemblies, the Governor and other state officials, the State supreme court, many departments, and is at all times a busy workshop for Iowa activities.

The capitol follows the best Nineteenth century architectural designs for public buildings and it is ornamented in a simple but attractive manner. The base course of the structure is of Iowa stone, then a watertable course cut from Iowa granite boulders, and the superstructure of Missouri stone. The commanding exterior feature is the dome, 65 feet in diameter, surmounted by a finial 275 feet above the basement, and covered with gold, and said to be one of the largest golden domes in the world.

The interior discloses a wide corridor 360 feet long with cross-corridor 240 feet long; massive granite columns supporting the dome; columns in the legislative halls of scagliola; tile and terrazi floors; woodwork entirely of native Iowa woods with artistic hand carving; finishing with fine domestic and imported marble, some of which can no longer be obtained; legislative halls on second floor with substantial walnut desks and furniture, and spacious committee and office rooms adjacent.

The grand stairway from first to second floors has granite steps and marble balustrades. Originally the basement was intended only for storage space, but it became necessary to use it for offices and the circular opening in the first floor was cut to give light below.

The interior of the capitol was originally decorated in the ornate and pictorial style of the period. Portraits of eminent Iowans graced the ceilings of the legislative halls, the walls were frescoed in rich designs, and the carpets in solid colors. The best specimen of the early decoration remaining is the ceiling in the private office of secretary of state, done by a Danish artist. The supreme court chamber was made gorgeous by wall and ceiling decorations consisting of large allegorical paintings designed in America and executed in Berlin, and these are now in the main office of the state historical building. Nearly all of the present decoration of the building is more recent, having been done after the renovation due to the fire of 1904, and this includes the mosaics and the allegorical picture at the head of the grand stairway.

It was after the fire that the great paintings in the supreme court chamber were removed and placed in care of the state historical department, and additions were made to the bench or seat of the court, the hand carved decoration of which is a splendid example of last century craft.

The Interior Decorations

The central art decoration of the Capitol is the allegorical painting "Westward" high in the east corridor. The subject is a typical emigrant group, a large covered wagon in the center, drawn by four oxen, the driver and family marching by the side, a stately young matron on the driver's seat, another walking at the head of the family, a woman picking flowers from the parched earth not far from the skull of a buffalo, and at the rear the green fields and lush pastures that are being left behind. The whole is entirely allegorical and hovering over the team as guiding spirits is a group of angels. This was the work of Edwin H. Blashfield and it is 26 feet long.

The other notable decorative features of the capitol are as follows:

The mosaics that occupy the space above the large painting in the east end of hall. These are among the largest in America. They represent Defense, the Charities, the Executive, the Legislative, Judiciary and Education. They were designed by Frederick Dielman and executed in stone in Venice.

The eight lunettes in the rotunda, occupying half-round niches, are by Kenyon Cox and represent Hunting, Herding, Agriculture, Commerce, the Forge, Education, Science, Art.

Above these are statuary placed when the capitol was first constructed.

The immense enlargement of a photograph in the south part of the corridor on the main floor represents the Iowa soldiers on return from the World war.

The flags shown in cases in the main hall are those carried by Iowa regiments in the Civil war.

Location of State Capitol

When Iowa became a state Dec. 28, 1846, the problem of locating the state capitol at once became important, and in the legislative sessions of 1851 and 1853 efforts were made to designate a central location for the same. In 1855, January 15, Governor Grimes signed the bill to locate the capitol "within two miles of the Raccoon fork of the Des Moines river." The following year a commission designated the precise location of the building on ground given the state by a syndicate of business men headed by Wilson Alexander Scott. They also gave the state two other small tracts, one known as "Governor's square" intended to be for a home for the governors, but never so used. They also built and leased to the state a temporary building to be used until a permanent one could be erected, this being near where the soldiers and sailors monument now stands.

On October 19, 1857, the Governor issued a proclamation declaring that the state's capitol was in the city of Des Moines; and during the winter following the state's records and equipment were brought from Iowa City to Des Moines in severe weather. Not until nearly Christmas time did the last of the state's belongings reach the capitol, this being the safe of the state treasurer drawn on two bob-sleds by ten yoke of oxen, through snow and sleet. It was ten years later that the railroads reached Des Moines.

There was room in this little old temporary capitol for all state offices, the legislature and the supreme court, and it was used in whole or in part for about thirty years.

Building of the Capitol

The Thirteenth General Assembly in an act approved by Governor Merrill April 13, 1870, made first appropriation for a permanent state capitol. This appropriation was for $150,000. The act created a commission of nine members authorized to start the work after adopting a plan for a structure that should not cost to exceed a million and a half dollars, with preference for material found in the state. The foundation was commenced with a poor quality of stone, so that after its first winter, its unsuitability was seen and it was nearly all taken out by the second capitol commission.

The Fourteenth General Assembly reorganized the commission and appointed four persons to commence over and proceeded with the construction, which second commission was organized April 17, 1872. The commission appointed one of its members to be superintendent of construction and the members gave their personal attention to the work until completed.

The first capitol commission was selected by political favor and was too large to be efficient. The second commission included an accountant, an engineer and a builder. The selection of the plan for the building was difficult, but by a combination of plans submitted and worked over by the architect of the capitol at Washington and later handled in detail by a French architect who had had experience with large buildings, the design was acceptable. There was much stormy effort to reduce the cost by cheapening the building but the commission succeeded in getting appropriations from session to session to finish it. There was much jealousy of Des Moines and almost every effort to get money for the capitol was hailed as a nefarious scheme of Des Moines to wrest money from the state. By resolution of the legislature Robert Finkbine, one of the commissioners, was made superintendent of construction and all the work was done by day labor under selected foremen.

The state capitol was not really completed when the legislature repealed the law and gave the executive council a small sum to temporarily finish some of the rooms. The actual construction work had gone on for fourteen years. The commission made strenuous efforts to get larger appropriations and finish the work sooner and at less cost.

The governor appointed an auditor to check over all the books and accounts and bills for errors, and his report showed the net errors amounted to $3.77 on the more than two and a half million dollars of expenditures.

A special commission was named in 1900 to recommend as to completion of the capitol and modernization, and upon its report the third capitol commission was created to do the work. This commission finished the work in 1907.

At the corner stone laying in 1871, Governor Merrill delivered the chief address, and on the formal inauguration of the capitol for use January 17, 1884, John A. Kasson delivered a notable address reviewing Iowa history. The supreme court chambers were dedicated in June, 1886, on which occasion Samuel F. Miller of the United States supreme court delivered the dedicatory address.

The original architects were Cochrane & Piquenard, of Springfield, Ill., and both died before the work was completed. Bell & Hackney who had worked with them, succeeded to the supervision, but Bell resigned to become chief architect of the treasury department at Washington, and W. F. Hackney directed the completion. The last work on the capitol was under direction of A. B. Funk, E. P. Schoentgen and Chas. A. Cumming.

Material for the Building

The effort of the first capitol commission to use Iowa stone for the basement proved disastrous, though Iowa stone was later used for the foundation. The first stone put in proved to be porous and it broke up the first winter. The second commission found better stone. The corner stone that had been laid in 1871, containing a box with much historical material, had the names on its face of the first commissioners and the architects. These were cut off and the simple "1873" placed on the face as it is now when the stone was re-laid.

The coarse stone for the basement story is from a quarry on the Iowa river. The granite course above was made from boulders picked up in Iowa where they were left by glaciers. The buff colored sandstone of the main structure came from Carroll county, Missouri, and the bluish stone from St. Genevieve, Missouri.

The original floors were all of the encaustic tile, which is no longer made; the columns in the legislative halls are of scagliola or artificial stone; the columns in the rotunda are of either granite from Minnesota or Missouri stone. The wainscoating is in the main from Tennessee marble, as also the antique fireplaces, but there is some imported marble used, especially the black Belgian. The finish in the executive office is in cherry wood and in some others catalpa and butternut are used. The opening in the main floor of the rotunda was made by the third capitol commission to give light to the basement floor which had been originally planned only for storage.

The interior of the north wing was badly burned by a fire of unknown origin January 4, 1904; the ceiling of the hall of the house fell down, the desks were burned and much damage done by water; and the house was temporarily covered with canvas during the session that commenced a few days later.

State Capitol on Fire

January 4, 1904, the north wing of the Capitol was badly damaged by fire of unknown origin.

The Iowa State Capitol Park

THERE is no state capitol with as large or fine a state park surrounding it as that of Iowa. Originally the grounds included only about nine acres. Some other ground was purchased but not until 1915 was the state induced to provide a proper setting for its state working equipment. Under the administration of Governor Clarke, and urged by the late Edgar R. Harlan, provision was made for enlargement by purchase of all sorts of buildings and clearing the unsightly fences and barns from the tract. This gave the state more than 93 acres of ground, at a cost of about three million dollars. The park was then landscaped and the legislature fixed by law the location and character of all buildings and improvements later to be made. A tunnel a quarter mile long was built so the heating plant could be located at the foot of Thirteenth street, far from the state house.

The third commission took down the engineer's office on Grand avenue and built the stone warehouse for holding the state books and documents, back of which is the present heating plant and the general warehouse. The one residence not taken down was retained and is now the office of the state board of health on Des Moines street. A former apartment house on Des Moines street houses two state bureaus, and the old schoolhouse on Pennsylvania avenue has other state offices. The old east high school on Court avenue was also purchased and remodeled for state office purposes, to be used temporarily.

The State Historical department is located in a large building northeast of the capitol, on adjacent ground, and this was built in 1899-1900. It is elsewhere described.

The most conspicuous feature of the capitol park is the great monument to the soldiers and sailors of the Civil war which stands almost where the temporary state capitol was located for many years. This was built from a general design prepared by Harriet A. Ketcham, an Iowa sculptor, of Mt. Pleasant, and was finished in 1886. It is crowned by a statue representing "Victory", and there are figures representing different branches of the army and navy, and relief portraits of eminent or typical Iowa soldiers. There are also war scenes in relief.

Near this is the monument to the late Senator Wm. B. Allison, erected by the beneficence of General Grenville M. Dodge. It is an allegorical group surrounded by a fountain and represents the achievements of peace.

Christopher Columbus is remembered by a small but fine memorial not far away, erected by the Iowa citizens of Italian descent.

The tomb of Willson Alexander Scott is located on the hill overlooking the railroad tracks, in commemoration of his work in giving the ground for the capitol and his pioneering activities.

At the west entrance to the capitol steps there is a fine bronze figure representing the pioneer looking to the west.

There are some Civil war cannons and a mortar of Civil war days and near the historical building is a bronze cannon taken in the Spanish war.

A granite block east of the capitol is dedicated to the men of the Spanish-American and other wars.

Extensive flower gardens are maintained on the ground south of the Allison monument.

THE STATE BANNER

On March 29, 1921, the Thirty-ninth General Assembly adopted a resolution designating a design for a flag to be known as the "State Banner".

The banner was designed by the "Iowa Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution", and consists of three vertical stripes of blue, white and red, with the blue stripe nearest the staff and the white stripe in the center depicting a spreading eagle bearing in its beak blue streamers on which is inscribed in white letters the state motto, "Our liberties we prize and our rights we will maintain". The word "Iowa" in red letters is just below the streamers.

THE WILD ROSE, THE STATE FLOWER OF IOWA

The Wild Rose was officially designated as the flower of the state by the Twenty-sixth General Assembly in extraordinary session. The resolution was adopted May 7, 1897.

THE EASTERN GOLDFINCH, THE STATE BIRD OF IOWA

The Forty-fifth General Assembly, by a concurrent resolution adopted March 22, 1933, designated the Eastern Goldfinch (Spinus tristis tristis), as the official Iowa bird. The Goldfinch is generally designated as a wild canary.

Elective
Executive Departments

GOVERNOR

(Office located on main floor of Capitol Building)

Term ends January, 1943

GEORGE A. WILSON, Des Moines

Salary, $7,500 annually

Secretary, John Zug, Des Moines.

The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the governor, whose term of office is two years.

No person is eligible who has not been a citizen of the United States and a resident of this state two years next preceding the election, and attained the age of thirty years at the time of said election.

He is commander-in-chief of the military forces of the state.

He transacts all executive business with the officers of government, civil and military, and may require information in writing from the officers of the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

When any office, from any cause, becomes vacant, and no mode is provided by the constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the governor has power to fill such vacancy, by granting a commission, which expires at the end of the next session of the general assembly, or at the next election by the people.

He may on extraordinary occasions, convene the general assembly by proclamation and shall state to both houses when assembled, the purpose for which they shall have convened.

He is required to communicate, by message, to the general assembly, at every regular session, the condition of the state, and may make such recommendations to the body as he shall judge expedient.

In case of disagreement between the two houses with respect to the time of adjournment, the governor has power to adjourn the general assembly to such time as he may think proper; but no such adjournment shall be beyond the time fixed for the regular meeting of the next general assembly.

All bills, including appropriations, must be submitted to him for approval, and a two-thirds vote of both branches of the legislature is required to pass a bill over his veto.

The governor has power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law. Upon conviction for treason, he has power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the general assembly at its next meeting. He has power to remit fines and forfeitures, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; and shall report to the general assembly, at its next meeting each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon granted, and the reason therefor.

He appoints all principal officers of the state not elected by the people, and certain officers connected with the state government, by and with the consent of the senate.

He signs patents for state lands, and appoints and commissions notaries public and commissioners in other states to take acknowledgments of deeds for this state.

He may demand fugitives from justice from the executives of other states, and may issue warrants, upon the requests of other governors, for fugitives found in this state.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

(Office located back of the Senate Chamber)

BOURKE B. HICKENLOOPER, Cedar Rapids

Salary, $2,000 each session

The lieutenant governor is elected for a term of two years and is required to have the same qualifications, as to age and residence, as the governor.

In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, removal from office, or other disability of the governor, the powers and duties of that office devolve upon the lieutenant governor.

The lieutenant governor is president of the senate, but can only vote when the senate is equally divided. In case of his death or other disability incapacitating him from discharging the duties of his office, the same devolve upon the president pro tempore of the senate.

He receives the same mileage and expense allowance as a member and double the compensation of a senator. He maintains an office at the capitol building during the meetings of the general assembly.

SECRETARY OF STATE

(Office located on main floor of Capitol Building)

EARL G. MILLER, Des Moines

Salary, $5,000 annually

Rollo H. Bergeson, Sioux City, Deputy Secretary of State.

Mabel Hild, Des Moines, Chief Clerk.

I. H. Tomlinson, Des Moines, Chief Clerk, Land Office.

James R. Leverett, Council Bluffs, Secretary to Real Estate Commissioner.

The office of Secretary of State is established by the constitution of Iowa. The four departments of the office are the Land Office, the Real Estate Department, the Division of Corporations and Trade Marks, and the general or custodial office.

Through his general office the Secretary of State serves as custodian of original and official documents of the state, including the constitution, the official copies of the statutes of Iowa, authenticated journals of the General Assembly, and election records. The bonds of various elective and appointive officials are filed in this department.

The State Land Office maintains the records of the annexation or severance of territory of the state and of incorporated cities and towns. Records of original patents issued by the state are also kept in the State Land Office.

The Real Estate Department, of which the Secretary of State is commissioner, is administered under the direct supervision of a secretary. Licensure of real estate brokers and salesmen is administered by the Real Estate Office.

Under the law of Iowa, charters of corporations for pecuniary profit and cooperative associations are granted by the Secretary of State. Foreign corporations doing business in Iowa are required to obtain permits from that officer. Protective registration of trade marks, labels and forms of advertising is provided by the state department. These statutes are administered by the division of corporations and trade marks.

The Secretary of State is an ex-officio member of the State Executive Council, the State Board of Health, the State Printing Board and the State Permit Board.

AUDITOR OF STATE

(Office located on main floor of Capitol Building)

CHET B. AKERS, Ottumwa

Salary, $5,000 annually

Frank M. Hanson, Cedar Rapids, Deputy State Auditor.

Aletha Saylor, Ottumwa, Secretary.

The Auditor of State is a constitutional official and at least once each year, makes full settlement between the state and all state officers and departments and all persons receiving or expending state funds, and makes a complete audit of the books, records and accounts of every department of state. These departments include the office of the governor, the executive council, state comptroller, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general, supreme court, superintendent of printing, adjutant general, state board of control and all institutions under its control, department of health, board of education and all institutions under its control, department of public instruction, department of agriculture, highway commission, liquor commission, state fair board, state tax commission (including sales, income, and chain-store tax divisions), board of railroad commissioners, banking department, fish and game department, state relief associations, and all other departments, boards and commissions.

The Auditor of State also has charge of the municipal finance department, the county accounting department, the fiscal affairs of all political subdivisions including schools and school districts and building and loan associations. He appoints the county examiners, the municipal and school examiners, and the examiners of building and loan associations, examining their reports, conferring and discussing with said examiners the affairs of the counties, cities, etc., as disclosed by the reports, advising, suggesting and recommending such changes in policy as he deems expedient. All reports by building and loan associations and all fees, except fees for incorporation, are paid to him. No building and loan association can transact business in the state without a certificate of authority from the Auditor of State.

All offices of the 99 counties are examined annually, as well as all cities and townships or municipal corporations with a population of 2,000 or more and school districts with a population of 5,000 or more, but in cities, towns and school districts the audits are optional with the governing bodies and are made upon request.

For the purpose of examining, auditing and checking, the various departments of the state may be classified roughly into three groups, viz.: all those departments, boards and commissions located in or adjacent to the state house; the state highway commission and the institutions under control of the board of control and the board of education; counties, cities, towns and schools.

The Auditor of State submits annual and biennial reports to the governor, as well as individual audit reports. The annual reports are on municipal finances, and the biennial reports on the operations of the auditor's office, and on the state and county, and building and loan affairs, are as narrative and statistical as the auditor deems necessary, and the individual audit reports contain schedules, exhibits, comparative figures, etc.

Ex officio, the auditor of state is a member of the executive council, printing board, geological board, bonus board, and department of health.

TREASURER OF STATE

(Office located on main floor of Capitol Building)

W. G. C. BAGLEY, Mason City

Salary, $5,000 annually

Leslie T. Freese, Sac City, Deputy.

C. J. Orr, Cedar Falls, Cashier.

Doris L. Benson, Ida Grove, Secretary.

Edmund L. Brown, Des Moines, Chief Accountant.

The Treasurer of State is a constitutional official. The public revenues of the State are received and disbursed by the treasury department. A record is maintained to show the sources of all income, the funds to which such incomes apply, the dates received, and the amounts received. Disbursements are made only upon warrants issued as certified by the state comptroller. A record is kept of each warrant paid, as well as the date of issuance, date of payment, to whom paid and against which fund such warrant is drawn.

When remittance of state revenue is made by bank draft, check or money order, such items are deposited for collection in a bank or banks in the state which have previously been duly designated and approved as depositories for state funds.

The Treasurer of State, with the consent and approval of the executive council, may designate banks in the State of Iowa as depositories of state funds in amounts not exceeding the limits fixed by said Council.

The Soldiers Bonus tax fund collected by the county treasurers is drawn into the state treasury only at such times and in such amounts as is necessary to pay interest and bonds as they become due.

The Treasurer of State also handles funds diverted under the public fund deposit guarantee acts of the Forty-first General Assembly, reimbursing losses of public funds which may be sustained on deposits in banks placed in receivership for liquidation.

The Treasurer of State is ex officio treasurer of the Employment Security Commission.

The Treasurer of State shall maintain in the state treasury a cash balance sufficient to pay the anticipated expenditures by the Highway Commission for the ensuing month. When necessary to restore the cash balance in the state treasury, he shall draw against the motor vehicle funds collected by the treasurers of each county of the state in proportion to the amounts in their possession respectively, a sum sufficient in the aggregate to restore said cash balance. Such drafts shall be honored by the treasurer of each county upon presentation.

Acts of the Forty-fifth General Assembly, Extraordinary Session, require the Treasurer of State to collect from distributors a license fee of three cents per gallon on all gasoline used in the state of Iowa, except federal and state owned cars and equipment. Provision was made for the refund of the license fee paid when the gasoline was not used on the public highways. Five-ninths of the proceeds is distributed to the primary road fund, and four-ninths to the secondary road funds of the several counties of the state.

All accounts of the treasury department are audited daily by the Auditor of State and examined quarterly under the direction of the Governor.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE (Office located on main floor of Capitol Building)

MARK G. THORNBURG, Emmetsburg, Secretary

Salary, $5,000 annually

Harry D. Linn, Des Moines, Assistant Secretary

Grace L. Robinson, Guthrie Center, Secretary to the Secretary.

The Iowa Department of Agriculture was created by the Fortieth General Assembly in 1923 for the express purpose of promoting and advancing the interests of agriculture. In creating an agricultural department, the legislature abolished a number of existing bureaus and commissions, consolidated their work by placing it under the direction of one administrative officer who was made an elective state official.

At the present time, the Department of Agriculture is responsible for the administration of forty-seven laws and employs a field force of thirty-three inspectors and eleven district veterinarians.

The Iowa Department of Agriculture is a most important branch of our state government. Its functions and services vitally affect the health and welfare of every person in the state. Public health is protected by the enforcement of sanitary laws relating to the production, manufacture, processing and sale of food products. Business interests and consumers alike are protected through the elimination of unfair competition by the impartial enforcement of laws relating to the adulteration and mislabeling of foods, paints, petroleum products, insecticides, feeds, fertilizers and seeds. Agriculture is benefited by live stock disease control, farm storage of grain, the promotion of farm shows and exhibits, control of noxious weeds and insect pests, and the enforcement of labeling and standardization laws relating to agricultural feeds, seeds and fertilizers. In addition, the department, in cooperation with the federal government, is responsible for service reports concerning weather, markets and crops, and live stock production estimates.

The various divisions of the department and the work of each are set forth in the following outline:

Division of Dairy and Food

- R. G. CLARK, Chief.
- E. L. REDFERN, State Chemist.
- B. O. BROWNLEE, Chief Inspector.

The Department provides inspection for:

1. Dairy plants.
2. Food products, including manufacturing, processing and sales establishments.
3. Adulteration and mislabeling of food products.
4. All weights, measures and scales.
5. Analysis and registration of all commercial feeds.
6. Quality and analysis of fertilizer and agricultural limestone.
7. Agricultural seeds to maintain standards of purity and labeling.
8. Analysis and labeling of insecticides and fungicides.
9. To determine purity and proper labeling of paints and oils.
10. Petroleum products (gasoline and kerosene).

Administration of:

1. Sanitary regulations.
2. State Agricultural Chemistry Laboratory.
3. Licensing activities.

Supervision of:

1. Iowa Trade Mark Creameries.
2. Testing of farm seeds.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

(Office on main floor of Capitol Building)

Term of incumbent ends December 31, 1942

Annual Salary $4,500

JESSIE M. PARKER, Superintendent, Lake Mills.

J. P. STREET, Deputy and Director of Junior Colleges, Atlantic.

R. A. GRIFFIN, Legal Advisor, Coon Rapids.

W. A. WINTERSTEIN, Statistician, Iowa Falls.

Supervisors

H. K. Bennett, Traer.

A. J. Steffey, Knoxville.

C. M. Ross, Iowa City.

Paul B. Norris, Thompson.

The superintendent of public instruction, under the first constitution, from 1847 to 1857, was a constitutional rather than a statutory state officer. Under the regime of the state board of education, provided for by the new or present constitution, the office of superintendent of public instruction was abolished December 24, 1858. When the state board of education was itself abolished by the legislature in 1864, the office of superintendent of public instruction was restored as an elective state office and since that time, except for the four-year period from 1914 to 1918, when the superintendent of public instruction was appointed by the governor with the approval of two-thirds of the senate, the office has remained as an elective state office, under the provisions of section 515, C. '35.

The superintendent of public instruction is charged by section 3831 with general supervision and control over the public schools of the state, including rural, graded, high schools, and public junior colleges. In addition to the foregoing duties, the superintendent of public instruction under section 3858, C. '39, is president and executive officer ex officio of the state board of educational examiners which has charge of the certification of teachers. Section 3838, C. '39, designates the superintendent of public instruction chairman and executive officer ex officio of both the state board for vocational education and the state board for vocational rehabilitation, which promote a program of vocational education and rehabilitation.

BOARD OF EDUCATIONAL EXAMINERS

(Office located in office of Superintendent of Public Instruction)

Appointed by the Governor. Terms of four years

JESSIE M. PARKER, Superintendent of Public Instruction, ex officio
President.

MALCOLM P. PRICE, President, Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, term expires June 30, 1945.

EARL A. ROADMAN, President, Morningside College, Sioux City, term
expires June 30, 1945.

F. N. OLRV, County Superintendent of Schools, Denison, term expires
June 30, 1945.

ARTHUR DEAMER, City Superintendent of Schools, Cedar Rapids, term
expires June 30, 1945.

Secretary, Russell E. Jonas, Des Moines.

Chief Clerk, Esther E. Tronstrom, Mapleton.

The state board of educational examiners was instituted by the nineteenth general assembly in 1882. Section 3858, C. '39, provides that the membership of the board of educational examiners shall consist of the superintendent of public instruction, who is president and executive officer of the board and four additional members appointed by the governor for a term of four years including: the president of one of the three state institutions of higher learning; the president of one of the privately endowed institutions of higher learning in the state that maintain teacher training courses; a county superintendent of schools; and a city superintendent of schools.

Section 3858-e1, C. '39, charges the board with authority to administer the statutes pertaining to the granting of all teachers' certificates except those which have to do with high school normal training. In that function it fixes the standards for teacher training courses; accredits colleges which offer teacher training courses for teachers' certificates; evaluates certificates of other states, and determines what recognition can be given them in Iowa.

STATE BOARD FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

(Office in State Capitol on the third floor back of Senate Gallery)

Members of Board (ex officio)

State Department of Public Instruction, Lake Mills.

HENRY C. SHULL, president State Board of Education, Sioux City.

CHARLES W. HARNESS, Labor Commissioner, Ottumwa.

The state board for vocational education was established by the thirty-seventh general assembly (1917), which accepted the provisions of the federal vocational act (Smith-Hughes). Subsequent federal vocational education legislation has been administered by the board. The thirty-ninth general assembly (1921) accepted the provisions of the federal vocational rehabilitation act and placed the administration under this board. Effective January 1, 1940, the board created a separate division of vocational rehabilitation with a director in charge.

DIVISION OF VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Director, Forest E. Moore, Des Moines.

Research specialist, Perry G. Frasier

Supervisor, agricultural education, H. T. Hall, Des Moines.

Supervisor, homemaking education, Mary Farris, Des Moines.

Supervisor, trade and industrial education, Harry W. Carmichael, Des Moines.

Research, Perry G. Frasier, Des Moines.

Vocational education, as organized under the provisions of the national and state vocational education acts, includes education and training of less than college grade, the specific purpose of which is to equip boys, girls, men and women for the effective pursuit of occupations. Such training prepares those of regular school age for employment which they propose to follow. It helps those who are already employed to acquire the new skill and knowledge which progress demands of their occupations and consequently to do better work and to take advantage of opportunities for promotion. Vocational education is offered in three major fields: namely, agricultural, trade and industrial and homemaking education. Instruction in each of these three occupational fields may be offered to three age groups of individuals: the regular high school student, the student who attends school part of the time and works part of the time, and the adult worker. The board also cooperates with the proper authorities at Iowa State College at Ames in preparing teachers of the above subjects.

DIVISION OF VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION

Director, Willis W. Grant, Des Moines.

Rehabilitation assistant, James J. S. Mitchell, Des Moines.

Rehabilitation assistant, E. Grace Young, Earlville.

Rehabilitation assistant, Mabel Luhmann, Storm Lake.

Rehabilitation assistant, W. Lowell Dunlavy, Des Moines.

The division of vocational rehabilitation, by the use of federal and state funds, assists individuals who are handicapped in employment because of physical impairment. They are assisted to select and prepare themselves for self supporting employment suited to their physical capacities and their natural abilities. The division does not maintain special schools but purchases training and other services for the benefit of the rehabilitant. It is limited to persons of employable age and sound mind. There are no restrictions as to creed, color or previous military service. The only restriction is the probability of the individual becoming employed and self supporting as the result of service rendered.

Assistant Commerce Counsel, Walter Condran, Des Moines.

Assistant Commerce Counsel, Hoyt Crooks, Boone.

In 1878, the seventeenth general assembly created a board of railroad commissioners consisting of three members to be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the executive council. In 1888, the twenty-second general assembly passed a law making the commissioners elective. In 1937, the forty-seventh general assembly, by house file 133, changed the name from "board of railroad commissioners" to "Iowa state commerce commission."

The powers and duties of the Iowa state commerce commission are: To generally supervise all railroads in the state, both steam and electric, except street railroads; to inquire into any neglect or violation of the laws of the state by any railroad corporation doing business therein; to make examinations and inspections of the physical condition, conduct and management of such railroads and report their condition to said companies; to stop and prevent railroad companies, under certain circumstances, from running or passing their trains over unsafe bridges; to adjudge changes in station houses, rolling stock and rates of fare; to pass on necessity for spur tracks to be constructed and maintained not exceeding three miles in length to an existing industry under terms and conditions approved by the commission as set out by law; to make reasonable rules for the crossing of steam and interurban railways and to require, when necessary, interlocking switches at railroad crossings; to make report on first Monday in December in each year to the Governor of its doings for the preceding year, accompanied with appropriate suggestions and recommendations; to receive, tabulate and report upon the annual reports filed with it by railroad companies; to examine any of the books, papers or documents of any such corporation; to examine under oath employees of such corporation; to issue subpoenas, administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses; to make and fix maximum schedules of freight rates for such corporations, such schedules to be deemed reasonable until disproved; to examine into rates in force, upon complaint that the rate charged by a railroad company, or that the maximum rates fixed by the commission are unreasonably high or discriminating, and to fix the rate again, which must not be higher than any rate established by law, such decision of the commission is prima facie evidence that the rate so made is a reasonable minimum rate; to bring suits to enforce its orders; to inquire into the management of the business of such carriers and to obtain from them full and complete information necessary to enable the commissioners to carry out the objects of the law; to hear, investigate and determine all complaints alleging unreasonable rates, unjust discrimination, undue preference, violation of the long and short haul clause, or other infractions of the commission law, and make proper orders thereupon; to establish joint through rates, upon application, over two or more connecting lines; and to have the same authority over express companies as the act confers concerning railroads.

Before a railroad company may appropriate coal, coke, or oil received for shipment, it must first secure the written consent of the commerce commission.

Before any railway company may condemn lands for additional depot grounds, or for straightening or relocating track, the permission of the commission must be obtained. Interlocking switches may be placed at grade railroad crossings or draw bridges, thus obviating the necessity of stopping trains before passing over such grade crossings or draw bridges, but before the interlocking switch may be used consent of the commission must be obtained.

The thirty-fifth general assembly gave to the commission the power to grant to individuals or corporations "engaged in the manufacture, sale, or distribution for sale of electric current for light, power, or heating purposes, the right within the state, except in cities and towns, to erect and maintain poles, wires, towers, fixtures and other necessary construction for the purpose of conducting electricity for lighting, power and heating purposes, over, along and across any public land, highways or streams or the lands of any person or persons, and to acquire the necessary interests in real estate therefor." It also provided that transmission lines proceeding under the provisions of the law should be subject to "such reasonable regulations as the commission may from time to time prescribe."

The commission is directed by an act of the thirty-ninth general assembly to "undertake and carry forward such investigation and preparation as shall be necessary to properly represent the interests of the state in connection with the valuation of the property of common carriers now being conducted by the interstate commerce commission."

An act of the forty-sixth general assembly amended by the forty-eighth general assembly provides that operators of grain elevators must be licensed in order to receive grain for storage. It also makes provisions for using warehouse receipts issued by the warehouseman on his own products and on products for others as collateral for financing loans. The act also provides for storage of other agricultural products and products principally consumed on farms, in warehouses of types different to that of grain elevators which covers such products as wool, canned goods, sugar, seeds, commercial feeds, etc.

The fortieth general assembly conferred on the commission the power to issue certificates authorizing motor carriers to operate over the public highways of the state, upon a showing that the proposed service would promote "the public convenience" and authorized the board to prescribe rules and regulations for the operation of motor vehicles used by such carriers "for the protection and safety of the public." The forty-first general assembly revised the laws on this subject, but left their administration with the railroad commission.

The forty-third general assembly provided for the supervision or regulation by the commission of persons operating motor trucks principally used for the public transportation of freight for compensation, not operating over regular routes nor between fixed termini.

Under the act of the forty-third general assembly before an airport is acquired by any city or town plans and specifications must be approved by the board.

The forty-fourth general assembly provided that pipe lines shall be subject to regulation by the board under a permit issued by the board.

IOWA SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND—VINTON

L. M. Hays, Superintendent

The aim and purpose of the Iowa School for the Blind is purely educational. The course of study includes not only the subjects leading up to and required for admission to the colleges and the universities of the state, but also subjects that aim to prepare the students for some of the occupations in which it has been demonstrated that the blind are usually successful. After a pupil of this school reaches the high school department, he is given some latitude in the choice of courses of study. Both literary and industrial work is required of all students, besides some music.

IOWA SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF—COUNCIL BLUFFS

Lloyd E. Berg, Superintendent

The Iowa School for the Deaf was founded in 1855, and was first located at Iowa City and then moved to Council Bluffs in 1870. In 1902, fire completely destroyed the main building, which housed the executive quarters and dormitories for pupils. A substantial fire-proof structure now stands in its place, where sufficient room is provided for 325 pupils. There is a separate building to accommodate seventy-five of the youngest pupils. The school affords an education for children of the State, too deaf to make proper progress in the hearing schools. The entrance age is five years and students are required to remain in school until nineteen years of age unless excused for good cause. The work embraces thirteen years with training largely through writing, speech, lip-reading and through the use of hearing aids where possible. The course of study provides a strong elementary education together with a substantial vocational training. The philosophy of the school is to bring the child with impaired hearing as near the normal as possible. Pupils of the school become skilled workmen and graduates, with remarkably few exceptions, are self-supporting, useful citizens of the state.

STANLEY, Claude M., Corning

Republican

Chairman Iowa Employment Security Commission

Born on a farm near Milo, Iowa, March, 1872. Educated in rural schools and Corning Academy (1892). Taught school, 1892-1898, principal of Carlisle school, 1896-1897. Graduated from Drake University law school, 1900; admitted to bar and practiced at Corning with firm of Stanley & Stanley. Corning city attorney, 1902-1904; Adams county attorney, 1904-1908; member, including presidency, of school board, 1927-1932; elected state senator in 1932, serving in the 45th and 46th regular and extra sessions. Appointed to present position, March 1, 1937; reappointed in 1941. In war with Spain, served in 51st Iowa Infantry; in the Iowa National Guard, 1900-1917; in the World war was major and lieutenant colonel of the 168th Infantry (Rainbow Division). Following World war, as colonel of infantry, reserve, commanded the 350th Infantry until he retired in 1936. Married Laura E. Stephenson of Corning, Iowa; father of two sons, C. M. and A. E. Member Methodist church, Masonic Lodge. American Legion.

The Commission has the responsibility of administering the Iowa Employment Security Law and is designated and constituted the agency of this state for the purpose of the Wagner-Peyser Act. The objectives of the program are to, (1) encourage and assist industry in providing more stable and uniform employment; (2) to provide benefit payments to workers who have become unemployed through no fault of their own; and (3) to maintain a free public employment service.

In general, only employers of eight or more are liable under the provisions of this act, but employers of less than eight persons may come under the act upon application to the Commission. Employers who are liable under the act are required to file reports in accordance with the regulations of the Commission and to pay contributions as established by the Employment Security law. Individuals engaged in agricultural labor, domestic service, students, persons employed by the Federal Government and the State of Iowa, or any subdivision thereof, are exempt from the provisions of this act.

Benefits are paid to eligible individuals who have been employed by employers covered by this act and who have become either totally or partially unemployed as defined in the act. The weekly benefit amount paid to any person shall be an amount equal to 50 per centum of his full time weekly wage, but shall not be more than $15.00 per week or less than $5.00 per week or his full time weekly wage, whichever is the lesser. The maximum amount of benefits which an individual is eligible to receive in any benefit year will depend upon the credit his account has received from wages paid to the individual during the benefit period, which consists of eight calendar quarters. (In no event will the maximum amount exceed fifteen times the weekly benefit amount.)

There have been established throughout the state by the Employment service Division 32 offices, and in those counties where there is not an office the division maintains an itinerant service. Through these offices and the itinerant service all benefits are paid, and when an individual becomes unemployed he should report to the employment office in his county and make application for work and file a claim for benefits.

STATE BOARD OF ENGINEERING EXAMINERS

(Office located in the office of secretary of the executive council)

Term four years. Appointed by the Governor.

HOWARD R. GREEN, Chairman, Cedar Rapids, term expires June 30, 1943.

L. M. MARTIN, Vice Chairman, Council Bluffs, term expires June 30, 1943.

J. S. DODDS, Ames, term expires June 30, 1943.

CECIL EWEN, Davenport; term expires June 30, 1945.

The state board of engineering examiners was created by the thirty-eighth general assembly in 1919. No person can practice professional engineering or land surveying without first being registered with this board. The board meets from time to time and conducts examinations of applicants for registration.

The law provides that the membership of the board shall consist of five members who shall be appointed by the governor. Each member of the board shall be a professional engineer at least thirty-five years of age, and shall have been a resident of this state for at least three years immediately preceding his appointment and shall have had at least ten years' active practice preceding his appointment and during such time shall have had charge of engineering work as principal or assistant for at least two years, and shall be a member in good standing of a recognized state or national engineering society. No two members of said board shall be from the same branch of the profession of engineering.

The Iowa State Fair as an institution has existed since the first fair was held at Fairfield October 25, 26 and 27, 1854, but it remained for the fortieth general assembly in 1923 and the extra session thereof to set out the Iowa state fair board as a separate and distinct department.

Previous to 1923 the fair was operated under the state department of agriculture. The fortieth general assembly, however, created a new department of agriculture, consolidating therewith a number of other departments and at the extra session the law was passed creating the state fair board, effective October 28, 1924.

The law provides for a state agricultural convention to be held at the state capitol in Des Moines on the second Wednesday in December of each year. The delegates to this convention are the officers and members of the state fair board; the president, secretary or accredited delegate of each of the county and district fairs; the president or accredited representative of the following organizations: each farmers' institute organized according to law and receiving aid; the state horticultural society; the Iowa state dairy association; the Iowa beef producers' association, and the Iowa corn and small grain growers' association. In counties where no fair is held the board of supervisors may appoint a delegate.

The convention elects a president and a vice president for a term of one year, and a director from each congressional district, whose term expires the day following the convention, for a term of two years. The secretary and treasurer are elected annually by the state fair board. The law fixes the compensation of the president, vice president and directors at ten dollars ($10) per day and expenses while in attendance at board and committee meetings. The law also fixes the maximum amount to be paid the treasurer at $500 and the secretary at $5,000 annually.

By statute the state fair board is made the custodian of the state fair grounds and the board of managers of the annual state fair. The state makes no regular appropriations for the operating expenses of the state fair. The law specifically provides that all operating expense, maintenance, etc., shall be paid out of the receipts of the state fair unless there is a special appropriation providing for same. The law also provides that the state will not be liable for any debt incurred by the board. The state has appropriated since 1902, $1,130,500 for buildings, $93,013 for additional land, $14,000 for sanitary sewer system, and $28,280 for paving and sewer assessments against the grounds. In the same period $658,700 has been appropriated for insurance premiums and maintenance of grounds and buildings.

During this same thirty-nine year period there has been expended from the fair receipts, $1,240,149 for buildings and other improvements, $244,423 for insurance premiums and maintenance of the grounds and buildings, and the entire operating expense of the fair amounting to $8,117,219.

The inventory taken November 30, 1940, shows the present value of the grounds and buildings to be worth $2,628,036. This inventory takes into consideration the original cost of all permanent buildings and other improvements with the usual annual depreciation. It is safe to say that the replacement value of buildings and other improvements would be more than double the amount carried in the inventory.

The title to the state fair grounds and all property is held in the name of the state of Iowa and all deeds and abstracts are on file in the state comptroller's office.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

Geological Board, ex officio

GEORGE A. WILSON, Governor.

CHET B. AKERS, Auditor of State.

VIRGIL M. HANCHER, President, State University of Iowa.

CHARLES E. FRILEY, President, Iowa State College.

ROY A. NELSON, President, Iowa Academy of Science.

State Geologist and Director, Arthur C. Trowbridge, Iowa City, and Assistant State Geologist, H. Garland Hershey, Iowa City, appointed by the geological board to serve during the pleasure of the board.

It is the duty of the geological survey to furnish information to the public on such subjects as the mineral resources of Iowa, the geological formations present in the state and what uses may be made of them, the possibilities of investment in enterprises that involve geological materials and any other questions that have to do with geology. In order to be able to give useful and intelligent answers to such questions as these, the survey has made preliminary examinations of the coal beds of the state and of the strata associated with them. Additional and more detailed studies of the coal measures are now being made. Studies have been made of the rock resources of Iowa, the gypsum, the clays and shales and the sands and gravels, both of the bedrock and of the overlaying loose materials. The materials for cement manufacture have been examined. Raw materials suitable for the manufacture of rock wool are now being investigated. The ground water resources of the state have been constantly studied since the organization of the survey nearly fifty years ago. About 75 drilling or proposed wells are under investigation at all times. Forecasts of depths and probable quantity and quality of water are made and checked during drilling, and by pumping tests and water analyses. State funds regularly expended for ground water investigation and service are now being matched by the U. S. Geological Survey. Two federal ground water engineers located at Iowa City are studying ground water levels, pumpages from wells, and reserves. By matching state and federal geological survey funds, 80 stream and lake gaging stations are now in operation in Iowa. The possibility of finding oil and gas in the Iowa strata has always been kept in mind, and close attention is given to all wells drilled as oil or gas prospects. The survey has always sounded a note of caution in pointing out the extreme hazard of investing funds in oil prospecting in the state. At present there is considerable interest in this subject and a number of major and independent oil companies are leasing land, making special geological and geophysical surveys, and drilling deep tests. The "play" is chiefly in southwestern Iowa where earlier surveys indicate conditions to be more favorable than elsewhere in the state. Large quantities of published and unpublished facts, opinions, and advice are made available by the geological survey on demand. By legislation enacted by the Forty-eighth General Assembly, the location, drilling, abandoning and plugging of oil tests are done with the knowledge and approval of the State Geologist. The companies doing the drilling are highly cooperative and the law is operating satisfactorily. So far the tests have failed to discover oil in Iowa.

The survey has published, as the result of its geological work, 36 large volumes, most of which are called annual reports. Volume 37, in press, will be published in the summer of 1941. In addition, seven bulletins on the botany and biology of the state, and three technical papers dealing with the quality, washing, storing and coking of Iowa coals, have been issued. In 1937, a new geologic map of the state was published to replace one issued in 1905.

Preventable Diseases—Epidemiology

Preventable diseases are by their very nature of vital concern to the community and the state. Reports of various infectious diseases are received daily from physicians and health officers throughout the state. These reports are surveyed and tabulated so as to make possible a study by weeks and months of the current prevalence of disease as compared with the preceding year or period of years. Field investigations are made upon request of local health officers or other officials, to determine the nature and extent of outbreaks, and to assist in control measures. The department through articles, reports, literature, talks, correspondence and graphic presentations aims to inform the public about disease prevention.

Activities of this department include a division of tuberculosis under the direction of a physician with special training and experience and nurses who have specialized in the study of tuberculosis. Staff members cooperate with the attending physicians and health officers in the reporting of cases and in the conduct of special surveys and the various measures to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

Every effort is being put forth in cooperation with physicians, to obtain complete reports of cases of venereal diseases. This work is carried out under the direction of physicians with special training and experience. Control measures include provisions for care of the indigent patient with particular reference to followup work and investigation of sources of infection.

A serum center has been established which makes possible the preparation of convalescent serum for the control and prevention of such diseases as measles, scarlet fever and infantile paralysis.

Program for control of pneumonia by diagnostic typing centers and distribution of serum for treatment of underprivileged patients.

Maternal and Child Health

It is essential to the health and vigor of a community, state and nation that its children be born with their birthright of a sound mind in a sound body, that they be born of sound parents and that their birthright be safeguarded throughout childhood. The activities of this division are devoted to providing authoritative information of and instruction in the need for, the value of and means of attaining these essentials of a "Healthy State and a Happier People".

Public Health Nursing

The department maintains a division of public health nursing and provides a whole-time supervisory service for public health nurses and an advisory service for boards employing nurses and for associations or committees interested in public health nursing.

The public health nurse:

1. Helps to secure early medical diagnosis and treatment for the sick.
2. Renders or secures nursing care of the sick, teaches through demonstration and supervises care given by relatives and attendants.
3. Assists the family to carry out medical, sanitary and social procedures for the prevention of disease and the promotion of health.
4. Helps to secure adjustment of social conditions which affect health.
5. Influences the community to develop public health facilities through participating in appropriate channels of community education for the promotion of a sound, adequate community health program. Shares in community action leading to betterment of health conditions.

Public Health Engineering

Preventing spread of disease through environmental sources—that is the goal of public health engineering and industrial hygiene. Duties may be enumerated as fact-finding, advisory, educational and law enforcement, with emphasis on the first three. Engineering activities have to do with public water supplies; public sewerage, sewage disposal and waste disposal; stream pollution; swimming pools; various public health nuisances; plumbing; housing; and numerous other natural and artificial facilities requiring sanitary safeguarding.

Vital Statistics

The division is charged with the collecting, recording and filing reports of births, deaths, marriages and divorces. Statistical studies and analyses of these records are made and the results of these studies are released for the information of the public. The division supervises the work of the local registrars of vital statistics and cooperates closely with the bureau of census, department of commerce, Washington, D. C.

Law Enforcement

The work of the division of law enforcement is under the direct supervision of an attorney, who is immediately responsible for the enforcement of laws pertaining to all matters affecting the following professions under title VIII of the code: medicine and surgery, podiatry, osteopathy, chiropractic, dentistry, optometry, embalming, barbering and cosmetology.

The division provides an advisory service to the lay public, as well as to the members of professional groups, in matters relating to legal phases of public health.

Examinations, Licensure and Registration

This division is under the direct supervision of a lay-director who is not licensed to practice any of the professions. The division keeps a permanent record of all applications, examinations, licenses, reciprocal licenses and renewal of licenses of the various professions under title VIII of the code of Iowa, 1939 (except the practices of pharmacy, osteopathy, chiropractic and nursing). The director carries on all correspondence and keeps all records incident to the examining and licensing of the following professions: medicine and surgery, dentistry, embalming, podiatry, optometry, barbering and cosmetology. The respective examining boards give the examination, the director assisting.

WHITE, F. R., Ames

Chief Engineer, State Highway Commission

Born May 21, 1884, near Selma, Van Buren county, Iowa. Graduated from Keosauqua high school in 1902. Graduated from the civil engineering department, Iowa State College, in 1907. Served as rodman and instrumentman on the Key West extension of the Florida East Coast Railroad from June, 1907, to February, 1908; inspector on highway bridge construction under the Iowa state highway commission, July, 1908, to December, 1910, and from June to August, 1911; instrumentman and chief of party on drainage surveys under the Morgan Engineering Company of Memphis, Tennessee, December, 1910, to May, 1911; field engineer, Iowa state highway commission, August, 1911, to March, 1915; road engineer, Iowa state highway commission, March, 1915, to April, 1919; chief engineer of the Iowa state highway commission, April, 1919, to the present. In 1923 vice president, and in 1924 president of the American Association of State Highway Officials. From 1924 to date, member executive council American Association of State Highway Officials. On October 31, 1912, married Miss Mary M. DeHart of Keosauqua; father of two children, Margaret Ellen and James Warren.

The first law creating a state highway commission in Iowa was adopted by the general assembly in 1904. That law simply stated that the Iowa State College should act as a state highway commission. Acting under said law, the state board of education appointed Dean Anson Marston of the engineering division, and Dean Chas. F. Curtiss of the agricultural department, of Iowa State College, as the directors of the commission. Thomas H. MacDonald, now chief of the U. S. bureau of public roads, was appointed by the directors as secretary and engineer for the commission. The duties of the commission at that time were to make investigations and studies of highway conditions and to advise with local authorities with respect to highway improvements.

This organization continued until 1913, when the thirty-fifth general assembly passed an act creating a state highway commission of three members and separated said commission from the Iowa State College.

In 1927 the general assembly passed an act which now appears as chapter 238 of the code of 1939 creating a state highway commission of five members, all to be appointed by the governor, not more than three of whom could be from the same political party.

The law of 1927 placed the primary road system under the direct control and supervision of the state highway commission. Thomas H. MacDonald, who became secretary and engineer of the highway commission in 1904, was designated as chief engineer of the highway commission in 1913 and continued in that capacity until 1919, when he resigned and F. R. White, present chief engineer of the state highway commission, was appointed to that position.

The highway commission's duties are three-fold:

- First: Construction and maintenance of primary roads.
- Second: General supervision of secondary roads.
- Third: Engineering assistance to other departments.

The commission has entire charge of and responsibility for all construction and maintenance work on the primary road system. It prepares the necessary surveys, plans and specifications for primary road improvements, lets the necessary contracts and supervises the construction work. It has charge, for the state of Iowa, of the expenditure of all federal aid road funds allotted to this state.

All maintenance work on the primary road is under the supervision of the commission.

The secondary roads (county and township roads) are under the supervision of the county boards of supervisors in their respective counties. However, the law places on the highway commission certain duties and responsibilities in connection with such secondary road work. Changes in or modifications of the county trunk road system must be approved by the commission. Secondary road construction programs proposed by the county boards must receive the commission's approval. Plans prepared by the county engineers for secondary road improvements, must be submitted to the state highway commission for approval. Contracts awarded by the boards of supervisors for secondary road work involving a cost of $2,000 or more per mile, or more than $5,000 in the aggregate, or more than $2,000 for any one bridge or culvert, must be approved by the state highway commission, before becoming effective. In case two adjacent counties are unable to agree on any county line road or bridge construction or maintenance matter, either board may appeal to the highway commission to determine said controversy.

The commission, on request, renders engineering assistance to various other state departments. This includes the making of surveys and preparation of plans and general supervision of construction and maintenance of public highways upon or adjacent to lands belonging to the state at the various educational, charitable, and penal institutions and at the state parks, engineering assistance to the executive council on street improvements upon and adjacent to the capitol grounds, assistance to the national guard on projects in connection with the national guard camp, and various other technical matters which may come before such other state departments.

IOWA INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER

(WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION SERVICE)

(Office located at 1005 Des Moines Street)

Commissioner appointed by Governor. Term of six years.

JOHN T. CLARKSON, Albia, Iowa Industrial Commissioner. Term expires June 30, 1943.

Deputy Commissioner, Ralph U. Woodcock, Albia, Iowa.

Secretary, Charles H. Greenley, Des Moines, Iowa.

Claim Auditor, Lewis C. Clark, Des Moines, Iowa.

In 1913, the thirty-fifth general assembly provided for "employers liability and workmen's compensation" and authorized the appointment of an industrial commissioner.

Iowa was among the first of the states to provide workmen's compensation for industrial injuries. (Note—accidental injury is not essential for liability under the Iowa compensation law.) All employers, with a few exceptions, must provide insurance, or assume responsibility for compensation benefits, based upon 60 per cent of the average weekly wage, and a limited liability for medical expense. The minimum is $6.00 per week and the maximum $15.00 per week. Provision is made for arbitration and review, and appeals may go to the courts. State and other public employees are included. Reports are made of injuries to the industrial commissioner which approximate about 100 per day, and settlements must have his approval. Arbitration decisions now number about 200 per year, together with the filing of about 75 review decisions.

CLARKSON, John T., Albia

Democrat

Industrial Commissioner

Born at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, December 16, 1861. Attended public schools until ten years of age when he began work in the coal mines. Thereafter his education was obtained by home study and special instruction, obtaining the equivalent of a college education. He moved to Iowa in 1884 and located in Kirksville, Wapello county. Read law in the office of A. C. Steck of Ottumwa; was admitted to the practice of law in May, 1885, and practiced law in Albia until July 1, 1937. Was elected county attorney of Monroe county in 1896, serving two terms. In 1908, he was elected state senator, representing Monroe and Marion counties, serving two terms. He was the author of the workmen's compensation law which he now administers. Appointed to present position by Governor Kraschel, July 1, 1937.

GREENLEY, Charles H.

Secretary, Workmen's Compensation Service

Born December 8, 1884, of pioneer parents, Fred and Augusta Greenley, on a farm in Atchison county, Missouri. Early education obtained in a one-room country school. Later attended high school at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, and college at Tarkio, Missouri. Active in farm organization work during ten-year residence in Colorado, to which state he moved for the health of his family in 1919. Continued activity in farm cooperative work after return to Iowa in 1929. Appointed to present position in 1937.

Commissioner of Insurance

(Office located at 212 Sixth Avenue)

Term, four years. Appointed by the Governor.

FISCHER, Charles R., Onawa

Republican

Term expires June 30, 1943

Born on a farm in Monona county, son of George and Mary Fischer. Attended as a boy one room rural school, afterwards going to local high school and attending college in Nebraska. Early maturity spent at farming, later banking, then Assistant Director of the Budget of Iowa. Was Superintendent of Securities during Turner administration. Married and has one son, 15.

First Deputy and Superintendent Securities Department, Ralph F. Knudsen, Waterloo.

Second Deputy and Actuary, B. Russell Thomas, Schleswig.

Superintendent of Deposit Department, W. H. Bailey, Sheldon.

Complaint Counsel, Maurice Herrick, Gilmore City.

The office of Commissioner of Insurance, as the executive head of the insurance department of Iowa, was created by chapter 146 of the laws of the thirty-fifth general assembly (1913) and the first commissioner took office July 1, 1914. Previous to that time, the supervision of insurance had been under the direction of the auditor of state.

The commissioner of insurance has general control, supervision and direction over all insurance business transacted in the state, and is charged with the responsibility of enforcing all the laws of the state relating to insurance.

Under the law, all securities in which the reserves of Iowa life insurance companies are invested are required to be deposited with the commissioner and complete records are kept showing each item on deposit at all times. The amount of approved securities representing these and other incidental deposits in the hands of the commissioner on June 1, 1941, amounted to $594,663,263.34.

The commissioner supervises all transactions relating to the organization, reorganization, liquidation and dissolution of domestic insurance corporations. He supervises the sale in the state of all stock or other evidences of interest either by domestic or foreign insurance companies. He is the statutory receiver in the event of liquidation of any Iowa insurance company.

All foreign companies, as well as all local companies, must, before engaging in the insurance business in this state, obtain a certificate of authority from the commissioner of insurance. These certificates expire annually on April 1st, and action is taken on their renewals after analysis of complete financial statements filed covering the condition of the company as of the previous year end. All insurance agents must likewise obtain individual licenses to solicit business. In 1940, there were 788 insurance companies authorized in the state, and approximately 65,000 individual agents' licenses were issued.

The commissioner conducts examination of all domestic insurance organizations at least every two years. He also may make an examination of any foreign insurance company authorized or seeking to be authorized to do business within the state. All policy forms used by any company within the state are required to be approved by the department.

The commissioner is a member of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners composed of the insurance supervising officials of each of the various states and meets with and cooperates with this organization in the many matters that arise involving the common interests of the separate states in insurance matters.

Securities Department

The state securities laws, designed to protect the Iowa investing public through regulation of securities dealers and qualification of securities offered for sale, are administered by the commissioner of insurance through the superintendent of securities.

The commissioner also has jurisdiction over the sale of stock on the installment plan and sale of memberships or certificates of membership entitling the holder thereof to purchase merchandise, materials or services on a discount or cost-plus basis.

IOWA COMMISSION ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION

House Concurrent Resolution No. 18, Forty-ninth General Assembly, provided for the appointment of three committees on interstate cooperation, to serve with similar committees from other states under the guidance of the Council of State Governments, of which Iowa is a member. The members of the three committees constitute the Iowa Commission on Interstate Cooperation, with the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House as ex-officio honorary non-voting members.

One committee of five members was selected from the membership of the State Senate, and consists of the following:

Fred Cromwell, Burlington, Des Moines County.
G. W. Hunt, Guttenberg, Clayton County.
A. E. Augustine, Oskaloosa, Mahaska County.
Robert W. Harvey, Missouri Valley, Harrison County.
H. S. Love, Bridgewater, Adair County.

Another committee of five members was selected from the membership of the House of Representatives, and consists of the following:

Edw. J. Morrissey, Valeria, Jasper County.
C. F. Shimanek, Monticello, Jones County.
John S. Heffner, Webster City, Hamilton County.
Curtis W. Gregory, Adel, Dallas County.
Harry E. Weichman, Newhall, Benton County.

The third committee is known as the Governor's Committee on Interstate Cooperation, the first two members being designated by H. C. R. 18 and the latter two appointed by the Governor:

John M. Rankin, Attorney General.
C. Fred Porter, State Comptroller.
Willis G. C. Bagley, Treasurer of State.
Mark G. Thornburg, Secretary of Agriculture.

Bureau of Labor

(Office located in building at Pennsylvania and Grand avenues)

Commissioner appointed by the Governor.
Term two years.

HARNES, Charles W., Ottumwa

Republican

Labor Commissioner

Term expires June 30, 1943

Born September 22, 1887, in Wapello county, Iowa, son of Gideon and Jennie Harness. When three years old, his parents moved to Ottumwa, and he grew to manhood there, attending the Ottumwa schools; later attended O'Brien Business College in Ottumwa. At 16, accepted employment with the Ottumwa Box Car Loader company as apprentice machinist. Then followed a lifetime of work as machinist and tool maker, the last many years with the Milwaukee railroad. Employed during the World war as machinist in the Charleston, South Carolina, navy yards. In late years, represented the International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the A. F. of L., in several midwestern states; also served on Ottumwa civil service commission for police and firemen and on Ottumwa board of waterworks trustees. Married to Hazel M. Cody, February 22, 1909; father of four sons and three daughters: Charles, Paul, John, Virgil, Ida Mary, Martha and Cecelia. A member of Masonic bodies, Kaaba Temple Shrine, Knights of Pythias and Eagles.

Deputy Labor Commissioner, Arthur Holbery, Sioux City.

The office of Labor Commissioner was created by the Twentieth General Assembly in 1884.

Under the provisions of law, the commissioner is also a member of the board for vocational education and rehabilitation, and the employment agency commission. The commissioner is executive secretary of the employment agency commission.

The bureau is responsible for the enforcement of laws relating to health and safety, child labor, passenger and freight elevators, installation and inspection of steam boilers, generators and superheaters, private employment agencies, arbitration and conciliation, and industrial accidents for reinspection and statistical purposes.

Three factory inspectors devote full time to inspection and reinspection of factories, mills, work shops, theatres, buildings, public buildings, passenger and freight elevators, private employment agencies and general employment conditions. The law requires that one of the inspectors shall be a woman who shall give special attention to places employing women and children.

The official publication of the bureau "Iowa Employment Survey" is issued the first of each month based upon conditions as of the fifteenth of the preceding month and compared with the previous month. Statistical information is furnished by the employer on a specially prepared questionnaire which is compiled showing employment and payroll trends, building conditions, and activities in the Iowa state employment service.

The bureau issues, with the consent of the executive council, special bulletins relating to child labor, labor organizations, employment service, and manufacturing directory, etc., which is in addition to the biennial report required by law.

THE STATE LIBRARIES

Trustees—The Governor, superintendent of public instruction and a member of the supreme court.

The state's libraries at the seat of government are under control of a board of trustees, the trustees also controlling the historical department and building. The general state library which was established at the time the territory was formed has been consolidated with the state traveling library to make its vast collection of reference works more available to the public. This and the state medical library are in the historical building and the law library is in the capitol.

STATE TRAVELING LIBRARY
(Office located in Historical Building)

The State Traveling Library was created by the forty-eighth general assembly by combining the former State Library, the Library Commission and the Economics and Sociology Division of the Law Library. The functions of this library are those of the former Library Commission.

Books are loaned to communities without public libraries, small libraries needing additional facilities, public libraries for unusual requests, schools, clubs, organizations and individuals. A collection of books in Braille is circulated to the blind. Pictures and stereoscopic views are sent out to schools and individuals.

Reference work is done for libraries and individuals. Much assistance is rendered clubs in planning and carrying out programs. In 1938-1940, 311,064 books were circulated from the Traveling Library. Most of these books were loaned for three months during which they were circulated from some designated center.

Assistance is given to libraries and a clearing house of information pertaining to Iowa libraries is maintained:

1. By cooperating with local communities in establishing and developing public libraries, aiding in organization of libraries, assisting in book selection, conferring with trustees and helping librarians by personal visits and correspondence.

2. By collecting and publishing statistics of libraries in the state and furnishing blanks for keeping records and making reports to the State Traveling Library as requested by law.

3. By publishing the Iowa Library Quarterly containing library information and news of the state and sending out lists of recommended books, leaflets and other information.

There are 268,000 books in the State Traveling Library.

STATE LAW LIBRARY
(Second Floor, Capitol Building)

The Iowa State Law Library, with its collection of upwards of 125,000 volumes, is one of the largest and most complete law libraries in the United States.

In addition to legal reference facilities provided for the Iowa Supreme Court judges, attorney-general, and other state officials, as well as for attorneys and the general public, the law library also includes a Legislative Reference Bureau, which assists members of the Iowa General Assembly with research materials and bill drafting.

IOWA STATE MEDICAL LIBRARY
(Second Floor, Historical Building)

The Iowa State Medical Library was established as a department of the State Library in July, 1919, and became a separate library in the reorganization of the state libraries by the Forty-eighth General Assembly in 1939.

The library serves primarily medical doctors but is open to any resident of the state.

The library contains 25,507 accessioned volumes and receives 270 medical and scientific periodicals annually, having over 100,000 unbound periodicals. The main work of the Medical Library is its mailing service, whereby proper material is selected and placed in the mail the same day doctors request literature by mail, phone or telegram.

The library also has a small museum of old medical instruments and collects items of medical historical interest.

The Iowa liquor control commission was created under the provisions of H. F. 292 as passed by the forty-fifth general assembly in extraordinary session and signed by the governor, March 6, 1934.

The commission has sole power to buy, import and have in its possession for sale and sell liquors; to establish, maintain and discontinue state liquor stores and special distributors in such cities and towns as deemed advisable; to rent, lease and equip any building or any land necessary to carry out the provisions of the act; to appoint necessary employees; to determine the nature, form and capacity of packages kept or sold under the act and to prescribe the labels and seals to be placed on same; to license, inspect and control the manufacture of alcoholic liquors in Iowa; and to make rules and regulations necessary for carrying out the provisions of the act.

STATE MINE INSPECTORS

(Office located on basement floor of Capitol Building)

Appointed by the Governor. Terms four years, expiring June 30, 1943.

E. A. FARNSWORTH, Centerville, first district.

R. T. RHYS, Ottumwa, second district.

J. E. JEFFREYS, Des Moines, third district.

Secretary, George Duckworth, Centerville.

Assistant Secretary, Robert M. Horn, Waukeo.

The operation of Iowa coal and gypsum mines is hedged around by exacting laws designed for the safe operation of the mines, the safety of the workers in mines, and other incidentals.

Laws provide for safeguards against fire, for adequate ventilation, for escape ways and other safety features.

The office of State Mine Inspector was created by the eighteenth general assembly in 1880. Since that time the extent of the coal mining industry requires the time of three inspectors.

The work of the inspectors consists of examination of mines and mine working conditions. Safety devices for workers, ventilation measures, escape ways, maps of mines and all regulations concerning operations of mines come in for their check.

The secretary maintains the records of the department, which include monthly reports of operations, tonnage, accidents, number of employees, and time worked. Maps of the mines are on file at the secretary's office and are open to public inspection.

The annual salary of the mine inspectors is $3,000 and the inspectors also receive compensation for travel expenses.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS FOR MINE INSPECTORS, MINE FOREMEN AND HOISTING ENGINEERS
(Office located in office of state mine inspectors in Capitol Building)

Appointed by the Executive Council for a term of two years.
Terms expire June 30, 1942.

WM. ABRAM (Mine Operator), Colfax.

WM. ANDERSON (Miner), R. F. D. 5, Albia.

WM. JERVIS (Miner), R. F. D. 5, Des Moines.

The education and experience of the individuals upon whom rests the responsibilities of executive and foremanship labors must meet certain minimum requirements. The board of examiners must consist of two miners, two mine operators and one mining engineer. These examiners are required to have had at least five years of actual experience in their respective professions.

The examiners conduct examinations of candidates for mine inspectors, hoisting engineers and mine foremen. Compensation for members is $5.00 per day for time actually engaged in their duties as examiners, and necessary expenses.

The board conducts examinations of candidates six times a year. A registration fee of $2.00 is made, and those who pass the examination are required to pay an added fee of $2.00 when a certificate is issued.

NURSE EXAMINERS

(Office located in room 17 of Capitol Building)

MISS MARY L. ELDER, R.N., Burlington; term expires June 30, 1945.

Executive Secretary, Wavie Stiles, R.N., Sioux City.

Director of Nursing Education, Blanche Graves, R.N., B.S., Des Moines.

Field Inspector, Vera M. Sage, R.N., Des Moines.

The Iowa Board of Nurse Examiners was made a department separate from the department of health by S. F. 50, passed by the Forty-sixth General Assembly and became effective upon publication.

The Board gives the examinations required of every graduate nurse before she is entitled to practice her profession. Examinations are held in Des Moines. The examination fee is $10.00; the reciprocity fee, $20.00 and annual renewal of license, $1.00. Through its Executive Secretary the Board keeps all records pertaining to the licensing of nurses in the state, receives all applications for licensure, collects all fees and issues all licenses. The Board formulates the curriculum and standards for schools of nursing, and through its Director of Nursing Education the accredited schools are supervised. It is the duty of the Board to enforce the laws governing the practice of nursing in the state.

Contracts for all work and material are let on competitive bids. The laws of the state are very explicit in directing the manner of advertising for and securing bids on all items.

The superintendent of printing is appointed by the board. He is ex officio secretary of the board and its executive officer. The law directs that the manuscript of every report or document, book, booklet, bulletin or anything to be printed shall be transmitted to the superintendent of printing as soon as it is ready for printing, and he shall edit, revise, condense and arrange the same for printing. He has the custody of and attends to the distribution and sale of codes, session laws, supreme court reports and public documents; supervises the compilation and publication of the session laws, the legislative bill index, and the official register. Also the journals of the house and senate are indexed under his supervision.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

(Office located on basement floor of Capitol Building)

Commissioner appointed by Governor—term four years.

KARL W. FISCHER, Vinton

Salary $4,000 annually.

The Iowa Department of Public Safety was created by the forty-eighth general assembly in 1939 by consolidating several bureaus and divisions under one executive head designated as Commissioner of Public Safety. One of the obvious purposes of the legislature in the creation of this department was to facilitate the cooperation and coordination of the law enforcement agencies of counties, cities and towns.

FISCHER, Karl W., Vinton

Republican

Commissioner of Public Safety

Born in Eagle Grove, Iowa, August 8, 1896. Attended grade school in Eldora and graduated from Vinton high school. Married Doris Miller, Vinton, Iowa; has four children, Karl Jr., Bennet, Margaret Ann and Judith Kay. During the World war served for two and one-half years in the air service in France with the Twenty-fifth Aero Squadron and in the Army of Occupation with the Twenty-fourth Aero Squadron. Following the World war attended the University of Iowa and engaged for several years in flying activities. Served ten years as clerk of the district court of Benton county. Was the Republican nominee for Auditor of State in 1932. Admitted to the bar in 1937. A member of the Masonic Lodge, Lions Club, Methodist church and Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity. Appointed Commissioner of the newly created Department of Public Safety by Governor Wilson for a term ending June 30, 1943.

The work of the department may best be explained by setting forth the activities of the several divisions as follows:

DIVISION OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION

R. W. NEBERGALL, Nevada, Chief

The Division of Criminal Investigation, of the State Department of public Safety, is an important agency in solving and preventing crime in the state of Iowa. With an efficient corps of officers, known as special agents, assistance is given promptly and freely to all peace officers in Iowa and major crimes which might otherwise have gone unsolved have been traced to the minutest detail and offenders committed for long terms.

A part of the division is the well-kept identification section, with its 200,000 finger prints, by means of which the life story of anyone who has committed any crime not only in Iowa but throughout all adjoining states, and in many other parts of the country, can be readily told. By checking prints taken at the scene of a fresh crime with prints on file in the State House at Des Moines the identification of many hundreds of criminals is quickly established and their capture effected.

Every sheriff in the state and the chief of police or marshal in every city and town in the state is obliged by law to send finger prints to the Des Moines state headquarters, where they are classified, arranged and filed for speedy identification. No law-enforcement agency in the state is more important than this.

Chief R. W. Nebergall, in charge of the Division of Criminal Investigation, has a staff of 13 special agents under him, who give efficient service to all law enforcement officers in the state. Their assignments cover cases involving murder, rape, robbery, extortion, bank robbery, arson and so on.

The technical laboratory is another important feature of the Division of Criminal Investigation and Criminal Identification. Here not only the latent fingerprint left by the criminal at the crime scene is identified—questioned handwriting or typewriting analyzed and identified—murder bullets identified with the gun through which they were fired—mouflage death masks made—obliterated serial numbers restored for identification—and countless other technical problems solved all in the routine day's work.

The Division of Criminal Investigation and Criminal Identification is a specialized division which cooperates with and supplements the work of local officers over the entire state.

The division keeps photographs of criminals; histories of criminals' apprehensions, time and length of previous incarcerations and information regarding his methods of operation; all making apprehension and identification easier.

The special agents are as follows: John Nieburg, Forrest E. Dougan, Max H. Studer, G. L. Mueller, Russell Kern, Sam Kelly, Gail Burbridge, Thomas Denholm, John P. Lochray, Dwight Bender, Delbert Murray, R. F. Gregson, and Tillman Thompson.

The total expenditures of this branch of the state government in recent years has run as follows:

July 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937.....	$50,001.37
July 1, 1937 to June 30, 1938.....	69,695.88
July 1, 1938 to June 30, 1939.....	59,404.09
July 1, 1939 to June 30, 1940.....	62,587.79

During 1939, thirty cases were investigated wherein there was suspicion of murder or intent to commit murder. In 1940, 33 such cases were investigated. Some were proved to be accidental deaths, some suicides and in others the crime of murder was proved and the convicted parties given penitentiary sentences. In a few cases the victim recovered and assault charges were filed and prosecution instituted.

During the years 1939 and 1940, 46 cases were investigated involving confidence games, frauds and swindles, ranging from the old-money machine and money-blessing racket to the badger game. "One of the worst situations coming to our attention was the activities of a gang which purported to check the honesty of employes of mercantile establishments, but which, according to statements, actually swindled its victims of every cent they could borrow on threats of prosecution," says Chief R. W. Nebergall.

Seven conspiracy investigations were conducted in the last biennium; the outstanding case involving two city detectives charged with conspiracy with illegal dealers in narcotics. Approximately 100 investigations of alleged narcotic violations were conducted.

Twenty-six separate investigations were conducted in cooperation with local sheriffs, in regard to larceny of domestic animals and fowls, and several gangs of rustlers and a few individual thieves were taken into custody. Sentences ranged from three months in the county jail to five years in the penitentiary.

One hundred and fifty-seven cases of breaking and entering were investigated in cooperation with local sheriffs. During the fore part of 1939 alone 37 major forgers were operating over Iowa. Of these 36 have been arrested, convicted and sentenced.

Other types of investigations in which special agents of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation have been engaged include safe cracking, robbery, bank robbery, counterfeiting, larceny, larceny of motor vehicles, sex crimes, disbarment, embezzlement, bombing and explosions, extortion, fugitives and missing persons, and vice complaints.

The Bureau's investigations for 1939 totaled 1,116; and for 1940 amounted to 1,172.

DIVISION OF FIRE PROTECTION AND INVESTIGATION JOHN W. STROHM, Clinton, Fire Marshal

The principal duties of the State Fire Marshal are to cause immediate investigation to be made of the cause, origin and circumstances of every fire occurring within the state, when so requested by any official with proper authority, including fire chiefs and township clerks, or the sheriff, deputy sheriff, or county attorney of any county; to determine if any buildings or structures, by reason of want of proper repair or by reason of age and dilapidated conditions are especially liable to fire and to order their repair or removal; to require teachers in public and private schools to have at least one fire drill a month and instruct the pupils at least four times a year in the causes and dangers of fires; and to make an annual report to the governor. For the purpose of enforcing the orders of the fire marshal suitable penalties and fines are provided and he and his deputy are empowered to administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. If the state fire marshal shall be of the opinion that there is evidence sufficient to charge any person with the crime of arson or criminal conduct in connection with any fire, he shall cause such person to be arrested. Reports are required to be made to the fire marshal by all chiefs of fire departments of each and every fire, and where there is no established fire department the report is to be made by mayors and by township clerks outside of incorporated cities and towns.

DIVISION OF HIGHWAY PATROL C. A. KNEE, Adel, Chief

The Iowa Highway Safety Patrol was created by the forty-sixth general assembly with a personnel of fifty-three men which was expanded by the forty-seventh general assembly to one hundred twenty-eight men.

The original duties of the Iowa Highway Safety Patrol were to enforce all provisions of the motor vehicle laws relating to the regulation of motor vehicles and laws of the road, with power to arrest without warrant any person or persons committing or attempting to commit within their presence or view a breach of peace or other violation of the law.

The forty-eighth general assembly broadened the scope of their powers by providing that they shall have and exercise all the powers of any peace officer of the state. There are, however, certain restrictions on the exercise of their general powers, which restrictions, as well as duties, will be enumerated in full in Chapter 67.1 of the Code of Iowa, 1939.

Members of the Highway Safety Patrol give examination to applicants for operators' and chauffeurs' licenses, conduct hearings in connection with suspension and revocation of operators' and chauffeurs' licenses, and investigate serious accidents occurring upon the highways of the state, in addition to their duties as law enforcement officers.

DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION
JAMES A. ALLEN, Indianola, Superintendent

The Motor Vehicle Registration Division of the Department of Public Safety has jurisdiction over the licensing of motor vehicles, the licensing of automobile dealers, of itinerant merchants, and official vehicles.

Under this department is included the division for the tabulation of accidents showing statistically pertinent facts relative to all accidents occurring upon the highways of the state.

DIVISION OF OPERATORS AND CHAUFFEURS' LICENSE
CLARENCE A. SHIRER, Allison, Superintendent

The primary functions of this division of the Department of Public Safety are: (1) the issuance of operators' licenses to those qualifying under the law, either through examinations conducted by the highway patrol, or through bi-annual renewal; (2) the enforcement of statutory provisions governing suspension, revocation, and denial, of operators' licenses, enacted for the removal from the highways of those persons who are physically or mentally incompetent to operate a motor vehicle with safety, and those persons whose driving actions seem to indicate a disregard of the value of their operating privileges; (3) the maintenance of an accumulative permanent record on each driver showing all violations, warnings, restrictions, accidents, or suspensions or revocations against his driving record.

DIVISION OF POLICE RADIO COMMUNICATION
H. H. JOY, Grand Junction, Superintendent

The Division of Radio Communication of the Iowa Department of Public Safety is charged with the operation of the State Police Radio System consisting of police radio stations at Des Moines, Cedar Falls, Storm Lake, Atlantic and Fairfield. The services of the police radio system are available to all officers of the state and special routine orders for the special agents of the Division of Criminal Investigation and members of the Division of Highway Patrol are referred to the Radio Communication Division for immediate dispatch. During 1940 there were 10,000 criminal items dispatched over the system and 15,000 special orders mitted to officers throughout the state.

DIVISION OF SAFETY EDUCATION
PAUL F. HILL, Des Moines, Director

In addition to the divisions above enumerated and described the forty-eighth general assembly made an appropriation to the Department of Public Safety for the biennium for the purpose of promoting public safety education. The act provides that the Commissioner may cooperate with any recognized agency in the education of the public in highway safety, and that no money shall be expended for such purpose except it be specifically appropriated by the legislature for that purpose.

BEARD, H. C., Mount Ayr

State Board of Social Welfare

Born on a Ringgold county, Iowa, farm, July 26, 1877. Before this appointment practiced law at Mount Ayr after he was admitted to the bar in 1898. Educated in the rural schools, Mount Ayr high school, and law department of the State University of Iowa, graduating in 1898. Served as a member of the first Iowa State Highway Commission, appointed by Governor George W. Clarke, from 1913 until January 1, 1919. On October 1, 1918, he was made second assistant to United States District Attorney E. G. Moon, and served in that capacity until September 1, 1920. Was married to Anna Duncan of Mount Ayr, Iowa, and has three children, John A., an attorney in Mount Ayr; Mrs. B. A. Fuller, Jr., of Centerville; and Mrs. J. Y. Dalbey of Diagonal. A member of the United Presbyterian church.

The Board of Social Welfare was created by act of the Forty-seventh General Assembly in 1937. The Forty-eighth General Assembly amended the original law by enacting legislation relating to membership, salary, terms of office and removal from office of its members. The Board, bipartisan in membership, is vested with authority to administer old age assistance, aid to the blind, child welfare and emergency relief.

The Board of Social Welfare has authority to administer state and federal funds appropriated by the federal social security law and the Iowa legislature for old age assistance, aid to the blind, child welfare services and emergency relief.

Under the terms of the law, county social welfare boards, also bipartisan, are appointed by the county boards of supervisors. The county welfare boards receive applications for assistance from needy aged and blind in the various counties and make recommendations for assistance to the state board. Further enactment of the Forty-eighth General Assembly provided for the administration of funds made available to the counties for emergency relief, and relating to relief labor and the powers and duties of the boards of supervisors in connection therewith. The county boards also cooperate with the state board in giving service to neglected and dependent children.

The Board of Social Welfare is required to cooperate with the federal government according to the provisions of the federal social security law, to make reports to the federal Social Security Board on administration of assistance, and to the federal Childrens Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor on its services to children.

The division of child welfare will carry on services to children in the state of Iowa except those performed by the institutions under the jurisdiction of the Board of Control.

Smith, February 22, 1911, and has four children: Avis Vere, Richard F., Robert L., and Donald L. Served as township clerk eighteen years, board member of the Story County Farm Bureau four years, treasurer three years, and president three years. He is a member of the Nevada Lodge No. 99, A. F. and A. M., was master of that order in 1926, and also member of O. E. S. Served as a member and president of the North Grant Consolidated School board. Former member of Nevada Rotary club. Awarded master farmer medal, January 13, 1927. Member of Lutheran church. Elected representative in 1928 and 1930, and served as a senator from 1932-36. Appointed by Governor Wilson, June 30, 1939, as member of the Iowa Tax Commission for a term of six years.

The State Tax Commission was created for the purpose of establishing a more equitable assessment of property and efficient administration of the tax laws of the state. When first created by act of the Forty-third General Assembly in 1929, it was known as the State Board of Assessment and Review. The name was changed in 1939 by the Forty-eighth General Assembly.

It was given very broad general powers. Its duties as fixed by law not only include the supervision of the assessment of all property in the state through the local assessors and boards of review but also the study and investigation of all matters pertaining to the improvement of the state's revenue system, and formulation and recommendation of such legislation it deems necessary to secure just and equal assessment.

Besides these general powers all former powers and duties of the state Executive Council as a board of review, as to valuations, levies, assessments, and determination of tax rate for state purposes are now vested in the state tax commission. The 48th General Assembly added other duties. At the present time, the commission lists and assesses privately owned water works, gas companies, pipelines, electric light and power companies, transmission lines, street railways, telegraph and telephone lines, railroads, sleeping and dining cars, freight and equipment cars, express companies, and administers the following taxes: Income, sales, use, chain store, cigarette, beer, and inheritance.

The board was organized on July 15, of 1929, and has been functioning since that time.

Under the law this commission exercises general supervision of the tax laws, of boards of supervisors and other officers and boards in matters pertaining to assessment and taxation; it has power to order reassessments, to prescribe and promulgate books and forms; to confer with, advise and direct those obligated by law to make levies and assessments as to their duties under the law; to require information from taxing districts as to assessment of property and collection of taxes; to hold public hearings with safeguards as to evidence there produced; to cause depositions to be taken within or without the state; to investigate the work and methods of local boards of review, boards of supervisors and other officers in tax matters; to require boards of review to make such orders as this commission determines are just and necessary; to direct and order any board to raise or lower the valuation of property, real or personal; to direct the county boards of equalization to raise or lower the valuation of any class or classes of property; to examine into alleged evasion or violation of the law for assessment and taxation; to ascertain wherein existing laws are defective or are improperly or negligently administered, and cause remedial proceedings to be instituted in such cases; to make a summary of the tax situation in the state; to formulate and recommend legislation for the better administration of the fiscal laws so as to secure just and equal taxation; to recommend such additions and changes in the present system of taxation that in its judgment is for the best interest of the state and will eliminate the necessity of any millage levy for state purposes; to transmit biennially to the Governor and to each member and member-elect of the legislature, thirty days before the meeting of the legislature, the report of the Commission, covering the subject of assessment and taxation, the result of the investigation of the Commission, its recommendations for improvement in the system of taxation in the state, together with such measures as may be formulated for the consideration of the legislature; to publish the revenue laws of the state and distribute them as prescribed; to procure information pertaining to the discovery of property subject to taxation; to call upon any state department for technical advice and data which may be of value in connection with the work of assessment and taxation; to certify to the auditor of state on January first of each year the aggregate of each state tax for each county for said years; all former powers and duties of the state executive council as a board of review, as to valuations, levies and assessments, and determination of tax rates for state purposes are now vested in the State Tax Commission, as are the former principal powers and duties of the auditor of state with relation to the assessment and collection of taxes.

State Permit Board

An act of the 46th General Assembly, as amended by the 48th, provides for the issuance of permits for the manufacture, sale, and taxation of certain nonintoxicating liquor, with the provision that such fees and taxes be collected by the state tax commission. All license fees and taxes collected under this act, except class "B" and "C" permit fees, shall accrue to the state sinking fund for public deposits. Fees from class "B" and "C" permits are placed in a special fund to be used by the State Permit Board for the purpose of enforcing the obligations made upon them. The State Permit Board is constituted of the chairman of the State Tax Commission, who is also chairman of the board, the Secretary of State and the Auditor of State. The board shall review the action of any governing body in any case where a hearing has been had relative to the cancellation or revocation of a permit issued under the provisions of this act.

Iowa Government

The Government of Iowa*

THE government of the state of Iowa is based upon a constitution adopted by the people and upon statute laws enacted from time to time by the general assembly. Iowa has had two state constitutions, the first approved in 1846, the second one in 1857. The present constitution has been amended a number of times.

The Electorate—All men and women who have lived in Iowa for six months and in the county in which they claim a residence for sixty days are entitled to vote if they are citizens of the United States and are twenty-one years of age or over. Persons convicted of infamous crimes and those declared idiotic or insane are, however, disfranchised. The right of women to vote in Iowa is based upon the nineteenth amendment to the United States constitution.

Election Days—The regular elections for national, state, district, and county officers are held on the Tuesday following the first Monday of November of the even-numbered years. Candidates, with a few exceptions, are nominated at the primary election held on the first Monday in June preceding the general election. Provision is also made for nominations by petition or convention. Political parties must use the primary for nominating candidates, but in case no candidate receives the necessary thirty-five per cent at the primary, a convention may nominate.

The Legislative Department

General Assembly—The legislative authority of the state of Iowa is vested by the constitution in a general assembly which consists of a senate and a house of representatives. The terms of both senators and representatives begin on the first day of January following their election. Regular sessions are held biennially, commencing on the second Monday of January of the odd-numbered years. Special sessions of the general assembly may be called by the proclamation of the governor.

House of Representatives—The house of representatives consists of one hundred and eight members, elected for two years. Each of the ninety-nine counties is entitled to one representative and each of the nine counties having the largest population elects one additional representative. Any person who has resided in the state for one year and has the qualifications of a voter is eligible for election as a representative. Women were admitted to the general assembly by an amendment to the state constitution adopted in 1926. The house of representatives elects a speaker and other officers.

Senate—The senate consists of fifty members, elected by districts for a term of four years. A senatorial district contains from one to five counties, according to population, and elects one senator. According to the constitution approximately one-half the senators are to be elected at each alternate biennial election, but due to changes in the districts, the terms of twenty-one senators now expire at the end of each alternate legislative biennium and those of twenty-nine in the intervening years. Senators must be twenty-five years of age and have the other qualifications required of representatives.

The Executive Department

Elective Officers—The constitution of Iowa makes provision for a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, and treasurer of state, who are elected for terms of two years at the regular biennial elections in the even-numbered years. In addition, the general assembly has made provision for a secretary of agriculture, elected for two years, and a board of commerce commissioners of three members and a superintendent of public instruction, chosen for four years.

Governor—The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the governor. It is his duty to see that the laws are enforced, to supervise the official business of the state, to make recommendations to the general assembly, and to appoint various officers and boards. He has the power to call special sessions of the legislature and to veto acts passed by the general assembly, but a majority of two-thirds of each house may pass a bill over his veto. To qualify as governor, a person must have been a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state for at least two years and must be thirty years of age or over at the date of election.

Lieutenant Governor—The lieutenant governor succeeds the governor in case of his death, resignation, or disability. His chief function is to act as president of the senate.

Appointive Officers—In addition to the executive officers mentioned, all of whom are elected, there are a number of appointive officers, including the comptroller, the superintendent of banking, the insurance commissioner, the labor commissioner, the adjutant general, the commissioner of public health and the industrial commissioner, all appointed by the governor, usually with the approval of the senate. The governor also appoints, with the approval of the senate, the members of a number of administrative boards, including the state board of education, the board of control of state institutions, the state tax commission, the board of parole, the state board of conservation, the liquor control commission, the state highway commission, and the unemployment compensation commission.

Executive Council—The executive council is an ex officio board made up of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, and secretary of agriculture.

State Printing Board—The state printing board has three ex officio members—the secretary of state, auditor, and attorney general—and two members appointed by the governor. This board appoints the superintendent of printing.

The Judicial Department

The judicial department of the state of Iowa is vested by the constitution in a supreme court, district courts, and such other inferior courts as the general assembly shall provide.

Supreme Court—The supreme court at present consists of nine justices, elected for terms of six years, approximately one-third being elected at each regular biennial election. The senior in time of service is chief justice for six months until each judge has served in that capacity. The supreme court appoints a reporter of the supreme court who is also the code editor, and a clerk. Both appointments are for four years.

Attorney General—The constitution also provides for an attorney general who is elected at the regular biennial election for a term of two years. He represents the state in legal matters, gives advice to state officers, and has, in addition, some administrative functions.

Judicial Districts—The State of Iowa is divided by law into twenty-one judicial districts, composed of from one to nine counties. Each district elects from two to six judges, there being at present sixty-nine district judges in the state. One of the district judges presides over the district court sessions in each county. A county attorney and a clerk of the court are elected by the voters in each county.

Inferior Courts—The general assembly has provided also for other inferior courts. Each township is authorized to elect two justices of the peace who hear cases involving minor offenses and hold preliminary hearings on more serious charges. Municipal courts, superior courts, police courts, and mayors' courts are authorized in cities and towns under various restrictions. Municipal courts are optional in cities having a population of five thousand or more and superior courts in cities with four thousand or over. Both municipal and superior court judges are elected for four year terms.

Municipal Courts—If a city of the first class has neither a municipal nor a superior court, the council shall appoint a police judge in commission governed and city manager cities and may provide for the election of a police judge in such cities under the general law. In all municipalities having none of these special courts, the mayor acts as the police judge.

Jury Trials—Jury trials are the rule for trials of serious cases, but under certain conditions may be waived or denied. Petit juries consist of twelve persons who must be "electors," except in some courts of restricted jurisdiction where the number of jurors may be six persons.

Local Government in Iowa

County Officials—The state of Iowa is divided into ninety-nine counties, the boundaries of which may not be changed unless the change is approved by the voters of each county concerned. A board of supervisors consisting of three, five or seven members is the chief administrative agency in the county. They appoint a county engineer. In addition, an auditor, who is the clerk of the board of supervisors, a sheriff, county attorney, recorder, treasurer, coroner, and clerk of the district court are elected biennially by the voters. A county superintendent of schools is chosen every three years by a convention composed of representatives of the school districts.

Local Functions—The Iowa county is a quasi-political corporation which collects municipal, school, county, and state taxes, enforces state laws, has charge of poor relief and certain other welfare activities, and shares with the state highway commission the management of the roads and bridges in the county. Townships, which in earlier days were effective units of local government within the counties, have lost almost all their functions, except for the assessment of property for taxation by the township assessor, and the election of justices of the peace in which many townships default.

City Government—The laws of Iowa also authorize the incorporation of cities and towns. These municipalities derive their authority from the general assembly and have only the powers specifically granted to them. Four cities and towns are governed by special charters granted before the adoption of the present constitution which forbids such acts of incorporation. Seven cities have the commission form of government; three have adopted the city manager plan by popular election; and a few others have a city manager by ordinance. Members of the commission are elected by the voters. The city manager in cities adopting that plan by a popular vote is appointed by a commission.

Municipal Classes—All other municipalities are under the general law. They are classified according to population into cities of the first class, having over 15,000 population; cities of the second class, having from 2,000 to 15,000 population; and towns having less than 2,000 population. All these municipalities have the mayor-council form of government, both the mayor and the members of the council being elected by the voters for two-year terms. A treasurer, assessor, and park commissioners, and in some cities a police, superior, or municipal court judge, are also elected.

City Councils—The council is the law-making body in municipal government and it is also the chief administrative agency. The mayor presides over the council, although he is not a member, and has the power to veto acts of the council subject to a two-thirds majority vote over his veto. He supervises municipal activities and in cities and towns which do not have a municipal, superior, or police court, he serves as police judge. He also appoints certain officers, including the marshal or chief of police, the city health officer, and members of the police and fire board. The city solicitor and clerk, and in some cases the engineer and members of the zoning board of adjustment are chosen by the council.

Taxation

Tax Sources—Taxation is probably the most important governmental power. The present tax system in Iowa is based largely on property, sales, income, and corporation taxes, although there are taxes on inheritance, poll taxes, and sales or license taxes on gasoline, cigarettes, beer, and chain stores.

Tax Levies—Property is assessed by township assessors elected by the people, subject to revision by local boards of review and by the state tax commission. The various mill levies for state, county, school, and municipal purposes are computed by the county auditor on the assessed valuation and the tax money is paid to the county treasurer who distributes it to the proper fund. Levies for county, school, and municipal purposes are, in most cases, limited by state law.

How Iowa Laws Are Made

(Prepared for the Iowa Official Register by the State Historical Society of Iowa.)

Laws Made by General Assembly—The state laws of Iowa are made by the general assembly which consists of two houses—the senate and the house of representatives. Members of the senate (50 in number) are elected by the people for the terms of four years, approximately half being elected at each biennial election; representatives (108 in number) are elected for two year terms.

Steps in Law Making—In general the procedure of “making” a law involves: (1) a demand for legislation; (2) the drafting of a bill which presents the desired legislation in a form to be presented to the general assembly; (3) the passage of this bill by the two branches of the general assembly; and (4) the approval of the act by the governor.

Demand for Legislation—A demand for new laws or for the amendment or repeal of statutes already enacted is usually due to changes in economic conditions or to the development of new social standards or attitudes. Laws are often proposed with the intent of improving administrative procedure. There may be an almost general agreement that certain changes should be made but more often public opinion is indifferent or uncertain until a bill is drafted and debate begins. Occasionally the question of the adoption of a proposed law becomes a campaign issue. In any case, proposed changes are usually sponsored and supported by interested groups, societies, organizations, or institutions. The motive may be an entirely unselfish interest in the public welfare or it may, on the other hand, be a desire for some advantage to individuals or groups to be benefited.

Drafting of Bills—Before it is presented to the general assembly, the proposed legislation must be put in the form of a bill (in a few cases joint resolutions are used). This bill may be drafted by the senator or representative who introduces it, by a group of members, by a senate or house committee, or by a committee or commission appointed by the governor or general assembly to study some problem, or it may be formulated by persons outside the general assembly. In practice, the general assembly usually employs several legal research clerks and assistants who, together with the Code Editor, prepare a large number of the bills filed during a session of the legislature. In any case the bill must be formally presented to one house or the other by a member, a group of members, or a committee of that house. No member of the general assembly is, however, required to introduce a bill when requested to do so and no one who is not a member of the general assembly may introduce a bill, not even the governor or lieutenant governor. Formerly even a member had to secure the consent of his house before he could introduce a bill; now such consent is taken for granted. In some cases identical bills, called companion bills, are introduced in both houses.

Majorities of Both Houses Required—Bills, say the constitution of Iowa, may originate in either house, and may be amended, altered or rejected by the other, and every bill having passed both houses shall be signed by the speaker of the house and the president of the senate. Furthermore the Iowa constitution provides that a bill may not become a law unless it receives the affirmative vote of a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the legislature (each house voting separately). This means that at least 26 senators and 55 representatives must vote for a bill if it is to pass. The constitution also provides that the vote on the passage of a bill must be taken immediately after the "last reading." This vote shall be by yeas and nays and shall be recorded on the journal—the official record kept by each house.

Houses Make Rules—The two houses make their own rules of procedure, subject to the constitutional provisions, and whenever a parliamentary situation is not covered by a rule, the procedure is governed by "Roberts' Rules of Order," as provided by statute. In the senate the usual order of business is: (1) correction of the journal; (2) presentation of petitions and memorials; (3) introduction of bills; (4) resolutions; (5) communications on the president's table; (6) reports of standing committees; (7) reports of select committees; (8) unfinished business; (9) third reading of bills; (10) reports for indefinite postponement; and (11) general order of business. The order of business in the house, after the correction of the journal, is: (1) unfinished business; (2) presentation of petitions and remonstrances; (3) reports of committees; (4) resolutions laid over; (5) introduction of bills; (6) resolutions; (7) messages and communications on the speaker's table; (8) bills and resolutions read a second time; (9) bills on their passage; and (10) reports in the possession of the house.

Committee Action—Much of the work in the Iowa general assembly is done in the committees. The number of members on these committees varies, but the political party in control of a house almost invariably has a majority of the members of each committee and the chairman, at least in the case of the important committees, usually belongs to the dominant party. The votes in committees are not recorded and are not made public. The number of committees varies from time to time. In the Forty-ninth General Assembly the senate had forty standing committees and the house fifty-seven. Additional committees may be created by resolutions. For the purpose of informal debate and to avoid a record vote on a measure until an agreement has been reached, the house or senate occasionally votes to act as a committee of the whole.

Senate Bills Introduced—Suppose we visit the state capitol at Des Moines during a session of the general assembly. (It meets in regular session on the second Monday in January of each odd numbered year.)

The senate sits in the south wing of the second floor; opposite it, across the rotunda, is the house of representatives. Just before the senate is called to order, we may see a secretary take typed copies of a bill to the desk of one of the senators. He looks them over, then beckons a page, and sends the papers to the desk of the presiding officer—the lieutenant governor, who serves as president of the senate. There the bill is numbered by the secretary of the senate in the order of its presentation and becomes, for example, "Senate File 92." At the next regular order of business for the introduction of bills, a copy is handed to a clerk who reads aloud its number, its title, and the name of the senator who presented it. The president then calls for the second reading. Again the clerk reads by title only. These two readings are purely perfunctory—what is left of the practice of reading each bill aloud at least three times in the early days of representative government when bills were not typed or printed for the use of legislators. (The senators know they will soon have a printed copy of the bill.)

Bills To Proper Committee—After this formality the president refers the bill, now known as "Senate File 92" to one of the senate committees. The original copy of "Senate File 92" is enclosed in a paper wrapper (the senate and house use different colors for these) on which are blanks for recording the various actions taken on the bill. In the senate this record is kept by the secretary (in the house by the chief clerk). When the bill goes to the committee, the secretary gives the original copy to the chairman of the committee, taking a receipt for it.

Bills Printed—A copy of the bill is then sent to the printer and on the following day, a printed copy of "Senate File 92" will be on the desk of each senator. Such copies are kept in a loose-leaf file furnished to each legislator. At the upper right hand corner of the printed copy is the number (Senate File 92) and the name of the senator who introduced it. On the left is the committee to which the bill was referred and the date of introduction. Below are the words "A Bill for an act" followed by a brief statement indicating its purpose and content—usually referred to as the title of the bill. According to the Iowa constitution every act shall embrace but one subject, and matters properly connected therewith, and any subject included in a law which is not "expressed" in the title is null and void. The title is, therefore, an important part of a bill, although it is not legally a part of the law after it is enacted.

Enacting Clause—Some bills (now comparatively few) contain preambles, usually short explanations of the conditions which, in the opinion of the person who drafted the bill, explain why the proposed law is needed. Then comes the enacting clause prescribed by the constitution for the enactment of legislation—"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa"—followed by the main part of the bill—the proposed law. This part of a bill is usually divided into sections and all lines are numbered by section to facilitate the designation of changes made by amendments.

Awaits Turn—After the original bill has been handed to the proper committee chairman and the printed copies are on the desks of the senators, nothing may be heard of "Senate File 92" for several days or weeks. Indeed, bills frequently remain in the hands of a committee until adjournment, never getting any consideration on the floor. While the committee considers "Senate File 92", other senators may file motions to amend it, but these will not be discussed until the bill itself is up for action.

The Enactment of a Law

From Committee to Debate—Any number of complications may develop during the consideration of a bill, but let us assume that "Senate File 92" is enacted into law in the simplest manner possible. Suppose the committee (perhaps the committee on highways) has eleven members. A majority of this committee, we will say, decides that the bill should be passed. At the proper time the chairman of the committee on highways makes the report, recommending that "the bill do pass." "Senate File 92" is then placed on the senate calendar (a list giving the order in which bills are to be considered) and when its turn comes (or it is called up by special arrangement) it is before the senate for debate and finally for the decisive vote.

The Vote—In the old days a bill was engrossed—rewritten to incorporate any changes made—and was then given a final reading from the engrossed copy. In both the house and senate the rules now provide that a bill is to be considered engrossed when it is ordered to its third reading, unless there is an affirmative vote for its engrossment. At the present time both engrossment and the third, or final, reading are more or less vague formalities. Occasionally a clerk does read a bill, but for the most part printing and typing have displaced the voice of the clerk. According to the constitution the vote on a bill must follow immediately after the last reading, but the rules provide that certain corrections may be made. On the final vote the names of the senators are called in alphabetical order and each votes "aye" or "no" as his name is called.

To Other House—The vote on "Senate File 92" is, we will assume, favorable—26 to 21, with 3 senators absent—and the bill has passed the senate. The secretary signs it and endorses on the record the date of passage. "Senate File 92" is now ready for consideration by the house to which it is sent by a messenger. Here it is not renumbered, but as "Senate File 92", it is given to the chief clerk, and at the proper time it is read twice by title and referred by the speaker of the house to a committee. Let us assume that this committee also reports favorably on "Senate File 92" and it comes before the house for a final vote. An electric voting device, operated from the desks of the representatives, is used to record the votes, a red light opposite a member's name indicating "no" while a green light shows that the member favors the measure. Let us assume that the lights indicate a favorable vote of 60 to 40 (with 8 absent or not voting) and "Senate File 92" has passed the house without change.

"Enrolling" in Trial Form—The act is then enrolled—copied in its final form—by the enrolling clerk of the senate (this being a senate bill) and the enrolled act is examined by a joint committee on enrolled bills. When it is reported correctly enrolled, "Senate File 92" is signed by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house. In the enrolled bill the words "A bill for" are omitted so the introduction reads only "An act" etc. The enrollment of a bill is very important in case of dispute over the meaning of a law, since the supreme court, at least until very recently, considered the enrolled bill as conclusive evidence of legislative action.

To Governor—After "Senate File 92" is correctly enrolled and signed by the two presiding officers, it is sent to the governor's office for his signature. If he approves it, he signs it and notifies the senate—the house in which it originated. Thus does the bill become part of the law of Iowa. The official copy of "Senate File 92" is then sent to the office of the secretary of state to await publication. Under ordinary procedure the law enacted from "Senate File 92" would go into effect on the following July 4th, but many bills now have publication clauses which provide that the act shall go into effect immediately following its publication in two designated newspapers. In any case "Senate File 92" will appear in a printed volume of the laws enacted at that session and will soon lose its identity in a new chapter number, later perhaps to become a section or sections of the Code.

House Bill Procedure—The procedure in the case of a house bill would have been similar except that the order of consideration by the two houses would have been reversed. Few bills, however, have careers so simple or so favorable. Only about one-third of the bills introduced at any recent session of the Iowa general assembly are enacted into law, and many of those passed are amended and revised almost beyond recognition. What happens to all these bills as they are ground through the legislative mill?

Amendments

May Be Amended—A bill may be amended in either house. Let us suppose that the committee on highways, to which "Senate File 92" is referred, believes that certain changes should be made in the original bill before it is adopted and so recommends in its report. Amendments may also be made on the floor of the senate. Such amendments may be incorporated in "Senate File 92" by a majority vote of those present (providing there is a quorum), but the bill on its final vote must have a constitutional majority—at least 26 in the senate (55 in the house).

Amended by Other House—After "Senate File 92" (as amended by the senate) goes to the house, it may be passed as it came from the senate or it may be amended in the house before it is passed. If the house amends the bill it must be returned to the senate where a vote is taken as to whether the senate will concur in the house amendment or amendments. If the motion to concur prevails, "Senate File 92" as amended is again placed upon its passage. If adopted it is enrolled, signed, and submitted to the governor.

Other House May Not Concur—The senate may, however, refuse to concur in the house amendment. In this case "Senate File 92" would be sent back to the house where a motion to recede from the amendment or a motion to insist on the amendment might be made, a motion to recede taking precedence over a motion to insist. If the house votes to recede from its amendment by the required constitutional majority, the bill is passed, is enrolled in the senate, signed, and sent to the governor. A vote to insist on an amendment, defeated by a constitutional majority, is equivalent to a vote to recede.

Conference Committee—If the house votes to insist on its amendment, it requests a conference committee, made up of four members from each house (unless otherwise specified), appointed by the presiding officers. This conference committee is really two committees acting as one for the members from each house vote separately and a majority of each group must agree to amendments proposed. If attempts to formulate some compromise on the disputed amendment or amendments acceptable to a majority in both the senate and the house.

Must Pass Both Houses Same Form—Since the supreme court ruled (in the case involving the salary reduction act adopted in 1933) that the adoption of the report of a conference committee does not satisfy the constitutional requirement that both houses must adopt an act in exactly the same form, the general assembly has prescribed a definite rule of procedure. A report of a conference committee may be adopted or rejected, but it can not be changed. If it is rejected in either house, a new committee may be appointed or the bill may be dropped. When the report of the conference committee is approved, the bill as amended by this report is again put on its passage, but neither debate nor amendment are permitted. If the vote in both houses is favorable, the bill is adopted.

Senate Amendment to House Amendment—The senate may, however, decide to make an amendment to the house amendment and such a motion, if made, takes precedence over a motion to concur. If this compromise amendment is adopted by the required constitutional majority, the bill goes back to the house where the amendment may be agreed to and the bill passed. If the house refuses to agree to the compromise amendment and the senate still refuses to accept the house amendment or to recede from its compromise amendment, a conference committee is necessary. These complications merely illustrate the tangle which may develop over the enactment of disputed legislation. Motions to lay on the table or to postpone indefinitely may not be used in respect to motions to recede or to insist on amendments or motions to amend bills which have passed both houses.

Defeat

Majority of Bills Never Enacted—A majority of the bills introduced in the Iowa general assembly are, however, neither adopted as introduced nor passed after amendment, they fail of enactment in one way or another. Many of these bills are never reported out by the committees to which they are referred. Bills are seldom called from the committees and a majority of a committee may, therefore, hold a bill indefinitely and thus prevent a vote. Sometimes the chairman does not even call for a committee vote on a bill. Since the speaker of the house and the president of the senate appoint the committees and committee chairmen and also refer bills to these committees, it is evident that these officers can do much to help or hinder the passage of a bill by referring it to a favorable or unfavorable committee.

Various Treatments of Bills—If a committee does decide to report a bill it may do so with various recommendations—that it pass, that it be amended and passed, that it do not pass, or that it be indefinitely postponed. Usually, however, a committee prefers to hold a bill it does not want passed. When a bill is reported out from a committee it is put on the calendar—the list of bills to be acted on by the house or senate as the case may be. Although it might be expected that bills will receive consideration in turn, it frequently happens that some are left on the calendar throughout the session and thus fail of enactment. A few bills are withdrawn by their sponsors. Others are voted on but fail to receive a constitutional majority in one house or the other. Many bills are indefinitely postponed—a decision which, under the present rules of the house, prevents further consideration and in both houses is equivalent to an outright rejection. An amendment striking out the enacting clause may also be adopted. Without its enacting clause a bill can not become law. In case of disagreement between the two houses, action on a bill may be suspended and the act fail of adoption even though it has (in different forms) passed both houses. Bills not otherwise disposed of by the house or senate are often referred to the sifting committee and die there.

The Sifting Committee

Sifting Committee Duties—Toward the end of the session it is customary for both houses to appoint a "sifting" committee, to which are referred all bills not yet acted upon, except appropriation bills and certain other measures specified by the resolution providing for the committee.

Committee Selects Bills for Consideration—At present, sifting committees are created by the rules of the house and senate and whenever the members of either house agree that such a committee should begin to function, the members of that committee are appointed by the speaker of the house and the president of the senate, as the case may be. Although measures referred to a sifting committee may be recalled by the house or senate, such action is seldom taken and the sifting committee has a decisive influence as to which bills are passed, amended, or defeated in the final days of the session. Occasionally the work of sifting out the bills to be acted upon is given to some other committee.

Tie Votes

Deciding Tie Vote—The Iowa constitution requires that all laws passed by the general assembly must receive the affirmative vote of a majority of those elected to each house. A tie in the case of the final vote on a bill in either the senate or the house would, therefore, defeat the measure and it would do no good to break the tie. In deciding many other questions, however, a tie vote may occur and the right to decide such a tie may be important.

Presiding Officers May Vote—The president of the senate is not a member and he votes only in case of a tie. He can thus decide votes on which the senate is equally divided, except in the case of a final vote on an act, on which a majority vote is required. The speaker of the house, being a member of the body over which he presides, may vote in all cases where the yeas and nays are called for, his name being called last. In other cases the speaker votes only when the house is equally divided or to make a tie. If his vote makes a tie, the motion is lost.

Reconsideration—Even after action is taken on a bill, some one who voted on the prevailing side (perhaps with this in mind) may move that the vote be reconsidered. Motions to reconsider a vote must be made on the day of the vote or the next legislative day and must have a constitutional majority in order to pass. To clinch a vote on a measure, a motion to reconsider the vote is often made, with the additional provision that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table. The rules of the Iowa senate specifically require a two-thirds vote to take a motion from the table and in the house the same rule applies because that body uses "Roberts' Rules of Order" to cover this particular procedure.

Resolutions

Joint Resolutions Handled Same as Bills—In Iowa proposed legislation which relates to the general policy of the state, ratification of amendments to the United States constitution, and some other similar matters, is put in the form of joint resolutions, which begin "Be it resolved by the general assembly of the state of Iowa." The rules of the Iowa general assembly make the procedure in handling joint resolutions in the senate and the house exactly the same as for bills. Joint resolutions proposing amendments to the state constitution and those ratifying amendments to the United States constitution do not require the signature of the governor, although they are usually signed by him.

Bills Average 973 Per Session—Most of the legislation in the Iowa general assembly is presented in the form of bills. The average number of bills presented in the senate and house of the forty-second, forty-third, forty-fourth, and forty-fifth general assemblies was 973 per session; the average number of joint resolutions introduced per session was 16.

Simple Resolutions—The senate or the house of representatives may adopt a simple resolution by a majority vote of those present. Such resolutions are used only to express some sentiment or to take care of routine matters which concern that one house only. Matters which primarily concern the organization of the general assembly, such as fixing the date of recess or adjournment, or expressing the sentiment of the legislature, are frequently presented in the form of concurrent resolutions. These resolutions are not laws. They may be adopted by a majority vote of those present and voting, but do not require a constitutional majority, and are not sent to the governor.

The Governor's Part in Law-Making

Governor May Advise General Assembly—The governor is the chief executive officer of the state, but he has also a considerable share in the responsibility of making the laws. The increasing complexity of government and the increased importance of administrative functions have emphasized the importance of political leadership. This leadership is one of the duties of the governor and in his message to the general assembly and by his advice he may do much to secure the legislation he approves or prevent the adoption of what he considers undesirable laws.

Enrolled Bills To Governor—An act which has passed both houses of the general assembly and has been properly enrolled and signed by the presiding officers of the two houses is still not law; it must go to the governor. The constitution prescribes the governor's duties in this matter. If he approves a bill sent to him by the general assembly, he signs it and thereby makes it a law.

Governor Has Veto Power—If the governor does not approve an act, he may return it to the house in which it originated with a message stating his objections—that is, veto it. In Iowa the governor may not approve one part of a bill and veto an objectionable section.

Passage Over Governor's Veto—Whenever the governor vetoes a bill and returns it to the house in which it originated, his objections are entered on the journal and the bill is reconsidered. If, after such reconsideration in both houses, the bill receives a two-thirds majority vote—34 in the senate and 72 in the house—it becomes a law without the governor's approval. If the necessary two-thirds majority can not be secured, a vetoed bill fails to become law. The general assembly of the state of Iowa has not so far (1937) passed a bill over the governor's veto.

Unsigned Bills—Any bill kept by the governor longer than three days (Sundays excepted) without his signature becomes a law automatically unless the general assembly adjourns before the three days elapse and thus prevents the return of the bill. All bills submitted to the governor during the last three days must be deposited by him in the office of the secretary of state, with his signature, if he approves them, and with his objections, if he does not approve them. Such bills, if not signed by the governor, do not become law.

The Attorney General

Advice As To Constitutionality—Although the attorney general has no part in making laws, he is the official legal adviser of state officials and is frequently called upon for an opinion as to whether certain acts are constitutional. Sometimes he is asked for his opinion during the formulation and passage of a law; more often he is consulted after the law has been adopted. In either case the opinion of the attorney general is advisory and his ruling that a law is unconstitutional or otherwise invalid does not of itself render the law inoperative.

Judicial Decisions and Interpretations

Challenges to Laws—After laws have been adopted and are on the statute books, they must meet at least four possible challenges: they must not contain provisions contrary to the constitution of the United States or the constitution of Iowa; they must not conflict with laws and treaties of the United States; and they must have been legally enacted. The supreme court of Iowa may declare an Iowa law invalid for any of these reasons. In Iowa the state supreme court does not render advisory opinions and decisions are given only on cases brought before the court. Federal courts may decide cases involving the United States constitution and United States law and treaties and other cases involving the state of Iowa and another state, or a citizen of Iowa and a citizen of another state. Usually the United States court follows the state supreme court in deciding whether or not a law conflicts with the state constitution.

Court Relies on Enrolled Bills—In deciding whether or not Iowa laws have been legally adopted, the Iowa supreme court has until recently relied to a large extent on the enrolled bill signed by the presiding officers of both houses. In the decision made in 1934 concerning the salary reduction act the state court, however, went back of the enrolled bill and decided that the senate and house had not taken a final vote on exactly the same bill and that the law was, therefore invalid.

Courts Establish Law Interpretation—Comparatively few laws are declared null and void by the courts, but there is constant demand for interpretation of laws. Just what does a law mean? How is it to be applied to a certain case? Does it conflict with another statute and if so which one is to be followed? All these questions are constantly asked in the courts. Indeed a large part of the litigation in this state, as in other states, is an attempt to interpret the meaning of laws and to determine how they are to be applied.

It is impossible, in a short sketch of this kind, to give all the details of the making of laws. For a detailed study of law-making in Iowa, the reader is referred to Statute Law-Making in Iowa, published in 1916 by the State Historical Society of Iowa as Volume III of the Iowa Applied History Series.

Calendar of Official Dates

CODE, 1939, section 9545, provides that the following designated days " * * * shall be regarded as holidays for all purposes relating to the presentation for payment or acceptance, and for the protesting and giving notice of the dishonor of bills of exchange, drafts, bank checks, orders, and promissory notes, and any bank or mercantile paper falling due on any of the days above named shall be considered as falling due on the succeeding business day." (See also C '39, §§11090, 11362.)

Holidays

January 1, New Year's day.
February 12, Lincoln's birthday.
February 22, Washington's birthday.
May 30, Memorial day.
July 4, Independence day.
September, first Monday, Labor day.
November, Tuesday next after first Monday, even-numbered years, General Election.
November 11, Armistice day.
November, last Thursday, Thanksgiving day.†
December 25, Christmas day; and all Sundays.

Special Observance Days

By Proclamation of the Governor

Independence Sunday: The Sunday preceding the fourth of July. (C. '39, §471.1.)
Mother's day: The second Sunday in May. (C. '39, §471.)
Arbor day: Usually the last Friday in April.
Flag day: June 14, anniversary of adoption of the United States flag by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia, 1777.
Columbus day: October 12. (C. '39, §471.2.)
Bird day: March 21. (C. '39, §4249.)

Other Special Days

Legislature meets biennially on the second Monday of January of odd numbered years.
Inauguration of the governor the first Thursday following the convening of the legislature.

Filing Nomination Papers

State and National: For United States senator, representatives in congress, and all elective state offices, to be filed in the office of the secretary of state not more than sixty nor less than forty days prior to the date set for holding the primary election. (C. '39, §537.)
County: For all elective county offices, to be filed in the office of the county auditor at least thirty days prior to the date fixed for holding the primary election. (C. '39, §537.)

†By proclamation of Governor.

Township or precinct: For elective offices of a subdivision of a county to be filed with county auditor thirty days prior to the primary. (C. '39, §547.)

Cities: For elective offices in cities of over 15,000 population, except cities under a nonpartisan form of government, to be filed with the city clerk at least thirty days before primary election. (C. '39, §§639, 640.)

Cities and towns: For elective offices in cities and towns under 15,000 population, nomination is made by an organization in a convention or caucus and the certificate of nomination to be filed with the clerk not more than forty nor less than fifteen days before the election. (C. '39, §§655.01, 655.14.)

Cities under commission or manager plan: For all elective offices to be filed with the city clerk at least ten days before the primary or election. (C. '39, §§6495 and 6634.)

School: For all elective offices in each independent city, town or consolidated district, shall be filed with the secretary of the school board not more than thirty nor less than ten days before the election. (C.'39, §4216.04.)

Primary Election Dates

Municipal: The primary election the last Monday in February of the year in which general municipal elections are held. (C. '39, §641.)

Cities under commission plan: The primary election shall be held the second Tuesday preceding the general municipal election. (C. '39, §6493.)

General: The primary election shall be held the first Monday in June in each even-numbered year. (C. '39, §533.)

Election Dates

Cities and towns: Regular city and town elections shall be held biennially on the last Monday in March. (C. '39, §5627.)

School: The regular school election shall be held annually on the second Monday in March; except in cities of over 125,000 population, where the election will be held biennially on the second Monday in March of odd-numbered years. (C. '39, §4216.01.)

General: The general election for state, district, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday next after the first Monday in November of each even-numbered year. (C. '39, §504.)

Political Convention Dates

County: Each political party shall hold its county convention on the fourth Saturday following each primary election. (C. '39, §616.)

State: Each political party shall hold a state convention not earlier than the first nor later than the fifth Wednesday following the county convention. (C. '39, §634.)

Judicial: Each political party shall hold a state judicial convention not less than one nor more than two weeks after their regular state convention. (C. '39, §656.)

District: Each political party shall hold a district judicial convention in districts where judges are to be elected not earlier than the first nor later than the fifth Thursday following the county convention. (C. '39, §663.)

Presidential or special: Precinct caucuses, county conventions and state conventions of each political party are held in the years presidents are elected and usually during the months of March and April on call of the state chairmen of the political parties.

Assessments

Call by Auditor: The county auditor of each county shall before the third day of January annually issue a call to all the assessors to meet within ten days to receive such information as the auditor has to give and to receive their supplies. (Sections 7113, 7114, Code of 1939.)

Beginning: Each assessor shall enter upon the discharge of the duties of his office immediately after the second Monday of January each year. (Section 7106.)

Completion: The assessment shall be completed by the 1st day of April. (Section 7121.) The rolls shall be laid before the local board of review on or before the first Monday of April in each year for correction. In cities of 10,000 or over the rolls shall be laid before the local board of review on or before the first Monday of May each year.

Boards of Review

Townships: The township trustees shall constitute the local board of review for the township and shall meet on the first Monday of April and sit from day to day until its duties are completed, which shall be not later than the first day of May.

In townships having a population of 20,000 or more, and situated entirely within the limits of a city under special charter, the city council of said city shall be the board of review, except that the township trustees of said township may, in the event the city council does not act as such board of review, be the board of review, the same as township trustees would be in townships in which the township lines are not coterminous with city limits. The board of review may begin the performance of its duties after the first day of March each year.

Cities and Towns: The city and town council (except as otherwise noted) shall constitute the board of review for each such city or town and shall meet on the first Monday of April and sit from day to day until its duties are completed, which shall be not later than the first day of May. In cities with a population of 10,000 or more, such board shall meet on the first Monday of May and shall complete its duties not later than the first day of June. (Note provisions for townships within special charter cities in paragraph next above.)

Raises or additions: In case the assessment of any person, partnership, corporation, or association is raised or new property is added by the board, then the clerk shall give immediate notice thereof by mail to each person, partnership, corporation or association and at the conclusion of the action of the board, the clerk shall post an alphabetical list of those whose assessments have been raised or added in a conspicuous place and the board shall hold an adjourned meeting with at least five days intervening after the posting of said notices before final action is taken on the proposed changes. (Section 7131.)

Complaints: Any person aggrieved by the action of the assessor may make an oral or written complaint to the township, city, or town board of review.

Appeals: Any party may appeal from the action of the township, city or town board of review to the district court. (Section 7133.)

Budgets Prepared and Submitted

Preparation: All taxing districts except townships must at least twenty days prior to August 15 each year prepare a budget of anticipated expenditures and estimated amount to be raised by taxation by funds. Rural schools post budget estimate ten days before dates of hearing. Other taxing districts subject to the budget law publish their budgets in a newspaper. (C. '39, §375.)

Certification: After hearing and decision of local board, budgets are certified to the county auditor not later than August 15. (C. '39, §383.)

Submitted to state comptroller: As soon as taxes are certified by each local board and have been computed by the county auditor he shall forward a copy of each budget, together with a summary of all budgets, to the state comptroller. (C. '39, §384.)

County budget: On or before December 31 each year, each county is required to appropriate in detail anticipated expenditures for every office or department for each and every purpose for which expenditures are authorized or demanded. The budget in detail must be completed and adopted by January 31 of the year to which it applies. This procedure is appropriating in detail the budget certified in August by funds. (C. '39, §§5260.01, 5260.02.)

City and town budgets: Cities and towns may adopt and levy a consolidated tax when certifying their budget in August, and prior to the beginning of their next fiscal year may apportion said consolidated tax in detail to the funds embraced therein in a ratio suitable to their requirements. The consolidated plan is optional with cities and towns.

State: On or before September first, next prior to each biennial legislative session, all departments and establishments of the government shall transmit to the state comptroller estimates of their expenditure requirements for each fiscal year of ensuing biennium * * *. (C. '39, §84.16.)

The comptroller shall prepare and file in his office, on or before the first day of December of each even-numbered year, a state budget report * * *. (C. '39, §84.06, ¶17.)

Not later than February 1 of the year of each biennial legislative session, the Governor shall transmit to the legislature a document to be known as a budget, setting forth his financial program for each of the fiscal years of the ensuing biennium * * *. (C. '39, §84.14.)

SUPERIOR COURTS

The Iowa statutes provide that any city of 4,000 population, or over, may establish a superior court. There are at present four such courts, located as follows: Cedar Rapids, Iowa Falls, Keokuk and Oelwein. The judges are elected for terms of four years and receive an annual salary, which is paid quarterly, the first two quarters being paid from the city treasury and the last two quarters from the county treasury of the county in which court is located. Salary of judge, $2,000 per annum in cities up to 25,000 population; $3,000 in cities of 25,000 up to 40,000, and $3,750 in cities of 40,000 or more.

The judges appoint a shorthand reporter, whose compensation is fixed by order of the court not exceeding $8.00 per day for the time actually employed.

The officers of the Superior courts in Iowa are as follows:

MUNICIPAL COURTS

Any city, whether organized under a special charter, commission form of government or the general law for the incorporation of cities or towns, now or hereafter having a population of 5,000 or more, as shown by the last preceding state or United States census, may establish a municipal court. All civil townships in which said city or any part thereof is located shall constitute the municipal court district and its jurisdiction is coextensive with the territorial limits of the county in which the court is located.

The salary of municipal court judges is $3,000 in cities with population less than 30,000; $3,400 with population of from 30,000 to 75,000; $3,600 with populations 75,000 or over. Compensation of court reporter is fixed by the judge at not to exceed $8.00 per day. Salary of clerk is $1,800, $2,200 or $2,600, according to population of the city as above indicated.

The officials of the Municipal Courts in the seven Iowa cities which have these judiciaries as as follows:

Iowa's Press

Iowa's Newspapers

NO REPORT on Iowa's greatness would be complete without recognition of its newspapers. There is scarcely a home in the state which fails to receive a daily newspaper; many homes receive several Iowa newspapers.

To no small extent Iowa owes its reputation for literacy to its newspapers. Iowa citizens want to be informed; and to their newspapers, more than to any other source, they turn for enlightenment upon current issues and problems, and for entertainment and even amusement.

Iowa's First Newspaper, 1836

The story of the beginnings of Iowa's newspapers is of more than passing interest.

John King established Iowa's first newspaper, the Du Buque Visitor, on May 11, 1836, and continued until June 3, 1937. One of the events of the Iowa Centennial celebration, in 1938, was the general recognition of the part which this pioneer paper played in the establishment of Iowa and its future development. A handsome centennial edition of the paper had been issued in Dubuque on the 100th anniversary of its founding.

The second Iowa newspaper was established by Dr. Isaac Galland, in 1837, at the town bearing his name, in Lee county, now generally known as Montrose. It was called the Western Adventurer, and lasted nine months. The machinery was sold to James G. Edwards, who moved it to Fort Madison, where it was called the Patriot and became an organ of the Whig party.

During Iowa's territorial years, no less than 24 newspapers were started, only ten of which had survived when Iowa entered the Union as a state in 1846. One of these was the Territorial Gazette and Advertiser, established in 1837, which is now published under the name of the Burlington Hawk-Eye and Gazette, being a combination of the two papers bearing these names.

Other Historic Newspapers

One of the names closely associated with the old Hawk-Eye was Frank Hatton, who learned the newspaper trade in Ohio, served through the Civil War with the Union army, and later on became a partner with Robert J. Burdette in the proprietorship of the Hawk-Eye. Hatton was Assistant Postmaster General from 1881 to 1884; and Postmaster General under President Chester A. Arthur in 1884 and 1885, the youngest cabinet member since Alexander Hamilton. Later, he became editor of the Chicago Mail and the Washington Post. Robert Burdette, his partner in the Hawk-Eye, was not only a great editor but likewise a notable humorist. He wrote "The Rise and Fall of the Mustache," which immediately became one of the best sellers of its time.

Another famous newspaper of the southeastern section of Iowa is the Keokuk Gate City, long in the possession of the Howell family; perhaps its best known editor being "Sam" Clark, as scholarly a man as Iowa journalism ever produced; a member of Congress from that district for several years.

Other notable pioneer Iowa newspapers were the Iowa City Press, of which John P. Irish assumed the editorship in 1864; the Sioux City Journal, established in 1870 by George D. Perkins and his brother; the Des Moines Capital, edited and published for many years by Lafe Young, one of the most picturesque figures Iowa ever produced, United States Senator from Iowa for a short time; the Oskaloosa Herald, with which Colonel Al Swalm was connected for many years; The Cedar Rapids Republican, with which the name of Cyrenus Cole is so prominently associated; the Muscatine Journal, of which Orion Clemens was editor in the fifties of the last century and where Mark Twain helped him intermittently; the Council Bluffs Nonpareil, under the late Wm. R. Orchard; and the Iowa State Register, now an integral part of the Register and Tribune.

Dailies and Weeklies of Prestige

There are more than a score of daily newspapers in Iowa which give to the immediate localities in which their services center assets which cannot be fully appreciated. All these daily newspapers present, to a greater or lesser extent, the opinions of the nation's recognized best feature writers in political and social fields, and these messages, presenting the cream of thought and investigation into the field of politics—in the sense of good government—have placed the average Iowan on a plane of high intelligence in legislative understanding.

Lacking none in the presentation of thought-provoking and guiding influence are scores of lesser journals, of semi-weekly and weekly periodical publication. The "country" editors of Iowa, whose praises are generally unsung, and whose compensation is upon a small scale, are the backbone of Iowa thought and action. When one meets a group of Iowa weekly newspaper editors in convention, he is face to face with the guiding genius of Iowa public opinion. Iowa weekly and semi-weekly newspapers, and the small-town dailies, have a combined circulation which secure the entrance of one or more of them into most of the homes of Iowa. The chosen representatives of the people, assembled in the state's General Assembly, give close heed to the opinions of their home-town editors, as a rule.

Three Awarded Pulitzer Prize

No small part of Iowa's leadership in literacy can be traced to the prevalence of Iowa newspapers in the homes; and to a large extent the editorial columns of these newspapers are one of the most potent forces for good within the state.

Three Iowa daily newspaper editors have been honored with the Pulitzer Prize, a distinguished honor originated by the late Joseph Pulitzer, editor and owner of the New York World and St. Louis Post Dispatch. The Iowans thus honored are Verne Marshall, of the Cedar Rapids Gazette; E. P. Chase of the Atlantic News Telegraph, and Wm. W. Waymack of the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

Iowa's Schools

Public School Enrollment 503,481

PROUDLY boasting that it leads all the States in literacy (having only 0.8 per cent of its population over ten years of age unable to write any language, while the nation's average is 4.3 per cent) Iowa justly gives to its splendid public schools credit for this splendid showing. No state is prouder of its educational system and facilities, no state has more right to be proud.

The report of the State Department of Public Instruction for the biennium ending June 30, 1940, shows that Iowa has 11,611 public schools, in which the enrollment for the year was 503,481 and the average daily attendance was 436,691. These figures are slightly less than those reported two years before, the enrollment falling from 519,150 to 503,481, and the average daily attendance declining from 446,699 to 436,691, but the standards of the state's public schools are annually becoming higher, and the courses of study more practical and praiseworthy. Adults enrolled in education classes numbered 26,285, proving that it is never too late in life to learn.

29,000 High School Graduates

The report of Miss Jessie M. Parker, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, for June 30, 1940, shows Iowa's 11,611 public schools to be divided, as follows:

Kindergarten	503
One-room elementary	8,538
Two or more room elementary.....	1,441
Junior high, separately organized.....	185
Senior high, separately organized.....	80
Junior-Senior high one organization.....	107
Regular high schools, with 4-year course or less..	757
Total	11,611

Eighth grade work was completed, during the last school year, by 38,966 pupils, while 29,052 graduated from high schools.

The total valuation of the public school buildings of the state, as of June 30, 1940, was in excess of $130,000,000. A corps of 25,151 teachers was employed. The expenditures from the General Fund of the school districts for the year ending June 30, 1940, were $42,653,677.73; the Schoolhouse fund expenditures for the year were $11,288,538.09. In brief, Iowa spent $53,942,225.82 teaching the young in the last school year for which the figures are available. A tremendous sum to be sure, but every cent well spent and productive of good results.

The average annual cost per pupil in daily attendance in districts which maintain high schools during the 1938-39 year was $86.43, while in districts maintaining elementary grades only it was $70.06. Of the former figures by far the largest single item was for instruction ($59.17) while the second largest was for operation of the school ($11.66). The same relative positions were held in the second group of schools, the expenses being reduced to $52.94 for instruction and $6.36 for plant operation.

Annuity and Teaching Standards Discussed

A teachers' retirement, or annuity fund, for protection against old age and disability and higher requirements for teachers' certificates are two matters much discussed in recent years. Both will undoubtedly be brought about. In her final report, the retiring superintendent of Public Instruction, Miss Agnes Samuelson (who left state office on January 1, 1940), had this to say of the certificate matter: "The minimum requirements for entering the teaching profession in Iowa are among the lowest in the country. At the present time many states require two, three or four years of college training before anyone may be certified as a teacher. Iowa still issues teaching certificates to persons who have not received any professional training after graduating from high school. During the school year ending June 30, 1938, twenty-one per cent of all persons who were issued new certificates had not taken any college work and an additional twenty-eight per cent had received but twelve weeks of college training. This illustrates the fact that while our new certificate law greatly strengthened the basis for issuing certificates to those who had received a more adequate amount of training, the minimum standards for entering the ranks of teachers were not changed. This is one of the most important educational problems which now confronts the people of Iowa and which should be corrected as soon as possible. Improving the quality of teaching in the public schools of Iowa is further limited by the unfavorable economic condition which surrounds the teaching profession. Teachers' salaries in Iowa have always been low in comparison with those in other vocations and as much as forty to fifty per cent below national averages. Under such conditions it is all but impossible to induce promising young people to seriously consider teaching as a profession. To be a successful teacher calls for persons of high intelligence and inspiring personality. If we cannot attract people of this sort to this profession we shall have to be content with a poor quality of work. This the people of Iowa do not want."

It is a foregone conclusion that this matter will be corrected in the not far distant future.

Iowa's Earliest School in Lee County

Free tax-supported schools were legally authorized in what is now Iowa while it was still a part of the Territory of Michigan, and later of Wisconsin. In 1840, after the formation of the Territory of Iowa, a law was passed that defined the means of establishing free schools.

One of the earliest schools in what is now the state of Iowa was opened in 1830, in the Half-Breed Tract in Lee county. Here in a log cabin provided by Isaac Galland, Berryman Jennings taught the settlers' children. Another early school was taught by George Cabbage at Dubuque in 1833. When Iowa was made a Territory in 1838, more than 40 schools had been established. The present Iowa system of public schools is really based upon a law passed by the state legislature in 1858. The first law making education compulsory was passed in 1902; subsequent legislation has extended the period of school attendance to 24 consecutive weeks every year for children between seven and sixteen. Part time schools were provided for by law in 1919 for children between 14 and 16 who are employed.

In recent years there has been a tendency for the enrollment in the elementary grades to steadily decline, this situation being undoubtedly due to a declining birth rate. This decrease has been reflected in elementary enrollments and also in the fact that the number of one-room elementary schools in Iowa has decreased during recent years at an average of one hundred schools per year. On the other hand, enrollments in the high school grades have not reflected this same trend.

State University of Iowa

Former State Capitol Building

One of the most beautiful examples of architecture in the United States is the Administration Building at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, a former State Capitol. Thousands of visitors annually pass through it and admire its simple dignity and beauty.

CUT in two by the placidly beautiful Iowa river, flowing between limestone bluffs, the campus of the State University of Iowa, at Iowa City, is one of the most attractive sights in the middle west. On the east bank of the river is the architecturally beautiful and historically famous Old Capitol of Iowa. Rising high on the west bank is the castle-like University Hospital, its 145-foot white stone tower a landmark for miles. Iowa City is properly called the Athens of Iowa. The Iowa State University ranks high among all the institutions of higher learning in the United States.

Established in 1847

One year after Iowa Territory became a state, the Old Capitol and its grounds were given to the State University, which had been established February 25, 1847, by an act of the First General Assembly. Iowa City dreamed of being the permanent seat of state government. Founded as the capital of Iowa Territory, January 21, 1839, it had been surveyed and laid out, and made big plans for an historic future. Congress agreed to donate the land for the new territorial capital and three commissioners were appointed to select the most suitable 640 acres for the promising metropolis.

Log cabins and a few frame houses clustered about the site chosen for the capitol, when the cornerstone was dedicated on July 4, 1840. State constitutional conventions followed, providing that Iowa City "shall be the seat of state government until removed by law."

The law did remove it, to Des Moines, in 1857. There was no further need of the Old Capitol or the surrounding grounds. They were given to the young State University, established ten years before. Iowa City set about to make the best of the bargain, and right well has it succeeded.

Seventy-five Students First Year

The University did not open until 1855, when 75 students assembled, in answer to an advertisement, for a short term of study under three professors. When the seat of government was moved away there were 124 students. The 1940 Bulletin of the State University showed a campus attendance that year of 9,084, with enough additional students off the campus and variously located to bring the total up to 10,685.

At first devoted entirely to Liberal Arts courses, federal grants of land and state appropriations enabled the institution to grow year by year.

The College of Law was added in 1868. In succession came the College of Medicine, in 1870; College of Homeopathic Medicine in 1876, but abandoned in 1919; Dentistry in 1882; Pharmacy in 1885; the Graduate College in 1900; College of Fine Arts in 1911 (united with the College of Liberal Arts in 1915); College of Education in 1913 and College of Commerce in 1915. In 1913 the Extension Division was organized. In 1917 the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, and in 1924 the Division of Physical Education. The Schools of Journalism, Religion and Fine Arts are parts of the College of Liberal Arts. The School of Nursing is a part of the College of Medicine.

Eighty Thousand Hospital Patients Treated

Today the University campus covers nearly 400 acres of ground and includes more than 50 buildings. Most prominent and beloved of all is the Old Capitol, now used as the Administration building. Doric columns adorning the portico entrance and Corinthian columns supporting the dome make the building so appealing from an architectural standpoint that visitors are awed by its beauty and dignity.

The University Hospital, opened in 1928, is of early English Gothic architecture. A score of ambulances bring patients here from all over the state, some 80,000 having been carried a total of 5,500,000 miles since public treatments were begun in 1932.

The College of Liberal Arts is the oldest college of the University and embraces the School of Letters, School of Fine Arts, School of Journalism and School of Religion. The University Symphony orchestra numbers 95 members, while the University Chamber orchestra supplements it and serves as a laboratory unit for courses in instrumental music. The School of Journalism gives practical instruction in writing and editing.

The School of Religion provides courses "that will help students gain a wholesome view of religion and increase their interest and efficiency in religious activities." The College of Education helps to prepare teachers for elementary and secondary schools and for colleges and universities.

The College of Law was established at Des Moines in 1865 and moved to Iowa City three years later. It is now the oldest law school west of the Mississippi river. The Law Library now contains more than 74,500 volumes.

All the colleges making up Iowa State University are maintained on a high plane, making it possible for a student to secure a practical education in almost any profession and branch of fine and useful arts.

State Appropriations Pay Part Costs

The State University is maintained, partially, by appropriations made by the Iowa legislature. These sums have varied, in recent years, from $1,800,000 to $3,190,500 annually. The annual fight to secure a sufficient appropriation for the five institutions over which the State Board of Education has control (State University, State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, State Teachers College, School for the Deaf and School for the Blind) is one of the important matters over which the legislators work and worry each biennium.

From 1921 to 1933 the state appropriated for these five institutions (exclusive of the hospital and bacteriological laboratory) an average of $6,345,461 each year; all but a negligible part going to Iowa City, Ames and Cedar Falls. This support was reduced to $4,366,000 each year, 1933-35.

Enrollment in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit is prescribed for all male students in the College of Liberal Arts, Engineering and Pharmacy, during the freshman and sophomore years. Exemption is granted only in cases of physical disability on recommendation of the University Student Health Department. Military science and tactics is an elective course the junior and senior years.

Eugene A. Gilmore came to the presidency of the State University in 1934, but was succeeded in 1940 by Virgil M. Hancher.

The presidents of the University have been: Amos Dean, 1855-1859; Silas Totten, 1859-1862; Oliver M. Spencer, 1862-1867; Nathan R. Leonard (acting president), 1867-1868; James Black, 1868-1870; Nathan R. Leonard (acting president), 1870-1871; George Thacher, 1871-1877; Christian W. Slagle (president pro tempore), 1877-1878; Josiah L. Pickard, 1878-1887; Charles A. Schaeffer, 1887-1898; Amos N. Currier (acting president), 1898-1899; George E. MacLean, 1899-1911; John G. Bowman, 1911-1914; Thomas H. Macbride, 1914-1916; Walter A. Jessup, 1916-1934; Eugene A. Gilmore, 1934-1940, and Virgil M. Hancher 1940—.

Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts

NO MORE beautiful campus is to be found in the entire country than the one upon which are located the buildings and activities of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, at Ames. A natural grouping of shrubbery and trees, almost as they might have appeared in the original landscape, with paths where students may either loiter or hurry from one building and class to another, a meandering creek, and an attractive artificial lake, upon a campus topped off by the beautiful Campanile tower 110 feet high, from which chime 36 melodious bells; little wonder this has become a Mecca for thousands of visitors from all over the country. Iowa is very proud of this magnificent school, not the least claim to fame being that it has given Secretaries of Agriculture to six Presidents of the United States.

Established in 1858

On March 22, 1858, the Seventh General Assembly of Iowa established the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. The following year the original farm of 648 acres was bought. On July 2, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln approved the Morrill Land-Grant college act, donating public lands to the several states and territories to provide for colleges such as Ames.

On May 11, 1868, A. S. Welch was elected first President of the College, and on October 21, 1868, the institution was opened to students. Nineteen years later the Federal government passed an act creating the Agricultural Experiment Stations in the several states. In 1900 the Iowa State Legislature granted the first definite educational support, in the sum of $25,000 a year. From then on the College grew, with the addition of land, the erection of buildings and the enlargement of courses of study.

In 1939, the College domains included 2,328 acres; upon which 70 buildings were located for College purposes, besides dwelling houses, structures for farm stock, machinery and work; all of a total value of $11,508,804.26.

Five Major Fields

Iowa State College (as its name has been abbreviated) conducts work in five major fields: agriculture, engineering, home economics, science and veterinary medicine. The Graduate College conducts research and gives instruction in all these fields. Extension courses are conducted at various points throughout the state. Four-year and five-year courses are offered in different divisions of the College. Non-collegiate courses are offered in agriculture. Summer sessions include graduate and collegiate work. Short courses are offered in winter.

Iowa State College has offered opportunities for graduate work to qualified students since it was founded. The first advanced degree was conferred in 1877. In 1913 a distinct graduate faculty was organized. The Graduate College offers students the opportunity to undertake research in technology and those branches of science that find their application in industry.

The attendance at Iowa State College has been advancing steadily through the years. The last available report shows a total attending college of 5,460 and short course students to the number of 15,644.

The college attendance was divided as follows:

Division of Agriculture.....	1,473
Division of Engineering.....	1,659
Division of Home Economics.....	1,390
Division of Industrial Science.....	715
Division of Veterinary Medicine.....	223

5,460

The short course attendance was divided as follows:

Division of Agriculture.....	10,370
Division of Engineering.....	2,365
Division of Home Economics.....	2,909

Budget $4,000,000 Annually

The last available report showed the cost of operating the College to be around $4,000,000 a year, of which about one-half comes by appropriation from the Iowa Legislature, out of tax monies; one-sixth by Federal appropriation; and one-tenth from students' fees.

Iowa State College graduates go to all parts of the world and become leaders in agriculture, engineering and home economics. There is hardly a nation in the world but has felt the uplifting effect of this splendid institution. James Wilson (Tama Jim) served as Secretary of Agriculture in the cabinets of Presidents McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and Taft. Henry C. Wallace held a similar post under Presidents Harding and Coolidge. His son, Henry A. Wallace, served under President Franklin D. Roosevelt almost eight years and then was elected vice president of the United States.

Curricula of Several Divisions

The Division of Agriculture offers courses in agricultural economics and rural sociology; agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy industry, genetics, horticulture and forestry, landscape architecture, technical journalism and vocational education.

The Division of Engineering offers courses in agricultural, architectural, ceramic, chemical and mining, civil, electrical, mechanical and general engineering, together with industrial arts and theoretical and applied mechanics.

The Division of Home Economics offers courses in applied art, child development, foods and nutrition, dietetics, experimental cookery, home economic education, home management, household equipment, institution management, textiles and clothing and chemistry, and technical journalism.

The Division of Veterinary Medicine offers courses in anatomy, hygiene, medicine, obstetrics, pathology, physiology and pharmacology, surgery and research.

The Division of Industrial Science offers courses in the biological, physical and social sciences, with particular emphasis upon the application of these sciences to industry and commerce and to the problems of present-day civilization, and to provide thorough instruction in the basic sciences.

Two Experiment Stations

The Agricultural Experiment Station was established in 1887, the Engineering Experiment Station in 1904. Their functions are to increase knowledge concerning the best practices in both fields, to contribute to fundamental research and to foster and develop the state's industries.

Land areas owned or leased by the College and used by the Agricultural Experiment Station aggregate 1,774 acres, upon which various scientific experiments are made and the information thus obtained made accessible through Station bulletins and articles in the technical and scientific press.

The principal research work on which the Engineering Experiment Station is now engaged is the disposal of waste from industrial establishments, extension of uses for cement concrete, and new methods of building improved highways.

Active Extension Services

The Extension Service was established in 1906 and provides for cooperation between county Farm Bureaus, the College, and the United States Department of Agriculture, which jointly employ county agents, home demonstration agents and emergency agents when needed. Almost every subject important to agriculture, engineering and home economics is covered. The College workers are available to the people of Iowa for lectures, demonstrations, consultations and conferences.

Two Units of R.O.T.C.

Under the provisions of the National Defense act, Iowa State College has secured from the United States government authorization for the establishment of two units of the Reserve Officer's Training Corps, namely, Engineer and Field Artillery. The primary object is to train selected students so they may qualify for appointment as reserve officers in the army of the United States. The first two years of the four-year College course is known as the basic course in Military Science and Tactics and is required by the College as a prerequisite to graduation. The president is Dr. Charles Edwin Friley.

Iowa State Teachers College

IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, at Cedar Falls, was originally known as Iowa State Normal School, established in 1876, by act of the General Assembly. It was first housed in a three-story brick building, surrounded by 40 acres, formerly used as a home for the orphans of Civil War veterans.

An historian describes the early scene, as follows:

"The institution was situated on an almost treeless eminence, surrounded by fields of waving corn. The old building was equipped with stoves burning wood, with kerosene lamps and water buckets, and had crude sanitation. The first session was opened on September 6, 1876, when the president, James C. Gilchrist, then called 'the principal,' read from the Scriptures and offered prayer."

From that humble beginning has grown, by leaps and bounds, the splendid college of today. In 1909 the name was changed to Iowa State Teachers College. The Board of Trustees of the old institution was discontinued and the College came under the control of the State Board of Education, along with the State University at Iowa City and the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Ames, and later the Iowa School for the Blind at Vinton and the Iowa School for the Deaf at Council Bluffs.

Three Thousand Seven Hundred Fifty Students

Today the campus of Iowa State Teachers College contains 127 acres of finely-laying land, upon which are situated 21 buildings, mainly of brick with trimmings of Bedford stone. The Campanile has a main tower 20 feet square and 100 feet in height. Its 15 bells range in weight from 225 to 5,000 pounds. One-year, two-year and four-year courses are provided for the training and preparation of teachers. The 1940 Bulletin of the College shows an attendance of 3,752 students.

Courses of instruction include art, commercial education, English, home economics, languages, mathematics, music, physical education for men and women, science, social science and teaching.

The State Teachers College was presided over for many years by one of the grand old men of the educational world, Homer H. Seerly, who was appointed president in 1886 and devoted his life to preparing thousands upon thousands of students for the important work of teaching and making the world a better place in which to live. From 1928 to 1940 the president was Orval Ray Latham. The present president is Dr. Malcolm Price.

The financial aid granted to Iowa State Teachers College by the Iowa General Assembly ranges from $540,000 to $800,000 a year. The balance of the necessary funds to carry on the work is made up by tuition and student payments for board and housing. The annual requirements come close to $1,000,000.

A beautiful library, imposing campanile, Bartlett Hall for girls, George T. Baker Hall for men, and the Commons are conspicuous and attractive buildings on the beautiful campus.

Colleges and Universities

IN ADDITION to its public, private and parochial schools, carrying pupils through the first twelve grades, and to its three splendid State institutions of higher learning (University at Iowa City, State College of Agriculture at Ames, and State Teachers College at Cedar Falls) Iowa has a large number of colleges and universities of which it is justly proud and which are material factors in making this state stand first in literacy and intelligence. There are few places in Iowa more than 40 or 50 miles distant from some institution of higher learning well fitted by curriculum and faculty to teach those things which lead to the higher and better life and provide the education that makes for culture and higher citizenship.

Among the Colleges of Iowa which are fully accredited and offer four-year courses are the following:

Iowa Wesleyan, Mount Pleasant

Iowa Wesleyan College, at Mt. Pleasant, is the oldest college in Iowa, having a continuous history from the time it was founded as Mt. Pleasant Collegiate Institute in 1844. The College has always been under the control of the Methodist Episcopal church. The name was changed to Iowa Wesleyan University in 1849 and to Iowa Wesleyan College in 1911.

Grinnell College, Grinnell

Grinnell College at Grinnell, is the second oldest in the state. It was founded in 1846 by the "Iowa Band" (a group of young ministers who came to Iowa as missionaries in 1843) as Iowa College, at Davenport, and was opened to students in 1848. Grinnell College was founded in Grinnell in 1855 and four years later Iowa College of Davenport was merged with it. It is privately endowed, non-sectarian and co-educational and has produced a large number of notable alumni, including Dr. Albert Shaw, for many years editor of the American Review of Reviews; Harry Hopkins, Secretary of Commerce in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's cabinet; Gary Cooper, noted actor; and James Norman Hall and Ruth Suckow, noted authors.

Coe College, Cedar Rapids

Coe College, at Cedar Rapids, had its beginning in 1851, when the Rev. Winston Jones opened a school in his home for 16 young people of Cedar Rapids. In 1866 it became Parsons Seminary and the first building, now a part of Old Main, was built. Since February 2, 1881, the present name of Coe has been used. In 1919 Leander Clark College was absorbed.

Cornell College, Mount Vernon

Cornell College, at Mt. Vernon, was opened November 14, 1853, as the Iowa Conference Male and Female Seminary, but was renamed in 1855. The annual Shakespearean school play produced in March and the annual Music Day Festival, first held in 1899, are outstanding events. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra has presented an annual concert at the Music Festival for 33 years.

Central College, Pella

Central College, at Pella, was opened in 1853, a Baptist church institution. Dominie Scholte donated a large plot of ground when the first building, Old Central, was erected. In the Civil War the entire male student body, 122, enlisted in the Union Army. About 20 years ago the control passed to the Dutch Reformed Church of America.

Simpson College, Indianola

Simpson College, at Indianola, was established in 1860, operated by the Methodist Episcopal Church. First known as Indianola Seminary, it was renamed the Indianola Male and Female Seminary in 1861. Six years later the name became Simpson Centenary College, honoring Bishop Matthew Simpson. Since 1884 the name has been Simpson College. There are ten buildings on a 20-acre campus.

Luther College, Decorah

Luther College, at Decorah, founded in 1861, prepares students for the Lutheran ministry. It maintains the Norwegian-American Historical Museum, opened in 1933. "The people of Norwegian birth and descent in the United States have seriously undertaken the task of creating here an historical museum containing collections clearly illustrating their conditions of life and culture from the time their ancestors first set foot on American soil." The Decorah College for Women was organized in 1932.

Parsons College, Fairfield

Parsons College, at Fairfield, was founded in 1875, under the Endowment Fund provided in the will of Lewis C. Parsons (1793-1855). It is controlled by the Presbyterian Church. The first class was graduated in 1880.

William Penn College, Oskaloosa

William Penn College, at Oskaloosa, operated under the auspices of the Society of Friends, was opened in September, 1873. Following the destruction of the first building by fire in 1916, several new buildings were erected on a 30-acre campus near the original site. Herbert Hoover has been one of the Commencement Day orators.

Buena Vista College, Storm Lake

Buena Vista College, at Storm Lake, has a faculty of 27 and an enrollment of around 500. The Fort Dodge Presbytery founded the school in 1884 at Fort Dodge, but later accepted Storm Lake's offer of eight acres of land and $25,000 for buildings, dedicating the new school July 8, 1891.

Western Union College, Le Mars

Western Union College, at Le Mars, was founded in 1890 and is under the control of the Evangelical Church. Seven buildings are grouped on a 15-acre campus.

Morningside College, Sioux City

Morningside College, at Sioux City, was founded by the Methodist Episcopal church, by merging the University of the Northwest of Sioux City and the Charles City College in 1894. It has five modern buildings on 23-acre campus.

John Fletcher College, Oskaloosa

John Fletcher College, at Oskaloosa, was organized in 1905, as the Central Holiness University, later changing its name in honor of John Fletcher, a friend of John Wesley.

Loras College, Dubuque

Loras College, a Catholic Church institution, at Dubuque, developed from St. Raphael's Seminary founded in 1838. The school is under the immediate supervision of the Archbishop of the Dubuque diocese. Eight buildings on a 50-acre campus house the college, which boasts of one of the largest private libraries in the state, over 70,000 volumes. The rare books count nearly 1,000 valuable items. It was formerly called Columbia College.

St. Ambrose College, Davenport

St. Ambrose College at Davenport is another Catholic institution which is deservedly popular. It occupies four buildings on a 15-acre campus. It was founded in 1882, under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Davenport.

University of Dubuque, Dubuque

In addition to the Colleges of Iowa, and the State University, three other institutions of higher learning bear the name University.

The University of Dubuque was founded in 1852 and conducts a Presbyterian Theological Seminary in addition to its College of Liberal Arts. The school, organized by the Reverend Adrian Van Vliet to train ministers to follow the German immigrants coming into the Mississippi Valley, was first known as the German Theological School of the Northwest, but in 1870 it became affiliated with the Presbyterian Church. Women were first admitted to class in 1912.

Upper Iowa University, Fayette

Upper Iowa University, at Fayette, was organized in 1857 as Fayette Seminary, with an endowment of $50,000. It was formerly sponsored by the Methodist Episcopal church. In addition to the College of Liberal Arts there are Schools of Music and Business. The 14-acre campus lies in the center of the town. The museum is particularly praiseworthy, containing many fine prehistoric specimens.

Drake University, Des Moines

Drake University, at Des Moines, was established in 1881, named after Governor Francis Marion Drake of Centerville. The school is under the auspices of the Disciples of Christ Church. It embraces Colleges of Education, Fine Arts, Commerce and Finance, Bible, Liberal Arts, Law and Pharmacy. A radio course was added a few years ago and is proving very popular. The campus covers several city blocks, the latest buildings being a fine new Dormitory for Women and a Memorial Library, established and endowed by Gardner Cowles, publisher of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. The University Law library contains some 17,000 volumes, while the general library has 71,000.

Adjoining the campus are the great Stadium and Field House, scene of many state and national athletic events. This story is told of the establishment of Drake: "George J. Carpenter, the Reverend D. R. Lucas and others visited the wooded tract where, among native elms, oaks and hickories, one elm stood out majestically above the rest. Mr. Carpenter climbed toward the top of the tree and looked down over the wooded landscape and rivers of the city, decided to build the University there." Carpenter was the first Chancellor, as the President was then known. The late deceased president, Daniel W. Morehouse, was an astronomer of international note.

Briar Cliff College, Sioux City

Briar Cliff College, a four year college for women, is conducted by the Sisters of St. Francis of the Holy Family of Dubuque, Iowa. The college began its first scholastic year September 18, 1930.

Clarke College, Dubuque

Clarke College grew from an academy for women founded in 1843 by Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. A college department was opened in 1901.

Marycrest College, Davenport

Marycrest College is a corporate unit of St. Ambrose College, formerly known as the Woman's Division. Founded in 1939, it is conducted by the Sisters of the Humility of Mary.

Wartburg College, Waverly

Wartburg College is a four year co-educational liberal arts college controlled and supported by the American Lutheran church. It is a merger of the Wartburg College, which was formerly located at Clinton, Iowa, and of St. Paul-Luther College, St. Paul, Minnesota. The merger and re-location took place in 1935.

Iowa Schools for Deaf and Blind

IT IS to the everlasting credit of the State of Iowa that it is doing what it can to care for the under-privileged, from birth to death. Elsewhere is set forth the record of accomplishment in the cases of those who are mentally ill or deficient, and those who, because of heredity or environment, do not have the chance to be good citizens, without guidance. Herewith is told the story of what Iowa is doing for those who are so unfortunate as to be deaf and blind.

Under the administration of the State Board of Education, the School for the Blind is maintained at Vinton and the School for the Deaf at Council Bluffs. The record of both is one of which the state may justly be proud.

Iowa School for the Deaf

The Iowa School for the Deaf was established in 1855, the second such institution west of the Mississippi river. Its beginnings go further back. In 1839 Edmund Booth came to Iowa from Connecticut and settled at Anamosa. In 1846 he was a clerk in the Territorial Legislature, of which his brother was a member: The two induced the legislature to appropriate money to send several deaf children to the state school in Illinois. In 1853 a private school was established in Iowa City. In January, 1855, the Iowa State Legislature passed a bill creating the Iowa State Institution for the Deaf and Dumb. From this grew the present school at Council Bluffs; the name being changed to Iowa School for the Deaf in 1888.

In character "the school is just what its name implies. It is not a home, a hospital or an asylum." It cares for the mental, physical and moral welfare of 392 boys and girls annually, between the ages of seven and nineteen. At last reports there were 220 male students and 172 female.

The School for the Deaf represents a capital investment for the State of $1,000,000 and occupies 210 acres, with eight fine buildings and beautiful grounds and an efficient staff of teachers. According to the last available figures there are 206 schools for the deaf in the United States, with a total attendance of 19,278. The number is none too large, when it is considered that one person in each 2,000 is deaf.

The school at Council Bluffs ranks among the best in the United States. It offers facilities for developing the aptitude of boys and girls in some of the occupations most suited to them which may be taught under school conditions. Among the vocations taught are baking, shoe repairing, book binding, printing, cabinet making and upholstery. Instruction in rhythm is also given, and a well-rounded course in almost everything which will make life more pleasant for those bereft of their hearing. The result is to be found all over the country in the good work being done by the graduates of the Iowa School for the Deaf.

The present Superintendent is Lloyd E. Berg.

Iowa School for the Blind

The Iowa School for the Blind was opened at Vinton on April 5, 1853, with one pupil. The second entered the following day. By the end of the year nineteen students were enrolled. The attendance at the last report was 175, ranging in age from five to twenty-one.

The Iowa School for the Blind is an educational institution which offers complete educational opportunity to visually handicapped boys and girls from the Kindergarten through the High School. In many respects the sessions follow the same line of those found in the schools for the sighted. In addition to the academic subjects special emphasis is placed on music, industrial arts, and physical education. After satisfactorily completing the four year high school course, students are equipped to enter college, and those who do so attain records that compare favorably with those of sighted students.

The school is governed by the State Board of Education and is supported by appropriations of the State Legislature. There is no charge for tuition, maintenance, or school supplies. The school is in session for a nine month period. The student body includes not only people without sight but those with partial sight.

The present superintendent is Leslie M. Hays.

Aid to Needy Blind $406,900

THE Iowa Aid-to-the-needy-blind Act was passed by the Forty-seventh General Assembly and became effective July 4, 1937. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, total assistance and benefits were paid to the amount of $406,900.27, divided as follows:

Monthly assistance	$399,137.11
Funeral claims	4,111.60
Eye treatment	3,651.56

During the year 1,669 blind persons received assistance from the state, in this branch of the work of the Department of Social Welfare. A total of 267 were added during the year, while 107 persons died and 94 cases were closed for other reasons. The average payment to active cases on July 1, 1939, was $23.20. A year later it had increased to $23.61; while by December, 1940, it had advanced to $23.84.

An interesting feature of the aid-to-the-blind program, in the state's social welfare work, is the insurance service given in connection with investigations of the eligibility of applicants. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, it was made possible for aid-to-the-blind recipients to receive $17,072.96 from insurance companies for total and permanent disability in 66 cases. "The persons insured generally had not made an attempt to collect this insurance and had no idea that the policies represented a real value to them."

The county having the largest number of aid-to-the-blind patients in December, 1940, was Polk with 224, with monthly payments of $5,706.37. The second largest county was Scott with 74 monthly payments of $1,920.15. The third largest county was Woodbury with 71, total monthly payments of $1,841.22.

In December, 1940, there were 1,507 blind persons on the relief rolls, under the Department of Social Welfare, the total monthly assistance payments coming to $35,645.06.

The Aid-to-the-blind program of the state operates along two lines. It provides direct cash assistance to persons who are blind and in need; and is concerned with remedying blindness and preventing total loss of sight.

Iowa Cares for Children and Veterans

IOWA takes good care of its children bereft by death or separation of their parents; of those boys and girls who may later on become hardened criminals or be saved to society and become useful citizens; and of those who heard their country's call to arms in the Civil War, the Indian wars, the Spanish-American War, the War with Mexico, and the World War.

Not all of the deserving can be taken care of, for lack of money, but the state has no reason to hang its head in shame. It is doing what it can and hoping for the day when still more may be done.

The State Board of Control has jurisdiction over 15 state institutions, of which six are for the mentally unfit and three are for criminal offenders. The remaining six are divided as follows: two training schools, designed as correctional institutions; one for boys, at Eldora; one for girls, at Mitchellville; two orphanages, at Toledo and Davenport; the Soldiers' Home at Marshalltown, and the State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis at Oakdale.

It is a heartening sight to visit any or all of these institutions, for children are being reclaimed in four, veterans are given a pleasant life in the fifth, and human lives are being saved in the sixth.

Training School for Boys, Eldora

The Training School for Boys, at Eldora, was opened March 31, 1868. The state has an investment there of $1,015,040.36. The average per capita cost is $338.97 a year.

This school is for incorrigible and delinquent boys, sent there upon court order. Many of them are victims of circumstances, of the abuses of our social system, particularly the offspring of homes broken by drunkenness and divorce. On January 1, 1941, the population was 602. The school has 872 acres upon which are learned, by practical work, the various phases of farming and gardening. In addition there are twelve industrial shops, tailor, blacksmith, automobile, shoe, printing, sewing room, bakery, machine shop, plumbing, carpenter, mason and painting.

Competent schools are presided over by efficient teachers. Athletics, debates, home talent plays, a fine band, moving pictures, a good library and other opportunities to improve mind and body find their result in better boys.

The present Superintendent is O. S. Von Krog.

Training School for Girls, Mitchellville

The Training School for Girls was established in 1868, to be located on property in Lucas county, leased from a Society of Friends, or Quakers. The first admission was April, 1873. In 1880 the present Training School, at Mitchellville, was located, taking over the Lucas county plant. The state has a capital investment there of $226,668.52.

The normal capacity at the Mitchellville school is 200. The population on January 1, 1941, was 167. Girls between the ages of ten and eighteen are admitted, on commitment from district, juvenile and municipal courts or on transfer from other institutions by the Board of Control.

Under competent instruction and supervision, girls are taken through the twelfth grade of regular public school work, and are taught all necessary branches of home economics, being able when discharged to accept and make good at housework positions; while many marry and make good homes of their own.

The school grounds have an area of 175 acres. Farming and gardening are carried on, with good results.

The average per capita cost per year is $430.39, the highest in any institution under the Board of Control.

The present Superintendent is Miss Anna Lynam.

Juvenile Home, Toledo

In keeping with its policy of looking after all sorts and conditions of people, to the best of its ability, and to make better folks wherever possible, the state maintains a Juvenile Home, or orphanage, at Toledo, with a capital investment of $456,090.14, and a population on January 1, 1941, of 221. Dependent, destitute, homeless and neglected children are admitted and given care until they are 21 years of age, most of them being placed in good private homes, under the supervision of women state agents.

The buildings are substantial and kept in a home manner as far as possible. The grounds comprise 320 acres, one-half of which is rented by the state. For the most part, the children are happy and contented and make good progress in their school work.

The present Superintendent is R. B. Clift.

Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' Home, Davenport

The second state orphanage is known as the Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' Home and is located at Davenport. The capital investment of the state is $779,305.87 and the annual per capita maintenance cost is $320.28.

The first child was admitted on July 24, 1864. The population on January 1, 1941, was 438. Dependent, neglected and abandoned children are admitted upon court order or personal application of parent or guardian, approved by Court or Board of Supervisors.

The children are given scholastic and industrial advantages; with moving pictures, all manner of games and sports, picnics and the like, to make life more pleasant. The acreage of the institution is 619, of which a little more than one-half is rented.

The present Superintendent is Harvey E. Daines.

Iowa Soldiers' Home, Marshalltown

The Board of Control also manages the Iowa Soldiers' Home at Marshalltown, founded in 1887, having a capital investment of $683,321.06. With a normal capacity of 700, the population on January 1, 1941, was 481.

The veterans and their wives located there, at one report, were divided as follows:

Civil War veterans, 11; Indian war veterans, 6; Spanish-American War veterans, 73; World War veterans, 200; peacetime veterans, 5; regular army veterans, 27; women, 190.

Life is lived pleasantly by the soldiers, with plenty of amusements, moving pictures, billiards and pool, cards, horseshoe pitching and all manner of games and light sports. The nearby river permits fishing and boating and families are kept together by the presence of the veterans' wives. The men and women take frequent furloughs, to visit relatives and friends, or just to be free on the open road again. Upon their return they seem more than ever satisfied.

The present Commandant is Leslie E. Switzer.

Iowa Cares for Its Mentally Ill

ON FEBRUARY 27, 1861, six weeks before Fort Sumter was fired upon and the Civil War began, the first patient was received in Iowa's State Insane Asylum, at Mt. Pleasant, generally said to be the first institution of its kind west of the Mississippi river. By the time General Lee surrendered to General Grant, at Appomattox in 1865, and the Civil War was ended, the Mt. Pleasant asylum had 400 inmates. Its total record to date is 23,917 patients.

For the last 29 years Iowa has had four institutions in which to care for its mentally afflicted; Independence, Clarinda and Cherokee having been added to Mt. Pleasant as institution sites. The name Insane Asylum has been dropped, to be supplanted by State Hospitals (for insane and inebriates).

Four Hospitals for Mental Cases

Iowa has a total capital investment in these four institutions of $7,372,044.59. On January 1, 1941, the State Board of Control, which has the management of these institutions, reported a total population of 6,450, ministered to by more than 800 officers and employes. Land aggregating 4,815 acres, enough to make thirty good quarter-section farms, is used by the four hospitals.

In the order of their establishment Independence comes second; the first patient having been admitted there on May 1, 1873; Clarinda is third, December 13, 1889; Cherokee, fourth, August 18, 1902. The amount of land runs in the same order. Mt. Pleasant first, with 1,410 acres; Independence second, with 1,349 acres; Clarinda, third, with 1,055 acres; Cherokee fourth, with 999 acres.

Iowa is looking forward to the day when its State Hospitals will not be overcrowded as they are now; a consummation devoutly to be wished by all four Superintendents and the State Board of Control.

The population of the four State Hospitals, as of January 1, 1941, was reported by the State Board of Control as follows:

Mt. Pleasant.....	1,512
Cherokee	1,618
Clarinda	1,652
Independence	1,668
Total	6,450

The Forty-eighth General Assembly began the good work of increasing accommodations and enlarging the staff of attendants, so as to take better and more humane care of the patients, and it is expected that much headway will be made within the next few years, thus doing away with a situation which has existed all too long in the great and rich state of Iowa.

Two Homes for Feeble-Minded

The reports of these four State Hospitals do not tell the entire story of what Iowa is doing for its mentally deficient and unfit.

The State Board of Control has jurisdiction over two other institutions belonging to this same general classification: the Glenwood State School at Glenwood, which received its first patient on September 1, 1876; and the Hospital for Epileptics and School for Feeble-minded, at Woodward, which received its first patient on September 3, 1917.

The state has a capital investment of $3,957,510 in these two institutions, which on January 1, 1941, had a combined population of 3,283, with 404 officers and employes to take care of them. The grounds of the two hospitals aggregate 2,330 acres.

These two institutions suffer from the same overcrowding as the four State Hospitals, for the insane and inebriate. Thus Woodward, with a normal capacity of 1,200, has a population of 1,505; and Glenwood, with a normal capacity of 1,650, has 1,778.

Each of these six institutions is open to general visitors within certain prescribed hours each day, and to parents any time. To the limit of funds available they are well kept, sanitary and attractive, the buildings at each place being surrounded by large grounds, nicely landscaped and properly tended. While the atmosphere at all is depressing, entertainment is arranged for as many as can mentally enjoy it.

Business managers have been appointed for the following institutions: Cherokee, J. E. Wirth; Independence, C. L. Rigby; Woodward, A. R. Miles; Mt. Pleasant, R. E. Hanna.

Iowa Tuberculosis Sanitarium

FOR many years there was a growing belief throughout Iowa that more should be done for its tubercular sufferers than could possibly be done at County Hospitals and in private homes. Consumption was taking a fearful toll of life and there were few who could go to the Southwest and try the prescribed change of climate.

Sentiment crystallized in the establishment, in 1908, of the State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis, at Oakdale, six miles from Iowa City and 21 from Cedar Rapids. The state now has a capital investment there of $1,161,310.42, under the management of the State Board of Control.

The number of patients on January 1, 1941, was 399. The total number of officers and employes is 206, or one for each two patients. The care and treatment are splendid and the beneficial results are already manifest.

Long Waiting List for Admittance

Dr. John H. Peck, Superintendent, explains the manner of admittance in this fashion:

"There is almost without exception a long waiting list. Applicants are taken in their turn from the date when their completed papers are received, except that certain cases are given preference when it is apparent that such cases are a menace to small children or the community at large."

Patients are admitted on certification by attending physicians. The average cost per patient ranges from $52 to $55 a month and is charged to the counties where they live. Those who can do so are asked to reimburse the counties.

The Sanatorium has the facilities and services of the Hospital of the State University at its easy disposal, which is of inestimable value.

Investigation disclosed that there are more women patients than men, a recent biennial report showing 215 men to 270 women admitted. The largest classification by age are those between 20 and 40 years. Of 485 admitted during two years, geographical location was as follows: 117 resident in country; 193 resident in villages and towns under 8,000; 59 resident in cities between 8,000 and 25,000; 116 residents of cities over 25,000.

Of 442 admitted in two years the record of progress showed the following: disease arrested, 108; apparently arrested, 13; improved, 106; unimproved, 30; dead, 102; clinically non-tuberculosis, 50.

Dr. John H. Peck is the present Superintendent. The business manager is Harry W. Reeve.

Iowa's Penal Institutions

IT IS difficult to realize that Iowa has had a penitentiary for more than 100 years, but such is the case. Established in 1839, the year after Iowa became a Territory, and seven years before it became a state, the prison at Fort Madison has gone on for more than a century receiving prisoners, confining them for their prescribed terms (unless sooner released by official clemency) and even hanging 19, with one condemned man in Death Row on January 1, 1941.

The penal institution at Fort Madison was patterned after the Auburn, New York, penitentiary: a prison within a prison, a cell for each convict. This was only six years after a trading post had been established in Fort Madison, the original fort having been burned by the departing army garrison, in 1813, when Black Hawk, the intrepid Indian chief, had allied himself with the enemy in the second war with England. It was seven years after Black Hawk had been decisively defeated in his short-lived rebellion against the United States and had been driven west of the Mississippi, never to return East. Abraham Lincoln, Zachary Taylor and Jefferson Davis (two Presidents of the United States and one President of the Confederacy) had participated in the campaign against him.

Prisoners First Kept in Cellar Dungeon

Investigation reveals some interesting facts about the origin of the Fort Madison penitentiary. Says one historian: "Before the cell blocks were ready, the prisoners were housed in a walled-in cellar dungeon beneath the oak hallway of the warden's home. Each night, with ball and chain dangling from their legs, they were descended into the cellar through a trap door in the middle of the hallway. In spite of precautions, seven of the first 12 prisoners escaped before the cells were ready."

It is a great advance from this primitive prison to the penitentiary of today, with its 28 buildings, its farm of 1,089 acres, with 180 head of dairy cattle, 547 hogs, 2,776 head of poultry, 15 acres of orchard, 80 acres of gardens and an annual farm production of 20,000 bushels of small grains; its chair and furniture, brush and broom, spinning, textile and shoe factories and industries.

The State of Iowa has a capital investment here of $2,235,297. With a normal capacity of 1,166, the warden reported on January 1, 1941, a prison population of 1,390; or 17 per cent of excess population. To guard and care for all these men requires the services of 168 officers and employees.

Satisfactory Parole System

Under the able guidance of the Board of Control and recent wardens, the Fort Madison penitentiary has achieved high rank among the nation's penal institutions. Outbreaks have been few and escapes infrequent. A parole system enables the men of highest intelligence and best records to work on the prison farms, away from the enclosure, and even to go to the state's various other institutions under the Board of Control (state hospitals and schools) to work and live on an honor system which has produced good results.

The inmates are confined in cells in block houses and are kept at work, according to their terms of sentence, many being fitted for industries at which they can support themselves after release. Each prisoner is interviewed, upon admittance, by the chaplain and the warden, in an effort to see what work they should be put to and what can best be done to reclaim them.

Recreation and Amusements Provided

The inmates have recreation and amusement opportunities. Head-phone radios are installed in the cells and good programs are furnished from a central control. A good library is well patronized; athletics and moving pictures make life more bearable. Baseball, kittenball, tennis, boxing, wrestling, horseshoe pitching, football and basketball give ample opportunity to most of the men to keep in good physical trim and to get their minds off their plight.

On February 1, 1939, the warden reported that 18,423 prisoners had been confined since the prison was first opened.

Under the law all condemned prisoners are executed at Fort Madison. A move to replace the gallows with the electric chair was launched by the Forty-eighth General Assembly in 1939, but nothing was done.

The present warden is Glenn C. Haynes, formerly Iowa State Auditor and a Brigadier General in the Iowa National Guard.

Reformatory at Anamosa

The Men's Reformatory is located at Anamosa, where the first prisoner was admitted on May 13, 1873. The state has a capital investment here of $2,461,081, and a population on January 1, 1941, of 1,118, about normal capacity. Originally intended for first and youthful offenders, and the criminally insane, within recent years prisoners have been transferred from Fort Madison as overcrowded conditions there demanded.

In the 68 years it has been in existence, 16,666 prisoners have been received at Anamosa, up to February 1, 1939.

Grain and livestock farming are carried on here on a large scale, the latest reports showing 192 head of dairy cattle, 665 hogs, 2,238 head of poultry, 14 acres in orchards, 336 acres in gardens and 281 acres in grain crops. In the industrial shops, soap, clothing, automobile number plates, road signs, cheese and canned goods are the principal products.

The prisoners are kept at hard work, according to the sentences imposed upon them, but they have ample recreation and amusement facilities, including various sports and games, radio programs and moving pictures. Part of the Reformatory yard, or enclosure, are flooded during the winter, permitting ice skating. The average age of the prisoners received during the past biennial period was 23 years, one month and seven days.

The cost of prisoner maintenance at Anamosa is slightly higher than at Fort Madison, being $358.97 a year, compared with $304.96 at Fort Madison.

The Warden of the Men's Reformatory is Foss Davis, formerly sheriff of Greene county.

Women's Reformatory at Rockwell City

Women over 18 years old, convicted of offenses which carry a term of more than 30 days, are sent to the Women's Reformatory at Rockwell City. The first prisoner was received on May 2, 1918. The population, at the latest report, was 66, with a normal capacity of 78.

The state has a capital investment here of $383,943.22. The reformatory has an area of 480 acres, of which 260 are rented.

The fact that many short-term offenders are sent to Rockwell City, instead of being kept in county jails, makes the per capita cost of maintenance large, being $702.27 a year. The women are given an opportunity to attend school and have various entertainments and amusements, including movies, dances, lectures and recitals, home talent plays and picnics.

The Superintendent is Miss E. Pauline Johnston.

Iowa's Farm Income $728,506,000 in 1940

IOWA ranked first in 1940 in the production and value of corn, oats, timothy seed and popcorn; in the number and value of hogs, horses and chickens on the farm on January 1, 1941. It ranked second in the 1940 production and value of all tame hay and soybeans; in the number and value of cattle on the farm on January 1, 1941. It ranked third in the 1940 production and value of sweet clover seed.

Iowa's farm income in 1940 was $728,506,000, the largest since 1929. Iowa lead the nation in this respect; California coming second, with $650,410,000; Texas third, with $579,192,000; and Illinois fourth, with $571,624,000.

The farm-income total of Iowa for 1940 was made up of $679,271,000 cash income from farm marketings and $49,235,000 in federal payments. This was $81,591,000 greater than the total in 1939 and only $5,767,000 under the 1929 peak.

The income from crops in Iowa in 1940 amounted to $165,311,000 and from livestock and livestock products $513,960,000. This was in excess of the figures of 1939, which were as follows: income from crops $132,647,000; livestock and livestock products $457,268,000.

In 1938 the total receipts of Iowa farmers from the sale of crops and livestock and livestock products were $517,892,000. Federal payments added $29,719,000; making the total $547,601,000.

In 1937 the total receipts of Iowa farmers from the sale of crops and livestock and livestock products were $497,550,000. Government payments added $24,806,000; making the total $522,356,000.

In 1936 the total receipts of Iowa farmers from the sale of crops and livestock and livestock products were $536,003,000. Government payments added $25,492,000; making the total $561,431,000.

The following table presents these figures more strikingly:

Year	Farm Income:		Total farm income
	Crops and Livestock receipts	Govt. Payments
1936	$536,003,000	$25,429,000	$561,431,000
1937	497,000,000	24,806,000	522,356,000
1938	517,892,000	29,719,000	547,601,000
1939	589,915,000	69,444,000	659,359,000
1940	679,271,000	49,235,000	728,506,000

IOWA LIVESTOCK NUMBERS ON FARMS, JANUARY 1, 1941

	Number	Value	Rank
Hogs	9,214,000	$101,211,000	1
Horses	729,000	49,314,000	1
Chickens	30,137,000	18,685,000	1
Cattle	5,083,000	239,688,000	2
Sheep	1,997,000	14,687,000	10
Mules	51,000	4,095,000	18

Iowa's farm animals led the nation in value on January 1, 1941, although numbers showed a decrease from a year ago. The United States Department of Agriculture showed Iowa's farm animals totaled more than $400,000,000 in value on January 1, 1941, a gain of about 8 per cent over the year before.

The increase in livestock value was due largely to higher prices for swine and cattle with cattle accounting for more than half of the total livestock valuation.

Cattle and sheep showed an increase over a year ago but the trend of the last few years was continued in horses and mules and decreases in number were reported. Hog numbers were down about a million and half head. This decrease was due in part to a smaller pig crop in 1940 and heavy marketing during the latter part of the year.

Iowa showed the largest number of swine and horses on farms of any other state and ranked first in the value of both types of livestock as well as first in value of cattle.

Texas had about twice as many head of cattle on farms as did Iowa but the Iowa cattle and calves were valued at 20 million dollars more.

The following table, showing Iowa farm crops for the 1940 season, was prepared by Leslie M. Carl, for the Iowa Official Register:

IOWA CROPS, 1940 SEASON

Green Peas (Can.)	2,450	22,000 tons	110,000	18

Unofficially, it is claimed that Iowa produces 14 per cent of the corn grown in the United States, 21 per cent of the oats crop of the nation, and 27.5 per cent of the total number of hogs slaughtered under Federal Inspection. Moreover, it is said to lead in the value of all livestock, the value of farm land and farm buildings, the value of farm implements and farm owned automobiles. Iowa likewise ranks first in the percentage of improved farm land. In fact, Iowa ranks so many firsts it is justly and generally called the leading farm state of the Union; the garden spot of the world.

Total farmers' cash income from marketings, commodities placed under loans and government payments for the United States, in 1940, totalled $9,120,000,000, the largest since 1937, when the figure was $9,155,000,000. The increase over 1939 was $8,668,000,000, or 5.2 per cent.

From marketings and commodity loans, the income was $8,354,000,000 and from government benefit payments $766,000,000. Receipts from marketings and loans were 6 per cent higher than in 1939, while benefit payments were 5 per cent lower.

An 11 per cent decline in income from tobacco and slight declines in incomes from fruits and sugar crops were more than offset by increases in income from grains, cotton, vegetables and miscellaneous farm products. The greatest percentage increases were from flaxseed, hops, peanuts, oats and grain sorghums.

Income from grains in 1940 totaled $1,018,000,000 and was the highest for any year since 1929. The federal bureau said government loans, by pegging prices, were important factors in increasing incomes from corn and wheat.

Income from livestock and livestock products totaled $4,818,000,000 and was 7 per cent higher than in 1939. The greatest percentage increases were from wool and dairy products. The income from cotton totaled $659,838,000 compared with $628,575,000 in 1939.

Cash farm income in 1940 was higher than a year earlier in 40 of the 48 states. The greatest increases were reported in Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, and Montana, where returns from both crops and livestock were substantially larger than in 1939.

The greatest declines were in Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida and North Carolina, where income was restricted because of smaller crops of sugar cane, cotton, citrus fruits, truck crops and tobacco.

Iowa Farms Worth $1,706,609,889

THE total number of farm acres assessed for taxation in Iowa in 1940, according to the report of the State Tax Commission, was 34,241,971, of an average value per county of $43.03, with the actual value of farm land in the state reaching $1,473,340,009. To this must be added a value of farm buildings of $232,895,222.

The farms of Iowa are her supreme source of riches and her greatest evidence of prosperity and progressiveness. The fact that the average value per acre is not so large today as some years ago does not reflect poorer farms but a more just and equitable valuation for assessment and taxation and a surer price upon which to earn a good living profit year by year.

The State Tax Commission lists farm real estate in the 99 counties in the state, the number of acres assessed, the actual value of the land and the buildings thereon, as of 1940, as follows:

COUNTIES	Acres of Land Assessed	Actual Value of Land	Actual Value of Farm Buildings, Including New Buildings	Total Actual Value of Farm Lands and Buildings

More Cattle, Fewer Farms

THE famous words of the poet William Wordsworth:
 "The cattle are grazing,
 Their heads never raising;
 There are forty feeding like one" were realized in Iowa in 1940 as never before. For, notwithstanding the decrease in the number of other classes of livestock in the Hawkeye state, the number of cattle showed a material increase in April, 1940, when the federal census was taken, over 1930.

The preliminary figures released by the U. S. Bureau of the Census for the census taken in Iowa in 1940 show the number of cattle in Iowa to have increased 696,096 head in the last ten years. The number of sheep also increased during the same period, by 197,120 head. Here are the Census figures for livestock on farms in Iowa on April 1, 1940 and 1930:

Livestock on farms (number)	Census of 1940	Census of 1930
Horses and colts ¹	728,213	1,040,479

Hogs and pigs ³	4,902,446	5,794,680
Chickens ³	26,558,884	30,666,221

The number of farms in Iowa decreased slightly (1,610, or 0.7 per cent) between 1930 and 1940, but the number of farms operated by "full owners" increased 2,934, or 3.3 per cent. Fewer farms were operated by "all tenants" but the decrease was only 131 for the entire state.

The 1940 federal census shows the farms in Iowa, their acreage and value as follows:

$2,000,000 in Canning Factories

APPROXIMATELY 60 canning factories are in operation in Iowa. Sweet corn is the principal product canned, but other commodities such as asparagus, tomatoes, tomato juice, spinach, pumpkin, peas and green beans are important. Iowa canning factories also put up an extensive line of canned dried vegetables such as hominy, pork and beans and spaghetti. Several large pickle factories are operated in the state.

Secretary of Agriculture Mark Thornburg estimated that canning crops returned approximately $1,000,000 to farmers in 1940, and wages paid to the factory workers, whose annual employment varies from 30 to 60 days, amounted to another million dollars. He adds this interesting comment: "Most of these workers are from rural districts or small towns and are not otherwise employed. Many college students earn a portion of their school expenses by their work in the numerous canneries throughout the state. Products of these canneries are distributed throughout the middle and far western states, in whose markets they have enjoyed an enviable reputation for many years.

"The industry has passed through a period of depression which was climaxed by an excessively large production in 1938. Since that time some reduction of acreage has occurred, but the canning industry, like the farmer, has turned to and developed certain strains of hybrid sweet corns which are producing greater yields per acre and consequently the actual net return to the growers who contract with Iowa canners for the sale of their crops has not been materially reduced.

"Increased business has reduced surplus stocks to such an extent that Iowa canners are looking toward the future with considerable confidence, and this optimistic feeling is reflected in some expansion of operating plans."

Milk and Butter $100,000,000

NINE out of every ten Iowa farmers milk cows, and about one-fifth of the cash in the Iowa farm pocketbook comes from milk, declares Leslie M. Carl, federal agricultural statistician. Only Wisconsin and Minnesota milk more cows than Iowa; and only Wisconsin, New York and Minnesota produce more milk.

The average production per cow in Iowa is estimated by Mr. Carl at 4,680 pounds, or about 2 per cent above the national average. California holds the lead, with an average production of 6,650 pounds of milk per cow.

The estimated number of cows kept for milk, and the number of heifers and heifer calves kept for milk, on January 1, from 1924 to 1939, inclusive, were as follows:

	Cows and Heifers 2 Yrs. Old and Over	Heifers for Milk 1 to 2 Years Old	Heifer Calves for Milk Under One Year
1924	1,280,000	236,000

The following tables show the extent of the butter and milk wealth of Iowa, verifying the statement that "as a foster mother of all our dairy products, the cow, when she cooperates with the chickens and turkeys, practically houses, feeds and clothes 200,000 families on our 209,000 farms, besides selling on the market a sizeable proportion of our farm income."

232,590,765 Pounds Creamery Butter

IN the last twenty years (from 1919 to 1939) the number of Iowa creameries increased from 398 to 484; while the number of pounds of Iowa creamery butter increased from 90,915,938 to 232,590,765. The creamery is rapidly becoming one of the banks in which Iowa dairy farmers store their gold.

One of the interesting facts in connection with Iowa creameries is that the creameries in the 25 northeastern counties had the largest butter production, with 90,745,185 pounds; while the northwest 24 counties produced 71,637,664 pounds, and the 50 counties in the southern part of the state produced 70,207,916 pounds. However, the increase percentage was heavier in the southern than in the northern part of the state.

The following table shows the number of creameries in Iowa, the number of pounds of butter they produced, and the number of cheese factories, in the 20 years between 1919 and 1939:

Year	No. of creameries	No. lbs. butter	No. cheese factories

The 22 cheese factories in Iowa in 1939 produced 3,349,588 pounds of cheese, of a value of $449,459.44.

Poultry Production $53,000,000

IN 1939 Iowa produced 5.8 per cent of the national production of turkeys, 6.8 per cent of the national egg crop, and 6.3 per cent of the chickens produced in the United States.

Farm poultry continues to be referred to in Iowa as "the mortgage lifter", the money derived from the flocks being put away in savings accounts by many farmers to pay the mortgage interest and ultimately to play a large part in lifting the mortgage. In other farm households it clothes the family, buys the necessary food that the farm cannot produce, and gives the added touches of refinement and enjoyment that are making life on the Iowa farm more and more attractive year by year.

The following tables show the annual poultry and egg production in Iowa, and the value thereof, 1925 to 1939, inclusive:

Fruits and Vegetables $8,000,000

IOWA annually produces fruits and vegetables of a value of approximately $8,000,000; a ready and steady source of income which adds many delicacies to the family table and plays a far more important part in the home upkeep than would appear at first glance. For this is the marketable value of these crops and does not take into consideration the far larger value of these fruits and vegetables consumed on the farms, gardens and acreages where they are produced.

The Iowa fruit and vegetable crops of two recent years are shown in the following table:

Geological Products More Than $25,000,000 Annually

By A. C. Trowbridge, State Geologist, and Director Iowa Geological Survey

IOWA is a plains state. The rock formations have not been deformed as much as in plateaus or mountains. The ores of precious metals that result from volcanic intrusion and deformation are lacking here. Because the surface is not high above sea level, the streams cannot erode out gorges and canyons of great depth and develop tremendous scenic features like the Grand Canyons of the Colorado, the Yellowstone or the Gunnison.

Yet more than forty rock formations are recognized that are exposed at the surface in Iowa. In these formations are included limestones, sandstones, shales, beds of gypsum, and an abundance of coal. Glaciers have, in more recent geological time, moved down from where Canada now is, grinding up rock and mineral materials of all sorts, eroding the high bed-rock divides and filling the valleys, thus leveling the surface.

The glacial deposits are made up chiefly of clay, containing also sand grains, pebbles, cobbles, and some boulders, but include also valuable beds of sand and gravel. Over and between the sheets of glacial drift, the wind deposited silty material, known as loess, and glacial and inter-glacial streams made deposits of alluvium. These glacier-, wind- and stream-laid mantle rocks are the main sources of the incomparably fertile soils of the state.

Porous rock formations, like sandstone and fractured or cavernous limestone and the glacial sands and gravels, contain an abundance of generally pure water not too far from the surface to be produced in wells and used for human consumption, watering stock, and industrial purposes. Some of the rock formations may even carry oil or natural gas or both in commercial quantities.

The oldest of these outcropping rock formations, known as the Sioux quartzite, appears at the surface only in the northwestern corner of Lyon County. This same rock and others even older are known from drillings to underlie younger rocks over much of the state and they probably would be found everywhere if drillings were deep enough.

The next younger rocks, called the St. Croixan series and consisting chiefly of sandstone, outcrop in a narrow band in the lower parts of the Mississippi River bluffs and the bottoms of tributary valleys, in Allamakee and Clayton counties. This series includes the well-known Dresbach and Jordan sandstones from which much well water is produced throughout the state. From northeastern Iowa these beds dip in a southwesterly direction beneath successively younger formations including the Prairie du Chien limestone, St. Peter sandstone, Maquoketa shale, etc. The youngest rocks of this general sequence, the Des Moines, Missouri, and Virgil series of the Pennsylvanian system, are at or near the surface in southern and southwestern Iowa where the St. Croixan beds are deeply buried.

The Jordan sandstone, which is at the surface in northeastern Iowa 1,000 feet above sea level, is 1,520 feet below sea level and 2,360 feet deep at Des Moines, 2,040 feet below sea level and 3,390 feet deep at Greenfield, and 2,360 feet below sea level and 3,345 feet deep at Clarinda.

These same formations dip gently in a southeasterly direction from the Sioux quartzite area in the northwestern corner of the state toward the same low axis recorded by the well at Clarinda. This southwestern area, in which the rock formations are lower than elsewhere in the state, and towards which the formations dip from northeast and northwest, is called locally the Clarinda syncline. It is really a part of the Forest City Basin which extends into Iowa from northeastern Kansas, southeastern Nebraska and northwestern Missouri.

Much younger "Cretaceous" limestone, shale, sandstone, and "peanut gravel" exist in the northwestern and west central portions of the state. These beds do not dip with the older formations mentioned above. They blanket the older formations so as to obscure their structure in this part of the state. These younger beds include the "Dakota" sandstone which is an important source of well water.

Iowa has long been famous for the completeness of the record of its glacial history and for the thoroughness and completeness with which the history of the glacial advances and retreats has been worked out. Such histories for other states of the Union and for foreign countries are checked by comparison with Iowa. This is the classic area for work of this sort.

Well Water

Next in commercial importance to the products of the soil is well water as an economic product. We are so used to taking wells for granted that we scarcely realize that the wells of Iowa represent an investment of about $150,000,000. About 90 per cent of our population drink well water. If there were no well water for livestock, this great Iowa industry would suffer.

Since its beginnings, the Iowa Geological Survey has kept and studied logs and drill cuttings from wells. Within the last few years employees of the Department of Health and of the Geological Survey have collected water samples from all public water supplies and from the important water-bearing formations and sands and gravels. These samples have been analyzed chemically for their content of dissolved mineral matter.

There are now available the logs, casing records, outputs, and mineral analyses for more than a thousand deep wells, and also about 50,000 samples of rocks penetrated by the drill. By careful use of these materials the probable depth and quantity and quality of water can be forecast for new wells at given locations, and advice and help can be given with sealing off objectionable waters, casing, pumping tests, etc., during and at the completion of drilling. The longer the work is carried on and the more information is secured, the better the forecasts and other services.

Iowa cities, towns, parks, hotels, theaters and industrial plants are constantly finding need for improved or extended water supplies. Services on deep wells constitute more than half of the total program of the Geological Survey.

There is reason to believe that overdrainage, deforestation, overgrazing, overcultivation and overpumping have caused a depletion in our ground water supplies. By matching funds with the U. S. Geological Survey, new studies are being made on a state-wide basis, of fluctuations in ground water levels with drought and abundant rainfall, with varying land use practice, with heavy and light pumping, etc. In 1940 1,100 water level readings were taken in 106 observation wells. If we are taking water from underground faster than nature restores it, we should know it and do something about it.

Surface Water

Iowa streams and lakes are also valuable assets, although their monetary value cannot be determined. Their use and conservation involve certain problems. There is great need for continuous, long-time records of low water and flood flow discharges in the streams. These records are needed in designing bridges, dams, power plants, water supply systems, and sewage disposal plants; and in planning for flood control, prevention of lake and reservoir silting and of soil erosion.

The Geological Survey is cooperating with the U. S. Geological Survey in a stream and lake gaging program. A total of 80 stream and lake gaging stations are in operation. Stage readings are made at each station at least daily and some of the stations are equipped with automatic, continuous recorders. Discharge records are made for each station about once a month.

Coal

The Iowa coal industry is not healthy. Chiefly because of new competition from oil, gas, and hydro-electric power, this is a difficult problem. One of the recent publications of the Geological Survey is Technical Paper No. 3 in which it is demonstrated that Iowa coal, if well prepared and properly burned, it is not inferior to competing out-of-state coals in b. t. u. content, ash and smoke content, storage qualities, and coking properties.

For eight years, special geological study of the coals of the state and the beds of sandstone, shales, and limestone with which they are associated, has been in progress. The coal-bearing formations are being mapped. This work is not only valuable from the standpoint of coal but its results are extremely useful in the search for oil.

In 1939 Iowa produced and marketed $7,838,500 worth of coal and ranked fifteenth among the states in value of coal produced.

Cement

Iowa has an abundance of limestone and shale for the manufacture of Portland cement. The largest plants are at or near Mason City, Des Moines, and Davenport. In 1939, Iowa ranked seventh in value of cement manufactured, with a value for the year of $7,771,503.

Gypsum

The only gypsum plants now operating in Iowa are near Fort Dodge. In 1939, the value was $510,120, and only two states, New York and Michigan, outranked Iowa.

Limestone

Sixty-eight of the ninety-nine counties in the state reported production of limestone in 1939. Most of it used as crushed stone for road material and other concrete aggregate, but there is an increasing amount used for agricultural lime. The total value for 1939 was $4,385,234.

Rock Wool

Until recently only pure and firm limestones have been of value. Now, however, it is known that shaly limestones, or limy shales, that cannot be used for anything else, are suitable for the manufacture of rock wool, or the wool may be made by mixing pure limestone with pure shale.

Since 1935, when important interests in the manufacture of rock wool for insulating purposes first appeared, the Geological Survey has been searching for raw materials in Iowa. The work is done on a state-wide basis and is not yet complete. Special reports have been prepared or are in the process of preparation for areas around Dubuque, Clinton, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Sioux City, Burlington, Missouri Valley and Council Bluffs, these being the most favorable places found so far, and for the territory served by each of five of the main Iowa railroads. One plant has already been located in Iowa which unfortunately imports most of the raw material from outside the state.

Sand and Gravel

The northern counties of the state are well supplied with sand and gravel, but the remainder are not quite so fortunate. Most of the material is of glacial origin. In 1939 the total value was $1,299,449.

Oil and Gas

Although Iowa has not so far produced oil or gas in commercial quantities, there is now much interest in the Iowa part of the Forest City Basin. Geological conditions in this basin are somewhat similar to those in the Illinois Basin, where large quantities of oil are now being produced. The area of particular interest includes about twenty counties in the south central and southwest portions of the state. In 1920 the Iowa Geological Survey published a report entitled, "Petroleum and Natural Gas in Iowa," in which the opinion was stated that conditions are more favorable in this particular area than elsewhere in the state.

In 1938 and early 1939 an active leasing campaign was in progress not only in the Iowa portion of the Forest City basin but elsewhere in the state. During these early stages the Geological Survey was practically the only reliable source of information concerning the geologic section and general structure in different portions of the state, "key beds" for core drilling, formation tops for seismographic surveys, depths and thicknesses of possible producing horizons, etc. Large numbers of published and unpublished reports, maps, and samples were made available to interested companies and individuals.

The drilling of a number of dry holes in the Forest City basin including one test in Iowa which followed a seismographic survey caused considerable loss of interest. Many leases were cancelled by non-payment of rents. This was the situation in the summer of 1939.

The discovery of oil in southeastern Nebraska late in 1939 ushered in the conditions of 1941. At present three tests are being drilled and a location has been made for another test. One or more major oil companies are core drilling for geological structure in southwestern Iowa, and additional deep tests will doubtless be drilled if favorable structures are discovered by this means.

The geological sections of Senate File 328 enacted by the Forty-ninth General Assembly are being administered by the Geological Survey, according to law. The act, which is designed to safeguard the state's interests without putting severe restrictions of any sort upon the oil companies or obligating the Survey seriously, appears to be serving the purpose for which it was intended.

Clay and Clay Products

Iowa clays are used chiefly in the manufacture of brick and tile. Glacial clays, loess and even alluvium are used, but the larger plants get their raw material from the shale formations of greater age. According to the most recent figures available, raw clay to a value of $50,939 and clay products valued at $3,698,611 were marketed in one year.

Total Mineral Production

Total annual mineral production, including cement, clay and clay products, coal, gypsum, sand and gravel, limestone, and a few other minor products, but excluding water, the value of which is great but cannot be figured in dollars and cents, amounted to $25,554,356 in 1939.

Iowa Coal Production

THE production of coal in 1939 was 3,010,905 tons, the smallest since the inception of the State Mining Department in 1880. In 1940 the production was 3,303,899 tons, an increase over 1939 of 292,994 tons.

The number of people employed during the two years were: in 1939 an average of 7,593; in 1940 an average of 7,138.

In order of production in 1939 Marion County was first, Dallas County, second; Appanoose County, third; Polk County, fourth; and Mahaska County fifth.

In 1940, Marion County was first; Appanoose County, second; Polk County, third; Dallas County, Fourth; and Mahaska County, fifth.

Distribution of Coal

The 3,010,905 tons of coal produced in 1939 was distributed as follows:

	Tons
Sold to local trade, not shipping.....	1,559,264
Shipped to points within Iowa.....	944,767
Shipped to points without Iowa.....	5,718
Sold to railroads.....	482,916
Used at mine for mine purposes.....	18,240
	3,010,905

In 1940 production of 3,303,899 tons was distributed upon a similar ratio:

Sold to local trade, not shipped.....	1,717,418
Shipped to points within Iowa.....	1,102,277
Shipped to points without Iowa.....	39,553
Sold to railroads.....	426,812
Used at mine for mine purposes.....	17,839
	3,303,899

During 1939 and 1940 there were 28 fatal accidents in Iowa's coal mining operations. According to classification of activity, eighteen of the fatalities claimed miners, drivers, three; machinemen, four; motormen, one; tracklayer, one, and timberman, one.

Of the twenty-eight deaths, nineteen by falls of roof, one by fall of coal, and the remaining eight by miscellaneous causes. Non-fatal accidents occurred to 206 miners.

Type of Operation

On December 31, 1940, Iowa had 475 active coal mines. Of these 203 were shaft mines, 178 slope mines, 34 were drift mines, and 60 were operated by stripping process.

Classified by districts, they were:

	Shaft	Slope	Drift	Strip
First District	101	45	18	2
Second District	40	105	1	43
Third District	62	28	15	17
	203	178	34	60

The shaft type mine is operated through a vertical shaft, from the surface to the coal vein. The coal must be hoisted by cage to the surface.

In the slope type mine, a sloping shaft is dug from the surface to the vein.

The drift type is employed upon a hillside where the coal is reached by a horizontal shaft from the surface. In each of the slope type and drift type mines, the coal is removed by car, propelled by motor, mule or man power, ordinarily.

There is an increasing number of strip mines, in which type of operation the soil and rock layers over the coal vein are removed, leaving the coal open to removal by steam shovel or drag line. This type of mining requires a comparatively shallow coal deposit.

Local Consumption Heaviest

Reference to the statistics concerning distribution of coal reveals that the local consumption, which includes also that volume of coal shipped by trucks, consumes more of the output than other means of distribution. The shipments of coal by railroad, to points within Iowa, is the next largest type of distribution.

Iowa coal is not consumed largely outside the state. In fact, it is estimated that Iowa mines supply but about one-fourth of the state's total consumption. The largest single avenue of loss in consumption of the Iowa product is the sales to railroads, which has materially decreased. Most of Iowa State Institutions use Iowa coal, almost exclusively.

It is estimated that, should the consumption of Iowa coal double, the workable deposits within the state are adequate to last for 2,000 more years. This should lessen any apprehension as to a shortage of fuel for Iowans.

Iowa's Business

Factory Products Valued $718,418,350

WHILE Iowa is generally considered to be an agricultural state and does indeed lead as such, the fact remains that it is gaining ground rapidly in the manufacturing world. The last available figures placed the annual value of its manufactured products at $718,418,350, which makes Iowa rank nineteenth in the list of states so far as factory output is concerned.

There are, at last reports, 2,670 manufacturing establishments in Iowa, employing 76,815 workers. The annual salaries and wages aggregate $97,001,898. The cost of the materials used in these plants totals $473,-612,925 a year; the process of manufacturing adding $244,805,425 to their value.

Iowa Manufacturers Have Efficient Organization

The detailed results of the 1940 census of Iowa manufacturing interests will not be ready to give out by the Bureau of the Census until the late summer or fall of 1941; but in the meantime the figures given herewith are furnished by the Iowa Manufacturers' Association, of which C. R. Sheaffer of Fort Madison is president, Roy Bradt of Newton is vice president, G. M. Foster of Ottumwa is secretary, and Edward A. Kimball of Des Moines is manager.

The Iowa Manufacturers' Association was organized in February, 1903, by a group of Iowa manufacturers who sought to advertise the industrial growth of Iowa by means of an exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair. Later, and largely because of its success at St. Louis, it was decided to continue the association and to devote it to the promotion of Iowa's manufacturing industries.

The men behind the organization knew that the value of the products of Iowa factories was exceeding the value of the products sold from Iowa farms, but the great majority of Iowans did not realize this and the country at large was in ignorance of the great industrial strides being made in the Tall Corn State.

Processing Farm Products Biggest Industry

The processing of farm products remains to this date the largest item of Iowa's manufacturing. The meat packing industry, at last reports, had 32 plants employing 12,232 workers; the value of their output being a quarter of a billion dollars a year. Approximately $175,000,000 is paid annually by Iowa packers to Iowa farmers for their livestock.

Other raw products from the farm represent the raw materials used in bakeries, creameries, canning factories, confectioneries, corn products, flour and feed, ice cream and poultry, to a grand total of $150,000,000 annually. In fact, the total value of all manufactured products, where the raw material originates on the farm, accounts for well over half the total value of products manufactured in Iowa.

Approximately 85 per cent of the goods manufactured in Iowa is sold outside the state, and thus brings into Iowa hundreds of millions of dollars annually. About 8 per cent of the state's manufactured products were sold abroad, before the war took away the market.

In value of manufactured products the cities of Iowa take the following rank: Waterloo, first; Sioux City, second; Cedar Rapids, third; Des Moines, fourth; Davenport, fifth; Mason City, sixth. In value of products meat packing is first, with $257,000,000. Butter is second, with $68,000,000. Printing and publishing stand third, with $26,000,000. Corn syrup, corn sugar, corn oil come fourth, with $25,000,000. Bread and bakery products come fifth, with $24,000,000.

Pork packing as an industry began in Iowa in 1840, before statehood was attained. It was then that J. M. D. Burrows of Davenport bought hogs from the farmers and established a "pork house". He reported dressing 19,000 hogs during the winter of 1853-54. Slaughter houses sprang up all over the state, merchandise being intended not only for local consumption but for shipment a considerable distance. In 1878 a packing plant was opened in Ottumwa. About the same time Sioux City went into the business.

More Than One-third National Poultry Requirements

Iowa supplies, in some years, more than one-third of the national requirements of dressed and packed poultry. "Iowa, a Guide to the Hawkeye State," compiled by the Federal Writers project, adds the interesting comment: "Since every farmer's wife has her own flock of chickens, ducks, geese or turkeys, a network of packing plants, generally 25 to 40 miles apart, has been built throughout the state, with buying stations in most of the small towns. Statisticians credit Iowa with the production of approximately 200,000,000 dozens of eggs a year. Four cities to the east—New York, Chicago, Buffalo and Philadelphia—consume more than one-half of Iowa's eggs."

The canning industry adds quite a large sum to the wealth of the state. Iowa has 62 canneries, which take the yield of some 80,000 acres of good Iowa land annually. For their fresh products to be canned Iowa farmers were paid $2,398,500 in a recent year, this sum going to some 15,000 farmers in 50 of the 99 counties of the state.

Dairy Products Industry Large

A recent report of the Secretary of Agriculture of Iowa shows 280 cooperative creameries, 162 individual creameries and 37 centralizers. These produced 199,743,053 pounds of butter.

The number of cheese factories in Iowa has shown a steady increase in recent years. In 1934 there were 11 plants, in 1935 there were 20, in 1936 there were 24, and by 1937 the number had increased to 27. The total poundage of cheese manufactured in Iowa was 3,715,992, in 1937; its value was $610,180.71.

Since the first creamery was established at Spring Branch in 1872 Iowa's butter, cheese and ice cream have reached second rank among the state's manufactured products.

Gypsum, Cement and Clay Products

Only New York surpasses Iowa in producing plaster, tile, plaster of paris and cement. Five gypsum plants at Fort Dodge and one at Center-ville have a total annual production of 553,598 tons. Mason City has seven plants for manufacturing clayware. Shipments from these plants have aggregated as high as 12,000 carloads in one year.

All over Iowa the smoke rises from factories which are adding millions upon millions of dollars each year to the state's wealth and making it take still higher rank, not alone in agriculture, but in industries of all kinds.

Iowa Wholesale Business $790,518,000

WHOLESALE trade in Iowa, according to the 1940 Federal census, was 25.9 per cent higher in 1939 than in 1935; sales in 1939 amounting to $790,518,000; a splendid showing for the Hawkeye state, but not to be compared with 1929, when the sales were $1,043,316,000.

The average number of employes in wholesale houses in Iowa increased from 19,753 in 1935 to 24,120 in 1939, a gain of 22.1 per cent. During the same period total pay roll increased from $25,515,000 to $32,088,000, or 25.8 per cent. Average annual earnings per employe increased from $1,292 in 1935 to $1,330 in 1939. Pay roll of part-time employes went up from $822,000 in 1935 to $1,016,000 in 1939.

A summary of facts for the three years (1929, 1935 and 1939), follows:

Year	No establish-ments	Sales	Proprietors	Employees	Pay Roll
1939	5,802	$ 790,518,000	4,307	24,120	$32,088,000

1929	4,946	1,043,316,000	2,560	26,748	40,839,000

Inventories of merchandise on hand for sale were valued at $47,996,000 in 1939, as compared with $36,163,000 in 1935 and $68,564,000 in 1929. Wholesale trade as defined for census purposes includes manufacturer-owned sales outlets, petroleum bulk stations and terminals, agents, brokers and assemblers of farm products, in addition to the more conventional type.

A summary comparison by type of operation, 1939 and 1935, is given below. Three of the six type groups are found in large number in Iowa: service and limited-function wholesalers, petroleum bulk stations and terminals, and assemblers of farm products. Sales of petroleum bulk stations and terminals increased 54.8 per cent in 1939 over 1935, service and limited-function wholesalers 37 per cent, and assemblers 18.4 per cent.

Retail Trade $822,905,000 A Year

THE Federal Census for 1940, giving figures for retail trade in Iowa for the year 1939 compared with 1929, makes a remarkable showing for the prosperity and statewide business of the state.

Retail sales in Iowa in 1939 totalled $822,905,000; an increase of 28 per cent over 1935 and is within 14 per cent of the dollar volume reached in 1929, "which is more than offset by the general lower level of consumer goods prices", comments the Census Bureau.

The following figures were obtained from the United States Department of Commerce and are based upon the findings of the Federal census conducted in 1940, giving retail trade figures for 1939 compared with 1929.

The number of retail stores in Iowa increased 8,091, or 26 per cent in the 10-year period, compared with a gain in population for the state of 64,491, or 2.6 per cent. Iowa stores numbered 30,933 in 1929; 36,768 in 1935; 39,024 in 1939; the gain since 1929 including 2,451 food stores, 4,011 filling stations and 3,873 eating and drinking places. A comparison of State totals for the three census years follows:

Year	Stores	Sales	Proprietors	Employes	Pay roll
1939.....	39,024	$822,905,000	37,111	87,684	$72,514,000
1935.....	36,768	640,621,000	35,617	71,802	54,768,000
1929.....	30,933	956,008,000	31,395	83,128	83,502,000

The principal changes in retail stores in Iowa since 1935 and 1929 are as follows:

Food stores increased 41 per cent, with no material change in sales since 1929; although they gained 20 per cent in sales since 1935. In comparison with 1929, grocery and combination stores (groceries with fresh meats) increased 48 per cent in number and 11 per cent in sales. Most of this gain was in combination stores, which nearly doubled in number and increased their sales 47 per cent, while grocery stores lost 41 per cent and meat markets lost 59 per cent.

Stores which come under the general classification of General Stores, in which food constitutes a substantial proportion of the total sales, declined 73 per cent in number and 79 per cent in sales since 1929, dropping from 2,367 in 1929 and 1,277 in 1935 to 647 in 1939. Sales in this kind of store in the three years were $76,351,000, $25,924,000 and $15,670,000 respectively.

In the general merchandise group, variety stores increased 35 per cent in number and 26 per cent in sales since 1935, and are nearly 10 per cent ahead of 1929. Department stores show little change in number and sales since 1929, but their sales are 35 per cent higher than in 1935. Dry goods and general merchandise stores lost 29 per cent in number and 48 per cent in sales since 1929, although they are well ahead of 1935 in sales. The general merchandise group as a whole is 33 per cent ahead of 1935 in sales but still 10 per cent below the dollar volume reached in 1929.

The apparel group, with a small increase in apparel and shoe stores, increased its sales 26 per cent since 1935 but is 28 per cent below its dollar volume of 1929.

The furniture-household-radio group increased its sales 25 per cent since 1935, but is still 30 per cent under the dollar volume of 1929. The latter is affected by the general lowering of furniture, radio and household appliance prices during the ten years, although the number of furniture stores is 33 per cent less than in 1929.

The automotive group—vehicle dealers and auto supply stores—increased 21 per cent in number and 31 per cent in sales since 1935. The group is now within 23 per cent of its record volume of 1929.

Filling stations increased from 2,956 in 1929 and 6,057 in 1935 to 6,967 in 1939; in the same years their sales were $48,341,000, $56,806,000, and $72,059,000, respectively. With two and one-third times as many stations as in 1929 to do 49 per cent more business there are three and two-thirds times as many proprietors, 58 per cent more employees and a smaller total pay roll than in 1929.

The lumber-building group gained 48 per cent in sales since 1935 but is still 24 per cent below its dollar volume of 1929. The hardware group reports 51 per cent higher sales than in 1935, only 1 per cent less than in 1929. This group includes hardware stores and hardware-tractor-farm implement dealers, with a number of new dealers since the last census.

Eating places, with a 6 per cent increase in number, increased their business 23 per cent since 1935. Drinking places, many of which also serve meals, increased 48 per cent in number and 92 per cent in sales in the last four years. The combined sales of eating and drinking places total $61,915,000 in 1939 in comparison with $35,425,000 for eating places in 1929 when liquor sales were prohibited. Packaged liquor stores add another $11,625,000, up 79 per cent since 1935.

Drug stores, with little change in number, are 31 per cent ahead of 1935 in sales but 13 per cent below their 1929 record. Cigar stores and stands decreased 73 per cent in number and 69 per cent in sales since 1929, while news dealers' sales decreased 64 per cent. The combined sales of drug stores, cigar stores and news dealers, aggregating $32,239,000 in 1939, are 27 per cent higher than in 1935 and 26 per cent below 1929.

Fuel, ice and fuel-oil dealers are 11 per cent below 1935 in sales and 24 per cent below 1929. Feed, farm and garden supply stores gained 26 per cent in sales since 1935, but are 26 per cent below their 1929 record sales. Jewelry store sales are 61 per cent higher than in 1935 but still 33 per cent under the dollar volume reached in 1929. Florists increased their sales 71 per cent over 1935 and 8 per cent over 1929.

Of the 99 counties in Iowa, 18 show sales of more than $10,000,000 each and account for 53 per cent of total sales in the State. They are: (1) Polk (with Des Moines), (2) Woodbury (with Sioux City), (3) Linn (with Cedar Rapids), (4) Scott (with Davenport), (5) Black Hawk (with Waterloo), (6) Dubuque (with the city of Dubuque), (7) Pottawattamie (with Council Bluffs), (8) Cerro Gordo (with Mason City), (9) Webster (with Fort Dodge), (10) Clinton (with the city of Clinton), (11) Wapello (with Ottumwa), (12) Des Moines County (with Burlington), (13) Johnson (with Iowa City), (14) Marshall (with Marshalltown), (15) Story (with Ames), (16) Lee (with Keokuk and Fort Madison), (17) Page and (18) Muscatine (with the city of Muscatine).

There are 21 cities of more than 10,000 population in Iowa. They account for 30 per cent of the population, 30 per cent of the stores and 47 per cent of total retail sales in the State. In the following table the current sales are compared with those shown in previous censuses, but 1935 and 1929 figures for cities have not been adjusted to exclude repair garages, which were classified as retailers in those years but are now included in the Service Census.

(1) Less than five-tenths of 1 per cent decrease.

Retail store employees in Iowa increased in number from 71,802 in 1935 to 87,684 in 1939, a gain of 22 per cent. The total is 5 per cent greater than the number employed in 1929. Pay roll increased from $54,768,000 in 1935 to $72,514,000 or 32 per cent, but is 13 per cent less than the pay roll of 1929. There are 370 fewer full-time but 4,926 more part-time employees than were working in retail stores in 1929. Pay roll includes wages, salaries, sales commissions and bonuses, and the total paid in 1939 is equivalent to $977 each for full-time employees and $303 each for those working part time.

In addition to paid employees, which include executives if the business is incorporated, there are 37,111 active proprietors of unincorporated businesses, compared with 35,617 in 1935 and 31,395 in 1929. The increase since 1929 is 18 per cent, compared with an increase in stores of 26 per cent. Proprietors' compensation is not included in pay roll.

Stocks of merchandise on hand for sale at the end of 1939 totaled $112,693,000 at cost valuation, equivalent to about two and one-third months' sales. Reflecting speedier merchandising technic and transportation, and affected in part by the increased proportion of sales by kinds of business in which stocks are small in proportion to volume (such as food stores, filling stations and restaurants), total stocks of merchandise were 29 per cent lower while sales were 14 per cent lower than in 1929.

These figures from the Federal 1940 Census show that business is "beating back" in Iowa to the "good times" of 1929 and, what is still more inspiring, and reaching a level which bids fair to be maintained, so as to distribute prosperity generally throughout Iowa stores. The retail trade showing of Iowa is one of which the state may be justly proud.

Iowa Bank Deposits $689,175,000

THE most recent official figures show Iowa with a total of 649 banks, having aggregate deposits of $773,092,222. Financially, Iowa is stronger today than in many years. The decrease in the number of banks is a sign of prosperity and financial strength, rather than of adversity and financial weakness. The bank crisis of eight years ago resulted in wiping out unnecessary and unstable banks and making more strong those which survived.

The Iowa State Superintendent of Banking reports that on June 30, 1941, Iowa had 542 banks under state jurisdiction, divided between savings banks, state banks and trust companies. In addition, there were on that date 103 national banks in Iowa, not coming under the jurisdiction of the state banking department; a total of 645 banks.

According to the State Superintendent of Banking, the aggregate deposits in the 542 banks, supervised by the state of Iowa, on June 30, 1941, were $483,337,352.16. This was $44,414,720.42 more than on June 29, 190, and $82,013,784.32 more than on June 30, 1939.

The records of deposits in Iowa's state and savings banks in recent years makes an interesting study. Four times since 1920 these deposits have passed the $600,000,000 mark, leaving out of all account the deposits in the national banks in Iowa, which are now running about three-fifths of the deposits of the state banks.

Deposit Comparisons

The state bank record of deposits in their big years follows:

June 30, 1920.....	$657,886,492.38
April 3, 1923.....	637,205,045.56
June 30, 1924.....	605,937,170.84
May 1, 1925.....	603,223,195.56

The record for the number of state banks was held in 1921, when there were 1,350, and in 1920 when there were 1,346. Today there are only 40 per cent as many state banks in Iowa as then, but the condition of all is sound and secure.

The capital stock of the 542 incorporated state and savings banks and trust companies in Iowa, under Iowa jurisdiction, was $23,750,500 on June 30, 1941, approximately the same figure it has been for the past five years.

The National bank call for April 4, 1941, showed 103 national banks in Iowa, with deposits totalling $288,306,000. Adding state and national banks together gives the total bank deposits on April 4, 1941, as $773,092,222.

No Iowa Bank Paper Currency

The history of Iowa banking has some interesting high lights. The Miners Bank of Dubuque was granted a charter by the Territory of Wisconsin in 1836, but after investigation by the Iowa legislature this charter was later annulled. "The experience of Iowans with banks and bankers," says a writer in the W. P. A. "Guide Book to Iowa," "caused them to insert a clause in the state constitution of 1846, prohibiting the issuance of paper money by banking corporations. Non-residents, however, flooded the state with wildcat money. Those residents with money to lend often charged as high as 40 per cent interest."

State Regulation Initiated

The new constitution of 1857 authorized the incorporation of banks and provided for a state banking system. The national banks were created in 1863. "Between the 1880's and 1933, banks extended their operations to farm financing and the control of banking passed from individuals to state-regulated banks."

Iowa has every reason to be proud of its banking system today and to continue to enjoy financial stability without the worries and losses which it knew only a few years ago.

Iowa Statistics

Old Age Assistance $13,734,036 in 1940

OLD age assistance payments in Iowa for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, amounted to $12,939,101.70. To this must be added $246,339.41 funeral benefits paid. These amounts correspond with $11,954,133 assistance paid in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, and $9,738,362 paid in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938. The funeral benefits paid in these preceding years were $221,877.02 and $190,641.32.

The Iowa old age assistance program, as the Social Welfare Board which administers it points out, is primarily concerned with the task of granting direct financial relief to elderly persons who are in need. It completed its sixth year of operation in the last fiscal year.

"Iowa," says the Welfare Board, "was among the first states to initiate a program of old age assistance and has been receiving federal funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis since federal funds were available. As the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, came to a close, Iowa had provided assistance to nearly one out of four persons estimated to be over 65 years of age."

Almost 61,000 Receive Assistance

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, a total of 60,906 persons received assistance under the old age system. At the beginning of the year 52,364 cases were active. During the year 8,542 cases were added and 5,693 were closed, leaving 55,212 active cases at the end of the year, as compared with 52,364 in 1939 and 48,148 in 1938.

The average payment to all active cases on July 1, 1939, was $19.95. As of the end of June, 1940, the average payment had increased to $20.56 and in December, 1940, to $20.72. More than 60 per cent of the recipients received more than the average amount, although individual payments ranged from $5 to $30. An amendment to the law made during the 1939 session of the legislature provided for maximum grants of $30 in case of need caused by the mental or physical condition of the applicant.

"The Iowa old age assistance plan continues to be closely related to the actual needs of the aged. The amount of assistance an elderly person receives depends only upon his income or lack of income and his particular needs, rather than on any other factor. The Iowa law provides for no special consideration to persons who have been considered good citizens and provides for no penalties for those who have been considered poor citizens. Similarly the Iowa law provides only a plan for relieving the distress and want among the aged and does not provide for a flat cash reward for having reached the age of 65 years." This is the program statement as set out by the Social Welfare Board.

During the last fiscal year, 15.2 per cent of the applications rejected were because the applicants did not meet the property requirement; while 12.9 per cent of the applications rejected were made by persons who were not in need, having sufficient income. Of the persons approved for assistance for the first time 73.4 per cent were not receiving public assistance at the time of application and of this number only 5.6 per cent had received public assistance within two years prior to making application for old age assistance.

The total number of recipients of old age assistance by counties, the total amount paid to them, and their average assistance, for the month of December, 1940, are set forth in the following table issued by the Social Welfare Bureau:

Marriages and Divorces

MANY years ago a great American (Ralph Waldo Emerson) asserted that marriage is an open question, "when it is alleged, from the beginning of the world, that such as are in the institution wish to get out, and such as are out wish to get in."

The ratio of divorces to marriage in Iowa in 1940 was about one in ten, while it was about one to eight in 1939.

There were 11,634 more marriage licenses issued in Iowa in 1940 than in 1939; while the number of divorces increased only 122, which indicates either that love is becoming more permanent or an ability to stand suffering more widespread.

The following table, prepared by the Des Moines Sunday Register from county clerks' records in Iowa, shows the number of marriage licenses issued by counties, and the number of divorces granted in counties; for 1939 and 1940; the table being reprinted by courtesy of the Des Moines Register:

The largest number of marriage licenses issued in 1940 was in Dubuque county, with 7,745. The second highest county was Clinton, with 4,715; the third was Scott, with 4,224; which would indicate that the Mississippi river is conducive to romance.

The largest number of divorces granted in 1940 was in Polk county, with 938. The second highest county was Scott, with 308. The third was Woodbury, with 298. Which would indicate that the desire to get rid of mates is about the same all over the state, per capita.

Health Statistics 1930 to 1940

RECORDS kept by the State Department of Health (Dr. Walter L. Bierring, commissioner) show a decrease in recent years in the better known diseases to which flesh is heir in this part of the nation. Such dreaded diseases as diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox and infantile paralysis are taking a lesser toll in Iowa today than in previous years; although pneumonia continues to take its toll without lessening.

The records of the State Department of Health, the final figures being for the first six months of 1940, the end of the biennial period, show the following situation:

Diphtheria Recedes

Diphtheria cases were definitely fewer in the last two and a half years than in the earlier years of the decade. Statewide application of measures for the prevention of this disease probably accounts in large part for its steady decline. The nine-year average, between 1930 and 1938, was 447 cases; while in 1938 there were 395; in 1939, 305; and in the first six months of 1940 only 96.

Infantile paralysis developed unusual prevalence much later in 1939 than in former years; in the past, undue occurrences began in July or early August. But the 1940 showing was better. The nine-year average between 1930 and 1938 was 65.3 cases. In 1938 there were only 40 cases, but in 1939 the number went up to 197. However, in the first six months of 1940 there were only 28.

Scarlet Fever and Smallpox Cases Fewer

The nine-year average, between 1930 and 1938, of scarlet fever was 3,232 cases. In 1938 this rose to 5,744, but it declined to 4,009 in 1939, while the first six months of 1940 showed only 1,522 cases.

Were vaccination and revaccination as thoroughly applied in Iowa as in Massachusetts, this state would be entirely free from the loathsome smallpox. The nine-year average between 1930 and 1938, in Iowa, was 984 cases. This had risen to 1,170 in 1938 and was 1,057 in 1939. The first six months of 1940 showed only 366 cases.

Malaria on the Increase

The nine-year average for whooping cough, from 1930 to 1938, was 966 cases. This rose to 1,284 in 1938, but declined to 951 in 1939, and was 473 for the first six months of 1940.

In recent years Iowa has experienced a marked increase in the reported prevalence of malaria. In 1933 only two cases were reported. The number increased to 24 in 1935, and to 62 in 1939. The first six months of 1940 there were 28 cases. In the last eight years the disease has occurred in 35 of the 99 counties of the state; the counties immediately adjoining the Mississippi river having two-thirds of all the cases.

Measles Cases Jump Largely

Measles remains a widespread disease in Iowa. The nine-year average, between 1930 and 1938, was 1,780 cases. This had increased to 5,553 in 1938. It was 5,064 in 1939; but in the first six months of 1940 the number of measles cases reported was 4,834. Through the use of convalescent serum following exposure the disease can be prevented or modified. In a series of 422 contacts on whom convalescent serum was used, 228, or 54 per cent, failed to develop the disease, and 190, or 45 per cent, developed a mild form of measles. Only four persons, or 1 per cent, failed to be benefitted by the serum.

Pneumonia Cases Gain

Remarkable increase in reported cases of pneumonia occurred during 1938, 1939 and the first half of 1940. The total number of cases for 1938 was 588; for 1939 was 1,346 and for the first half of 1940 was 1,398.

Birth and Death Rate

The Division of Vital Statistics gives the number of births and deaths reported, per 1,000 population for the 10 years, 1930 to 1939, as follows:

Year	Number of Births	Rate	Number of Deaths	Rate
1930	42,733	17.3	26,228	10.6
1931	41,633	16.8	25,681	10.4
1932	40,164	16.2	25,786	10.4

Transportation In Iowa

Thirteen Railway Systems

Iowa is traversed, and well served, by 13 steam railway systems, owning and operating 9,482.62 miles of track within the state, according to the reports of the State Commerce Commission of Iowa. The names of the railway systems and their total Iowa mileage follow:

Railway	Iowa Mileage
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.	19.87
Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Ry.	1,272.07
Chicago, Great Western Ry.	763.81
Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pac. Ry.	1,822.79
Chicago & North Western Ry.	1,550.30
Chicago, St. Paul, Minn. & Omaha Ry.	85.07
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry.	2,180.74
Great Northern Ry.	78.02
Illinois Central Ry.	717.36
Manchester & Oneida Ry.	8.15
Minneapolis & St. Louis Ry.	772.81
Union Pacific Ry.	2.48
Wabash Ry.	209.15
Total	9,482.62

In an average year the total operating revenue of these 13 railway lines in Iowa is around $91,000,000; while the total operating expenses is around $74,000,000. The grand total train miles for one year, as reported by the State Commerce Commission, is 28,408,314; divided as follows: freight trains, 16,155,926; passenger trains, 12,252,388.

The tons of freight carried in Iowa by these 13 railways in one year is given by the State Commerce Commission as 54,029,612, and the number of passengers as 3,026,172. The following table shows how these two items are distributed among the various railways:

Railway	Tons of freight carried.	Passengers carried.
Atchison, Top. & Santa Fe Ry.	3,049,440	343,742
Chicago, Bur. & Quincy R. R.	7,091,567	494,805
Chicago Great Western R. R.	4,571,318	132,134
Chi., Mil., St. P. & Pac. R. R.	8,814,529	283,475
Chicago & North Western Ry.	7,252,970	696,831
Chi., St. P., M. & O. Ry.	1,544,989	101,807
Chi., Rock Island & Pac. Ry.	9,358,580	639,060
Great Northern Ry.	972,845	6,500
Illinois Central R. R.	3,457,128	173,692
Manchester & Oneida Ry.	23,831
Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R.	2,834,161	54,471
Union Pacific R. R.	3,901,797	56,760
Wabash Railway.	1,156,457	42,895
Total	54,029,612	3,026,172

By far the larger revenue of railways comes from freight carried, this being ten times the revenue derived from passenger service. In an average year the rail-line transportation from freight was $77,127,364; from passengers $7,382,968; from mail $3,232,368; from express $1,515,723. The freight and passenger revenues were distributed among the 13 lines as follows:

Railway	Freight revenue.	Passenger revenue.
Atch., Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.	$ 681,202	$ 129,378
Chi., Burl. & Q. R. R.	8,087,509	1,078,889

Total	$ 77,127,364	$7,382,968

A brief history of the beginnings of Iowa's railroads is given herewith.

The Mississippi and Missouri, the first railroad in Iowa, was completed from Davenport to Muscatine in 1855. By January 1st of the following year it had been extended from Davenport to Iowa City, then the state capital, and the first train ran between these two places, even before the first bridge had been built across the Mississippi to connect traffic with the east.

The Illinois Central from Dubuque, the Chicago & North Western from Lyons, and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy from Burlington, started their lines westward in 1855. There was a race against time and traffic, to reach the Missouri and the far-flung west beyond.

After the Civil war, railroad building was resumed in Iowa on a much larger scale. By 1866, the Mississippi & Missouri had been built some miles west of Iowa City, but was forced to sell to the Rock Island system. It was then completed to Council Bluffs, two years after the Chicago & North Western had reached that strategic point, across the Missouri from Omaha, the gate city to the plains and mountain states. The Burlington reached the Missouri in 1869 and a year later the Illinois Central completed its road to Sioux City. By 1870, there were almost 3,000 miles of railroads in Iowa. In 1885, the Chicago Great Western had laid its tracks southward into Iowa from Minnesota.

Electric Interurbans

The State Commerce Commission reports nine electric interurban railways operating within the state, with a total of 447.05 miles. These show operating revenues, for the average year, of $3,168,127 and operating expenses of $2,833,209. The main revenue was from freight carried, $2,519,314; passenger service bringing in $404,176.

The names of the electric interurbans in Iowa and their mileage are found below:

Company	Miles of road.
Charles City Western Ry.....	21.55
Clinton, Davenport & Muscatine Ry.....	36.75
Des Moines & Central Iowa R. R.....	67.64
Fort Dodge, Des Moines & Southern R. R.....	148.73

Iowa Southern Utilities Co.....	29.42
Mason City & Clear Lake R. R.....	10.36
Tama & Toledo R. R.....	3.50
Waterloo, Cedar Falls & Northern Ry.....	101.80

Motor Carriers

The State Commerce Commission reports the total number of passenger motor carrier companies in Iowa as 25; the total annual revenue $2,150,940 and the total expenses $2,073,252. The total number of passenger motor bus miles is 10,697,301. The total number of passengers carried is 4,841,494. The 25 companies consume 1,881,510 gallons of gasoline a year.

The number of freight motor carrier companies in Iowa is given as 63, for Class 1, having annual gross operating revenues of $30,000 or more, with a total motor miles of 16,915,042; and 107 for Class 2, having annual gross operating revenues under $30,000, with a total motor miles of 4,518,476.

5,364 Miles of Paving in Primary Road System

ON December 1, 1940, Iowa's primary road system embraced 8,567 miles, divided as follows:

Paved	5,364 miles
Bituminous surfaced	681 miles
Graveled	2,458 miles
Graded	14 miles
Unimproved	50 miles
	8,567 miles

The progress made in the preceding year is evidenced by this table, as of December 1, 1939:

Paved	5,135 miles
Bituminous surfaced	614 miles
Graveled	2,661 miles
Graded	51 miles
Unimproved	80 miles
	8,541 miles

The full story of the remarkable strides made in Iowa's primary road system is told, however, by a comparison with the condition of the system on December 1, 1919, as follows:

Paved	25 miles
Gravel surfaced	624 miles
Graded, not surfaced	836 miles
Unimproved	4,927 miles
	6,412 miles

In twenty-one years Iowa had pulled itself out of the mud, by paving 3,539 miles of primary roads, graveling 1,834 miles and reducing the unimproved stretches by 4,877 miles. The record is one of which the state is justly proud.

Twenty-one years have elapsed since Iowa first assumed definite responsibility for a system of state roads, built directly by the state and financed by state and federal funds. The legislature of 1917 took action looking toward the establishment of an inter-county system of roads and making provision for meeting the requirements of the first federal aid act passed by Congress in 1916, but owing to the World War situation very little was done prior to 1919.

In the winter and spring of 1919, however, national and state legislation became effective that made possible a start in building a system of state and interstate highways. At that time, Iowa had the reputation of being one of the champion mud road areas of the universe, and deservedly so. Good corn land, in its natural state, is not good road building material, and highway traffic in Iowa was, largely speaking, a fair weather undertaking. Road building progress prior to that date was largely to grading work and the building of bridges and culverts. In a few counties, where surfacing material was locally available, some small amount of road surfacing work had been undertaken.

Since 1919, steady progress has been made toward the development of an all-weather system of state highways. The rate of progress has varied from year to year with the amount of funds that were available for primary road construction. In addition to current income from gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license fees the people have seen fit to supplement such funds through the issuance of primary road bonds for hastening the improvement of primary roads in their respective counties.

In all, $119,146,657 in bonds have been authorized, $117,968,000 actually issued, $49,403,000 have been retired, leaving an outstanding primary road bonded indebtedness, as of January 1, 1941, of $68,565,000. These bonds are being retired at the rate of between 6 and 7 million dollars per year, with the last issues scheduled for retirement in 1950.

Table Showing Annual Improvement

The following table shows, by years, the condition of the primary road system as of December 1, 1939:

CONDITION OF SYSTEM—MILES

Year Dec. 1	Paved	Bituminous Surfaced	Gravel	Graded	Unim- proved	Total
1919.....	25	624	836	4,927	6,412

1931.....	3,803	3,070	281	635	7,789
1932.....	4,086	137	3,067	116	438	7,844
1933.....	4,202	139	3,083	52	358	7,834
1934.....	4,313	324	2,933	175	165	7,910
1935.....	4,374	323	3,297	92	192	8,278
1936.....	4,546	469	3,130	63	109	8,317
1937.....	4,818	569	2,890	50	106	8,433
1938.....	5,090	587	2,690	52	78	8,497
1939.....	5,135	614	2,661	51	80	8,541
1940.....	5,364	681	2,458	14	50	8,567

From the above table, it will be noted that not only has the mileage of improved roads increased year by year, but there has also been an increase in the total mileage of primary roads, through additions to the system that have been made from time to time. From the standpoint of cross-country traffic, Iowa has long since lost its reputation as a mud-road state, and for some years has attracted a large volume of cross-country traffic, on account of the excellent condition of many of its cross-state routes.

Iowa's Paving Meets Rigid Requirements

As highway traffic has increased in weight, speed, and volume, standards of highway design and construction have of necessity been modified. For many years, the standard width of highway pavement constructed was 18 feet. Since 1936, the standard width is 20 feet. Where minimum sight distance requirements over hills was for many years 400 to 500 feet, they are now 800 feet to 1,000 feet. Shoulder widths of five or six feet with 1½ to 1 slopes have been increased to 8 feet with 3 to 1 slopes except on high fills, where guard rails are constructed to protect the highway users. While these improved standards have increased the amount of work to be done, and material required to build a modern highway, improved methods and more efficient equipment have tended to prevent the cost of the completed road from increasing. In fact, the road building dollar today buys more in the way of improved highway service to highway users than ever before.

The following is a comparison of the expenditures for maintenance in each of the past five years:

1935.....	$3,502,461.56
1936.....	4,337,010.89
1937.....	4,453,415.12
1938.....	4,268,107.12
1939.....	3,664,588.75

The financial statement of the Iowa State Highway Commission, as shown by the Budget Report, for the period from July 1, 1939, to November 30, 1940 (a period of 17 months), shows the principal receipts to have been as follows:

From motor license fees to primary road fund....	$11,209,400.07
From motor license fees to support fund.....	12,389.72
From motor fuel license fees to primary road fund	7,890,000.00
Federal aid to primary road fund.....	3,079,841.00
Received from closed banks.....	252,875.15
Transfer motor vehicle department to primary road fund	28,620.81
	$22,473,126.75

There was transferred the sum of $1,181,736 to the Farm-to-Market Road fund.

The principal expenditures of the Highway Commission out of the primary road fund for the two periods, from December 31, 1937, to November 30, 1938 (12 months) and from July 1, 1939, to November 30, 1940 (17 months) were as follows:

	Dec. 1, 1937, to Nov. 30, 1938	July 1, 1939, to Nov. 30, 1940
Construction	$10,025,228.30	$7,127,786.95
Primary road bond redemption....	6,008,000.00	6,507,000.00
Primary road bond interest.....	2,178,606.40	1,988,950.00
Engineering, inspection and admin- istration of highway work.....	1,631,743.28	971,140.70
Maintenance of primary roads and primary road extensions in cities and towns	4,268,107.12	3,664,588.75

The grand total of all state fund expenditures for the first period was $25,093,512.91; and for the second period was $20,398,148.02.

The 1939 legislature limited state fund primary road expenditures, including bond and interest payments, construction and maintenance, to 16 million dollars a year. The rest of the fund's income, said now to total around 20 million dollars a year, goes to farm-market road construction.

The State Highway Commission gives the progress made under the farm-to-market road law, as follows, as of December 1, 1940:

Miles graded, including necessary bridge and culvert work	808.5
Miles surfaced	622
Bridges projected (involving no grading or surfacing)....	52

At the last available report the county trunk road system aggregated 13,799.15 miles, divided as follows:

Surfaced	11,860.20 miles
Permanent grade	627.45 miles
Not built	1,311.50 miles

The same report showed the local county road system comprising 79,837.92 miles, divided as follows:

Surfaced	27,482.02 miles
Permanent grade	2,905.80 miles
Not built	49,450.10 miles

The condition of the secondary road system was as follows:

Surfaced	39,340.32 miles
Permanent grade	3,533.25 miles
Not built	50,763.50 miles

93,637.07 miles

With a broad-minded, far-seeing road policy, and the funds with which to carry on the plans, Iowa's roads will continue to serve the people of the state and to attract tourists from all over the nation.

Iowa Police Radio System

THE use of radio in Iowa as a means of apprehending criminals was originated in 1924, when Frank Warner, secretary of the Iowa Bankers Association, made arrangements with radio station WHO of Des Moines for the broadcasting of information on bank robberies and burglaries.

This plan was continued until 1927, when the Federal Radio Commission set aside high frequencies for police work. In 1931 the Forty-fourth Iowa General Assembly passed a bill authorizing the Attorney General of the State to "enter into such contracts as he may deem necessary for the purpose of utilizing a special radio broadcasting system for law enforcement and police work and for direct and rapid communication with the various peace officers of the state." This bill made mandatory that all county sheriffs' offices and cars and all police departments in cities of 2,000 population or more be provided with "locked in" radios (impossible for use on any other frequency or any other purpose) to keep in constant touch with the facilities for the apprehension of criminals to be set up by the state.

Bankers Association Aided Service

This was the beginning of the present far-flung Iowa Police Radio System, with its five state broadcasting stations, its constant touch with all peace officers in Iowa, and with broadcasting stations and peace officers in adjoining states; without question the most effective system for promptly apprehending criminals and solving crimes yet tried; with calls going out on the air, day and night, aggregating many thousands each year.

Continuing the history of this movement, the Iowa State Bankers Association installed a 400 watt short-wave police radio system in their office, in February, 1932, connecting it with the State Bureau of Investigation, in the State House, by special remote control equipment, which made it possible for broadcasts to be released by the Bureau directly from its offices in the Capitol.

First State Appropriation

During 1932 and 1933 this station was used by the Bureau of Investigation for the broadcasting of emergency protective items. From the results thus obtained, a money request was made of the Forty-fifth Iowa General Assembly and $15,000 was appropriated for the extension of the system. Two broadcasting stations were located in northern Iowa, to start with, in Waterloo and Storm Lake. This gave Iowa three stations, from which, at that time, three crime bulletins were issued each day, but without constant air communication with all peace officers.

The Forty-sixth Iowa General Assembly appropriated $20,000 to expand the system to include southern Iowa. Fairfield and Atlantic were selected. By the fall of 1935 all five of the state police radio stations were broadcasting continuously on a daytime basis, calls being dispatched as soon as received.

In 1936 the contract between the Iowa Bankers Association and the Attorney General of Iowa expired. Up to that time the state had been to no expense for the operation of the Des Moines unit. The Forty-sixth Iowa General Assembly came to the rescue with $10,000 with which to erect and equip a state-owned and operated station, having no connection with the Bankers Association or any other private concern.

State Radio System Launched in 1937

Through the cooperation of the Iowa State Fair Board, a small brick-and-tile building on the fairgrounds was transformed into a radio station and the state radio system was launched in earnest, in March, 1937. Later, the station at Waterloo was transferred to Cedar Falls, close by.

During the spring of 1938 the State Bureau of Investigation recognized the need of a mobile broadcasting unit which would operate in conjunction with the existing radio stations. A complete portable police radio station and its equipment have been permanently installed in a panel truck. This movable plant can transmit and receive messages. Besides covering matters of a criminal nature it can be, and has been, used in cases of floods, tornadoes and similar disasters. It was the first unit of its type in the country.

The method of operation of the State Police Radio System is simple and is productive of splendid results. A crime is reported by any sheriff, city police department or peace officer to the nearest state radio station and there is immediately placed on the air by skilled broadcasters. It is picked up in the offices of the sheriffs in the 99 counties of Iowa, by the police departments in all the large towns and cities, by all the patrolmen of the Iowa State Highway Patrol, and by the special agents working for the Division of Criminal Investigation. A good example of the way in which crimes are broadcast and criminals apprehended is shown in the case of the robbery of the Bank of Imogene, Iowa.

One of the most important duties of the police radio system is the maintaining of an accurate card index system of all material broadcast. All items which are dispatched by the radio system are cross filed, enabling the operators of any of the stations to immediately supply information which may be requested by any peace officer of the state. At the present time there are over 150,000 cards in this file and it is corrected after each item is broadcast.

Plan Interstate in Scope

The five stations of the Iowa Police Radio System, besides being in constant radio communication with each other, maintain continuous contact with municipal police radio stations at Des Moines, Sioux City, Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Ottumwa, Burlington, Iowa City, Fort Dodge, Ames, Mason City, Waterloo, Dubuque, Oskaloosa, Marshalltown, Clinton and Omaha. The states of Minnesota, Illinois, and Missouri are in constant contact with the Iowa System by police radio. Information which is released by the peace officers of Iowa can be immediately transmitted to the surrounding states and to any other state which maintains a police radio communications system. Criminals who cross the state lines for security now find alert officers, who have been advised of their activities by the police radio, awaiting them. Surely the way of the transgressor is hard in Iowa, once the air waves get busy with the story of what he has done, what he looks like and the probable roads he may take in his effort to escape.

The Radio police system was a part of the Bureau of Investigation, under the Attorney General, until the Department of Public Safety was established in 1939. During the past two years it has been manned by a staff as follows:

The annual expenditures of the radio department have run from $13,954.65 for the fiscal year between July 1, 1936, and June 30, 1937, to $21,347.83 for the fiscal year from July 1, 1938, to June 30, 1939. The department's asking for each year of the 1942-43 biennium was $32,280 (salaries) but this contemplated night service at all five stations.

Highway Safety Patrol

ALTHOUGH established and maintained for the purpose of educating automotive drivers in safe and cautious driving, minimizing accidents and being of service to the driving public, the Highway Safety Patrol has produced a good revenue through its excellent work in enforcing the laws of the road.

Since the Highway Patrol enforces only state laws, all charges filed by it are filed under state laws and the resultant fines go to county school funds. The report of C. A. Knee, chief of the Highway Safety Patrol, for 1940 shows that highway patrolmen produced $200,233.83 for the various county school funds, in fines paid, while enforcing traffic laws. This was in addition to the court costs of $81,563.56 assessed against the guilty drivers.

Chief Knee's 1940 report also shows that the Highway Patrol brought in $50,968.11 in additional fees from truckers; collected, for example, when trucks were found overloaded or otherwise not properly classified; these fees going to the regular state motor vehicle fund. No part of the monies so collected goes to the individual patrolman or to the patrol itself.

But the important part of the work of the Highway Safety Patrol is not in the amount of money collected, but in the lesson which the fines and imprisonments teach the guilty drivers and the warning they are to other motorists who might be tempted to drive too fast or too recklessly or to disobey the warning signs on the highways (the motor driving laws of the state will be found summarized on other pages).

Making Motorists Heedful

The number of accidents in a week, month or year fluctuate, according to the number of motorists on the highways, weather and road conditions and the centralization of traffic, but the Highway Safety Patrol is doing an excellent work in teaching drivers to be careful, in warning them for first offenses and punishing them for subsequent ones, and in making Iowans road conscious and heedful of the rights of other drivers. A campaign of education is being carried on, which it is believed will prove productive of good results, in lessened accidents and more pleasant driving, in the not far distant future.

The 1940 report of Chief Knee showed the 124 patrolmen traveled a total of 4,955,774 miles on the state's highways; issued 20,317 summonses to court and 44,646 warning tickets and assisted 39,530 motorists who were in temporary difficulties. The patrol also removed 17,385 obstructions from the roads.

Chief Knee's report of summonses issued showed the largest number, 4,969, issued on charges of not having a driver's license. Improper registration (or licensing) of motor vehicles brought 1,931 summonses; truck overloads, 1,762; faulty motor vehicle equipment (such as brakes), 1,639; failure to observe stop signs, 1,607, and speeding in a restricted speed zone, 1,311.

Other items in the summons ticket classification showed 1,042 summonses issued for excessive truck speed; 972 for prohibited passing; 714 for driving while intoxicated; 798 for reckless driving and 254 for failure to dim headlights. Of the 44,646 warning tickets issued, the largest number, 15,242, was issued to motorists whose cars had no tail-lights. A total of 9,651 warning tickets was issued to motorists driving without headlights or with faulty headlights.

Chief Knee's 1940 report also showed that patrolmen made 881 talks on safety to a combined total audience of 203,535 persons.

900,000 Motor Vehicles Registered in 1940

IOWA registered 900,803 motor vehicles during 1940, according to official figures issued by James Allen, Superintendent of the Motor Vehicle registration division of the Department of Public Safety. This registration brought a grand total of $12,894,341.59 into the state.

The number of passenger cars registered by residents of Iowa during 1940 was 689,307; which was 19,227 more than had been registered in 1939. To this 1940 total must be added 1,950 automobiles registered by non-residents and 1,061 official automobiles; making the total for the year 692,318.

The number of trucks registered during the year was 101,244 by residents of the state, 1,468 by non-residents and 6,201 official; a total of 108,913. In addition, 2,867 motorcycles were registered by residents, seven by non-residents and 68 were official, a total of 2,942. Altogether, 95,932 trailers were registered by residents of Iowa, 163 by non-residents and 535 were official; a total of 96,630.

The total license collections for these registered vehicles during 1940 were divided as follows:

Automobiles	$9,178,515.71
Trucks	2,974,478.77
Motorcycles	10,686.63
Trailers	208,096.75
Transfers	224,174.00
Transfer penalties	1,280.00
Additional fees	89,686.28
Duplicate certificate	5,077.00
Total collections, counties....		$12,691,995.14
Department collections		202,346.45
Total collections		$12,894,341.59

This total was $815,389 more than the 1939 total registration receipts. Aside from three small items, the $12,894,341 collected in 1940 will be turned over to the state highway commission for use on the state's primary roads. Deductions made before the transfer include the 50 cents per license allowed each county treasurer; 1 per cent of the total collections which is held for refunds, and 3 per cent of the total which goes to the state general fund to defray expenses of the motor vehicle department.

The total registration receipts for motor vehicles in 1940 by counties and the number classified into automobiles, trucks, motorcycles and trailers, with the total for each county, is shown in the following table:

Iowa's Farm Organizations

Iowa State Fair

BETWEEN 1910 and 1940, inclusive, more than ten million men, women and children passed through the turnstiles of the Iowa State Fair, at Des Moines. This is more than four times the entire present population of the state of Iowa, or the equivalent of the population of sixteen states of the Union: Arizona, Delaware, Idaho, Maine, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Colorado.

The largest attendance was in 1929, the Diamond Jubilee year, when the figure was 435,385. Running a close second was 1938, when the centenary of Iowa's creation as a separate territory was fittingly observed by the fair with an attendance of 430,907. In only four other years has the attendance passed the 400,000 mark; in 1919, 1925, 1927 and 1939. The exact attendance figures for the 1910-1940 total are 10,432,217. The average yearly attendance was 336,523.

These visitors have come from all over Iowa, many other states and several foreign countries, attracted by the splendid display of livestock and general farm products and the exposition features. Iowa has well rewarded these visits each year, the fair generally being conceded of attractiveness and interest to all sorts and conditions of people.

$3,000,000 Total Premiums

It has been the policy of the Iowa State Fair Board to offer premiums sufficiently large to attract exhibitors from near and far. Between 1902 and 1940, inclusive, the total value of premiums paid was $3,168,623. The lowest was $21,736.31 in 1902; the highest was $128,553.34 in 1930; $127,943 in 1929 (Diamond Jubilee year); $120,427.64 in 1921 and $120,675.91 in 1924. In 1939 the premiums amounted to $110,273.11, but in 1940 they dropped to $105,797.82.

The Iowa State Fair has always been noted for the size and quality of its livestock exhibits. These have come from all over the United States and Canada. A careful, accurate count is kept each year, so that there is no guesswork, or round numbers, in the Fair Board's official report.

Between 1902 and 1940, inclusive, the Iowa State Fair exhibited 189,496 head of horses, cattle, swine and sheep; to make no mention of around 6,000 head of poultry, rabbits and pigeons shown annually in recent years. The exact 1902-1940 figures for this livestock exhibited are as follows: Swine, 89,552; cattle, 51,642; sheep, 27,324; horses, 20,978.

Many of these animals, having won awards in Des Moines, have gone on to the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago and to other exhibitions at Denver, Kansas City, Fort Worth and elsewhere, to be accredited the best of their class and breed. The Iowa State Fair has shown to the world the supremacy of the state in the matter of pure bred livestock.

The Iowa State Fair Board is justly proud of its financial statement and condition. The total amount of money invested in improvements between 1902 and 1938, inclusive, was $2,253,089. Of this amount the Board paid $1,119,489 (more than one-half) from receipts of the fairs; while the state appropriation for buildings totaled $1,080,500. The discrepancy in the total is explained by the fact that in 1938 a new Poultry building was erected, for which the WPA granted $53,100. Later, a new 4-H livestock barn was built at a cost of $105,248.36 and a new feed barn at a cost of $22,397.23, with the aid of a FWA grant of $55,890.20.

Profited 34 Years, Lost 5 Years

For the 39 years between 1902 and 1940, inclusive, the State Fair showed a gross profit 34 years and a loss five years; a net profit for the 39 years of $1,101,887.

The main state appropriations (paid out of tax funds) for the various buildings on the fair grounds are as follows: Live stock pavilion, $37,000; agricultural building, $47,000; swine pavilion, $75,000; grandstand, $100,000; machinery hall, $65,000; comfort stations, $8,000; women's building, $71,469; sheep barn, $25,000; cattle barn, $150,000; baby beef barn, $35,000; grandstand and educational building, $250,000; horse barn, $71,000; swine barn, $72,500; poultry building, $70,000; 4-H livestock barn, $50,000.

State appropriations for premiums were made for 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939 and 1940 of $10,000 each year.

In every other way the state fair has been self-supporting, has shown the world how Iowa leads in farm products and livestock and many other matters; and has provided education, entertainment and amusement for several hundred thousand persons each year.

The statistical statement of the Iowa State Fair, from 1902 to 1940, inclusive, covering total receipts, premiums paid and net profits, for each of the 39 years, follows:

The history of the Iowa State Fair is interesting and thrilling. The following facts have been taken from The Palimpsest, a publication of the State Historical Society of Iowa.

First Meeting in Fairfield in 1853

The initial move for a state fair was made by the Jefferson County Agricultural Society at its annual meeting in Fairfield in October, 1853, when a call was issued for another meeting that December, composed of delegates from the various county societies. The attendance at that historic gathering was disappointing. There were only fifteen delegates from five counties: Henry, Van Buren, Wapello, Jefferson and Lee. The convention decided that the first fair should be held at Fairfield, October 25 to 27, 1854, and this was done. The premium list was made up of some 400 items, with premiums totaling more than $1,100.

The description of the first fair, written by Earle D. Ross, is very good.

"They had procured six acres and enclosed the same with a substantial straight rail fence, ten feet high; erected a shed, 250 feet in length and 20 feet wide, with a table the full length of the shed and about five feet high; erected stalls upon all sides of the enclosure, built about sixty rail pens; made a track in the enclosure 1,500 feet in length and twenty feet wide, with a substantial rope guard for horse racing. The total expenditure for staging this statewide exhibition was about $320. Such was Iowa's first state fair."

The most unsatisfactory aspect was the inadequate financial returns. The receipts, after excluding "about fifty dollars of counterfeit, or otherwise worthless money," were insufficient to pay expenses, so the president of the State Agricultural Society, Judge Thomas W. Claggett, made up the deficit.

Fair "On Wheels" Until 1879

From 1854 to 1879 the fair was "on wheels," moving around from one section of the state to another. Not over three consecutive exhibitions were held in any city. The second fair was at Fairfield; the third and fourth were in Muscatine in 1856 and 1857. Oskaloosa entertained in 1858 and 1859; then Iowa City in 1860 and 1861; Dubuque in 1862 and 1863; Burlington in 1864, 1865 and 1866; Clinton in 1867 and 1868; Keokuk in 1869 and 1870 and again in 1874 and 1875; while Cedar Rapids had it for six years in 1871, 1872, 1873, 1876, 1877 and 1878.

The fair moved to Des Moines in 1879 and remained there, "but it took six years to persuade the legislature to appropriate the purchase money for a house." In 1884, the legislature appropriated $50,000 for a location and the new grounds were dedicated on September 7, 1886. In 1900 the State Agricultural Society was superseded by a Board of Agriculture which, among its other duties, directed the fair. Early in 1923, with the creation of a consolidated State Department of Agriculture, a separate State Fair Board was established, composed of the Governor, Secretary of Agriculture and President of the State College of Agriculture, ex officio, and directors from each congressional district. With the single exception of 1898, a state fair has been held ever since that first one at Fairfield in 1854, with increasing popularity, attendance and worthwhileness.

Iowa's favorite vacation spot—the big amphitheatre at the Iowa State Fair. The amphitheatre and lawn in front of it have a seating capacity of more than 22,000 for the auto races, horse races, thrill shows, and evening extravaganzas which feature the fair each season.

Iowa Farm Bureau Federation

THE Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, Iowa's largest farm organization, reported a membership of over 40,000 for 1940, a gain of over 6,000 as compared with totals of the previous year.

Continued interest by farmers throughout the state during 1941 boosted this total. On July 1, 1941, membership had reached a total of over 42,000, and indications pointed to attainment of the organizations membership goal of 45,000 for 1941.

The Iowa Farm Bureau Federation is a federation of county Farm Bureaus with all counties in the state members with the exception of Cerro Gordo, Wright, Guthrie and Worth. It is governed by voting directors, one from each member county, who meet at the annual meeting each year to select officers and adopt resolutions which form the policies of the organization.

At the last annual meeting in January, 1941, held in Des Moines, these voting directors changed the annual meeting date to November, and this year will find the Farm Bureau holding its state convention the week of November 17.

The reason for this was to put the organization's year on the same basis as that of the American Farm Bureau with which it is affiliated, along with 38 other states. The A. F. B. F. represents these states in national affairs and carries on a legislative program which is credited with having been successful in gaining passage of the original AAA, and the recent 85 per cent Parity Loan plan legislation.

Iowa Farm Bureau leaders have characterized passage of the parity loan bill at this session of Congress as the Farm Bureau's greatest victory since the passage of the first AAA. Francis Johnson, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, is a member of the board of the American Farm Bureau, and participated in this effort in Washington, D. C., making five distinct trips to the capitol to take part in hearings and meeting with Iowa congressmen.

Farm Bureau membership is $10 a year per family. Six dollars of this amount remains in the county to carry on a constructive agricultural program and to supplement public funds available for educational work. Of the balance, $3.50 is sent to the state federation, and 50 cents is sent to the A. F. B. F.

The organization functions on democratic principles. The township Farm Bureaus in the counties have their own officers. Chairmen of all townships serve as the governing body of each county Farm Bureau. A voting director represents each county in the state federation. In addition to forming policies and electing officers of the state organization, they also elect district committeemen.

There are nine district committeemen, one for each Farm Bureau district. This state executive committee meets at the state office in Des Moines each month, just as county boards meet each month, and handles the business of the organization with its officers.

Women's activities are similarly organized and governed as to carrying out policies by a state women's committee. Women have a major part in the program and in the counties carry on home project activities as well as other projects concerned with state and national welfare.

Each county Farm Bureau employes a county agent, and many of them employ an assistant or club agent, and a home demonstration agent. Since it was organized 22 years ago, Farm Bureau members have contributed at least four million dollars of private funds to county educational work, adult education projects, women's project and 4-H club work, while probably not to exceed one and one-half million dollars have gone into the state federation treasury.

The program of activity of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation is built to the needs and the demands of the county Farm Bureaus. Some brief description of these activities will be of interest.

At present, the organization is particularly concerned with the national agricultural program which is resulting in changes in cropping programs for farmers in conjunction with the demands of national defense. The organization is doing everything to cooperate in the program, and at the same time doing its utmost to safeguard the farmers of the state from any repetition of the depression which followed the last World War.

In this line, the state Farm Bureau has an active marketing committee, which is doing its utmost through study and work to eliminate inefficiencies, both in the cooperative field and in the general marketing field. This particularly pertains to the dairy and livestock industries.

Four service organizations are affiliated with the organization. The oldest is the Iowa Farm Service Company which serves local farm service companies and other cooperatives acting as a purchasing agent for oils, gasoline, paint and other farm necessities. The Iowa Farm Mutual Insurance Company serves members only writing automobile insurance for them at cost. Likewise, these local companies utilize the services of the Business Service Association which provides audits and comparative analyses of these companies. A fourth service is that of the Iowa Farm Serum Company which, as a volume purchaser of serums and biologics, serves county serum companies and pays dividends to members.

The Iowa Farm Bureau Federation is also concerned with the farm family and through special departments is serving all members in one way or another. It actively supports and sponsors 4-H club work for farm boys and girls.

It has a full-time rural young people's activity director working with rural young people's organizations and Junior Farm Bureaus which carry on a program of their own.

A more recent activity is that among young married farmers. The purpose of this activity is to assist them in their problems of farm operation, and to furnish them a medium within the counties where they can get together, and talk things over, and at the same time get acquainted.

A major activity of the Farm Bureau is its sponsorship of legislation in the Iowa general assembly, and to make appearances where necessary in behalf of the farmers of the state. An instance of the latter is the successful appearances made when railroads recently sought to increase rates on feeder and stocker cattle. Saving to the farmers of Iowa as a result of appearances made by Farm Bureau leaders and the work done on this by the organization's research department was a means of saving Iowa farmers thousands of dollars.

Full time representatives are employed when the legislature is in session to seek passage of worthwhile bills, and to oppose passage of bills which might be a detriment to the agriculture of the state.

Present officers and directors and members of the state women's committee of the organization are as follows:

State Officers—Francis Johnson, Terril, President; A. B. Kline, Vinton, Vice President; V. B. Hamilton, Des Moines, Secretary-Treasurer; O. W. Beeler, Des Moines, Field Director.

Executive Committee—First District, A. Fletcher Aitchison, Cascade; Second District, Henry Lubkeman, Hampton; Third District, H. J. Shoemaker, Hawarden; Fourth District, Francis Kerr, Manilla; Fifth District, Russell Hayes, Prairie City; Sixth District, H. H. Crist, Clarence; Seventh District, Lee Stephenson, Eldon; Eighth District, Frank L. Bell, Albia; Ninth District, Fred A. Klopping, Underwood.

Woman's Committee—Chairman, Mrs. Raymond Sayre, Ackworth; First District, Mrs. A. J. Hansen, Cedar Falls; Second District, Mrs. W. H. Jacobs, Forest City; Third District, Mrs. Jessie Kohrt, Rock Rapids; Fourth District, Mrs. Fred Zahniser, Sac City; Fifth District, Mrs. O. L. Minor, Churdan; Sixth District, Mrs. John Wallace, Williamsburg; Seventh District, Mrs. Rollin Brown, Sigourney; Eighth District, Mrs. R. E. Newcomer, Moulton; Ninth District, Mrs. Adolph Schultz, Silver City.

Iowa Farmers Union

THE Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America, more commonly known as the Farmers Union, had its beginning in a blacksmith shop on the cactus plains of Rains County, Texas, in 1902," writes Page L. Hawthorne, president of the Iowa Farmers Union. "The father of the movement was Newt Gresham, who lived on a rented farm near Point, Texas.

"Bitter experience had taught him the difficulty of attempting to succeed financially and ultimately to become a home owner under a marketing system controlled by speculators. Brooding over the condition of himself and his neighbors, weighted down by the credit and mortgage system, Gresham thought he might help farmers to perfect a better system of marketing. He had been an organizer for the Farmers' Alliance, and knew how to go about getting people together for their own good.

First Local at Smyrna, Texas

"After prolonged efforts he succeeded in convincing nine other farmers of his home county that the idea was practical and these ten men secured a charter from the state of Texas. The first local was organized at Smyrna School House, September 2, 1902. The organization grew immediately. In 1903 the Farmers Union made a contract with the cotton ginner of Rains County, Texas, and saved to the farmers more than $6,000. Organizers were commissioned and sent into Arkansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Indian Territory, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, and Missouri.

"The aims, objectives and purposes of the Farmers Union were set forth by the original organizers in 1902 in such a manner that they stand today as they did then and are the creed of millions of American farmers," continues President Hawthorne:

"To secure equality, establish justice, and apply the Golden Rule.

"To discourage the credit and mortgage system.

"To assist members in buying and selling.

"To educate the agricultural classes in scientific farming.

"To teach farmers classification of crops and domestic economy, and the process of marketing.

"To systematize methods of production and distribution.

"To eliminate gambling in farm products by Boards of Trade, cotton exchanges and other speculators.

"To bring farming up to the standard of other business enterprises.

"To secure and maintain profitable and uniform prices for cotton, grain, and livestock, and other products of the farm.

"To strive for harmony and good will among all mankind and brotherly love among ourselves.

"To garner the tears of the distressed, the blood of martyrs, the laughter of innocent childhood, the sweat of honest labor and the virtue of a happy home as the brightest jewels known."

"In order to obtain these, it is necessary to establish justice and equality. To accomplish this farmers must have a fair price for what they produce, or a price covering cost of production. Therefore, the Farmers Union adopted Cost of Production as their national slogan.

First Iowa Local in 1907

"The first Farmers Union Local in Iowa was organized at Ruthven, on September 17, 1907, the organizer being L. T. Barringer, Iowa's original cooperator. Corn was then selling for eight and ten cents a bushel. The four-page pamphlet which Mr. Barringer issued, setting forth the principles of the new farm organization, cost him 125 bushels of good Iowa corn. The movement spread rapidly in Iowa and it was not long until the state was dotted with Farmers Union locals and various cooperatives, to the great money savings and increased earnings of its members.

"Under the leadership of Milo Reno, the Farmers Union has pioneered in every constructive piece of farm legislation that ever has been enacted," says President Hawthorne, who supplied this article. "Any business organization to be effective must have a distinct purpose and its membership must consist only of men engaged and directly interested in the business for whose benefit the organization was designed. Production has always been an individual matter to be performed in the shop, in the factory, or on the farm. The purpose of organization is to deal with such problems as are common to the industry and problems that cannot be solved in an individual way.

"Under the present economic set-up of this country organization is imperative. No industry of any magnitude can hope to survive without the protection derived from an organization with a definite program, with a comprehensive membership directed by a leadership with vision, intelligence, and integrity.

"No industry other than agriculture is attempting to battle its way through these trying times unorganized. An organization to be of value must have a program. That program must be in accord with the needs of the industry. Farmers when engaged in physical labor from 10 to 14 hours a day are poorly equipped to study the intricate problems involved in the economics of their industry. Achievements will be possible only when farmers acquire the capacity to choose wisely those who are to direct the affairs of their organization. When the so-called business world realizes agricultural prosperity is essential for their prosperity and speak of farm organizations with favor rather than with ridicule, then our skies will brighten.

Farmers Union Accepts No Subsidies

"The Farmers Union has struggled for many years, preaching prosperous agriculture. It has paid its own way. It has not sought or accepted subsidies from any quarter. It has not been financed by Board of Trade or similar interests. The only potent influence directing its affairs is the voice of its membership and that membership is composed exclusively of farmers. If it is not completely controlled by its members, it is due to their indifference or lack of understanding.

"Such an organization as the Farmers Union can be established and can be made to conform to the things for which it was designed if human beings contain the capacity for self-government.

"Today the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America consists of the national union, 26 state unions, several hundred county unions and some 25,000 locals."

The Iowa state officers are: Page L. Hawthorne, Creston, president; Guy Maxwell, Middletown, vice president; Helen Holehan, Des Moines, secretary-treasurer; and directors: G. H. Beck, Mount Union; Emmor Foster, Denison; Anton H. Green, Grand Mound; Charles Shearn, Morrison; George H. Wharam, Mason City; E. J. Willis, Creston, and Charles M. Wilwert, Waupeton.

The president of the Farmers Union Mutual Life Insurance Co. is Ned E. Curtis; the president of the Farmers Union Automobile Insurance Co. is C. N. Rogers; the manager of the Farmers Union Brokerage Service is Donald W. Van Vleet.

The officers of the Iowa Division of the Ladies' Auxiliary are: President, Mrs. Anton Green, Grand Mound; vice president, Mrs. Edna Untiedt, Dixon; secretary-treasurer, Mildred Schultz, Merrill. Board of directors: Mrs. Hilda Kelting, Davenport; Mrs. Jim Vail, What Cheer; Mrs. Con Heiden, Denison; Mrs. Dwight Anderson, Agency; Mrs. May Deedrick, Grinnell; Mrs. Clarence Bleil, Quimby; Mrs. Walter Ver Steegh, New Sharon. Board of arbitration: Mrs. Glen Bowles, Indianola; Mrs. Dennis Ryan, Corning; Mrs. R. J. Higgins, Jefferson. Parliamentarian, Mrs. Tom White, Des Moines.

Iowa State Grange

IN existence in Iowa the last 73 years, the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, or Grange, as it is more commonly known, continues to be an active factor in farm life and community service.

The 1941 officers of the Iowa State Grange are as follows: Master, Ralph W. Smith, Newton; Overseer, James Carradus, Manchester; Lecturer, Mrs. Emma Parmenter, Gilman; Steward, Howard Straight, Bedford; Assistant Steward, Delbert Rayl, Sully; Chaplain, Mrs. Lila Cope, Prairie City; Treasurer, Jetson Adams, Killduff; Secretary, Mrs. Etta Hadley, 1130 N. r Ave. W., Newton; Gatekeeper, George Schenke, Manchester; Ceres, Mrs. C. B. Klaus, Earlville; Pomona, Mrs. Howard Pace, Muscatine; Flora, Mrs. Warren Bailey, Grinnell; Lady Assistant Steward, Mildred Kaisand, Grinnell; Executive Committee, Austin Mead, Manchester; Elmer Iverson, Grinnell; Hugo Schnekloth, Eldridge.

Deputies of the Iowa State Grange: James Carradus, Manchester; Joe Dexter, Grinnell; L. A. Schnekloth, Davenport; Howard Pace, Muscatine; Charles Jacobs, Downey; Roy Rhodes, Kellogg; Howard Cook, Manchester; Walter Goreham, Montezuma; W. W. Bleakney, Newton.

State Juvenile Matron, Mrs. Grover Vogt, Grinnell.

State Home Community Committee: Mrs. Abbie Iske, Baxter; Mrs. A. E. Oostendorp, Davenport; Mrs. Walter Goreham, Montezuma; Mrs. Howard Straight, Bedford; Mrs. James Carradus, Manchester.

Grange Halls Outstanding Community Centers

"During our existence, the Grange has lived and contributed its full share to agriculture and the welfare of Iowa," says Master Ralph W. Smith. "During that period we have witnessed wars, inflations and depressions, but never once under any condition has the Grange ever changed from its early policy of laboring for the good of the order, the country and mankind. The Grange halls and meeting places have been recognized as the outstanding community centers. In these places plans are formulated and projects started that make for better rural communities."

During the last annual convention, the legislative committee reported favoring the retaining of the embargo act on arms and ammunition, and as opposed to anything but the cash-and-carry plan on all goods bought in the United States by the belligerent nations. The agricultural committee report endorsed the soil conservation program, limitation of the landlord's lien to one-half of the production of the farm for one year, including both crops and increase of live stock, and nullification of any provisions for liens on breeding stock, machinery or personal property as well as waivers of statutory exemptions; also elimination of deficiency judgments, compensation to the tenant for unexhausted minor improvements in case the tenant leaves the farm; damage to landlord by tenant for any abuse of farm property; furthermore, arbitration of differences between landlord and tenant upon request of either party before such controversy can be submitted to court.

Grange Organized in 1868

We are indebted to Charles P. Starrett, former master of the Iowa Grange, for the following historical facts:

"The Order of Patrons of Husbandry was organized in 1868. The second working Grange was organized in Newton, Iowa, the day following the launching of Grange No. 1 at Fredonia, New York, both in the spring of 1868. The Grange has been in Iowa ever since. It was started 22 years after Iowa had been admitted as a state.

"Oliver Hudson Kelly is credited with its inception. A Massachusetts man, he came to Iowa in an early day, went on to Minnesota and occupied land near the Mississippi river, some 50 miles above Minneapolis. It is said that he was the second man initiated into the Masonic fraternity in Minnesota.

"Part of the time during the Civil War he was employed in the Post Office Department in Washington, and returned to his home immediately following that conflict. Soon he was called back to the Capitol at the request of the Bureau of Agriculture and of President Andrew Johnson. He was asked to visit the several states of the South and see what might be done to alleviate the distress of southern farmers who had suffered severely during the war.

"He found no economic plan that seemed of particular promise, and wondered if a fraternal organization among farmers, along the line of the great fraternal societies might bind them more closely together. A ritual and organization in accordance with his idea were set up. Coming some seventy years ago and long before women's suffrage, his plan including women and children above 16 was a radical departure from the customs of his day.

"The Grange has enjoyed its greatest growth in the middle west. By 1875, Iowa reported 1,955 Granges and 100,000 members. Its rapid growth demanded capable leadership and follow-up activities. This was difficult under existing conditions. The railroads were still unregulated, and their rates and practices were badly in need of revision; farm machinery prices were not equitable. Barbed wire, which played such a prominent part in the settlement of the prairie, was far too expensive.

"The Grange began agitation to have these defects corrected. They purchased farm machinery factories and patent rights; they started stores and did much of the pioneering in Iowa in the field of cooperation."

28,885 Boys and Girls in 4-H Clubs

FOUR-H CLUBS have increased rapidly in Iowa and in every state in the Union for the past two decades. In 1940, 28,885 Iowa rural boys and girls were enrolled in 1,894 clubs, distributed as follows: Boys, 16,235; girls, 12,650. Since 4-H clubs began in Iowa, it is believed more than 250,000 different individuals have been enrolled one year or more.

Starting in the period 1905 to 1909 what was commonly called "Junior Work" was prevalent in many counties, mostly conducted through the schools. Leading in this movement were Keokuk, Page, Clinton and Wright counties. The principal activities centered around corn growing in those early years.

Later, projects for girls in foods and clothing began to develop. Other boys' projects in production of swine, calves, garden and poultry were introduced. About this time the idea of club groups took shape more definitely and this brought the local leadership system into operation. Now, more than 4,336 volunteer leaders each give an average of 12 days service in leadership every year. The 4-H emblem was first used in 1909. Many projects and activities were introduced.

The accompanying table giving the number of boys and girls enrolled in Iowa by projects indicates the scope of the work so far as subjects are concerned. The activities supplementing these, one or more of which are carried on by a club, are health, music, drama, recreation, conservation, safety and fire prevention, citizenship training and others chosen by individual clubs.

Club groups hold monthly meetings, elect officers annually, plan yearly programs and conduct their own affairs. Each group functions with the cooperation of an adult leader who is usually a farmer or homemaker residing in the community.

Eligible ages in Iowa for boys are 10 to 21 years and for girls 12 to 21 years. The average age of members at present is about 16.5 years. Members stay in clubs an average of about 3 years.

The 4-H club work is conducted under the supervision of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Extension Service of Iowa State College and county Farm Bureaus. Many other organizations and business concerns cooperate by providing awards and otherwise assist in the work.

The following supplemental information in regard to 4-H club development and work in Iowa is taken from the annual report of the Extension Department of Iowa State College, dated July 2, 1940, and deals with activities of the clubs in 1939.

Of the 15,073 boys enrolled, 12,428 were in school and 2,645 out of school. These members resided on 10,628 farms. The members belonged to 879 local club groups of which 125 were new clubs organized in 1939. Supervising and assisting these local groups were 1,218 local and assistant local leaders. During the year 258 demonstration teams were trained, 250 judging teams, 631 members did fire prevention work, and 3,566 4-H boys appeared on township and community programs. More than 1,000 members were in conservation work.

The 4-H girls' club program in Iowa is planned to develop richer and fuller living for farm girls—to give them an organization of their own through which they may enjoy democratic experiences, express themselves, learn the value of organization, learn to serve and lead. In 1939, there were 11,854 farm girls enrolled in 933 clubs which held 12,667 meetings. Every girl studied home economics in one of four fields: Nutrition, home furnishing, home efficiency or clothing. Each project is presented in a county for two consecutive years so that after eight years of club work a girl will have had the complete cycle of home economics. Twenty-five counties carry each project annually.

The 2,973 girls enrolled in home efficiency improved their methods of doing home tasks, overcame 2,050 hazards to health and safety, changed working heights to increase efficiency and made 7,389 articles for home convenience. About 830 girls carried a program for fire prevention, making farm home inspections and eliminating 839 fire hazards. Home grounds improved as a result of the home beautification program numbered 940.

Food habits were improved by 2,638 girls in the nutrition project. The girls planned, prepared and served 100,165 meals for their families. They canned 56,060 quarts of meat, vegetables and fruits, froze 13,452 pounds of foods and baked 18,306 loaves of bread and made 55,954 bakings of quick breads, cakes and cookies. Garden products valued at $17,736 were raised by 956 girls in nutrition and home efficiency clubs. The home economics practices learned by the girls are passed on to homemakers in the community through 2,624 demonstrations reaching 145,266 persons.

A regular music course is presented each year. The 1939 study, "Half-Hour Studies From Famous Operas," was presented with a three-fold emphasis—listening, singing and rhythmic expression through folk games. This program makes possible the presentation of a festival at the State 4-H Girls' Convention when, with but one rehearsal, a pageant of song, rhythm and color is presented by a cast of more than 2,000.

Below will be found a table showing the number of boys and girls enrolled in agricultural and home economic projects in 4-H clubs in Iowa in 1940, by counties:

County Agents

ONE HUNDRED county agents in the 99 counties of Iowa (Pottawattamie county, having the largest area, is divided into two parts: East and West) are invaluable factors in solving farm problems, raising farm output, securing better markets and generally increasing farm incomes and farm-home pleasures.

In order to effectively reach the entire state the laws of Iowa provide for an organization of farmers and farm owners in each county, now known as the County Farm Bureau. They provide for cooperation between these county farm bureaus, the Iowa State College and the United States Department of Agriculture. These agencies jointly employ county agents, home demonstration agents and club agents when needed.

The official list of county agents in Iowa (100 in number) as of August 1, 1941, is as follows, furnished by R. K. Bliss, director of the Extension Service of Iowa State College:

Home Demonstration Agents

BETTER living for their families was the aim of 92,883 farm women who enrolled in home economics extension courses presented throughout the state, asserts R. K. Bliss, director of the Extension Service of Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

Improved homemaking was taught to farm women at home and in community gatherings in 76 counties by 52 Home Demonstration agents. "Information was given to 7,005 farm women who served as local leaders and relayed the material to other homemakers in neighborhood study groups. The number of farm homes from which homemakers were enrolled in home economic study increased about 3,500 in the last three years."

Five general groups of study matter are presented: home furnishing, child development and family relationships, foods and nutrition, home management and clothing.

The list of Home Demonstration Agents, as of March 1, 1941, was as follows:

With Iowa producing more swine than any other state in the Union, the swine show at the Iowa State Fair is always one of the highlights of the exposition. Here is one of the prize porkers at the 1941 state fair. The Iowa State Fair is recognized as America's greatest agricultural and livestock show. Its stock exhibits each year comprise between 6,000 and 7,000 horses, cattle, swine, and sheep from more than thirty states.

Iowa Enrolls 283,449 Army Selectees

ON October 16, 1940, pursuant to the Selective Service Act passed by the United States Congress, 283,449 Iowans between the ages of 21 and 36 went to the places designated and registered for possible army service in defense of their country. They were a part of the great army of 17,000,000 males who registered that day throughout the nation. Later on, they were given numbers and still later these numbers were drawn from a glass fish bowl in Washington (President Roosevelt drawing the first capsule with a number enclosed) and were ordered to report to their respective draft boards for classification and a possible call to the colors. Iowa was doing its bit, as it had in every previous war and emergency, to defend the country and to keep the world safe for democracy.

Out of that army of 283,449 men, Iowa's first allotment—for possible call prior to July 1, 1941—was 36,023. This was the total number of Iowans who must be in federal military service by that time if Iowa were to do its share numerically.

But deductions shortly began to be made. To begin with, there were 5,145 national guardsmen in Iowa to be credited against the total men Iowa must furnish for a year's military duty. Moreover, there were 19,140 Iowans already in other branches of the nation's regular armed forces. This total of 24,285, deducted from the state's quota of 36,023, left 11,738 men whom Iowa must furnish to the new army of selectees. The work of picking them out and getting them to various camps, as soon as the War department was ready for them, began without delay.

A total of 2,680 selectees was provided by Iowa between the time of enrollment and March 1, 1941. For the month of March it was announced by Lieutenant Colonel Robert Fulton, in charge of Iowa draft quotas, and General Charles H. Grahl, state selective service director, that 1,468 more Iowans were needed by Uncle Sam, divided as follows: whites, 1,411; Negroes 57. The remaining number of Iowa selectees (7,590) were due to be chosen by the various draft boards in Iowa and sent into training camps before July 1, 1941, bringing Iowa's quota of soldiers of all kinds up to the 100 per cent mark.

Thus Iowa was doing as it had done in the Civil War, the Spanish American War, the border war with Mexico, and the World War: sending the flower of its youth, clad in the uniforms of Uncle Sam's various fighting forces, to be ready for whatever service it might be called upon heroically to perform.

A writer in the New York Times gives this interesting information on the plans of the War department, the rules as to deferment and other matters, under date of February 15, 1941:

"Thus far some 17,000,000 males between the ages of 21 and 36 have been registered and, through the lottery held in Washington, have obtained numbers, establishing the order in which they may be called up. Determination of whether men should have deferred status because of greater usefulness in civilian jobs (Class 2) or family responsibilities (Class 3) is proceeding in practical fashion, and on the basis of experience to date eleven minor amendments to the original regulations have been issued. One of these, for instance, authorizes two government appeal agents, one having been found inadequate for the task.

"Developments thus far on the draft front indicate that after the first 800,000 men have been drafted into armed service it will be shown that only about 5,000 of those selected were opposed to combatant military service. It is expected that an equal number will be found who are opposed to military activity in any form and, therefore, may be serving the nation in various jobs under civil government direction.

Horse racing is always one of the big features at the Iowa State Fair the last week in August. Nearly 200 trotters, pacers, and runners compete in the State Fair speed classics each season, and these racing events are among the best known in the mid-west.

The climax of American dirt track auto racing occurs at the Iowa State Fair each summer, when the National Championship Dirt Track Races are held on three days of the exposition. More than sixty of the nation's top drivers competed in the finals at last year's State Fair. Here is a crucial moment in one of the racing events, with the super-charged speed wagons rounding a curve.

Here is a corner of the beautiful 125 acre free camp ground at the Iowa State Fair. The camp is open each season to fair visitors without charge. It is equipped with electric lights, city water service, shower baths, and all possible conveniences. Nearly 25,000 visitors camp out at the State Fair each year.

Iowa's National Guard—1941-1942

THE first contingent of the Iowa National Guard ordered to one year's active duty in the Army of the United States consisted of six officers of the State Staff. These officers reported for duty on September 20, 1940, and were assigned to State Headquarters for Selective Service. On October 10, 1940, the State Detachment of 26 enlisted men was ordered to duty and assigned to Selective Service Headquarters, which had been established in the armory at East First and Des Moines Streets, Des Moines. Subsequently, seven additional officers of the State Staff were assigned to this duty.

Complying with an executive order of the President, all units of the 113th Cavalry reported at their respective armories on January 13, 1941, and started their year's active training. This regiment had recently been converted from a horse unit to a regiment of one horse squadron and one mechanized squadron. They went into active service in the following cities and with approximate strengths indicated:

Des Moines—Headquarters—9 officers.

Des Moines—Headquarters Troop—119 officers and enlisted men.

Des Moines—Medical Detachment—37 officers and enlisted men.

Des Moines—Troop F—181 officers and enlisted men.

Burlington—Service Troop—153 officers and enlisted men.

Oskaloosa—Band—24 enlisted men.

Oskaloosa—Troop E—121 officers and enlisted men.

Iowa City—Troop B—97 officers and enlisted men.

Ottumwa—Troop C—141 officers and enlisted men.

Washington—Troop D—121 officers and enlisted men.

Council Bluffs—Troop A—82 officers and enlisted men.

The advance detachment of this regiment departed from their home stations on January 20, 1941, en route to Camp Bowie, Texas. This group, consisting of 86 officers and enlisted men with 33 pieces of motorized equipment, traveled overland. The balance of the regiment left home stations on January 23 and traveled by special train. Colonel Maxwell A. O'Brien of Des Moines, commanded the Cavalry, which at this time became a part of the regular fighting forces of Uncle Sam, ready for any emergency or duty.

On Monday, February 10, 1941, thousands of young men, dressed in khaki uniforms could be seen walking down the streets of 33 Iowa towns and cities, converging on the National Guard armories. They were taking their first steps toward induction into the regular army for a year's service in the far-flung campaign to give Uncle Sam an army of several million men, designed for national defense but prepared for any emergency in a world gone mad with war.

February 10, 1941, marked a new era in the century-old history of the Iowa National Guard, the detailed story of which is told upon other pages. In a way, it marked the temporary ending of Iowa's National Guard, for it became a part of the regular army of the United States, to be succeeded in Iowa by Home Guards, keeping the home fires burning until the regular militiamen could return, after their year's service, or went on to war as their brothers and fathers had done back in 1917.

Having repaired to their armories, Iowa's 5,500 National Guardsmen were inducted into the regular army service and then spent a fortnight at home in the preparation of the innumerable details for service. During that interim the streets of Iowa's towns and cities saw more men in uniform than it had seen any time since the World War, when Iowa gave so freely of the flower of its young manhood.

During that interim, the Guardsmen who could conveniently do so went home at night for the last hours of companionship with loved ones, but all were rejoined around the mess tables three times a day and preparations were hastened for the departure. Iowa Guardsmen were sent to Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, about 18 miles south of Alexandria, Louisiana, and 185 miles northwest of New Orleans. There their real army life of preparedness began; for what emergency or eventuality nobody knew.

The Iowa Guardsmen thus mobilized on February 10, 1941, were part of the 34th division and included the 67th brigade, the 168th and 133rd Infantry regiments, the 185th Field Artillery, the 136th Quartermasters regiment and a number of special troops which serve the division. The 34th division, in addition to the Iowa troops, include National Guard units from Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. The Iowa troops thus mobilized came from Des Moines, Iowa City, Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Clarinda, Audubon, Jefferson, Shenandoah, Villisca, Centerville, Marshalltown, Neola, Glenwood, Atlantic, Red Oak, Waterloo, Dubuque, Cedar Falls, Fairfield, Cedar Rapids, Fort Dodge, Mason City, Webster City, Sheldon, Le Mars, Burlington, Newton, Ida Grove, Sibley, Davenport, Boone, Clinton and Grand Junction.

The 34th division was commanded by Major General Ellard C. Walsh of Minnesota. Brig. Gen. Gordon C. Hollar, of Sioux City, was the ranking Iowa officer, being commander of the 67th brigade. Next come Colonels Folsom Everest of Council Bluffs, commander of the 168th; Howard J. Rouse of Waterloo, commander of the 133rd; Walter L. Anderson of Boone, commander of the 185th Field Artillery; Earl B. Bush of Ames, commander of the 136th Medical regiment; and Roy B. Gault of Osceola, commander of the 109th Quartermasters regiment.

The National Guard of Iowa, like other states, was mobilized by a presidential order, which had been given authorization by Congress. In such a case the troops become subject to jurisdiction of federal authorities. If the troops had been summoned to duty by a presidential call, rather than order, they would have remained under the state; but such was not the case in 1941. Thus Iowa was left without state troops, pending the organization of a Home Guard.

Following is a list of Iowa National Guard units, and the towns in which they were stationed, prior to February 10, 1941, the date of mobilization and induction into United States service. Figures indicate approximate numbers of men in all units stationed in towns named:

Grand Junction—Battery D—70 men and officers.

Iowa's National Guard—1838-1940

The history of the Iowa National Guard is the story of Iowa itself, not alone in the participation in all wars since the Territory was organized, more than a century ago, but in the progress of the state, its agricultural and economic difficulties, and its wonderful development.

The Guard proudly boasts that it is as old as Iowa. The office of Adjutant General was created by the Territorial Legislature in 1839, but the first official commission of record was that of Adjutant General Lee, in 1851.

In his first annual message to the legislature on November 12, 1838, Governor Robert Lucas advocated an efficient and disciplined militia, urging that appropriate laws be passed giving the militia "a perfect organization, so as to render prompt and efficient defense." It is to the everlasting ing credit of the ensuing militia, officially known as the Iowa National Guard, that it has always been ready for any emergency, in war or peace times; that it has invariably been composed of fine, stalwart men, and efficient, capable officers.

Iowa-Missouri War Fizzled

Few citizens, aside from the historically-minded, know that Iowa and Missouri were on the verge of war, in 1838 and 1839, because of a boundary line dispute arising over whether the Des Moines rapids were in the Des Moines or the Mississippi river, where the Des Moines enters it, below Keokuk. The dispute culminated in the effort of Missouri to collect taxes from settlers in southeastern Iowa, who claimed they lived in Iowa and not in Missouri. The Governors of Iowa and Missouri issued counter proclamations and the feeling was tense for a time. Finally the situation became so critical that Governor Lucas directed a mobilization of a portion of the Iowa militia. A motley force of 1,133 men and 42 officers mobilized in the disputed territory. The Missouri militia mobilized across the disputed boundary line. The two forces glared at each other, went through drills and made every preparation for war. For some reason, unknown to later historians, the Missourians adopted the "show me" attitude and suddenly returned to their homes, to be shown in peace around their hearthstones. When the Iowa militiamen discovered this masterful retreat on the part of their enemies, they, too, returned to their homes and the war was over.

Later on, the Iowa legislature memorialized Congress to compensate the officers and men for their services. A committee of Congress recommended the payment, lessening the glory of the affair by reporting that "there was a greater number of generals and other officers than were necessary to command the men." A sum of $14,500 was finally agreed upon, but there is no record of its ever having been appropriated.

One Company in Mexican War

When the call came for soldiers to take part in the war with Mexico, in 1846, the Iowa militia was practically nonexistent. Governor James Clarke issued a proclamation to the "citizen soldiery of Iowa" and as a result a regiment was raised, but never called into service as such. Four independent companies were mustered into the service of the United States, but only one company saw active service.

About the time of the Spirit Lake massacre, in 1857, a force of militia known as Captain H. B. Martin's Company for the Defense of the Northwestern Frontier was organized, principally around Hamilton and Webster counties, with a few recruits from the lake region. This company remained on duty at the lakes for four or five months, and in the fall of the following year, 1858, was ordered into service again and remained along the frontier until the following spring.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Iowa was called upon to furnish one regiment of militia for immediate service. Two regiments, known as the Northern Border Brigade and the Southern Border Brigade, were organized, the former consisting of 257 officers and men, the latter 794 officers and men. Both brigades protected the state's borders from invasion, by Indians on the north and rebellious Missourians on the south.

Seventy-six Thousand Two Hundred Forty-two Iowans in Union Army

During the Civil War, Iowa organized 48 regiments of infantry, nine regiments of cavalry, one regiment of African infantry and four batteries of light artillery. A total of 76,242 men were recruited in Iowa and served all or part of the duration of the war. Of these 13,001 lost their lives, either in battle casualties or through disease.

A recently published Historical Annual of the Iowa National Guard gives this brief, but important, review of the early Civil War activities of the state troops:

"Early in April, 1861, ten companies of militia which had volunteered their services to the Governor of Iowa to fight for the cause of the Union were consolidated into the First Infantry and early in May of the same year reached their designated rendezvous at Keokuk. Here they were mustered into the service of the United States on May 14, 1861. The First Infantry was the first regiment of Iowa soldiers to engage in combat. The time had come for Iowa soldiers to receive their baptism of fire. Thus far, no Iowa man had ever met foemen in battle.

"The regiment left Keokuk on the 13th day of June, 1861, and was transported by boat down the Mississippi to Hannibal, Missouri, thence by railroad to Macon City and Renic. They then marched across country to Boonville, a distance of 58 miles, in less than two and a half days. This was an extraordinary march inasmuch as the regiment was composed of green men with little training and fresh from their homes and firesides. As an element of General Lyon's command, the little army took up the march toward Springfield.

Civil War Participation

"On August 10, 1861, the Confederate Army was on Wilson's Creek, ten miles away. The force consisted of some 14,000 well-armed and well-disciplined troops and 10,000 irregular troops. The Union force, of which the Iowa regiment was a part, numbered approximately 5,000. In spite of the overwhelming odds General Lyon decided to march and attack the enemy directly in front. The march was accomplished through the hours of darkness.

"The first streaks of dawn were ushered in with the rattle of musketry. The first real battle, in the West, for the preservation of the Union, had begun. Foot by foot General Lyon's forces yielded ground to superior numbers, but finally were successful in stemming the advance of the Confederates.

"Shelby Norman, a fair-haired boy of seventeen, one of the first to enlist in Iowa, was the first to lose his life. He was a member of Company A, First Iowa Infantry. In this engagement, out of a total enrollment of 999, the regiment suffered 160 casualties.

"But one organization, Crocker's Iowa Brigade, fought through the entire war and retained its organization. This brigade was composed of the 11th, 13th, 15th and 16th Infantries. It participated in the memorable 'march to the sea,' as well as many other famous battles of the Civil War."

General James Rush Lincoln Originates Guard

Credit for having originated what is generally known today as the Iowa National Guard, supplanting the loosely-knit or even disconnected units of former days, is widely given to the late General James Rush Lincoln, who, for many years, was in charge of military affairs at Iowa State College, at Ames. General Lincoln organized a unit at Booneville which was, in many ways, the parent of the Guard of today. Another man to whom great credit is given for Guard activities in the post-Civil War and pre-Spanish-American War is General Grenville M. Dodge of Council Bluffs, who served as a Major General in the war between the states.

In the report of the Adjutant General of Iowa, dated January 1, 1873, a roster of the organized militia companies then in existence is included for the first time. The majority had been organized between 1871 and 1873; nineteen in all. In 1876 the militia was organized along regimental lines; seven six-company regiments, a battalion at the State University of Iowa, twelve battery regiments of field artillery, and three unattached organizations. This arrangement continued until 1893, when the seven regiments and miscellaneous organizations were consolidated into two brigades of two regiments each; the regiments being the First to Fourth, inclusive.

Four Regiments in Spanish-American War

Following the declaration of war with Spain, on April 23, 1898, President McKinley issued a call for 125,000 volunteers. On April 25 the Governor of Iowa ordered all organizations of the four regiments to proceed to Camp McKinley, at Des Moines. These four regiments were mustered into the Federal service and redesignated the 49th, 50th, 51st and 52d Iowa Infantry Volunteers.

The 49th was sent to Jacksonville, Florida, on June 14, 1898, and was mustered out at Savannah, Georgia, on May 13, 1899.

The 50th was sent to Jacksonville, Florida, on May 24, 1898, and was mustered out at Des Moines on November 30, 1898.

The 51st was sent to San Francisco, California, on June 14, 1898, and from there to the Philippines, where it participated in many campaigns in the Philippine insurrection. It was mustered out, at San Francisco on November 2, 1899.

The 52d was sent to Chickamauga Park, Georgia, on May 31, 1898, and was returned to Des Moines and mustered out on October 30, 1898.

Company M, 7th Infantry Immunes, a Negro organization, was formed. It left Des Moines, July 17, 1898, for Jefferson Barracks and was later transferred to Kentucky. Later it was brigaded with Regular Army troops and saw service in Cuba, returning to Des Moines in March, 1899, to be mustered out.

Two batteries of Light Field Artillery were organized in Des Moines, but were mustered out without ever leaving the state. A company of the 12th United States Volunteer Signal Corps was organized in June, 1898, and served in signal duty in Macon, Georgia, until December 18, 1898, when it sailed for Cuba.

Five thousand, eight hundred and fifty-nine officers and enlisted men served in the Iowa National Guard organizations during the Spanish-American War.

Iowa Guard Enters World War

In 1915 the four regiments of the Iowa National Guard were redesignated the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Infantry and at the same time the 1st Iowa Cavalry and the 1st Iowa Field Artillery were organized. After service at various points in Texas they were returned to their home stations.

Upon declaration of war with Germany, on April 6, 1917, the existing militia organizations were called into service and recruited to war strength. The 3rd Infantry, Iowa National Guard, was selected as a unit of the 42d (Rainbow) division. It was later redesignated the 168th Infantry and received its baptism of fire on March 5, 1918; the only regiment, as such, which participated in combat in France. The National Guard history referred to already adds "many individuals of other units were sent overseas and saw active service with the organizations to which they were assigned."

World War Service Record

The 1st Infantry, Iowa National Guard, was sent to Camp Cody, New Mexico, and redesignated the 133rd Infantry. The 2nd Infantry and the 1st Iowa Cavalry were also sent to Camp Cody, where they were broken up and assigned to other units of the 34th Division. The 1st Iowa Field Artillery was first sent to Fort Logan H. Roots, Arkansas, and later to Camp Cody, where it was redesignated the 126th Field Artillery. An ammunition train, two hospital companies and two ambulance companies became part of the 109th Sanitation Train, 34th Division.

The 168th Infantry, serving overseas in the 42d (Rainbow) division participated in combat as follows:

Luneville sector (Lorraine), Baccart sector (Lorraine), Esperance-Souaine sector (Champagne), Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel Essey-Pannes sector (Lorraine) and Meuse-Argonne, all in 1918, and gave splendid account of itself.

The 34th Division arrived overseas in 1918 and as a whole saw no combat service, "although some of the components and a great number of its individuals were engaged . . . The Division was skeletonized and its components were scattered to other organizations; some units remaining intact and the personnel of other units being used as replacements."

In addition to this splendid record of service on regular battlefields the Iowa National Guard has been called on, in peace times, by various governors, to maintain order or see that laws were obeyed and to strengthen local officials.

Peacetime Calls on National Guard

The Guard was first called out to preserve the public peace in 1873, to prevent a prize fight at Council Bluffs.

Other services were as follows:

July, 1893: Rendered aid and preserved order, cyclone at Pomeroy.

November, 1893: Prevented an attempted lynching of prisoner confined in jail of Taylor county.

January, 1894: To prevent the debarking of the Pacific coast contingent of Coxe's army, which floated down the Des Moines river to Keokuk.

April and May, 1894: Duty in connection with preserving of order at coal strike at Oskaloosa and Cincinnati.

July, 1894: Duty in connection with railway strike at Sioux City.

April, 1895: Preserving law and order at coal mine strike at Centerville and Cincinnati.

June, 1903: Suppressing a riot at Dubuque.

April and May, 1911: Preserving law and order with the button cutters' strike at Muscatine.

November, 1919: Duty in connection with I.W.W. activities, Sioux City.

November, 1921: Preserving law and order in connection with packing house strike, Ottumwa.

September to November, 1931: Duty at Cedar, Henry, Des Moines and Jefferson counties in connection with preserving law and order incidental to the Farm Holiday activities; generally known as the Cow War.

April and May, 1933: Duty at Denison and LeMars in connection with preserving law and order incidental to the Farm Holiday activities, under proclamation of martial law.

July, 1936: Aid to civil authorities in connection with disastrous fire at Remsen.

July, 1938: To preserve law and order, in connection with Maytag washing machine strike at Newton.

October, 1938: To preserve law and order at Sioux City in packing house strike.

Iowa Veterans of Foreign Wars

By Max Van Horn, Adjutant, Department of Iowa, V. F. W.

THE Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Iowa, was granted its charter by the National organization on May 28, 1921. Its objects are fraternal, patriotic, historical and educational; to preserve and strengthen comradeship among its members and to assist worthy comrades; to perpetuate the memory and history of its dead; and to assist their widows and orphans; to maintain true allegiance to the Government of the United States and fidelity to its constitution and laws.

Seventy-four Posts; Five Thousand Five Hundred Members

The Department of Iowa has grown since 1921 from a membership of only a few hundred with half a dozen Posts to an approximate membership of 5,500 and 74 active Posts.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars traces its history back to several veteran societies which were formed in 1899 shortly after the termination of the Spanish-American War. After their return from campaigns in Cuba and the Philippine Islands, small groups of ex-service men formed local veteran societies, having been drawn together by the comradeship of military and naval service.

Distinct and unique in its membership eligibility requirements the V. F. W. is composed only of those American citizens who have served honorably in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard of the United States, in hostile waters or on foreign soil during any foreign war, insurrection or expedition, in such service as the United States has officially designated as campaign service and for which it has authorized a campaign badge. It is the only veterans' organization chartered by Congress which permits membership from more than one war, campaign or expedition in which the United States has been engaged, by reason of which a continuing permanent existence is planned.

The Department of Iowa Veterans of Foreign Wars maintains its Department Headquarters at 201 Youngerman Building, Des Moines. It also maintains a full time Liaison Service with offices at the Veterans' Hospital in Des Moines. The services of this office are available to its membership without charge.

Aid Widows and Orphans

Each year the Posts of the Department conduct their "Buddy Poppy" campaign, either the Saturday before Memorial Day or the Saturday before Armistice. The various Posts and their Auxiliaries sell over 100,000 "Buddy Poppies" annually, a portion of the donations received by the local Posts and/or their Auxiliaries is used in the maintaining of the Liaison Office and another portion is set aside for maintaining the National Home for Widows and Orphans at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. The remainder is used by the local units for local welfare problems among the veterans of the community.

There is but one "Buddy" Poppy, the symbolic flower that is fashioned by the hands of disabled veterans in government hospitals, bearing the trade mark label issued by the United States Commissioner of Patents and distributed under the jurisdiction of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

The Department of Iowa V. F. W. is actively interested in the National Home for Widows and Orphans, having the ownership of one of the finest modern cottages at the home, costing $12,000. This is the only Veterans' organization which owns and maintains such a home and this solely through the efforts of the membership of the V. F. W. and its Auxiliary.

Maintains Several Services

In furtherance of its purpose the National V. F. W. organization maintains its National Legislative Service, its National Service Bureau, its Naval Liaison Officer and its Americanism Department with offices in Washington, D. C., as their functions require close contact with Congress and the executive departments of the Government, including the Veterans' Administration. The Department of Iowa maintains officers for the various services named above to cooperate with the National Organization.

Besides the Liaison Service an active Legislative representative is maintained in Des Moines, and a Hospital Committee which renders efficient service to veterans in the various hospitals in Iowa throughout the year.

Subsidiary units and Auxiliaries to the Veterans of Foreign Wars are as follows: The Military Order of the Cootie; Sons of the V. F. W.; Ladies Auxiliary to the V. F. W.; Daughters of the V. F. W.; The Cootiettes and the Lady Bugs.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars are active in sponsoring Junior activities in their local communities, and take an active part in all local civic and community enterprises.

Department Commanders

The department commanders and their terms of office are named below:

Henry G. Geiger, Sheldon.....	1921-1922

Posts in the Department of Iowa are located in the following cities and towns:

Dubuque, Sioux City, Mason City, Council Bluffs, Des Moines, Ottumwa, Cedar Rapids, Boone, Davenport, Marshalltown, Ames, Muscatine, Waterloo, Newton, Monticello, Oelwein, Creston, Fort Madison, Fort Dodge, Rockwell City, Buckeye, Lake City, Decorah, Perry, Storm Lake, Waverly, Nevada, Oskaloosa, Cherokee, Red Oak, Fairfield, Clinton, Emmetsburg, Manson, Independence, Burlington, Denison, Harwarden, Tipton, Algona, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa City, Clarion, Webster City, Carroll, Washington, Clarinda, Spencer, Remsen, Keokuk, Estherville, Atlantic, Knoxville, Laurens, Ida Grove, Maquoketa, Corning, Glenwood, Leon, Eagle Grove, Belle Plaine, Centerville, St. Charles, Story City, Harlan, Stuart, Lohrville, Jefferson, Sac City, Correctionville, Manning and Kingsley. There are two posts each in Davenport and Des Moines.

Iowa in the World War

THE statistical story of Iowa's participation in the World War is interesting and astounding. It is difficult to realize, especially for the younger generation, the vast number of men whom Iowa, along with the other states, put into uniform, gathered into camps, drilled, equipped and either sent overseas or held in readiness for replacement.

The best way to get the view is to look at the picture for the entire nation first. In the office of the Adjutant General, in the State House at Des Moines, will be found the complete record.

The number of enlisted men in the United States army on November 11, 1918, was 4,000,000; the number of officers 200,000. Of American soldiers in France there were 2,084,000 and of these there were 1,390,000 in active service.

7,450,200 Total Dead

The total number of men in the Allied armies was 42,188,810. Opposed to them were 22,850,000; making a grand total, in all armies, of 65,038,810 under arms. In round numbers this was more than one-half the population of the United States and its islands, territories and possessions.

During the war the Allies lost 3,100,200 men in battle deaths; the Central Powers lost 4,350,000; a grand total of 7,450,200 human lives sacrificed to the horrible god of war.

The number of wounded Allied army troops was 12,831,004; that of the Central Powers was 8,388,448; a grand total of maimed and crippled of 21,210,425; ten times the population of the state of Iowa.

Iowa Registrants 523,478

The total number of men registered in Iowa for service, and possible service, during the World War, was 523,478, more than one-fourth the entire population of men, women and children. This grand total was divided as follows:

Class of June 5, 1917, aged 21 to 31, both inclusive.....	217,914
Class of June-August, 1918, age 21.....	21,671
Class of September 12, 1918, ages 18 to 45, not previously registered	283,893
Total	523,478

The total number of officers, men and women from Iowa in World War service is placed at 114,213, divided as follows:

In the army, 96,726 enlisted men, 4,975 officers, 611 nurses.

In the marines, 1,044 enlisted men, 30 officers.

In the navy, 10,211 enlisted men, 515 officers, 40 nurses, 42 yeomen.

Cadets at West Point, 20.

These Iowa soldiers came from every walk of life. The Adjutant General reported to the Governor that of the men drafted in Iowa, 51.7 per cent were farmers and farm laborers. Moreover, many of this classification were excused by local and state draft boards, inasmuch as they were needed at home to produce foodstuffs for the men under arms.

The figures of the United States War department do not coincide with those of the Adjutant General of Iowa, due partially to additions and cancellations in the Federal lists. The Secretary of War says that Iowa furnished 92,000 men for various branches of the Army, and 10,000 for the Navy; a total of 102,000; as against 75,242 furnished for the Army and Navy during the Civil war, and 6,500 during the war with Spain.

The Adjutant General of Iowa comments: "This total of 102,000 does not take into consideration the large number of men, principally laborers from cities and towns, who removed to industrial centers to work in shipyards, munition plants and other factories furnishing war necessities." The number of these is estimated by the Iowa State Labor Commissioner as between 10,000 and 12,000. This same authority reported a record of 2,754 men whose railroad fares were paid through the employment service from points in Iowa into war activity points outside of Iowa.

More Ready When Armistice Signed

When the Armistice was signed on November 11, 1918, Iowa had about 35,000 more men classified as physically examined and ready to entrain for mobilization camps. Iowa was one of the four states which was ready to promptly fill calls for trained men; the other states being Utah, Nevada and Wisconsin. Other states were far behind and many of them, particularly the southern states, never completed the physical examination of their registrants.

Had the war continued, Iowa would have, by December 15, 1918, completed classification and physical examination of the second series of September registrants, men between 37 and 45, and would have had about 60,000 men ready for entrainment to the various camps.

A few figures showing the terrific cost of the World War to the United States and the world may not be amiss, particularly as war talk occurs again every little while.

For a period of twenty-five months between April, 1917, through April, 1919, the war cost the United States more than $1,000,000 an hour, or $21,850,000,000. During the first three months, war expenditures were at the rate of $2,000,000 a day. During the next year they averaged more than $22,000,000 a day. For the final ten months of the period the daily total reached $44,000,000. The total war costs of all nations were about $186,000,000,000, of which the United States and the Allies spent two-thirds, and the enemy one-third.

Flocks like these White Leghorn hens pictured above produce in Iowa nearly 7 per cent of the national egg crop. Total egg and poultry production in Iowa in 1939 reached $53,000,000.

The American Legion in Iowa

(By Frank Miles, Editor, Iowa Legionaire)

IOWA Leads the Legion." This slogan flies from the masthead of the Iowa Legionaire, official newspaper of the Iowa Department of the American Legion. In some respects it is a declaration of fact.

The American Legion was born in Paris, March 15, 1919. Its fathers were men from most of the Yankee army and naval outfits overseas. Iowans among them were George C. Parsons, of Perry; L. R. Fairall, of Iowa City; Don Hunter, of Newton, and Arthur Wallace, Dale Shaw and William A. Graham of Des Moines.

The Legion was launched formally at St. Louis, May 8, 1919, by World War veterans from nearly every state in the union, who had been selected by temporary secretaries named at the request of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who acted under instructions from the Paris caucus. Whether a veteran had served overseas or not would not enter into eligibility for Legion membership, it had been decided, so the delegates to St. Louis were about equal in number from both groups.

Organization Meeting in St. Louis

Thirty-eight Iowans were present. They chose Clement J. Welch, of Denison, temporary chairman, and Will L. King, of Hubbard, temporary secretary, to perfect a state organization. Two men from each of the then eleven Congressional districts and five at large were placed on a state executive committee, who voted to establish a state headquarters in Des Moines and named Mathew A. Tinley, of Council Bluffs, chairman, and Guy S. Brewer, of Des Moines, vice-chairman.

May 12, 1919, was the earliest date on which charters could be asked for Iowa, and it was determined that the first delegation from an Iowa city or town which filed a petition at the office would be Post No. 1.

Race for First Charter

Midnight of May 11, fifteen veterans at Spencer and fifteen at Council Bluffs were ready to sign. The Spencer veterans gathered around a huge sheet of paper and all signed at once at the stroke of twelve. Five minutes later Maris De Wolf, E. T. Bjornstad and Rush Smith, of Spencer, with the precious document, started in a Ford car to drive the close to 200 miles over the then dirt roads to Des Moines, hoping to arrive ahead of the early morning train from Council Bluffs into the capital city.

A storm hit them near Carroll. Abandoning their car they boarded the train which carried the Council Bluffs petition, took a taxi from the Northwestern station in Des Moines and handed their paper to Adjutant John MacVicar five minutes before the one from Council Bluffs came by special messenger.

Glen Pedersen Post, of Spencer, thus became No. 1, and Rainbow Post, of Council Bluffs, No. 2. Ottumwa, Hubbard, Cedar Rapids, Dubuque and Carroll followed in rapid succession, and within a month fifty-one posts had been chartered in Iowa.

The first Iowa state convention was held in Des Moines, September 4. Mathew A. Tinley was elected commander; Hanford MacNider, of Mason City, vice-commander; John MacVicar, adjutant; Fred M. Hubbell of Des Moines finance officer; Raymond Smith, Council Bluffs, historian; W. E. Robb, Des Moines, chaplain; J. F. Cole, Oelwein, master-at-arms. These men and two from each of the Congressional districts composed the executive committee.

First National Convention

The first national convention of delegates from the newly organized state departments was held in Minneapolis on Armistice day. Iowa was well represented there and has since figured strongly, colorfully and noisily with the Corn Song, in every national convention.

Always at national and at Iowa conventions contests with attractive prizes are held for the various senior and junior uniformed outfits. The Greater Des Moines Sons of The American Legion drum and bugle corps has won the national championship six times—at Chicago, Miami, New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and Boston.

Tinley was succeeded by another illustrious Iowa veteran, Hanford MacNider, who was followed by Daniel F. Steck, of Ottumwa; C. B. Robbins, Cedar Rapids; B. L. Halligan, Davenport; B. A. Webster, Mason City; Ray Murphy, Ida Grove; Ralph A. McGinnis, Leon; G. Decker French, Davenport; George Prichard, Onawa; Glenn C. Haynes, Des Moines; Maurice Cahill, Cedar Rapids; Robert Colflesh, Des Moines; W. Earl Hall, Mason City; Leo J. Duster, Cedar Rapids; W. C. Rathke, Glenwood; W. G. Henke, Charles City; G. M. Brown, Whiting; James I. Dolliver, Fort Dodge; V. F. Sieverding, Grundy Center; George M. Paradise, Sioux City; Robert J. Shaw, Sigourney.

Two Iowans National Commander

MacNider was elected national commander in 1921 and Murphy in 1935. MacNider later was Assistant Secretary of War under President Coolidge, and was succeeded by Robbins; and MacNider was American Minister to Canada under President Hoover.

James F. Barton, of Fort Dodge, who succeeded John MacVicar as adjutant in 1920, was made national adjutant in March, 1925, and is now director of the national American Legion publications.

The American Legion Auxiliary of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of Legionnaires was organized in 1921. The Iowa Department was launched at Sioux City with Mrs. Donald Macrae, Jr., of Council Bluffs, the first president. Mrs. Gwendolyn Wiggin MacDowell, of Story City, who was secretary in the early years, was made national secretary in 1928 and still holds the position. Mrs. Macrae was elected national president in 1929.

La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, a national fraternal order of Legionnaires, was organized in 1921. Tom Roberts, of Sheffield, was the first grand chef de gare of the Iowa voiture. Robert Murphy, of Nora Springs, was elected chef de chemin de fer of the Forty and Eight at San Francisco in 1923.

State Maximum Membership Exceeded 44,000

The American Legion, Auxiliary and Forty and Eight caught fire in Iowa from the outset. MacNider's year closed with almost 44,000 members. Steck had more than 44,000 and Roberts over 42,000, which represented a much higher percentage of eligible veterans in the membership than for the nation, and which has been continued steadily ever since. The Auxiliary and the Forty and Eight in Iowa have likewise been in the forefront with members comparatively.

Hanford MacNider, when state commander, originated the annual conference of post commanders and adjutants, to be held on the Sunday nearest Washington's birthday, in Des Moines. Eleven years ago State Adjutant R. J. Laird added a service school for post service officers, and the two affairs now go two days, concluding with a banquet at which the national commander is the headline speaker, and draw about 1,000 Legionnaires. The Auxiliary has a unit presidents' and secretaries' conference at the same time.

Legionaire Established; Miles Editor

MacNider established the Iowa Legionaire with Frank Miles, a wartime sailor and former city editor of the Des Moines Capital, as editor on March 4, 1921. The paper, published twice a month, has flourished over the years with the same skipper at the helm.

The Legion nationally at the beginning majored on adequate care of disabled veterans and veterans' needy dependents, Americanism, national defense as peace insurance and adjusted compensation or economic justice for all veterans.

Out from that program came eighty-seven government hospitals for veterans, two of which are in Iowa—one for mentally ill men at Knoxville, with 1,268 beds, the other for general medical and surgical cases in Des Moines with 384 beds.

In 1921, the state Legion legislative committee, led by Casper Schenk, of Des Moines, thanks to the appreciative spirit of the Thirty-ninth General Assembly, got through a bill providing $22,000,000 for a state bonus for Iowa's 115,000 veterans which was approved by vote of the people; a bill giving World War veterans tax exemption on $500 worth of property, and a bill providing for veterans' preference on public appointive jobs. A surplus of $1,800,000 from the bonus fund is dispensed by a board through an executive secretary in matching grants to veterans from county soldiers' relief commissions.

Community Service, "Iowa Idea"

In 1923, MacNider led a successful movement at the national convention at San Francisco to have community service made a part of the Americanism program; it to be done by the posts under direction of the national Americanism commission.

The "Iowa Idea," as this was called, has resulted in an immense volume of constructive work done for home towns. So great is Legion interest in this that the handsome James A. Drain trophy is awarded annually to the department whose posts combined do the most outstanding service. Iowa won the trophy in 1931, tied for it with Illinois and California in 1935, and won it in 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939.

The Monahan Post band of Sioux City has won the national championship seven times, once in 1926, and that year the Fort Dodge drum and bugle corps emerged national champion and the Davenport Auxiliary drill corps won highest honors in its field.

In 1927, the Iowa legislature appropriated $50,000 to send the three Iowa title holders to Paris, where the national Legion convention was held the following September. The Iowa band and corps led the 20,000 Americans who marched in the historic parade before a million cheering Frenchmen. About 400 Iowans were in what is known as the Second A.E.F. They visited all of the World War cemeteries and battle fields and toured all over Europe.

Legion Organization Thrives

The American Legion in Iowa is today "going great guns," aided by its Auxiliary and Forty and Eight. Each of the nine districts has a commander, 93 of the 99 counties in the state are organized and there are 559 posts. Each district holds a conference twice a year and most of the organized counties meet monthly. The Auxiliary, like the Legion, is sub-organized by districts and counties and has 523 units.

Employed at the department offices are R. J. Laird, formerly of Algonia, adjutant and service officer, who succeeded Barton, and Frank Miles, who along with being editor of the Iowa Legionaire, is department publicity director, chairman of the speakers bureau and floor man of the legislative committee.

Americanism, Education, Citizenship, Aims

Under Americanism many posts give awards to students in the schools; American Education Week is observed annually in the week of Armistice Day; more than 200 Junior Baseball teams are sponsored each summer; and in June, 1938, the first annual Hawkeye Boys' State Conference was held at Camp Dodge, to give selected lads from many communities in Iowa special citizenship training.

State trophies awarded annually are: Membership: R. J. Laird, B. A. Webster, C. B. Robbins, R. A. McGinnis, Daniel F. Steck, B. L. Halligan, Ray Murphy, James F. Barton, Service Club of Des Moines, Edward E. Spafford and Robert W. Colflesh. Community Service: Hanford MacNider, Hanford Post, Becker-Chapman Post and Davenport Post. Health: Jane A. Delano. Americanism: Mat A. Tinley. Education: W. G. Henke. Marksmanship: W. Earl Hall, George Prichard, Glenn C. Haynes and Maurice Cahill. History: Maurice Cahill and J. A. Nye. Editorial: Iowa Legionaire. Junior Baseball: Bill Osler. Color Guard: Ai Nelson.

Legionaires Stand High

All Legionaires subscribe to this Preamble of the Constitution of their organization: "For God and country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

An Iowa farm viewed from the air. The 1940 census showed 213,318 farms in Iowa, averaging 160.1 acres per farm. The average farm was valued at $12,614, the average acre at $78.79.

United Spanish War Veterans

FROM the veterans of the Spanish-American and Philippine wars grew the organization of United Spanish War Veterans, with a present Iowa membership of approximately 1700. There are between 2600 and 2700 veterans of these wars living in Iowa now, according to the estimate of Carl Smith, Department Quartermaster.

The Iowa Department maintains headquarters in the office of the Executive Council in the south corridor, basement floor, State House, Des Moines. Its functions are to maintain records of organization and personnel, arrange for department meetings, look after the interests of its members in governmental affairs, such as pensions and hospitalization and to develop the spirit of comradeship among the members of the organization.

Iowa Department Officers

Among the requisites to membership in the organization are service in the armed forces of the United States between the dates of April 21, 1898, and July 4, 1902. Members must have been mustered into federal service and must have an honorable discharge from the service in which they entered.

The current Department of Iowa Officers are:

Department Commander—J. M. Fanshier, Council Bluffs.

Senior Vice Commander—William Schoenig, Muscatine.

Junior Vice Commander—Albert E. Headlee, Fort Dodge.

Department Chaplain—E. J. Laird, Des Moines.

Department Surgeon—F. M. Roseberry, Keokuk.

Chief of Staff—Roy Tallman, Camanche.

Department Inspector—M. E. Sargent, Council Bluffs.

Judge Advocate—T. J. Mahoney, Boone.

Patriotic Instructor—William H. Corry, Davenport.

Department Historian—Jay Watts, Cedar Rapids.

Marshall—Milton T. Frack, Muscatine.

Chief Musician—David A. Roderick, Des Moines.

Department Adjutant Quartermaster and Service Officer—Carl Smith, Des Moines.

President McKinley Called Volunteers

A proclamation by President William McKinley, dated April 23, 1898, recited the causes which led up to the war with Spain, and called for 125,000 volunteers for the purpose of prosecuting the war. On April 25, 1898, Governor Leslie M. Shaw was advised by telegram from the Secretary of War of the number of troops assigned as Iowa's quota.

Telegrams were immediately sent to the commanding officers of the four infantry regiments of the Iowa National Guard, instructing them to report with their regiments to Camp McKinley, State Fair Grounds, Des Moines, with the least possible delay. A more complete account of the activities of these regiments is found in the report upon the activities of the Iowa National Guard, elsewhere in this volume.

Spanish-American War Allegations

Hugh L. Stephenson, Past Department Commander, asserts in a pamphlet entitled, "I am Proud to Be a Spanish-American War Veteran" (the editor of the Official Register assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of the statements):

"A veteran in America's first war for humanity.

"A veteran of the only 100 per cent volunteer army the world has ever known.

"A veteran of the only war in history that has paid dividends.

"A war that was not fought to a draw—we dictated the terms.

"It was responsible for the building of the Panama Canal.

"It was responsible for the passage of the National Defense Act.

"It caused the abolition of yellow fever and kindred diseases.

"It united the North and the South so that there now is no North, no South, no East, no West, but one great people united under one great and glorious flag.

"It furnished every commander in the World War from the commander-in-chief on down.

"It was the first campaign fought on foreign soil.

"We did not bring the flag home—we left it where we put it and it is there yet.

"We fought the war with poor equipment, poor food, antiquated guns and black powder.

"The commands preserved their state entity and were responsible for the honor of their state.

"It caused the improvement in maintenance of the Army and Navy and the formation of a standing army through training camps.

"It marked the industrial reconstruction of the South.

"It taught the lesson of unpreparedness that claims more lives than war.

"It caused the U. S. A. to take the head of the table in the concert of nations.

"It marked the rebirth of a nation.

"It marked the last great conflict between the people of a free, self-governing republic and that of the last absolute monarchy.

"Four hundred fifty-eight thousand (458,000) were engaged in this conflict, exceeding in number those engaged in the Revolutionary War, the Mexican War, or the War of 1812.

"The losses in death from all causes were 4.3 per cent, as compared with six-tenths of one per cent for the Civil War and seven-tenths of one per cent for the World War.

"The average length of service was 14 months as compared with 9 months for the World War and 11 months for the Civil War.

"The pay was $15 a month as compared with $30 for the World War.

"We received no bonus, no war risk insurance, no adjusted compensation, no vocational training and no hospitalization until 1922, twenty years after war was over.

"The cost of the war was one billion, eight hundred million; the Civil War eight billion, five hundred million and the World War fifty billion, eight hundred million.

"Property was acquired valued at eight billion as compared with none for the Civil War and none for the World War.

"The average pension after twenty years was $21 as compared with $28 for the Civil War and $126 per month after three years for World War veterans.

"61 per cent saw foreign service as compared with 36 per cent for World War veterans.

"73 per cent of our veterans were sons of Civil War veterans and 42 per cent saw service in the World War.

"The duration of the War with Spain and the Philippine Insurrection was 4 years and 2 months, as compared with 4 years for Civil War and 1 year and 7 months for the World War.

"Our motto is Freedom, Patriotism and Humanity."

Only Four G. A. R. Posts in Iowa

THOUGH the ranks of the blue-clad veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic are rapidly thinning, Iowa is still among the leading states in point of membership and ranking officials. The Roll of 1940 showed the Department of California and Nevada first with 138 members, the Department of New York second with 108, and Iowa, third with 102 members. Iowa has held the national office of Judge Advocate General since 1932.

On January 1, 1941, there remained in Iowa only five Posts of the G. A. R. of the more than 520 which had been chartered, and only seven members. Sixty-four veterans, whose posts had been disbanded, had become members at large. Today in June, 1941, there are fifty-six members in the Department of Iowa.

It is inspiring to stand and salute these grand veterans as they march or ride, in their annual national encampments, as Des Moines has had the privilege of doing twice within recent years, but a day is drawing to a close in the history of the nation which can never be duplicated no matter how long the United States shall last.

The Grand Army of the Republic is a patriotic association, organized in the interest of the survivors of the military and naval forces of the Civil War. It was organized in Illinois in the winter of 1865-1866, by Dr. B. F. Stephenson and Rev. W. J. Rutledge, the surgeon and chaplain, respectively, of the 14th Illinois Infantry. The first Post was organized at Decatur, Illinois, April 6, 1866. The first national encampment was held at Indianapolis on November 20, 1866.

Department Charter Received July 12, 1866

Iowa was one of the first states of the Union to attempt organization of the Grand Army of the Republic, receiving as a Department its first charter on July 12, 1866, signed by Dr. B. F. Stephenson. But since its Department was not made permanent until 1879, Iowa is cited as the nineteenth state in point of organization.

During the period of the provisional Department, from 1866 to 1879, Iowa chartered over 130 Posts and elected nine Commanders, the first of these being General Addison H. Sanders of Davenport. The first State Commander of the permanent organization, dating from January 1, 1879, was Hurlbut E. Griswold of Atlantic.

Peak Membership 20,324, in 1890

Of Grand Army Posts in Iowa more than 520 were chartered altogether. Membership stood at its peak, in Iowa, in 1890, when 20,324 veterans belonged to 435 Posts. In 1893 the number of Posts had increased to 449, but the membership had declined to 18,870. From that time on there has been a steady decline in the number of existing Posts and the membership. The records of the G. A. R., in the State House, at Des Moines, on January 1, 1941, showed seven surviving G. A. R. members belonging to five Posts and, in addition, 65 veterans whose Posts have been disbanded, leaving these old soldiers members-at-large of the G. A. R.

Six Veterans Served As Governor

It is interesting to note that six veterans of the Civil War have served as Governor of Iowa. They are: Colonel William M. Stone of Knoxville, 1864-1868; Colonel Samuel Merrill of McGregor, 1868-1872; Colonel Cyrus C. Carpenter of Fort Dodge, 1872-1876; Captain Joshua G. Newbold of Mount Pleasant, 1877-1878; Captain Buren R. Sherman of Vinton, 1882-1886; Lieutenant Colonel Francis M. Drake, of Centerville and Des Moines, 1896-1898.

To the Grand Army of the Republic goes the credit for having instituted Memorial Day, with all the tender and reverent patriotism which that occasion always reveals, and for having kept alive, in history and story, the brave deeds performed upon many a battlefield by many a gallant soldier whose valor might otherwise have been lost to fame.

National Membership 1,000 on January 1, 1941

The membership of the Grand Army of the Republic was once over 400,000. On January 1, 1941, it was only 1,000 and there were only 2,000 Civil War veterans in the United States, so it can readily be seen that the last man will have been mustered out within the next few years.

The G. A. R. has always been generous in providing for the needy dependents of veterans and their families. Between 1880 and 1900 the Iowa Department spent from $2,000 to $7,000 a year in the relief of needy veterans, their widows, orphans and others. From 1897 on, the sum spent for relief gradually dwindled. But the aggregate amount spent by the Grand Army of the Republic throughout the nation, from June 30, 1887, to June 30, 1897, totalled $2,100,617. In addition, large sums were spent for the purchase and distribution of flags to schools, churches and various organizations, and aid was given in the erection of monuments of Generals Grant, Sherman, and others.

The oldest living veteran in Iowa today, June 28, 1941, is Hiram Finley of Stanton, Montgomery County, who celebrated his 100th birthday June 13, 1941. Capt. Charles C. Hamilton of Ames, oldest living veteran on January 1, 1941, who died April 8, 1941, would have been 102 had he lived until June 12, 1941. Rocky Whipple of Mason City, who was 101 January 1, 1941, died April 14, 1941, the last member of the C. H. Huntley Post No. 42 of Mason City, thus leaving that Post disbanded. Two other veterans, Mark H. Morse of Wyoming and Charles H. Lingenfelter of Dakota City, look forward to their century mark in 1941. The youngest veteran is Charles Sinn of Clarinda, who was 90 years old on April 25th. He enlisted in a Pennsylvania regiment with his father when he was 12 years old and fought throughout the entire war.

The 1941-1942 officers of the Iowa Department of the G. A. R. are as follows:

E. P. Taylor, Newton, Department Commander.
John M. Gudgel, Shenandoah, Senior Vice Commander.
J. J. Neuman, Des Moines, Junior Vice Commander and Chief of Staff.
T. J. Noll, Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster General, and Judge Advocate.

Officers for 1940-1941 were:

J. J. Neuman, Des Moines, Department Commander and Chaplain.
E. P. Taylor, Newton, Senior Vice Commander.
T. J. Noll, Des Moines, Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster General, and Judge Advocate.

Iowa's History

Iowa State Historical Department

THE State Historical Department is an important link in the chain of educational and cultural activities of Iowa. Its facilities are in use daily by many people interested in many subjects. It is an institution born of the foresight and zeal of men and women who so loved Iowa that they planned well for preservation at the seat of government of the priceless source materials of Iowa history and the story of the Iowa people. From small beginnings the department has grown in fifty years to fill and overflow the beautiful building erected on the capitol park at an original cost of about $375,000.

More than 20,000 visitors annually visit this fine "Treasure House of History and Science," according to Ora Williams, curator, and they are given all the assistance possible to make their visits profitable.

The core and foundation of the department is the magnificent Aldrich collection of portraits, manuscripts, letters and autographs, conceded to be one of the greatest in the country, where one can almost come into personal contact with the great of all lands.

Here we meet Emerson, Longfellow, Lincoln, Sumner, Beecher, Grimes, Garibaldi, John Brown, Grant, Darwin, Douglas, Webster, Parnell, Cuvier, Irving, Greeley, T. R. Roosevelt, Whistler, Washington, Jefferson, and others. There is a D. A. R. cabinet, another for the Equal Suffrage history, another for the silver service for the Battleship Iowa, a display of the trophies and silver of Iowa people. The rooms given over for the Davenport family, for Emerson Hough and for the life records of Gen. G. M. Dodge are of rare quality.

Museum of Natural History and Science

Of great interest, especially to the young people and students, are the natural history collections and displays dealing with the birds, mammals and other forms of wild life native to the state of Iowa. While this collection is by no means complete, it contains representative species of birds and animals, a number of which no longer exist here in the state—the buffalo, the elk, the prairie chicken and passenger pigeon.

Since the greater portion of our wild life has already disappeared from our state, it is important that we preserve the natural history collections so that the younger generation may see what passed before their time. Many specimens are displayed in habitat settings or in cases where the outstanding features of the specimens are brought out; the natural history division is well arranged for teaching purposes.

One of the largest collections is the display of Indian materials showing something of the life and culture of the Red Man from the Stone Age to our modern period. Here are specimens of their homes, wickiups, and tepees, cooking utensils, and weapons showing the different stages of development from stone implements and tools to the more modern steel or metal objects and beadwork, which were introduced after the coming of the white man. Most of the specimens on display are the handiwork of the early Indian tribes that inhabited Iowa, notably the Sioux and Sac and Fox.

An observing study of the Indian clothing, homes, utensils and artifacts shows the evolution or development of these early people and ways in which their lives were adapted to the conditions under which they lived.

A third section of the museum is the collection of geological material. As few of us today realize what took place millions of years ago, it is well that the history of our state be unfolded as far back as geological times. Geology collections on display show the different layers of rock and of earth along with many fossils found in them; the earliest forms of animal life—the life that existed when Iowa was covered by a sea; the stems and leaves of plants of thousands of years ago, which grew in abundance and make up our coal beds of today; the ages of glaciers which smoothed off hills and filled in the valleys; specimens of minerals common to this area, lead, gypsum, and others which show the origin of some of our industries of today. Also to be found in these exhibits are the remains of large mastodons and mammoths and mammals which remind us of an era many thousands of years ago.

Archives, Library, Genealogy, Newspapers

The archives, or public records, of Iowa comprise literally millions of items, such as census records from territorial days down, the record books and letter files of state offices with papers and documents on which official action was taken, institution and department information of permanent value, and the legislative records from earliest times so far as they have been preserved. This material is in daily demand and use for history reference and more especially in legal procedure for verification of names and other facts.

The archives department has grown enormously and valuable material has been, of necessity, stowed away in cold warehouses, dark vaults or damp tunnels under the sidewalks. A start has been made in catching up with years of neglect from lack of funds by a federal project engaged in cataloguing and classifying some of the records. New social legislation has greatly increased the importance of the archives as an information source.

The State Historical library has over 30,000 books; about Iowa, or by Iowa authors, and Iowa histories, family records and references for research in genealogy, declared by students to be one of the finest genealogy libraries in the middle west, is in constant use by people from all parts of Iowa and from other states.

Newspaper files in thousands of bound volumes and almost as many tied up in bundles, preserve the day-by-day story of the people of Iowa. Almost every daily and weekly paper, and magazine, of Iowa is represented here.

Historical Records and Manuscripts

Historical records of a private nature, those created by men and women in their private capacities and not as officials, give to history its personal human flavor. Such records tell not only what men were required to do, but what they thought they had to do, what they wanted to do, how as individuals they participated in and reacted to the important developments of our country.

This division has over 400 different collections of the personal papers and correspondence and diaries of individuals, societies, and organizations of the kind above described. Reports of Iowa's first three territorial governors, for instance: Robert Lucas, John Chambers, and James Clarke. Their work as Superintendents of Indian Affairs from 1838 to 1846 give a colorful and accurate insight into the problems of white settlement bordering upon Indian land.

Letters and correspondence of the active and influential George Wallace Jones, long a delegate in Congress and one of Iowa's first United States Senators, offer to those who study our history today valuable information of the development of our earlier years.

The pioneer period of Iowa is further represented by the William Penn Clarke papers, the Laurel Summers letters, the files of Governor Samuel J. Kirkwood, the efficient and active Civil War governor.

In later periods are preserved the many files of David W. Kilbourne, a pioneer and railroad builder, the several hundred files of General Grenville M. Dodge papers and maps and diaries, U. S. Senator William B. Allison, Albert B. Cummins, and many others who contribute to make this collection an unusually valuable center for source materials in Iowa history.

In the Annals of Iowa the department publishes a quarterly historical magazine designed to present first-hand articles and interpretative studies of the history of the state and middle west. Drawing upon the experiences of men who participated in or witnessed at close range the developments of which they write, the magazine seeks to be primarily a source book of Iowa history. Begun by Charles Aldrich in 1893, the magazine has a notable record for producing significant and valuable historical records of our past. Sent to libraries, colleges, certain newspapers and interested individuals, the mailing list of 1000 reaches to all corners of the state, offering a variety of interesting and helpfully understanding articles on social customs, political, agricultural, commercial and industrial developments in the state of an authoritative character. As Iowa nears the one hundredth year of her statehood, it is important that we understand and comprehend our earlier history if we are intelligently to face the future.

An important section of this division is the collection of photographs. These represent a wide range of subjects, from individuals and scenes to events and customs and articles. As the use of the camera becomes more widespread in these later days, this collection in time should preserve for future years the representations and likenesses of years gone by. A picture may tell much in a short space of time, for that reason this collection is of growing importance.

Fine Portraits of Famous Persons

Two large art galleries are filled with oil portraits of eminent men and women who have had a hand in the making of Iowa, a veritable pictured story of Iowa progress and achievement. Here one can meet with the territorial and early state officials, the judges and legislators and diplomats, the soldiers, editors, clergymen, women of action, builders all. Many of these are really magnificent specimens of portraiture. The inclusiveness of this collection is equalled in only a few other states.

The World War room is filled with exhibits relating to the Iowa part in the war, with photographs and other records, and with posters, books and flags. The civil war period is well covered, and the naval service is well shown.

Transportation that brought the pioneers to Iowa. One of the finest specimens of the Conestoga Wagons in existence jostles a typical stage coach in the museum, State Historical Building.

Iowa Soldiers and Sailors Monument

The curator of the department is by law the custodian of the building and the collections, and also of the monuments, memorials and works of art on the capitol grounds.

The Iowa Soldiers and Sailors Monument occupies the site of the temporary state capitol and was started in 1886 at a cost of about $165,000. The original design was by Harriet A. Ketcham, an Iowa artist, but upon her death the work was completed by Carl Rohl-Smith. It is crowned by the figure of "Victory." Four mounted soldiers are at the base—Generals G. M. Dodge, J. M. Corse, M. M. Crocker and S. R. Curtis, all Iowa Civil war commanders. On one side is a medalion of Gen. Edward Hatch, and on the other the coat of arms of Iowa. There are statues representing the infantryman, the cavalryman, the artillery man and the naval man. There are also 32 bas-reliefs of Iowa soldiers and sailors, and patriotic inscriptions. Two allegorical war scenes are prominent.

The Allison and Other Monuments

The monument to the late Senator Wm. B. Allison, near the soldiers monument, was erected largely by the activity and beneficence of Gen. Grenville M. Dodge. It is also a fine fountain. The bronze figures are all allegorical and represent the bounty and abundance of Iowa. These were placed at the time of the extensive enlargement of the capitol grounds, under the administration of Gov. George W. Clarke. This enlargement was completed about 1917. The former area of the state park was about 11 acres, but is now over 98 $\frac{1}{4}$ acres.

Not far from the Allison monument is a memorial to Christopher Columbus, erected by residents of Des Moines, former citizens of Italy.

The Spanish-American war is given recognition by a large granite block on the plaza east of the state house.

The tomb of Alexander Scott is located at the extreme southeast corner of the capitol park. Mr. Scott donated the land on which the old capitol was built and largely contributed to its erection.

The allegorical bronze figure "The Pioneers" at the west entrance to the capitol is much admired.

The flags of Iowa regiments in various wars occupy cases in the corridor of the state house, and there is a great picture of Iowa soldiers preparing for World War I.

Iowa's Official Songs

THERE is frequently much confusion as to the status of the so-called state songs, due largely to the fact that they may be chosen by official action, by popular approval, or by a combination of the two methods. In the Middle West particularly, where state boundaries are artificial and the population has constantly shifted, it is not surprising that there should be much uncertainty. There have been many aspirants to the honor of writing the state song for Iowa, but only three or four of these songs have received noteworthy official or popular recognition.

First in point of time and official recognition is The Song of Iowa, the words of which were written by S. H. M. Byers, who gives the following account of the inspiration of the song:

"At the great battle of Lookout Mountain I was captured, in a charge, and taken to Libby Prison, Richmond, Va. I was there seven months, in one room. The rebel bands often passed the prison, and for our discomfort, sometimes played the tune 'My Maryland', set to southern and bitter words. Hearing it once through our barred windows, I said to myself, 'I would like some day to put that tune to loyal words.'"

Many years later, in 1897, Mr. Byers carried out his wish and wrote a song to the music of Tannenbaum, the old German folk-song which the Confederates had used for My Maryland. The next night a French concert singer at the Foster Opera House in Des Moines sang the new song upon the request of Mr. Byers. The number was a great success and was encored again and again.

This is the only song thus far to receive official recognition as well as popular favor. In 1911, C. J. Fulton introduced the following resolution in the Iowa House of Representatives:

"Whereas, The patriotic song of Iowa by S. H. M. Byers, has, for years, been sung in all the schools of the state, and on thousands of public occasions, political and social, and wherever Iowa people come together in other states, therefore,

"Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, that it be hereby declared to be recognized as the State Song."

This resolution was adopted by the House on March 18, 1911, and the Senate concurred on March 24th. It was not printed among the laws, however, for concurrent resolutions are merely expressions of the sentiment of the legislators and are not statutes. The song has been sung for many years and by popular consent, as well as legislative action, deserves a prominent place in the patriotic music of Iowa.

(The Palimpsest October 1924, pp. 387-389.)

The complete text of the "Song of Iowa," by Major Byers, follows:

You ask what land I love the best,
Iowa, 'tis Iowa.

The fairest state of all the west,
Iowa, O Iowa!

From yonder Mississippi's stream
To where Missouri's waters gleam
O fair it is as poet's dream,
Iowa, O Iowa.

See yonder fields of tasseled corn,
Iowa, in Iowa.

Where plenty fills her golden horn,
Iowa, in Iowa.

See how her wondrous prairies shine
To yonder sunset's purpling line,
O happy land, O land of mine,
Iowa, O Iowa!

And she has maids whose laughing eyes,
Iowa, O Iowa!
To him who loves were paradise,
Iowa, O Iowa!
Oh, happiest fate that e'er was known,
Such eyes to shine for one alone,
To call such beauty all his own,
Iowa, O Iowa!

Go read the story of thy past.
Iowa, O Iowa!
What glorious deeds, what fame thou hast,
Iowa, O Iowa!
So long as Time's great cycle runs,
Or nations weep their fallen ones,
Thou'll not forget thy patriot sons,
Iowa, O Iowa!

While Major Byers thus had the honor of writing Iowa's official song, the best known and most popular song of the state is the famous "Iowa Corn Song," which every loyal son of the Hawkeye Commonwealth sings lustily on any and all occasions, reaching his hands as high toward Heaven as he possibly can when the words roar forth "That's where the tall corn grows."

This famous song was written by George Hamilton, secretary of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce and a big man in the Masonic Lodge, particularly among Shriners, with later help from Prof. John T. Beeston, the well known band leader; sung to the tune of "Traveling."

George Hamilton started the song back in 1912 when a delegation of Za-Ga-Zig Shriners had gone to Los Angeles, California, to participate in the huge Shrine convention, and it was realized that what Iowa needed was a rousing marching song, which should advertise the chief product of the state: Corn. So Hamilton wrote the original stanza, dealing mainly with the glories of the Shrine, and tacked on the original and still-intact chorus, which is by far the best known and most rousing part of the song. Hundreds of later verses have been added by Hamilton himself, Prof. Beeston and others, but as it is published and usually sung, the song goes in this manner:

Let's sing of grand old I O WAY,
Yo-ho; yo-ho; yo-ho.
Our love is stronger ev'ry day,
Yo-ho; yo-ho; yo-ho.
So come along and join the throng,
Sev'ral hundred thousand strong,
As you come, just sing this song:
Yo-ho; yo-ho; yo-ho.

Chorus:

We're from Ioway, Ioway;
State of all the land,
Joy on every hand;
We're from Ioway, Ioway.
That's where the tall corn grows.
Our land is full of ripening corn,
Yo-ho; yo-ho; yo-ho.
We've watched it grow by night and morn,
Yo-ho; yo-ho; yo-ho.
But now we rest, we've stood the test;
All that's good, we have the best;
Ioway has reached the crest;
Yo-ho; yo-ho; yo-ho.

Chorus.

Iowa's Famous Authors

SO MUCH attention is paid to the material endowments and advantages of Iowa, people often forget the artistic and literary achievements of the state. The fact remains that while Iowa leads in corn and hogs, and has factories in large number, turning out finished products which go around the world, Iowa is likewise in the vanguard of the states which have given, and are giving, the nation its best literature. The Iowa honor roll of authors is a notable one.

In a literary sense, Iowa is divided into two camps: the native born and those who have spent part of their lives here, but who, no matter where they may have roamed, have always considered Iowa at least partially their home and have been glad to return to it whenever possible and to pay every honor to it.

Some fifteen years ago, at a Homecoming of Iowa Authors, more than a score of notable men and women, either born in Iowa or reared here, came back to Des Moines and participated in a three-day Homecoming which opened the eyes of the nation to the literary achievements of the state. Prominent among those who were here at that rally were Hamlin Garland, Herbert Quick, Emerson Hough, Rupert Hughes, Arthur Davidson Ficke and Alice French, better known as Octave Thanet.

Samuel Langhorne Clemens

Ranking highest in the list of those great writers in whom Iowa may claim at least part credit was Samuel Langhorne Clemens, known to the world, for all time, as Mark Twain. Clemens was born in Missouri, but spent many years of his young manhood in Muscatine and Keokuk, being closely identified with the latter. His brother, Orion Clemens, generally said to have been the original of Twain's famous "Pudd'nhead Wilson," spent most of his life in Keokuk and legends are interwoven concerning him and Twain until it is hard to tell which is which.

It is known to be a fact, however, that Sam Clemens helped his brother, who was older, get out a paper in Muscatine and that he worked for a job printer, named Rees, in Keokuk, getting out a city directory in which he included himself as an "antiquarian," for the reason, as he rather ruefully expressed it, that there were no antiquarians listed in Keokuk and every city should have one.

In 1855, Sam Clemens came to Keokuk from St. Louis and began working, more or less steadily, for his brother Orion, for $5 a week and board. The office at that time was on the third floor of No. 52 Main street. He seems to have taken quite an active part in the social life of the river town and to have acquired some local reputation as a humorist, but gave little promise of the great artist he was to become.

Clemens' $50 Bill

In his three-volume Biography of Mark Twain, Albert Bigelow Paine tells the turning point of his life, in Keokuk, in this manner:

"It was a day in early November, bitter and gusty, with curling snow; most persons were indoors. Samuel Clemens, going down Main street, saw a fitting bit of paper pass him and lodge against the side of a building. Something about it attracted him and he captured it. It was a fifty dollar bill. He had never seen one before, but he recognized it. He thought he must be having a pleasant dream. The temptation came to pocket his good fortune and say nothing. His need of money was urgent, but he also had an urgent and troublesome conscience. In the end he advertised his find.

"I didn't describe it very particularly and I waited in daily fear that the owner would turn up and take away my fortune. By and by I got so I couldn't stand it any longer. My conscience had gotten all that was coming to it. I felt I must take the money out of danger. I advertised the find and left for Arizona the same day,' a statement which we may accept with literary discount.

"As a matter of fact, he remained ample time, for nobody ever came for the money. It may have been swept out of a bank or caught up by the wind from some counting room table. It may have materialized out of the unseen—who knows? At all events it carried him on the first stage of a journey, the end of which he little dreamed."

With so much money, Clemens decided to see the world. He got no farther than St. Louis, when he returned to Keokuk, burning with a brilliant idea. He would travel all over the globe, to South America first, and send articles back to the Saturday Post, of Keokuk, then a rather prosperous paper, giving itself certain literary airs.

The publisher, Rees, agreed to take the letters, at the rate of five dollars for each one. Twain started his trip; promptly mailed back one letter from Cincinnati; sent the second four months later, still from Cincinnati; and never sent another. The important thing, however, is that these articles were the first for which he was ever paid any money.

In later years, after Tom Sawyer, Huck Finn, Indian Joe, Mulberry Sellers and Pudd'nhead Wilson had made him immortal, he frequently returned to Keokuk, so that he never quite grew away from that city, or Iowa in general.

Rupert Hughes

Another adopted son of Iowa was Rupert Hughes, who was born in Missouri, January 31, 1872, but spent most of his boyhood and young manhood in Keokuk, where his father was general counsel for the Keokuk and Western Railroad. Rupert sold his first articles while living in that city. A few years ago his annual income from writing was said to be greater than the salary of the President of the United States. At any rate, he was one of the most popular society novelists of many years. Among his best known books are "The Old Home Town," "Excuse Me," "The Old Nest," "Souls for Sale," "Zal," "Love Affairs of Great Musicians," "Empty Pockets," "The Man Without a Home," and "The Thirteenth Commandment." Incidentally, Rupert Hughes is the uncle of the young millionaire aviator, Howard Hughes, who holds the record for flying around the world in the shortest time. The aviator's father, Howard Hughes, the elder, likewise lived in Keokuk for many years. Rupert Hughes has written and directed many motion pictures.

Hamlin Garland

Another adopted son was Hamlin Garland, who was born in Wisconsin, but lived the greater part of his boyhood and young manhood in and around Osage. His "Boy Life on the Prairie," published in 1907, is a graphic account of his experiences as a farm boy. "A Son of the Middle Border," published ten years later, continued his vivid descriptions of Iowa life and people of the pioneer age, following the Civil War, and makes him generally recognized as the Iowa historian of that particular age. "Main Traveled Roads," a collection of short stories, "The Gray Horse Troop," "A Daughter of the Middle Border," "Cavanagh, Forest Ranger," "A Member of the Third House," and "The Tyranny of the Dark" are among his best known books.

Emerson Hough

Emerson Hough is a notable name in the roster of Iowa writers. He was a product of Newton and devoted the major years of his life to producing notable historical novels covering the Middle West and Rocky Mountain West in their most picturesque days. "The Covered Wagon," published in 1922, an epic of the Oregon Trail of 1848, followed by "The Story of the Cowboy," "54-40 or Fight," "North of 36," and many other notable books, established him as a front-rank writer, of whom Iowa is justly proud.

Herbert Quick

Perhaps the best delineator of pioneer life in Iowa, before the Civil War, when the plow had just begun to break the virgin prairie, was Herbert Quick, whose "Vandermark's Folly" was the first of three novels dealing with early Iowa life, followed by "The Hawkeye" and "The Invisible Woman." Quick was born in Missouri, but spent the impressionistic years of his life in Grundy county, Iowa, which still proudly displays and marks the schoolhouse where he really got his start in life. His autobiography entitled "One Man's Life," rounded out his life and is a textbook, most interesting and charming, on Iowa pioneers.

Major S. H. M. Byers

Major S. H. M. Byers, formerly of Oskaloosa and Des Moines, now deceased, was born in Pennsylvania, but was educated in the public schools of Iowa. He served four years in the Union Army, was captured at the battle of Chattanooga. While in prison at Columbia, South Carolina, he wrote "Sherman's March to the Sea," a song that gave its name to the great campaign, and sold more than one million copies. Following the Civil War he was in the United States consular service abroad for twenty years, then returned to Iowa and took an active part in literary affairs. Among his historical volumes are "Iowa in War Times," "The March to the Sea, or the Story of the Great Campaign," "With Fire and Sword," a prose account of his own adventures in the Civil War, and "Glorietta, or the City of Fair Dreams," a poetical romance of Monterey, California. His volumes of poetry include "The Honeymoon," "The Belle of Capistrano" and "Complete Poems."

Susan Glaspell and George Cram Cook

Susan Glaspell and her famous husband, George Cram Cook, helped to make the Provincetown (Massachusetts) Players famous in the beginning of the Little Theatre movement in America. After the death of her husband, in Greece, Susan Glaspell returned to the United States and continues to turn out good books and plays, all too few considering her great genius. Among her best known books are "The Road to the Temple," "The Glory of the Conquered," "Brook Evans," "The Visioning," "Suppressed Desires," "Lifted Masks," and "Fugitive's Return." Her play, "Alison's House," based on the life of Emily Dickinson, won the Pulitzer drama prize in 1930. She was for several years a reporter on Des Moines newspapers.

Additional Authors

Others whose names must be included in the list of those who contributed gallantly to the literary life of Iowa in days now gone by are Ellis Parker Butler, humorist, whose best known work is "Pigs Is Pigs"; Robert Burdette, better known as "Bob," one-time editor of the Burlington Hawkeye, whose humorous book, "The Rise and Fall of the Mustache," was tremendously funny; George Fitch, of Council Bluffs, whose Siwash College stories made him famous; Dr. G. Walter Barr, of Keokuk, whose political novel, "Shacklet," gave him momentary fame; and Alice French, of Davenport, nom de plume Octave Thanet, whose best known book is "Knitters in the Sun."

Ottumwa has the honor to furnish two famous Iowa authors, one by birth and the other by adoption. Honore Willsie Morrow was born there and has added lustre to the list of Iowa notables. For many years she was editor of The Delineator. Among her best books are "Heart of the Desert," "On to Oregon," "Forever Free," "With Malice Toward None," "The Last Full Measure," "The Enchanted Canyon" and "Splendor of God." She died in 1940.

Edna Ferber was born in Michigan but spent her girlhood in Ottumwa, and often publicly declares that her home. Her best known books are "Dawn O'Hara," "Buttered Side Down," "Emma McChesney and Co.," "So Big," "Roast Beef Medium," "Mother Knows Best," "Cimarron," "Come and Get It," and "Show Boat." In collaboration with George S. Kauffman and others, she has produced several notable stage successes, including "The Royal Family" and "Dinner at Eight."

Late Iowa Writers

Among the later school of Iowa writers should be included the following:

James Norman Hall, born in Colfax, who, with Charles Nordhoff, wrote "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Men Against the Sea," "Pitcairn's Island," "The Dark River," "The Friends," and "The Hurricane," all epics of the South Seas.

MacKinlay Kantor, a product of Webster City, who is coming to be acknowledged as the historian of the dramatic phases of the Civil War, whose book, "Long Remember," the title being taken from Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, is already a classic on that famous battle. Other books include "Diversey," "El Goes South," "The Voice of Bugle Ann," "Arouse and Beware," "The Noise of Their Wings," and a book of verse called "Turkey in the Straw." Mr. Kantor is a prolific and popular magazine contributor.

Phil Stong, whose kin live in Keosauqua, and who has used that locale and Des Moines for the scenes of some of his best writing. He is noted for "State Fair," "Stranger's Return," "Village Tale," "Farmer in the Dell," "Hawkeyes! An Intimate Biography of the State of Iowa," and "Buckskin Breeches." Thousands of people who never read his "State Fair," enjoyed it as a moving picture, with the late Will Rogers in the leading role.

Ruth Suckow, born in Hawarden, who is devoting her life to depicting Iowa farm life; whose best known books are "Country People," "The Odyssey of a Nice Girl," "Iowa Interiors," "Cora," and "The Folks." Miss Suckow is one of the most devoted realists Iowa has produced and is a writer of top rank.

Cornelia Meigs, another Keokuk product, whose "Trade Wind" won a $2,000 prize in 1927 and whose other popular productions are "Kingdom of the Winding Road," "Clearing Weather," "Rain on the Roof," "As the Crow Flies," and "Invincible Louisa," which won the Newberry medal in 1934.

Bess Streeter Aldrich, born in Cedar Falls in 1881, author of "A Lantern in Her Hand," "A White Bird Flying," and "Song of Years."

Arthur Davison Ficke, of Davenport, a poet of marked ability, whose sonnets are highly acclaimed by literary critics; his best known volumes being "From the Isles," "The Happy Princess," "The Man on the Hilltop," and "The Secret and Other Poems."

Lewis Worthington Smith, professor of English at Drake University since 1902; author of a large number of textbooks and volumes of poems, including "In the Furrow," "The English Tongue," and "The Art of Life," a play.

Iowans in Presidents' Cabinets

FIFTEEN notable Iowa men have served in the Cabinets of thirteen Presidents of the United States; four as Secretary of Agriculture; three as Secretary of the Interior; three as Secretary of War; two as Secretary of Commerce; one as Secretary of the Navy; one as Secretary of the Treasury; and one as Postmaster General. One of the list held the distinction of serving 16 years, under three Presidents, which is the nation's record for this kind of public service.

The list of Iowa's Cabinet members, arranged chronologically, with brief biographies, is as follows:

James M. Harlan

James M. Harlan, of Mt. Pleasant, served as Secretary of the Interior in the cabinet of President Andrew Johnson in 1865 and 1866. A graduate of Asbury (now DePauw) University in Indiana, he was elected President of Iowa Wesleyan University, at Mt. Pleasant, in 1853; served as United States Senator from Iowa from 1855 to 1865 and returned to the Senate, from the Cabinet, serving a term from 1866 to 1872. He was a close associate of Abraham Lincoln and his daughter Mary married Robert T. Lincoln, son of the martyred President. Secretary Harlan died in Mt. Pleasant in 1899.

William W. Belknap

William W. Belknap, Secretary of War in the two administrations of President Ulysses S. Grant, was born in New York, but made his home in Keokuk for a number of years. In 1861, he entered the Union army as major of the 15th Iowa Volunteers and was engaged at Shiloh, Corinth and Vicksburg, but became most prominent in Sherman's Atlanta campaign. He was promoted to Brigadier General in 1864 and Major General in 1865. He was collector of internal revenue in Iowa from 1865 to 1869, but on October 29th of that year was appointed Secretary of War by President Grant, to succeed General William Tecumseh Sherman. General Belknap served from that date until March 7, 1876, having been re-appointed when Grant took office the second time. He died in 1890.

George W. McCrary

George W. McCrary served as Secretary of War in the Cabinet of President Rutherford B. Hayes. He was born in Indiana, removing with his family to the Wisconsin Territory, of which Iowa was a part, when a year old. He studied law in Keokuk and was admitted to the bar in 1856. He was elected to the State Legislature in 1857 and from 1861 to 1865 served in the State Senate, where he was chairman of the committees on military affairs and the judiciary. He was a member of Congress from 1869 to 1877. He was Secretary of War under President Hayes from 1877 to 1879, when he was appointed Justice of the United States Circuit court. Later on, he was general counsel for the Santa Fe railroad until his death in 1890.

Samuel J. Kirkwood

Samuel J. Kirkwood, Iowa's Civil War governor, was Secretary of the Interior under President James A. Garfield. He was born in Maryland, moved to Ohio, and in 1855 established himself in milling and farming in Iowa. The next year he was a member of the Iowa State Senate and from 1860 to 1864 was Governor of Iowa. During the Civil War he levied 48 regiments of volunteers and equipped them at $500,000 less than the usual cost. He was United States Senator from Iowa from 1865 to 1867 (completing the unexpired term of James Harlan, resigned) was again elected Governor of Iowa in 1875 and from 1877 to 1881 was a member of the State Senate. He was appointed Secretary of the Interior by President Garfield and served from March 4, 1881, to April 6, 1882, when he resigned. He died at Iowa City, September 1, 1894.

Frank Hatton

Frank Hatton, of Burlington, co-publisher with Robert J. Burdette of the Hawk-Eye, was Assistant Postmaster General from 1881 to 1884 and Postmaster General in the Cabinet of President Chester A. Arthur from October 14, 1884, to March 4, 1885; the youngest Cabinet member since Alexander Hamilton, being 38 years old when appointed. He died in 1894.

James Wilson

James Wilson, of Tama and Ames, served as Secretary of Agriculture for sixteen years, in the Cabinets of Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. He was born in Scotland, coming with his parents to the United States in 1851 and settling in Iowa in 1855. He was educated at Iowa State College, engaged in farming, and in 1861 was elected to the Iowa legislature where he served for three terms, acting as Speaker of the House the last term. He was a member of Congress from 1873 to 1877; State Railway commissioner in Iowa from 1877 to 1883, and from 1883 to 1885 was again a member of Congress. He was a regent of Iowa State University from 1870 to 1874, and from 1890 to 1897 was Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station and Professor of Agriculture at Iowa State College at Ames. He was appointed Secretary of Agriculture by President McKinley in 1897, was reappointed by him when he took office the second time, was retained by President Theodore Roosevelt and reappointed by President Taft, remaining in office until Woodrow Wilson came in on March 4, 1913. During his regime the Department of Agriculture developed rapidly; forest reserves were made, experiment stations were established and farm demonstration work was undertaken on a national scale. He died in 1920.

Leslie M. Shaw

Leslie M. Shaw, of Denison, served as Secretary of the Treasury in the two administrations of President Theodore Roosevelt. He was a native of Vermont; was graduated from Cornell College, at Mount Vernon, Iowa, and from the Iowa College of Law. He established a law practice in Denison, became president of one bank there and another in Manilla and took an active part in civic and political affairs. His effective work on the republican side in the free silver campaign in 1896, when William J. Bryan was running for President against William McKinley, speaking an average of five hours a day some weeks and as high as seven hours for several consecutive days, led to his nomination and election the following year as Governor of Iowa. He was re-elected two years later, doubling his plurality and multiplying his majority by four. He declined a third nomination. In 1898 he was president of the International Monetary Conference at Indianapolis. At the end of his second term as Governor of Iowa he became Secretary of the Treasury in Theodore Roosevelt's Cabinet and held that position a little over five years—the longest term in that office since 1841. He resigned in 1907 and was engaged in banking in New York City and Philadelphia until 1913, when he retired. He died in 1932.

Edwin T. Meredith

Edwin T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture in the Cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson, was born in Avoca, Iowa, in 1876. He was educated at Highland Park College, in Des Moines, and published the Farmers' Tribune from 1896 to 1902. He started Successful Farming, a monthly agricultural paper, on a national basis, in 1902 and later on added Better Homes and Gardens, another national publication. He became a director of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank and busied himself in finance and politics, in addition to his publishing work. He was a candidate for Governor of Iowa and United States Senator from Iowa, on the democratic ticket, but was unsuccessful. President Wilson appointed him Secretary of Agriculture, in which post he served from January, 1920, to March 4, 1921. Secretary Meredith died in 1928.

Henry C. Wallace

Henry Cantwell Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture in the Cabinets of Presidents Harding and Coolidge, was born in 1866, son of Henry Wallace, whom President Theodore Roosevelt appointed a member of his Country Life Commission and who was one of the most famous agricultural editors and educators in the United States for many years. Henry C. Wallace was graduated from Iowa State College at Ames, following which he became a tenant on one of his father's farms, on the same terms as the last tenant, who had failed. He succeeded. Specializing in dairy farming, he returned to Ames, after five years of farm work, and completed two years of college work in one. He was appointed an assistant professor in the dairy department. Then, securing a small farm paper, in conjunction with Dean Charles F. Curtiss, he embarked upon the profession of agricultural journalism. Five years after the unexpected death of his father, "Uncle Henry," as he sat in a front pew of a church in Des Moines, Henry Cantwell Wallace was appointed Secretary of Agriculture by President Harding. Upon the death of the latter, Secretary Wallace was reappointed by President Coolidge. He died in 1924.

Herbert C. Hoover

Herbert Clark Hoover served as Secretary of Commerce in the cabinets of Presidents Harding and Coolidge, 1921 to 1929. He was born at West Branch, Iowa, August 10, 1874. Becoming an orphan at an early age he was brought up in the Pacific West, attending Leland Stanford University. He engaged in mining in various parts of the world, with marked success. During the World War he was chairman of the American Relief Commission in London and later was chairman of the Commission for Relief in Belgium. He served as United States Food Administrator 1917-1919. After his cabinet services he was elected President of the United States in 1928, the first man born west of the Mississippi river to attain this high position. He was defeated for reelection in 1932.

Curtis Dwight Wilbur

Curtis Dwight Wilbur, born at Boonesboro, Iowa, on May 10, 1867, served as Secretary of the Navy in the Cabinet of President Coolidge. Most of his public career found him a resident of the state of California, but he never lost opportunity to pay tribute to the state of his birth. He served as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of California; was appointed Secretary of the Navy, by President Coolidge, in 1924, and served until 1929; following which he became judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Ray Lyman Wilbur

Ray Lyman Wilbur, born at Boonesboro, Iowa, on April 13, 1875 (a brother of Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy in the Cabinet of President Coolidge) was Secretary of the Interior in the Cabinet of President Hoover. Little of his mature life was spent in Iowa, but he is claimed by this state, by reason of his nativity. He was President of Leland Stanford University in California, securing a leave of absence in order to accept the cabinet portfolio tendered him by President Hoover on March 4, 1929. He was connected with the United States Food Administration and in various ways rendered splendid public service.

James William Good

James William Good, born near Cedar Rapids in 1866, became Secretary of War in the Cabinet of President Herbert Hoover. He was elected to Congress in 1909 and served until 1921. He was chairman of the appropriations committee during the World War, voted for the increase of soldier's pay but against the soldiers' bonus. He was Secretary of War from the day of President Hoover's inauguration, March 4, 1929, to the day of his death, November 18, 1929.

Henry Agard Wallace

Henry Agard Wallace, son of Secretary Henry Cantwell Wallace, and grandson of Henry Wallace, editor for many years of Wallaces' Farmer, served as Secretary of Agriculture in the first two terms of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was born in Adair county in 1888 and educated at Iowa State College at Ames. He served as editor of Wallaces' Farmer for many years and later as the editor of the combined Wallaces' Farmer and Iowa Homestead. He was Secretary of the Corn Belt Meat Producers Association for a number of years. When President Roosevelt assumed office on March 4, 1933, he took Henry A. Wallace into his Cabinet and continued him there on his second term. He was elected vice president in 1940.

Harry L. Hopkins

Harry L. Hopkins, who became Secretary of Commerce under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in February, 1939, was born in Sioux City in 1890. He was graduated from Grinnell College and began his career in the service of the poor and needy as supervisor of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor; later was executive secretary of the Board of Child Welfare from 1918 to 1922; division manager of the American Red Cross at New Orleans from 1922 to 1924; director of the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association and executive director of the New York State Temporary Relief Administration. President Roosevelt appointed him federal administrator of emergency relief in 1933. Two years later he placed him in charge of the Works Progress Administration, where he continued until he became Secretary of Commerce in the President's Cabinet, resigning in 1940.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF IOWA

INTRODUCTION

Iowa was organized as a separate Territory by an act of Congress approved on June 12, 1838, but it was not until 1844 that steps were taken to secure admission into the Union. A constitutional convention met at Iowa City in October, 1844. The Constitution drafted by this convention was twice submitted to the voters of the Territory of Iowa and twice rejected by them, largely because of dissatisfaction with the boundaries of the proposed State.

A second constitutional convention met at Iowa City in May, 1846. The Constitution drafted by this convention was ratified by a majority of 456 votes at an election held on August 3, 1846, and Iowa was admitted as a State on December 28, 1846.

The Constitution of 1846, however, contained a number of provisions which were found to be unsatisfactory in practice. One of these was the prohibition of banking institutions. As a result of this dissatisfaction, the legislature in 1855 provided for an election on the question of calling a convention to revise or amend the Constitution of 1846. The vote was 32,390 for a convention and 14,162 against a convention. Delegates were elected on November 4, 1856, and the convention met at Iowa City on January 19, 1857.

The delegates drafted a new constitution which was submitted to the people at an election held on August 3, 1857, and ratified by a vote of 40,311 to 33,681. This Constitution went into effect by proclamation of the governor on September 3, 1857.

The Constitution of 1857 has, since that time, remained the fundamental law of the State of Iowa; but it has been amended a number of times.

THE CONSTITUTION¹

WE, THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF IOWA, grateful to the Supreme Being for the blessings hitherto enjoyed, and feeling our dependence on Him for a continuation of those blessings, do ordain and establish a free and independent government, by the name of the STATE OF IOWA, the boundaries whereof shall be as follows:

Beginning in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River, at a point due East of the middle of the mouth of the main channel of the Des Moines River, thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines River, to a point on said river where the Northern boundary line of the State of Missouri—as established by the constitution of that State—adopted June 12th, 1820—crosses the said middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines River; thence Westwardly along the said Northern boundary line of the State of Missouri, as established at the time aforesaid, until an extension of said line intersects the middle of the main channel of the Missouri River; thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Missouri River to a point opposite the middle of the main channel of the Big Sioux River, according to Nicollett's Map; thence up the main channel of the said Big Sioux River, according to the said map, until it is intersected by the parallel of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes North latitude; thence East along said parallel of forty three degrees and thirty minutes until said parallel intersects the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence down the middle of the main channel of said Mississippi River to the place of beginning.

¹The text of the Constitution was taken directly from the original manuscript copy preserved in the office of the Secretary of State. Compiled, edited, and documented by Benjamin F. Shambaugh and Ruth A. Gallaher, of the State Historical Society of Iowa. All words, phrases, and sections which have been eliminated from the Constitution or rendered inoperative by amendment appear in italics. Material added to the Constitution by amendment is enclosed within brackets. Besides being indicated in their proper place in the text, the amendments are also printed in full in chronological order following the Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All men are, by nature, free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights—among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness.

SEC. 2. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people, and they have the right, at all times, to alter or reform the same, whenever the public good may require it.

SEC. 3. The General Assembly shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; nor shall any person be compelled to attend any place of worship, pay tithes, taxes, or other rates for building or repairing places of worship, or the maintenance of any minister, or ministry.

SEC. 4. No religious test shall be required as a qualification for any office, or public trust, and no person shall be deprived of any of his rights, privileges, or capacities, or disqualified from the performance of any of his public or private duties, or rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity, in consequence of his opinions on the subject of religion; and any party to any judicial proceeding shall have the right to use as a witness, or take the testimony of, any other person not disqualified on account of interest, who may be cognizant of any fact material to the case; and parties to suits may be witnesses, as provided by law.

SEC. 5. Any citizen of this State who may hereafter be engaged, either directly, or indirectly, in a duel, either as principal, or accessory before the fact, shall forever be disqualified from holding any office under the Constitution and laws of this State.

SEC. 6. All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation; the General Assembly shall not grant to any citizen, or class of citizens, privileges or immunities, which, upon the same terms shall not equally belong to all citizens.

SEC. 7. Every person may speak, write, and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right. No law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech, or of the press. In all prosecutions or indictments for libel, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it appears to the jury that the matter charged as libellous was true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted.

SEC. 8. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable seizures and searches shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but on probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons and things to be seized.

SEC. 9. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate; but the General Assembly may authorize trial by a jury of a less number than twelve men in inferior courts; but no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law.

SEC. 10. In all criminal prosecutions, and in cases involving the life, or liberty of an individual the accused shall have a right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury; to be informed of the accusation against him, to have a copy of the same when demanded; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for his witnesses; and, to have the assistance of counsel.

SEC. 11. All offences less than felony and in which the punishment does not exceed a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for thirty days, shall be tried summarily before a Justice of the Peace, or other officer authorized by law, on information under oath, without indictment, or the intervention of a grand jury, saving to the defendant the right of appeal; and no person shall be held to answer for any higher criminal offence, unless on presentment or indictment by a grand jury,² except in cases arising in the army, or navy, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger.

²See amendments 2 and 3 of those adopted in 1884.

SEC. 12. No person shall after acquittal, be tried for the same offence. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable, by sufficient sureties, except for capital offences where the proof is evident, or the presumption great.

SEC. 13. The writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, or refused when application is made as required by law, unless in case of rebellion, or invasion the public safety may require it.

SEC. 14. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. No standing army shall be kept up by the State in time of peace; and in time of war, no appropriation for a standing army shall be for a longer time than two years.

SEC. 15. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war except in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 16. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies, or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the evidence of two witnesses to the same overt act, or confession in open Court.

SEC. 17. Excessive bail shall not be required; excessive fines shall not be imposed, and cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted.

SEC. 18. Private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation first being made, or secured to be made to the owner thereof, as soon as the damages shall be assessed by a jury, who shall not take into consideration any advantages that may result to said owner on account of the improvement for which it is taken.

[The general assembly, however, may pass laws permitting the owners of lands to construct drains, ditches, and levees for agricultural, sanitary or mining purposes across the lands of others, and provide for the organization of drainage districts, vest the proper authorities with power to construct and maintain levees, drains and ditches and to keep in repair all drains, ditches, and levees heretofore constructed under the laws of the state, by special assessments upon the property benefited thereby. The General Assembly may provide by law for the condemnation of such real estate as shall be necessary for the construction and maintenance of such drains, ditches and levees, and prescribe the method of making such condemnation.]³

SEC. 19. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in any civil action, on mesne or final process, unless in case of fraud; and no person shall be imprisoned for a militia fine in time of peace.

SEC. 20. The people have the right freely to assemble together to counsel for the common good; to make known their opinions to their representatives and to petition for a redress of grievances.

SEC. 21. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, shall ever be passed.

SEC. 22. Foreigners who are, or may hereafter become residents of this State, shall enjoy the same rights in respect to the possession, enjoyment and descent of property, as native born citizens.

SEC. 23. There shall be no slavery in this State; nor shall there be involuntary servitude, unless for the punishment of crime.

SEC. 24. No lease or grant of agricultural lands, reserving any rent, or service of any kind, shall be valid for a longer period than twenty years.

SEC. 25. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others, retained by the people.

[SECTION 26. No person shall manufacture for sale, or sell, or keep for sale, as a beverage any intoxicating liquors whatever, including ale, wine and beer. The general assembly shall by law prescribe regulations for the enforcement of the prohibition herein contained, and shall thereby provide suitable penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof.]⁴

³ The material between the brackets was added by an amendment adopted in 1908.

⁴ This amendment was proposed by the General Assembly in 1880; readopted in 1882; ratified at a special election held on June 27, 1882; and certified adopted on June 28, 1882. On April 21, 1883, the Supreme Court of Iowa, in deciding Koehler and Lange v. Hill, held that, owing to certain irregularities, the amendment had not been legally submitted to the voters and hence was not a part of the Constitution—60 Iowa 543.

ARTICLE II.

RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE

SECTION 1. Every *white*⁵ male⁶ citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty one years, who shall have been a resident of this State six months next preceding the election, and of the County in which he claims his vote sixty days, shall be entitled to vote at all elections which are now or hereafter may be authorized by law.

SEC. 2. Electors shall, in all cases except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest on the days of election, during their attendance at such election, going to and returning therefrom.

SEC. 3. No elector shall be obliged to perform military duty on the day of election, except in time of war, or public danger.

SEC. 4. No person in the military, naval, or marine service of the United States shall be considered a resident of this State by being stationed in any garrison, barrack, or military or naval place, or station within this State.

SEC. 5. No idiot, or insane person, or person convicted of any infamous crime, shall be entitled to the privilege of an elector.

SEC. 6. All elections by the people shall be by ballot.

[The general election for state, district county and township officers shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.]⁷

[SEC. 7. The general election for state, district, county and township officers in the year 1916 shall be held in the same month and on the same day as that fixed by the laws of the United States for the election of presidential electors, or of president and vice-president of the United States; and thereafter such election shall be held at such time as the general assembly may by law provide.]⁸

ARTICLE III.

OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

SECTION 1. The powers of the government of Iowa shall be divided into three separate departments—the Legislative, the Executive, and the Judicial; and no person charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any function appertaining to either of the others, except in cases hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The Legislative authority of this State shall be vested in a General Assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives; and the style of every law shall be, "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa."

SEC. 2. The sessions of the General Assembly shall be biennial, and shall commence on the second Monday in January next ensuing the election of its members; unless the Governor of the State shall, in the meantime, convene the General Assembly by proclamation.

SEC. 3. The members of the House of Representatives shall be chosen every second year, by the qualified electors of their respective districts, *on the second Tuesday in October, except the years of the Presidential election, when the election shall be on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November;*⁹ and their term of office shall commence on the first day of January next after their election, and continue two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

⁵ The word "white" was eliminated by an amendment adopted in 1868.

⁶ The word "male" remains in this section of the State Constitution, but it was rendered inoperative by the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, adopted in 1920. The General Assembly of Iowa ratified the Nineteenth Amendment on July 2, 1919.

⁷ This section was added by an amendment adopted in 1884. It was repealed in 1916.

⁸ This section was added by an amendment adopted in 1916.

⁹ Although there has been no specific repeal of any part of this section, the dates of election have been changed, first by the amendment of 1884, and later by the amendment of 1916.

SEC. 4. No person shall be a member of the House of Representatives who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years, be a *free white*¹⁰ *male*¹¹ citizen of the United States, and shall have been an inhabitant of this State one year next preceding his election, and at the time of his election shall have had an actual residence of sixty days in the County, or District he may have been chosen to represent.

SEC. 5. Senators shall be chosen for the term of four years, at the same time and place as Representatives; they shall be twenty-five years of age, and possess the qualifications of Representatives as to residence and citizenship.

SEC. 6. The number of Senators shall not be less than one third, nor more than one half the representative body; and shall be so classified by lot, that one class, being as nearly one half as possible, shall be elected every two years. When the number of Senators is increased, they shall be annexed by lot to one or the other of the two classes, so as to keep them as nearly equal in numbers as practicable.

SEC. 7. Each house shall choose its own officers, and judge of the qualification, election, and return of its own members. A contested election shall be determined in such manner as shall be directed by law.

SEC. 8. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to transact business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

SEC. 9. Each house shall sit upon its own adjournments, keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same; determine its rules of proceedings, punish members for disorderly behavior, and, with the consent of two thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same offense; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the General Assembly of a free and independent State.

SEC. 10. Every member of the General Assembly shall have the liberty to dissent from, or protest against any act or resolution which he may think injurious to the public, or an individual, and have the reasons for his dissent entered on the journals; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question, shall, at the desire of any two members present, be entered on the journals.

SEC. 11. Senators and Representatives, in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest during the session of the General Assembly, and in going to and returning from the same.

SEC. 12. When vacancies occur in either house, the Governor, or the person exercising the functions of Governor, shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

SEC. 13. The doors of each house shall be open, except on such occasions, as, in the opinion of the house, may require secrecy.

SEC. 14. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which they may be sitting.

SEC. 15. Bills may originate in either house, and may be amended, altered, or rejected by the other; and every bill having passed both houses, shall be signed by the Speaker and President of their respective houses.

SEC. 16. Every bill which shall have passed the General Assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor. If he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which shall enter the same upon their journal, and proceed to re-consider it; if, after such re-consideration, it again pass both houses, by yeas and nays, by a majority of two thirds of the members of each house, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the Governor's objections. If any bill shall not be returned within three days after it shall have been presented to him, Sunday excepted, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the General Assembly, by adjournment, prevent such return. Any bill submitted to the Governor for his approval during the last three days of a session of the General Assembly, shall be deposited by him in the office of the Secretary of State, within thirty days after the adjournment, with his approval, if approved by him, and with his objections, if he disapproves thereof.

¹¹The word "male" was stricken from this section by an amendment adopted in 1926.

SEC. 17. No bill shall be passed unless by the assent of a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly, and the question upon the final passage shall be taken immediately upon its last reading, and the yeas and nays entered on the journal.

SEC. 18. An accurate statement of the receipts and expenditures of the public money shall be attached to and published with the laws, at every regular session of the General Assembly.

SEC. 19. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, and all impeachments shall be tried by the Senate. When sitting for that purpose, the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present.

SEC. 20. The Governor, Judges of the Supreme and District Courts, and other State officers, shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor or malfeasance in office; but judgment in such cases shall extend only to removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit, under this State; but the party convicted or acquitted shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, and punishment, according to law. All other civil officers shall be tried for misdemeanors and malfeasance in office, in such manner as the General Assembly may provide.

SEC. 21. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office of profit under this State, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during such term, except such offices as may be filled by elections by the people.

SEC. 22. No person holding any lucrative office under the United States, or this State, or any other power, shall be eligible to hold a seat in the General Assembly; but offices in the militia, to which there is attached no annual salary, or the office of justice of the peace, or postmaster whose compensation does not exceed one hundred dollars per annum, or notary public, shall not be deemed lucrative.

SEC. 23. No person who may hereafter be a collector or holder of public monies, shall have a seat in either House of the General Assembly, or be eligible to hold any office of trust or profit in this State, until he shall have accounted for and paid into the treasury all sums for which he may be liable.

SEC. 24. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law.

SEC. 25. Each member of the first General Assembly under this Constitution, shall receive three dollars per diem while in session; and the further sum of three dollars for every twenty miles traveled, in going to and returning from the place where such session is held, by the nearest traveled route; after which they shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by law; but no General Assembly shall have power to increase the compensation of its own members. And when convened in extra session they shall receive the same mileage and per diem compensation, as fixed by law for the regular session, and none other.

SEC. 26. No law of the General Assembly, passed at a regular session, of a public nature, shall take effect until the fourth day of July next after the passage thereof. Laws passed at a special session, shall take effect ninety days after the adjournment of the General Assembly by which they were passed. If the General Assembly shall deem any law of immediate importance, they may provide that the same shall take effect by publication in newspapers in the State.

SEC. 27. No divorce shall be granted by the General Assembly.

SEC. 28. No lottery shall be authorized by this State; nor shall the sale of lottery tickets be allowed.

SEC. 29. Every act shall embrace but one subject, and matters properly connected therewith; which subject shall be expressed in the title. But if any subject shall be embraced in an act which shall not be expressed in the title, such act shall be void only as to so much thereof as shall not be expressed in the title.

SEC. 30. The General Assembly shall not pass local or special laws in the following cases:

For the assessment and collection of taxes for State, County, or road purposes;
For laying out, opening, and working roads or highways;
For changing the names of persons;
For the incorporation of cities and towns;
For vacating roads, town plats, streets, alleys, or public squares;
For locating or changing county seats.

In all the cases above enumerated, and in all other cases where a general law can be made applicable, all laws shall be general, and of uniform operation throughout the State; and no law changing the boundary lines of any county shall have effect until upon being submitted to the people of the counties affected by the change, at a general election, it shall be approved by a majority of the votes in each county, cast for and against it.

SEC. 31. No extra compensation shall be made to any officer, public agent, or contractor, after the service shall have been rendered, or the contract entered into; nor, shall any money be paid on any claim, the subject matter of which shall not have been provided for by pre-existing laws, and no public money or property shall be appropriated for local, or private purposes, unless such appropriation, compensation, or claim, be allowed by two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly.

SEC. 32. Members of the General Assembly shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear, or affirm, (as the case may be) that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of Iowa, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of Senator, (or Representative, as the case may be), according to the best of my ability." And members of the General Assembly are hereby empowered to administer to each other the said oath or affirmation.

Sec. 33. The General Assembly shall, in the years One thousand eight hundred and fifty nine, One thousand eight hundred and sixty three, One thousand eight hundred and sixty five, One thousand eight hundred and sixty seven, One thousand eight hundred and sixty nine, and One thousand eight hundred and seventy five, and every ten years thereafter, cause an enumeration to be made of all the white¹² inhabitants of the State.¹³

Sec. 34. The number of senators shall, at the next session following each period of making such enumeration, and the next session following each United States census, be fixed by law, and apportioned among the several counties, according to the number of white¹⁴ inhabitants in each.

Sec. 35. The Senate shall not consist of more than fifty members, nor the House of Representatives of more than one hundred; and they shall be apportioned among the several counties and representative districts of the State, according to the number of white¹⁵ inhabitants in each, upon ratios to be fixed by law; but no representative district shall contain more than four organized counties, and each district shall be entitled to at least one representative. Every county and district which shall have a number of inhabitants equal to one-half of the ratio fixed by law, shall be entitled to one representative; and any one county containing in addition to the ratio fixed by law, one half of that number, or more, shall be entitled to one additional representative. No floating district shall hereafter be formed.

Sec. 36. At its first session under this Constitution, and at every subsequent regular session, the General Assembly shall fix the ratio of representation, and also form into representative districts those counties which will not be entitled singly to a representative.¹⁶

[SECTION 34. The senate shall be composed of fifty members to be elected from the several senatorial districts, established by law and at the next session of the general assembly held following the taking of the state and national census, they shall be apportioned among the several counties or districts of the state, according to population as shown by the last preceding census (, but no county shall be entitled to more than one (1) senator).¹⁷

[SEC. 35. The house of representatives shall consist of not more than one hundred and eight members. The ratio of representation shall be determined by dividing the whole number of the population of the state as shown by the last preceding state or national census, by the whole number of counties then existing or organized, but each county shall constitute one representative district and be entitled to one representative, but each county having a population in excess of the ratio number, as herein provided of three fifths or more of such ratio number shall be entitled to one additional representative, but said addition shall extend only to the nine counties having the greatest population.

[SEC. 36. The general assembly shall, at the first regular session held following the adoption of this amendment, and at each succeeding regular session held next after the taking of such census, fix the ratio of representation, and apportion the additional representatives, as hereinbefore required.]¹⁸

SEC. 37. When a congressional, senatorial, or representative district shall be composed of two or more counties, it shall not be entirely separated by any county belonging to another district; and no county shall be divided in forming a congressional, senatorial, or representative district.

SEC. 38. In all elections by the General Assembly, the members thereof shall vote viva voce and the votes shall be entered on the journal.

ARTICLE IV.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The Supreme Executive power of this State shall be vested in a Chief Magistrate, who shall be styled the Governor of the State of Iowa.

SEC. 2. The Governor shall be elected by the qualified electors at the time and place of voting for members of the General Assembly, and shall hold his office two years from the time of his installation, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

SEC. 3. There shall be a Lieutenant Governor, who shall hold his office two years, and be elected at the same time as the Governor. In voting for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, the electors shall designate for whom they vote as Governor, and for whom as Lieutenant Governor. The returns of every election for Governor, and Lieutenant Governor, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government of the State, directed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who shall open and publish them in the presence of both Houses of the General Assembly.

SEC. 4. The persons respectively having the highest number of votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, shall be declared duly elected; but in case two or more persons shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for either office, the General Assembly shall, by joint vote, forthwith proceed to elect one of said persons Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, as the case may be.

SEC. 5. Contested elections for Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, shall be determined by the General Assembly in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 6. No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, who shall not have been a citizen of the United States, and a resident of the State, two years next preceding the election, and attained the age of thirty years at the time of said election.

SEC. 7. The Governor shall be commander in chief of the militia, the army, and navy of this State.

SEC. 8. He shall transact all executive business with the officers of government, civil and military, and may require information in writing from the officers

¹⁸The three sections in brackets (34, 35, and 36), with the exception of the part in parentheses in Section 34, were added by an amendment adopted in 1904. of the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

Sec. 9. He shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed.

Sec. 10. When any office shall, from any cause, become vacant, and no mode is provided by the Constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the Governor shall have power to fill such vacancy, by granting a commission, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the General Assembly, or at the next election by the people.

Sec. 11. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the General Assembly by proclamation, and shall state to both Houses, when assembled, the purpose for which they shall have been convened.

Sec. 12. He shall communicate, by message, to the General Assembly, at every regular session, the condition of the State, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient.

Sec. 13. In case of disagreement between the two Houses with respect to the time of adjournment, the Governor shall have power to adjourn the General Assembly to such time as he may think proper; but no such adjournment shall be beyond the time fixed for the regular meeting of the next General Assembly.

Sec. 14. No person shall, while holding any office under the authority of the United States, or this State, execute the office of Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, except as hereinafter expressly provided.

Sec. 15. The official term of the Governor, and Lieutenant Governor, shall commence on the second Monday of January next after their election, and continue for two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The Lieutenant Governor, while acting as Governor, shall receive the same pay as provided for Governor; and while presiding in the Senate, shall receive as compensation therefor, the same mileage and double the per diem pay provided for a Senator, and none other.

Sec. 16. The Governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the General Assembly at its next meeting, when the General Assembly shall either grant a pardon, commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. He shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; and shall report to the General Assembly, at its next meeting, each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon granted, and the reasons therefor; and also all persons in whose favor remission of fines and forfeitures shall have been made, and the several amounts remitted.

Sec. 17. In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, removal from office, or other disability of the Governor, the powers and duties of the office for the residue of the term, or until he shall be acquitted, or the disability removed, shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor.

Sec. 18. The Lieutenant Governor shall be President of the Senate, but shall only vote when the Senate is equally divided; and in case of his absence, or impeachment, or when he shall exercise the office of Governor, the Senate shall choose a President pro tempore.

Sec. 19. If the Lieutenant Governor, while acting as Governor, shall be impeached, displaced, resign, or die, or otherwise become incapable of performing the duties of the office, the President pro tempore of the senate shall act as Governor until the vacancy is filled, or the disability removed; and if the President of the Senate, for any of the above causes, shall be rendered incapable of performing the duties pertaining to the office of Governor, the same shall devolve upon the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Sec. 20. There shall be a seal of this State, which shall be kept by the Governor, and used by him officially, and shall be called the Great Seal of the State of Iowa.

Sec. 21. All grants and commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the people of the State of Iowa, sealed with the Great Seal of the State, signed by the Governor, and countersigned by the Secretary of State.

SEC. 22. A Secretary of State, Auditor of State and Treasurer of State, shall be elected by the qualified electors, who shall continue in office two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified; and perform such duties as may be required by law.

ARTICLE V. JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The Judicial power shall be vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, and such other Courts, inferior to the Supreme Court, as the General Assembly may, from time to time, establish.

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of three Judges, two of whom shall constitute a quorum to hold Court.

SEC. 3. The Judges of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State, and shall hold their court at such time and place as the General Assembly may prescribe. The Judges of the Supreme Court so elected, shall be classified so that one Judge shall go out of office every two years; and the Judge holding the shortest term of office under such classification, shall be Chief Justice of the Court, during his term, and so on in rotation. After the expiration of their terms of office, under such classification, the term of each Judge of the Supreme Court shall be six years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. The Judges of the Supreme Court shall be ineligible to any other office in the State, during the term for which they shall have been elected.

SEC. 4. The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction only in cases in chancery, and shall constitute a Court for the correction of errors at law, under such restrictions as the General Assembly may, by law, prescribe; and shall have power to issue all writs and process necessary to secure justice to parties, and exercise a supervisory control over all inferior Judicial tribunals throughout the State.

SEC. 5. The District Court shall consist of a single Judge, who shall be elected by the qualified electors of the District in which he resides. The Judge of the District Court shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified; and shall be ineligible to any other office, except that of Judge of the Supreme Court, during the term for which he was elected.

SEC. 6. The District Court shall be a court of law and equity, which shall be distinct and separate jurisdictions, and have jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters arising in their respective districts, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 7. The Judges of the Supreme and District Courts shall be conservators of the peace throughout the State.

SEC. 8. The style of all process shall be, "The State of Iowa", and all prosecutions shall be conducted in the name and by the authority of the same.

SEC. 9. The salary of each Judge of the Supreme Court shall be two thousand dollars per annum; and that of each District Judge, one thousand six hundred dollars per annum, until the year Eighteen hundred and Sixty; after which time they shall severally receive such compensation as the General Assembly may, by law, prescribe; which compensation shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected.

SEC. 10. *The State shall be divided into eleven Judicial Districts; and after the year Eighteen hundred and sixty, the General Assembly may re-organize the Judicial Districts and increase or diminish the number of Districts, or the number of Judges of the said Court, and may increase the number of Judges of the Supreme Court; but such increase or diminution shall not be more than one District, or one Judge of either Court, at any one session; and no re-organization of the districts, or diminution of the number of Judges, shall have the effect of removing a Judge from office. Such re-organization of the districts, or any change in the boundaries thereof, or increase or diminution of the number of Judges, shall take place every four years thereafter, if necessary, and at no other time.*¹⁹ ¹⁹This section was, in effect, amended by the second of the amendments adopted in 1884, so far as it applied to district court districts and district court judges. The parts of this section which seem to be repealed by the amendments are here printed in italics.

[At any regular session of the general assembly, the state may be divided into the necessary judicial districts for district court purposes, or the said districts may be reorganized and the number of the districts and the judges of said courts increased or diminished; but no reorganization of the districts or diminution of the judges shall have the effect of removing a judge from office.]²⁰

SEC. 11. The Judges of the Supreme and District Courts shall be chosen at the general election; and the term of office of each Judge shall commence on the first day of January next, after his election.

SEC. 12. The General Assembly shall provide, by law, for the election of an Attorney General by the people, whose term of office shall be two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

SEC. 13. *The qualified electors of each judicial district shall, at the time of the election of District Judge, elect a District Attorney, who shall be a resident of the district for which he is elected, and who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.*²¹

[SECTION 13. The qualified electors of each county shall, at the general election in the year 1886, and every two years thereafter elect a county attorney, who shall be a resident of the county for which he is elected, and shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.]²²

SEC. 14. It shall be the duty of the General Assembly to provide for the carrying into effect of this article, and to provide for a general system of practice in all the Courts of this State.

[The grand jury may consist of any number of members not less than five, nor more than fifteen, as the general assembly may by law provide, or the general assembly may provide for holding persons to answer for any criminal offense without the intervention of a grand jury.]²³

ARTIVLE VI.

MILITIA.

SECTION 1. The militia of this State shall be composed of all able-bodied *white*²⁴ male citizens, between the ages of eighteen and forty five years, except such as are or may hereafter be exempt by the laws of the United States, or of this State, and shall be armed, equipped, and trained, as the General Assembly may provide by law.

SEC. 2. No person or persons conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms shall be compelled to do military duty in time of peace: provided, that such person or persons shall pay an equivalent for such exemption in the same manner as other citizens.

SEC. 3. All commissioned officers of the militia, (staff officers excepted,) shall be elected by the persons liable to perform military duty, and shall be commissioned by the Governor.

ARTICLE VII.

STATE DEBTS.

SECTION 1. The credit of the State shall not, in any manner, be given or loaned to, or in aid of, any individual, association, or corporation; and the State shall never assume, or become responsible for, the debts or liabilities of any individual, association, or corporation, unless incurred in time of war for the benefit of the State.

SEC. 2. The State may contract debts to supply casual deficits or failures in revenues, or to meet expenses not otherwise provided for; but the aggregate amount of such debts, direct and contingent, whether contracted by virtue of one or more acts of the General Assembly, or at different periods of time, shall

²² This section was added by an amendment adopted in 1884.

²³ This was the third of the amendments adopted in 1884. It was not assigned specifically to any place in the Constitution. This place seems as logical as any.

²⁴ The word "white" was stricken from this section by an amendment adopted in 1868.

never exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and the money arising from the creation of such debts, shall be applied to the purpose for which it was obtained, or to repay the debts so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever.

SEC. 3. All losses to the permanent, School, or University fund of this State, which shall have been occasioned by the defalcation, mismanagement or fraud of the agents or officers controlling and managing the same, shall be audited by the proper authorities of the State. The amount so audited shall be a permanent funded debt against the State, in favor of the respective fund, sustaining the loss, upon which not less than six per cent. annual interest shall be paid. The amount of liability so created shall not be counted as a part of the indebtedness authorized by the second section of this article.

SEC. 4. In addition to the above limited power to contract debts, the State may contract debts to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the State in war; but the money arising from the debts so contracted shall be applied to the purpose for which it was raised, or to repay such debts, and to no other purpose whatever.

SEC. 5. Except the debts hereinbefore specified in this article, no debt shall be hereafter contracted by, or on behalf of this State, unless such debt shall be authorized by some law for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein; and such law shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax, sufficient to pay the interest on such debt, as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt, within twenty years from the time of the contracting thereof; but no such law shall take effect until at a general election it shall have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election; and all money raised by authority of such law, shall be applied only to the specific object therein stated, or to the payment of the debt created thereby; and such law shall be published in at least one newspaper in each County, if one is published therein, throughout the State, for three months preceding the election at which it is submitted to the people.

SEC. 6. The Legislature may, at any time, after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may, at any time, forbid the contracting of any further debt, or liability, under such law; but the tax imposed by such law, in proportion to the debt or liability, which may have been contracted in pursuance thereof, shall remain in force and be irrevocable, and be annually collected, until the principal and interest are fully paid.

SEC. 7. Every law which imposes, continues, or revives a tax, shall distinctly state the tax, and the object to which it is to be applied; and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

ARTICLE VIII.

CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. No corporation shall be created by special laws; but the General Assembly shall provide, by general laws, for the organization of all corporations hereafter to be created, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The property of all corporations for pecuniary profit, shall be subject to taxation, the same as that of individuals.

SEC. 3. The State shall not become a stockholder in any corporation, nor shall it assume or pay the debt or liability of any corporation, unless incurred in time of war for the benefit of the State.

SEC. 4. No political or municipal corporation shall become a stockholder in any banking corporation, directly or indirectly.

SEC. 5. No act of the General Assembly, authorizing or creating corporations or associations with banking powers, nor amendments thereto shall take effect, or in any manner be in force, until the same shall have been submitted, separately, to the people, at a general or special election, as provided by law, to be held not less than three months after the passage of the act, and shall have been approved by a majority of all the electors voting for and against it at such election.

SEC. 6. Subject to the provisions of the foregoing section, the General Assembly may also provide for the establishment of a State Bank with branches.

SEC. 7. If a State Bank be established, it shall be founded on an actual specie basis, and the branches shall be mutually responsible for each other's liabilities upon all notes, bills, and other issues intended for circulation as money.

SEC. 8. If a general Banking law shall be enacted, it shall provide for the registry and countersigning by an officer of State, of all bills or paper credit designed to circulate as money, and require security to the full amount thereof, to be deposited with the State Treasurer, in United States stocks, or in interest paying stocks of States in good credit and standing, to be rated at ten per cent. below their average value in the City of New York, for the thirty days next preceding their deposit; and in case of a depreciation of any portion of said stocks, to the amount of ten per cent. on the dollar, the bank or banks owning such stock shall be required to make up said deficiency by depositing additional stocks; and said law shall also provide for the recording of the names of all stockholders in such corporations, the amount of stock held by each, the time of any transfer, and to whom.

SEC. 9. Every stockholder in a banking corporation or institution shall be individually responsible and liable to its creditors, over and above the amount of stock by him or her held, to an amount equal to his or her respective shares so held for all of its liabilities, accruing while he or she remains such stockholder.

SEC. 10. In case of the insolvency of any banking institution, the bill-holders shall have a preference over its other creditors.

SEC. 11. The suspension of specie payment by banking institutions shall never be permitted or sanctioned.

SEC. 12. Subject to the provisions of this article, the General Assembly shall have power to amend or repeal all laws for the organization or creation of corporations, or granting of special or exclusive privileges or immunities, by a vote of two thirds of each branch of the General Assembly; and no exclusive privileges, except as in this article provided, shall ever be granted.

ARTICLE IX.

EDUCATION AND SCHOOL LANDS.

1ST. EDUCATION.

SECTION 1. The educational interest of the State, including Common Schools and other educational institutions, shall be under the management of a Board of Education,²⁵ which shall consist of the Lieutenant Governor, who shall be the presiding officer of the Board, and have the casting vote in case of a tie, and one member to be elected from each judicial district in the State.

SEC. 2. No person shall be eligible as a member of said Board who shall not have attained the age of twenty five years, and shall have been one year a citizen of the State.

SEC. 3. One member of said Board shall be chosen by the qualified electors of each district, and shall hold the office for the term of four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified. After the first election under this Constitution, the Board shall be divided, as nearly as practicable, into two equal classes, and the seats of the first class shall be vacated after the expiration of two years; and one half of the Board shall be chosen every two years thereafter.

SEC. 4. The first session of the Board of Education shall be held at the Seat of Government, on the first Monday of December, after their election; after which the General Assembly may fix the time and place of meeting.

SEC. 5. The session of the Board shall be limited to twenty days, and but one session shall be held in any one year, except upon extraordinary occasions, when, upon the recommendation of two thirds of the Board, the Governor may order a special session.

²⁵ Under the provision contained in Section 15 of this part of Art. IX, the Board of Education was abolished by act of the legislature in 1864.—Laws of Iowa, 1864, Ch. 52. This act by the General Assembly rendered Sections 1 to 14 of the first part of Art. IX inoperative and obsolete, although they have not been repealed.

SEC. 6. The Board of Education shall appoint a Secretary, who shall be the executive officer of the Board, and perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by the Board, and the laws of the State. They shall keep a journal of their proceedings, which shall be published and distributed in the same manner as the journals of the General Assembly.

SEC. 7. All rules and regulations made by the Board shall be published and distributed to the several Counties, Townships, and School Districts, as may be provided for by the Board, and when so made, published and distributed, they shall have the force and effect of law.

SEC. 8. The Board of Education shall have full power and authority to legislate and make all needful rules and regulations in relation to Common Schools, and other educational institutions, that are instituted, to receive aid from the School or University fund of this State; but all acts, rules, and regulations of said Board may be altered, amended or repealed by the General Assembly; and when so altered, amended, or repealed they shall not be re-enacted by the Board of Education.

SEC. 9. The Governor of the State shall be, EX OFFICIO, a member of said Board.

SEC. 10. The Board shall have no power to levy taxes, or make appropriations of money. Their contingent expenses shall be provided for by the General Assembly.

SEC. 11. The State University shall be established at one place without branches at any other place, and the University fund shall be applied to that Institution and no other.

SEC. 12. The Board of Education shall provide for the education of all the youths of the State, through a system of Common Schools, and such schools shall be organized and kept in each school district at least three months in each year. Any district failing, for two consecutive years, to organize and keep up a school as aforesaid may be deprived of their portion of the school fund.

SEC. 13. The members of the Board of Education shall each receive the same per diem during the time of their session, and mileage going to and returning therefrom, as members of the General Assembly.

SEC. 14. A majority of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; but no rule, regulation, or law, for the government of Common Schools or other educational institutions, shall pass without the concurrence of a majority of all the members of the Board, which shall be expressed by the yeas and nays on the final passage. The style of all acts of the Board shall be, "Be it enacted by the Board of Education of the State of Iowa."

SEC. 15. At any time after the year One thousand eight hundred and sixty three, the General Assembly shall have power to abolish or re-organize said Board of Education, and provide for the educational interest of the State in any other manner that to them shall seem best and proper.

2ND. SCHOOL FUNDS AND SCHOOL LANDS.

SECTION 1. The educational and school funds and lands, shall be under the control and management of the General Assembly of this State.

SEC. 2. The University lands, and the proceeds thereof, and all monies belonging to said fund shall be a permanent fund for the sole use of the State University. The interest arising from the same shall be annually appropriated for the support and benefit of said University.

SEC. 3. The General Assembly shall encourage, by all suitable means, the promotion of intellectual, scientific, moral, and agricultural improvement. The proceeds of all lands that have been, or hereafter may be, granted by the United States to this State, for the support of schools, which may have been, or shall hereafter be sold, or disposed of, and the five hundred thousand acres of land granted to the new States, under an act of Congress, distributing the proceeds of the public lands among the several States of the Union, approved in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty one, and all estates of deceased persons who may have died without leaving a will or heir, and also such per cent. as has been or may hereafter be granted by Congress, on the sale of lands in this State, shall be, and remain a perpetual fund, the interest of which, together with all rents of the unsold lands, and such other means as the General Assembly may provide, shall be inviolably appropriated to the support of Common schools throughout the State.

SEC. 4. The money which may have been or shall be paid by persons as an equivalent for exemption from military duty, and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several Counties for any breach of the penal laws, shall be exclusively applied, in the several Counties in which such money is paid, or fine collected, among the several school districts of said Counties, in proportion to the number of youths subject to enumeration in such districts, to the support of Common Schools, or the establishment of libraries, as the Board of Education shall, from time to time provide.

SEC. 5. The General Assembly shall take measures for the protection, improvement, or other disposition of such lands as have been, or may hereafter be reserved, or granted by the United States, or any person or persons, to this State, for the use of the University, and the funds accruing from the rents or sale of such lands, or from any other source for the purpose aforesaid, shall be, and remain, a permanent fund, the interest of which shall be applied to the support of said University, for the promotion of literature, the arts and sciences, as may be authorized by the terms of such grant. And it shall be the duty of the General Assembly as soon as may be, to provide effectual means for the improvement and permanent security of the funds of said University.

SEC. 6. The financial agents of the school funds shall be the same, that by law, receive and control the State and county revenue for other civil purposes, under such regulations as may be provided by law.

SEC. 7. The money subject to the support and maintenance of common schools shall be distributed to the districts in proportion to the number of youths, between the ages of five and twenty-one years, in such manner as may be provided by the General Assembly.

ARTICLE X.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

SECTION 1. Any amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in either House of the General Assembly; and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two Houses, such proposed amendment shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the Legislature to be chosen at the next general election, and shall be published, as provided by law, for three months previous to the time of making such choice; and if, in the General Assembly so next chosen as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to, by a majority of all the members elected to each House, then it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people, in such manner, and at such time as the General Assembly shall provide; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments, by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the Constitution of this State.

SEC. 2. If two or more amendments shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be submitted in such manner that the electors shall vote for or against each of such amendments separately.

SEC. 3. At the general election to be held in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and in each tenth year thereafter, and also at such times as the General Assembly may, by law, provide, the question, "Shall there be a Convention to revise the Constitution, and amend the same?" shall be decided by the electors qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly; and in case a majority of the electors so qualified, voting at such election, for and against such proposition, shall decide in favor of a Convention for such purpose, the General Assembly, at its next session, shall provide by law for the election of delegates to such Convention.

ARTICLE XI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SECTION 1. The jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace shall extend to all civil cases, (except cases in chancery, and cases where the question of title to real estate may arise,) where the amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars, and by the consent of parties may be extended to any amount not exceeding three hundred dollars.

SEC. 2. No new County shall be hereafter created containing less than four hundred and thirty-two square miles; nor shall the territory of any organized county be reduced below that area; except the County of Worth, and the counties west of it, along the Northern boundary of this State, may be organized without additional territory.

SEC. 3. No county, or other political or municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner, or for any purpose, to an amount, in the aggregate, exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property within such county or corporation—to be ascertained by the last State and county tax lists, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.

SEC. 4. The boundaries of the State may be enlarged, with the consent of Congress and the General Assembly.

SEC. 5. Every person elected or appointed to any office, shall, before entering upon the duties thereof, take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States, and of this State, and also an oath of office.

SEC. 6. In all cases of elections to fill vacancies in office occurring before the expiration of a full term, the person so elected shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term; and all persons appointed to fill vacancies in office, shall hold until the next general election, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 7. The General Assembly shall not locate any of the public lands, which have been, or may be granted by Congress to this State, and the location of which may be given to the General Assembly, upon lands actually settled, without the consent of the occupant. The extent of the claim of such occupant, so exempted, shall not exceed three hundred and twenty acres.

SEC. 8. The seat of Government is hereby permanently established, as now fixed by law at the City of Des Moines, in the County of Polk; and the State University, at Iowa City, in the County of Johnson.

ARTICLE XII.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. This Constitution shall be the supreme law of the State, and any law inconsistent therewith, shall be void. The General Assembly shall pass all laws necessary to carry this Constitution into effect.

SEC. 2. All laws now in force and not inconsistent with this Constitution, shall remain in force until they shall expire or be repealed.

SEC. 3. All indictments, prosecutions, suits, pleas, complaints, process, and other proceedings pending in any of the courts, shall be prosecuted to final judgment and execution; and all appeals, writs of error, certiorari, and injunctions, shall be carried on in the several courts, in the same manner as now provided by law; and all offences, misdemeanors, and crimes that may have been committed before the taking effect of this Constitution, shall be subject to indictment, trial and punishment, in the same manner as they would have been, had not this Constitution been made.

SEC. 4. All fines, penalties, or forfeitures due, or to become due, or accruing to the State, or to any County therein, or to the school fund, shall inure to the State, county, or school fund, in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 5. All bonds executed to the State, or to any officer in his official capacity, shall remain in force and inure to the use of those concerned.

SEC. 6. The first election under this Constitution shall be held on the second Tuesday in October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty seven, at which time the electors of the State shall elect the Governor and Lieutenant Governor. There shall also be elected at such election, the successors of such State Senators as were elected at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, and members of the House of Representatives, who shall be elected in accordance with the act of apportionment, enacted at the session of the General Assembly which commenced on the first Monday of December one thousand eight hundred and fifty six.

SEC. 7. The first election for Secretary, Auditor, and Treasurer of State, Attorney General, District Judges, Members of the Board of Education, District Attorneys, members of Congress, and such State officers as shall be elected at the April election, in the year One thousand eight hundred and fifty seven, (except the Superintendent of Public Instruction,) and such county officers as were elected at the August election, in the year One thousand eight hundred and fifty six, except Prosecuting Attorneys, shall be held on the second Tuesday of October, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight: PROVIDED, That the time for which any District Judge or other State or County officer elected at the April election in the year One thousand eight hundred and fifty eight, shall not extend beyond the time fixed for filling like offices at the October election in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight.

SEC. 8. The first election for Judges of the Supreme Court, and such County officers as shall be elected at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, shall be held on the second Tuesday of October, in the year One thousand eight hundred and fifty nine.

SEC. 9. The first regular session of the General Assembly shall be held in the year One thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, commencing on the second Monday of January of said year.

SEC. 10. Senators elected at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, shall continue in office until the second Tuesday of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine, at which time their successors shall be elected as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 11. Every person elected by popular vote, by a vote of the General Assembly, or who may hold office by executive appointment, which office is continued by this Constitution, and every person who shall be so elected or appointed, to any such office, before the taking effect of this constitution, (except as in this Constitution otherwise provided,) shall continue in office until the term for which such person has been or may be elected or appointed shall expire; but no such person shall continue in office after the taking effect of this Constitution, for a longer period than the term of such office, in this Constitution prescribed.

SEC. 12. The General Assembly, at the first session under this Constitution, shall district the State into eleven Judicial Districts, for District Court purposes; and shall also provide for the apportionment of the members of the General Assembly, in accordance with the provisions of this Constitution.

SEC. 13. This Constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the State at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, in the several election districts in this State. The ballots at such election shall be written or printed as follows: Those in favor of the Constitution, "New Constitution—Yes." Those against the Constitution, "New Constitution—No." The election shall be conducted in the same manner as the general elections of the State, and the poll-books shall be returned and canvassed as provided in the twenty-fifth chapter of the code, and abstracts shall be forwarded to the Secretary of State, which abstracts shall be canvassed in the manner provided for the canvass of State officers. And if it shall appear that a majority of all the votes cast at such election for and against this Constitution are in favor of the same, the Governor shall immediately issue his proclamation stating that fact, and such Constitution shall be the Constitution of the State of Iowa, and shall take effect from and after the publication of said proclamation.

SEC. 14. At the same election that this Constitution is submitted to the people for its adoption or rejection, a proposition to amend the same by striking out the word "white" from the article on the Right of Suffrage, shall be separately submitted to the electors of this State for adoption or rejection in the manner following—Namely: A separate ballot may be given by every person having a right to vote at said election, to be deposited in a separate box; and those given for the adoption of such proposition shall have the words, "Shall the word 'White' be stricken out of the Article on the Right of Suffrage? Yes." And those given against the proposition shall have the words, "Shall the word 'White' be stricken out of the Article on the Right of Suffrage? No." And if at said election the number of ballots cast in favor of said proposition shall be equal to a majority of those cast for and against this Constitution, then said word "White" shall be stricken from said Article and be no part thereof.²⁶

SEC. 15. Until otherwise directed by law, the County of Mills shall be in and a part of the sixth Judicial District of this State.

[SEC. 16. The first general election after the adoption of this amendment shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and general elections shall be held biennially thereafter. In the year one thousand nine hundred and six there shall be elected a governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, attorney general, two judges of the supreme court, the successors of the judges of the district court whose terms of office expire on December 31st, one thousand nine hundred and six, state senators who would otherwise be chosen in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, and members of the house of representatives. The terms of office of the judges of the supreme court which would otherwise expire on December 31st, in odd numbered years, and all other elective state, county and township officers whose terms of office would otherwise expire in January in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and members of the general assembly whose successors would otherwise be chosen at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, are hereby extended one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. The terms of offices of senators whose successors would otherwise be chosen in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven are hereby extended one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. The general assembly shall make such changes in the law governing the time of election and term of office of all other elective officers as shall be necessary to make the time of their election and terms of office conform to this amendment, and shall provide which of the judges of the supreme court shall serve as chief justice. The general assembly shall meet in regular session on the second Monday in January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and also on the second Monday in January in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven, and biennially thereafter.]²⁷

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF IOWA 1857-1940

AMENDMENTS OF 1868²⁸

- 1st. Strike the word "white" from section one of article two thereof.
- 2d. Strike the word "white" from section thirty-three of article three thereof.
- 3d. Strike the word "white" from section thirty-four of article three thereof.
- 4th. Strike the word "white" from section thirty-five of article three thereof.
- 5th. Strike the word "white" from section one of article six thereof.

AMENDMENT OF 1880²⁹

Strike out the words "free white" from the third line of section four (4) of article three (3) of said constitution, relating to the legislative department.

AMENDMENT OF 1882³⁰

Add as section 26 to article I of said constitution the following: Section 26. No person shall manufacture for sale, or sell, or keep for sale, as a beverage any intoxicating liquors whatever, including ale, wine and beer. The general assembly shall by law prescribe regulations for the enforcement of the prohibition herein contained, and shall thereby provide suitable penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof.

AMENDMENTS OF 1884³¹

Amendment 1. The general election for state, district county and township officers shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.

Amendment 2. At any regular session of the general assembly, the state may be divided into the necessary judicial districts for district court purposes, or the said districts may be reorganized and the number of the districts and the judges of said courts increased or diminished; but no reorganization of the districts or diminution of the judges shall have the effect of removing a judge from office.

Amendment 3. The grand jury may consist of any number of members not less than five, nor more than fifteen, as the general assembly may by law provide, or the general assembly may provide for holding persons to answer for any criminal offense without the intervention of a grand jury.

Amendment 4. That section 13 of article 5 of the constitution be stricken therefrom, and the following adopted as such section.

SECTION 13. The qualified electors of each county shall, at the general election in the year 1886, and every two years thereafter elect a county attorney, who shall be a resident of the county for which he is elected, and shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

AMENDMENTS OF 1904³²

Add as section 16, to article XII of the constitution, the following:

SEC. 16. The first general election after the adoption of this amendment shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November in the year one

²⁹ This amendment was proposed by the General Assembly in 1878; readopted by the General Assembly in 1880; ratified by the voters at the election on November 2, 1880; and proclaimed adopted on December 3, 1880.—Laws of Iowa, 1878, Joint Resolution No. 5, p. 178, 1880, Joint Resolution No. 6, p. 214.

³² These amendments were proposed by the General Assembly in 1902; readopted by the General Assembly in 1904; ratified by the voters at the general election on November 8, 1904; and certified adopted on November 29, 1904.—Laws of Iowa, 1902, Joint Resolutions Nos. 2 and 5, p. 198, 1904 Joint Resolutions Nos. 1 and 2, pp. 207, 208.

thousand nine hundred and six, and general elections shall be held biennially thereafter. In the year one thousand nine hundred and six there shall be elected a governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, attorney general, two judges of the supreme court, the successors of the judges of the district court whose terms of office expire on December 31st, one thousand nine hundred and six, state senators who would otherwise be chosen in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, and members of the house of representatives. The terms of office of the judges of the supreme court which would otherwise expire on December 31st, in odd numbered years, and all other elective state, county and township officers whose terms of office would otherwise expire in January in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and members of the general assembly whose successors would otherwise be chosen at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, are hereby extended one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. The terms of offices of senators whose successors would otherwise be chosen in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven are hereby extended one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. The general assembly shall make such changes in the law governing the time of election and term of office of all other elective officers as shall be necessary to make the time of their election and terms of office conform to this amendment, and shall provide which of the judges of the supreme court shall serve as chief justice. The general assembly shall meet in regular session on the second Monday in January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and also on the second Monday in January in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven, and biennially thereafter.

That sections thirty-four (34) thirty-five (35) and thirty-six (36) of article three (3) of the constitution of the State of Iowa, be repealed and the following be adopted in lieu thereof:

SECTION 34. The senate shall be composed of fifty members to be elected from the several senatorial districts, established by law and at the next session of the general assembly held following the taking of the state and national census, they shall be apportioned among the several counties or districts of the state, according to population as shown by the last preceding census.

SEC. 35. The house of representatives shall consist of not more than one hundred and eight members. The ratio of representation shall be determined by dividing the whole number of the population of the state as shown by the last preceding state or national census, by the whole number of counties then existing or organized, but each county shall constitute one representative district and be entitled to one representative, but each county having a population in excess of the ratio number, as herein provided of three fifths or more of such ratio number shall be entitled to one additional representative, but said addition shall extend only to the nine counties having the greatest population.

SEC. 36. The general assembly shall, at the first regular session held following the adoption of this amendment, and at each succeeding regular session held next after the taking of such census, fix the ratio of representation, and apportion the additional representatives, as hereinbefore required.

AMENDMENT OF 1908³³

That there be added to section eighteen (18) of article one (1) of the constitution of the State of Iowa, the following:

"The general assembly, however, may pass laws permitting the owners of lands to construct drains, ditches, and levees for agricultural, sanitary or mining purposes across the lands of others, and provide for the organization of drainage districts, vest the proper authorities with power to construct and maintain levees, drains and ditches and to keep in repair all drains, ditches, and levees heretofore constructed under the laws of the state, by special assessments upon the property benefited thereby. The General Assembly may provide by law for the condemnation of such real estate as shall be necessary for the construction and maintenance of such drains, ditches and levees, and prescribe the method of making such condemnation."

AMENDMENT OF 1916³⁴

To repeal section seven (7) of article two (2) of the constitution of Iowa and to adopt in lieu thereof the following, to wit:

"The general election for state, district, county and township officers in the year 1916 shall be held in the same month and on the same day as that fixed by the laws of the United States for the election of presidential electors, or of president and vice-president of the United States; and thereafter such election shall be held at such time as the general assembly may by law provide."

AMENDMENT OF 1926³⁵

Strike out the word "male" from section four (4) of article three (3) of said constitution, relating to the legislative department.

AMENDMENT OF 1928³⁶

That the period (.) at the end of said section thirty-four (34) of article three (3) of the constitution of the state of Iowa be stricken and the following inserted: " , but no county shall be entitled to more than one (1) senator."

AMENDMENT OF 1936³⁷

Amend article three (III) by repealing section thirty-three (33) relating to the state census.

³⁴ This amendment was proposed by the General Assembly in 1913; readopted by the General Assembly in 1915; ratified by the voters at the general election on November 7, 1916; and certified adopted on November 27, 1916.—Laws of Iowa, 1913, House Joint Resolution No. 3, p. 422, 1915, Ch. 210, pp. 263, 264.

³⁶ This amendment was proposed by the General Assembly in 1925; readopted by the General Assembly in 1927; ratified by vote of the people at the election on November 6, 1928; and certified adopted on November 30, 1928.—Laws of Iowa, 1925, Ch. 279, p. 302, 1927, Ch. 353, p. 356.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE¹

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.—We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.—He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.—He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.—He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.—He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.—He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.—He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.—He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.—He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.—He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.—He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.—He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies, without the Consent of our legislatures.—He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.—He has combined with other to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:—For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:—For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the

Inhabitants of these States:—For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:—For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:—For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:—For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offenses:—For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:—For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:—For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.—He had abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.—He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.—He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.—He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.—He has excited domestic Insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions. In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people. Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to dissavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.—

WE, THEREFORE, the REPRESENTATIVES of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do.—And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES¹

We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Article. I.

Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty-five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.²

Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons. [counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed.]³ The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall chuse their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

Section 3. *The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.*⁴

[The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have

¹ The Constitution of the United States was adopted by a convention of delegates from the thirteen States on September 17, 1787, and transmitted to the Congress of the Confederation which in turn submitted it to the States for ratification on September 28, 1787. It was ratified by the required nine States by June 21, 1788, and went into effect on March 4, 1789.

The text of the Constitution and the first nineteen amendments are taken from Documents Illustrative of the Formation of the Union of the American States, published by the United States government in 1927. Compiled, edited, and documented by Benj. F. Shambaugh and Ruth A. Gallaher of the State Historical Society of Iowa. Words, phrases, and sections which have been rendered inoperative by amendment appear in italics. The material added to the Constitution by amendment is enclosed within brackets. Besides being indicated in their proper place in the text, the amendments are also printed in full following the Constitution.

³ The preceding provisions in italics were rendered inoperative by a part of Section 2 of Amendment XIV, which is inserted within the brackets. According to the Fourteenth Amendment the number of representatives from any State is to be reduced if the right to vote is denied to male citizens over twenty-one years of age, but this provision has never been enforced.

⁴ This section was rendered inoperative by Amendment XVII, the first paragraph of which is printed below in brackets.

one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures.]

Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and *if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.*⁵

[When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, That the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.]

No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.⁶

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

Section 4. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

*The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.*⁷

[The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3d day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.]

Section 5. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their Judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those Present, be entered on the Journal.

⁶ For an additional disqualification added at the close of the Civil War see Section 3 of Amendment XIV.

⁷ The provision concerning the date on which Congress shall assemble was changed by Section 2 of Amendment XX which appears below within the brackets.

Neither House, during the Session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Section 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other Place.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any Civil Office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office.

Section 7. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

Section 8. The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow Money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes;

To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization, and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures;

To provide for the Punishment of counterfeiting the Securities and current Coin of the United States;

To establish Post Offices and post Roads;

To promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts, by securing for limited Times to Authors and Inventors the exclusive Right to their respective Writings and Discoveries;

To constitute Tribunals inferior to the supreme Court;

To define and punish Piracies and Felonies committed on the high Seas, and Offences against the Law of Nations;

To declare War, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water;

To raise and support Armies, but no Appropriation of Money to that Use shall be for a longer Term than two Years;

To provide and maintain a Navy;

To make Rules for the Government and Regulation of the land and naval Forces;

To provide for calling forth the Militia to execute the Laws of the Union, suppress Insurrections and repel Invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining, the Militia, and for governing such Part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively, the Appointment of the Officers, and the Authority of training the Militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;

To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square) as may, by Cession of particular States, and the Acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like Authority over all Places purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be, for the Erection of Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings;—And

To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof.

Section 9. The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a Tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.

The Privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.

No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed.

No Capitation, or other direct, Tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

[The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.]⁸

No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State.

No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another: nor shall Vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.

No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States: And no Person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress, accept of any present, Emolument, Office, or Title, of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince, or foreign State.

Section 10. No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts, or grant any Title of Nobility.

No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing it's inspection Laws: and the net Produce of all Duties and Imposts, laid by any State on Imports or Exports, shall be for the Use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Controul of the Congress.

No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace, enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay.

[All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.]⁹

Article. II.

Section 1. The executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same Term, be elected, as follows Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress: but no Senator or Representative, or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

*The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by Ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately chuse by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List the said House shall in like Manner chuse the President. But in chusing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote; A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall chuse from them by Ballot the Vice President.*¹⁰

The Congress may determine the Time of chusing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

[The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate; The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted; —The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.¹¹ The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice President of the United States.]¹²

[The terms of the President and Vice President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice President elect shall become president. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice President shall have qualified.

The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.]¹³

No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.¹⁴

In Case of the Removal of the President from Office, or of his Death, Resignation, or Inability to discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the Same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by Law provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation or Inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated Times, receive for his Services, a Compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the Period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that Period any other Emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the Execution of his Office, he shall take the following Oath or Affirmation:—"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the Office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my Ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Section 2. The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States, when called into the actual Service of the United States; he may require the Opinion, in writing, of the principal Officer in each of the executive Departments, upon any Subject relating to the Duties of their respective Offices, and he shall have Power to grant Reprieves and Pardons for Offences against the United States, except in Cases of Impeachment.

He shall have Power, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, to make Treaties, provided two thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, shall appoint Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, Judges of the supreme Court, and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law; but the Congress may by Law vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the Courts of Law, or in the Heads of Departments.

The President shall have Power to fill up all Vacancies that may happen during the Recess of the Senate, by granting Commissions which shall expire at the End of their next Session.

Section 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress Information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary Occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in Case of Disagreement between them, with Respect to the Time of Adjournment, he may adjourn them to such Time as he shall think proper; he shall receive Ambassadors and other public Ministers; he shall take Care that the Laws be faithfully executed, and shall Commission all the Officers of the United States.

Section 4. The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

Article III.

Section 1. The judicial Power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their Offices during good Behaviour, and shall, at stated Times, receive for their Services, a Compensation, which shall not be diminished during their Continuance in Office.

Section 2. The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States, and Treaties made, or which shall be made, under their Authority;—to all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls;—to all Cases of admiralty and maritime Jurisdiction;—to Controversies to which the United States shall be a Party;—to Controversies between two or more States;—between a State and Citizens of another State;—between Citizens of different States,—between Citizens of the same State claiming Lands under Grants of different States, and between a State, or the Citizens thereof, and foreign States, Citizens or Subjects.

[The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.]¹⁵

In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. In all the other Cases before mentioned, the supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions, and under such Regulations as the Congress shall make.

The Trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

Section 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

The Congress shall have Power to declare the Punishment of Treason, but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood, or Forfeiture except during the Life of the Person attainted.

¹⁵ This is Amendment XI.

Article. IV.

Section 1. Full Faith and Credit shall be given in each State to the public Acts, Records, and judicial Proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general Laws prescribe the Manner in which such Acts, Records and Proceedings shall be proved, and the Effect thereof.

Section 2. The Citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens in the several States.

A Person charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime, who shall flee from Justice, and be found in another State, shall on Demand of the executive Authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having Jurisdiction of the Crime.

No Person held to Service or Labour in one State, under the Laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in Consequence of any Law or Regulation therein, be discharged from such Service or Labour, but shall be delivered up on Claim of the Party to whom such Service or Labour may be due.¹⁶

Section 3. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the Junction of two or more States, or Parts of States, without the Consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Section 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

Article. V.

The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several State, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress: Provided that no Amendment which may be made prior to the Year One thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be deprived of it's equal Suffrage in the Senate.

Article. VI.

All Debts contracted and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

[The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.]¹⁷

AMENDMENTS¹⁸ TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

Article I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Article II

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

Article III

No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Article IV

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

¹⁸ The first ten amendments were proposed by Congress and submitted to the States on September 25, 1789, and went into effect, apparently, on November 3, 1791, with their ratification by Vermont, the tenth State to act.

Article V

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

Article VI

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defence.

Article VII

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

Article VIII

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Article IX

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Article X

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

Article XI

The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.¹⁹

Article XII

The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;—The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted;—The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose, immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.²⁰

Article XIII

Section 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Section 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.²¹

Article XIV

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss of emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

²⁰ Amendment XII was proposed by Congress on December 12, 1803, and on September 25, 1804, the Secretary of State proclaimed it to have been duly ratified. This amendment superseded the third paragraph of the first section of Article II. The words in italics were rendered inoperative when Amendment XX changed the date of inauguration.

²¹ Amendment XIII, the first of the three Civil War amendments, was proposed by Congress on February 1, 1865, and its ratification was proclaimed by the Secretary of State on December 18, 1865.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.²²

Article XV

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Section 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.²³

Article XVI

The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.²⁴

Article XVII

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures.

When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, That the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution.²⁵

Article XVIII

Section 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

Section 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.²⁶

Article XIX

The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.²⁷

²² Amendment XIV was proposed by Congress on June 16, 1866, and the Secretary of State proclaimed its ratification on July 28, 1868. This amendment changed the provision for apportioning representation in the third paragraph of the first section of Article I. It also added disqualifications for various offices. Section 4 was an addition to Article VI.

²³ Amendment XV was proposed by Congress on February 27, 1869, and the Secretary of State proclaimed its ratification on March 30, 1870.

²⁶ Amendment XVIII was proposed by Congress on December 17, 1917, and proclaimed duly ratified on January 29, 1919. It was repealed by Amendment XXI, adopted in 1933.

Article XX

Section 1. The terms of the President and Vice President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

Section 2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3d day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Section 3. If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice-President shall have qualified.

Section 4. The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.

Section 5. Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

Section 6. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission.²⁸

Article XXI

Section 1. The eighteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

Section 2. The transportation or importation into any State, Territory, or Possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.²⁹

PROPOSED CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

Section 2. The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress.³⁰

²⁹ Amendment XXI was proposed by Congress on February 20, 1933, and proclaimed duly ratified on December 5, 1933. It was submitted for ratification by convention and not to the State Legislatures.

³⁰ The proposed Child Labor Amendment was proposed by Congress on June 4, 1934. Up to June 1, 1939, it had been ratified by 28 States.
