TO DR. MAGNIN, Inventor of the "Lucina cordial, or Elixir of Love."

"Respected and honored sir:—We have all, in a variety of cases, noticed the remarkable effect of your great discovery, and have considered for the purpose of giving evidence to the facts, and rendering you the honor which is your due. The "Lucina cordial" is, in our opinion, all infallible remedy for the prevention of the miscarriage of females, and artificial barrenness, and therefore must prove a blessing to the human race. We can also bear evidence that there is nothing in it of a mercurial or deleterious nature; and, in short, what it is said of the ancient medicinal discoveries of any day.

"With feelings of admiration and respect, we remain, dear sir, your obedient servants.

"LE CORDIAL DE LUCINE," or, in English, "the Lucina cordial," is a general invigorator of the human frame. In all the various cases of languor, insomnia, and debilitation, it is an unfailing remedy; as it is especially its province to impart cheerfulness and desires to the mind, and vigor to the body. But the peculiar virtues on which its celebrity is based, is the fertility and certainty with which it restores the virile powers, which they have been destroyed by disease, dissipation, recklessness, or any of the numerous causes which terminate in the prostration of those functions.

In common with the generality of really good medicines, this cordial contains nothing of a mercurial or deleterious nature; among the many ingredients which compose it, burbs, at the same time, so simple, yet so efficacious, that while it can innovate in the provinces of nature, a child, an infant may use it, not only with impunity, but with advantage.

The causes of society are unfortunately such, that, notwithstanding the immense benefit which would be sure to result from it, we cannot enter into an analysis of the inestimable cordial here, or publish many of the documents which have been rendered to vouchers of the blessings it has conferred on numerous of despairing couples. Suffice it to say, in a short, forbearance, that many more documents than those in question, exist in the hands of the proprietor, which, if he is not tied up by the strictest confidence in professional matters, he would be happy to publish, and that he has obtained the most favorable results, and has restored invalids to unexpected health and vigor, after they had been attended with great, though ineffectual, medical and assiduous attentions, letters, &c. With this separate manifested support and other baths may be established for the ordinary benefit of the city, and with an advantage as derived from the Hot Baths, consequently unimportantly necessary for large families, private establishments, such as boarding houses, hospitals, &c. Mr. Gregori being about to depart for France, is willing to dispose of this apparatus, and would gladly execute orders at Paris. He will give every information respecting the manner of putting it into operation, and will furnish certificates from the principal physicians in this city, together with reports from various extensive baths, appointed to give their opinions respecting this mode of bathing, as generally practiced in France, Germany, Italy, &c.

Mr. Gregori also offers for sale, his consulting theatre of health, he has added various remarks of jurisprudence.

GIROMELLI,
Corner of Bourbon and St. Anne.

N. B.—Madame Gregori is to shortly leave for the city, therefore the subscribers' bills will be speedily presented for payment.
