79 do de Constange,-We have often been astomshell at the coduct of the newspaper publishers south of the Potomac, in giving not only the manifests of the arrivals in ships and yessels or boats: such and such attickerto this or that person. This is an admirable plan indeed of gratuitously advartising for consigness; and debarring the necessity of an additional advertisement on their parts for the printer is determined to befool himself in favor of those who laugh him to scorn, and smile to find how fatuitously he impedes his own interest. The publishers, generous souls! will at their own expense and risk, to the exclusion of paid advertisements and of current intelligence advertise gratis for the con-

The very great negligence of soyagers on our westers waters, and the very little care taken of them by the commanders of the boats, are sufficient to engender disease.—

(FOR THE BEE.) UP TOWN AND DOWN TOWN.—These terms are so often peated, and at each repetition give birth to such disagrees.

The existence of such bands of men are the necessary gils of every community; especially of a city like out whi h is situated between a river and a swamp, and at each extremity of the town there is a large tract of country thrown which the metropolis must extend. But the question to be answered by every lover of harmony, peace, union and the true interests of our city is thin—shall these knots of speculators forever divide our city into two unnatural parties pulling against each other, shusing one another, and occasionally fighting one another? We see no good resoon why the whole community should be disturbed, and never permitted to rost a moment in peace or tranquility. Let us be convinced of one shing, that our city must extend both up and down, and whether one extends faster than the other depends upon circumstances connected with commerce. If the government of the United States thinks proper to locate the mint in Jackson square, why in the name of common sense should nent of the United States thinks proper to locate the mint in Jackson square, why in the name of common sense should those up town object? If the inhabitants in the faubourg St Mary desire to build a hotel in St Cuarles street, let them do it—the more hetels the batter for all parts of a city, as they sflurd greater inducements to strangers to visit us and when here to prolong their stay. If the inhabitants by the lower petton press desire to have paved streets yield to their rejection press desire to have paved streets yield to their rejection press desire to have paved streets yield to their rejection press desire to have paved streets yield to their rejection press desire to have paved streets yield to their rejection the same what reassantle objections can be opposed to the street of the street of the States have entertained concerning the country, and its inhabitants are rapidly wearing away; and the great resources of the Territory are becoming known.
