Among those journals which now openly vindicate Gen. Scorr, the Baltimore Sou merits particular mention. it is very frequently cited with approbation by those papers which support the Administration. The Sun of a late date has a long article entitled "Gen. Sourt and the Mexican War," from which we take the following paragraph:—
"Wintever indiscretion Gen. Scort may have displayed by his reluctance to depart for the seat of war at the fune he received the verbal instructions of the President, it is every day becoming more and more manifest and undentable that his geographical, or rather meteorological knowledge of the Rio Grande, and mintary experience, will be amply vindiented.—The reasons which he ussigned as grounds for delay, with the declaration that hostilities could not be resumed, nor the invasion of the enemy's country successfully prosecuted until early in September, are now well substantiated and beyond dispate. The desirableness, it not the necessity for the general superintenconstilly prosecuted until early in September, are now well substantiated and beyond dispute. The desirableness, it not the necessity for the general superintendence and direction of the volunteers, in their way to the scene of action, by an experienced commander has also been apparent. And the advice and practical knowledge of a military cheftain might have been well employed with general reference to the service, and for the convenience of the army, for the regulating and expediting supplies, facilities of transportation. A.c., having in view the completion of the whole by co-operation in person with the officer in command. These are tacts which few indeed will be disposed to resist; and therefore every day, and every communication from the Rio Grande has only hastened and confirmed the tectimony and experience of General Scorr, and added a fresh leaf to his laurels, which nothing but the inveterate spirit of party would duty him. A brave, and generous, and noble-hearted soldier, it is to be regretted that his name was ever given to the contention of party, for although it may never be sullied thereby, it properly belongs to the country—and his fame, with that of a Taylor, must ever be blended with her's. Lundy's Lane and Paio Alto, with the heroes and heroic deeds of Republican chivalry, will never grow dim on the pages of American history."

Dealer, a spirited locofoco paper says: "We had the pleasure of seeing the Hon. Senators Cass of Michigan and Breeze of Illinois, also the Hon. John Wentworth, representative from the Chicago district, as they passed up the Lakes on Saturday, returning from the late session. They do not hesitate to say that WESTERN RIGHTS have been trampled upon by the DOMINEERING POLICY OF THE SOUTH, and that conort of action among the representatives of the PREE STATES is necessary to redat SOUTHERN AGGRESSION. So say we, (adds the Plain Dealer)—and a member of Congress from the West, who is found cuddling to the SLAVE POWER, for the sake of government ould be marked with the curse of Cain."

To the Honorable, the President and members of the Council of Municipality No. Two: GENTLEMEN—Although this communication, as I am ready to admit, may at the first blush bear upon the usual course heretofore pursued by myself, as well as by my predecessors, yet a moment's reflection and a dispassionate person of the remarks I am about to offer with abundantly suffice to impress every impar-tial and unbiased mind with the constitute that fier will abundantly suffice to impress every impar al and unbiassed mind with the convection that the sethod to which I am now compelled to resort is the only resource left me to preserve involute the power elegated to the Mayor, and which have been seridelegated to the Mayor, and which have been seriously encroached upon by the recent action of the Council. Extraordinary circumstances call for extraordinary measures; and it must be apparent that no other alternative as left me from the course pursued by the Council at its last setting, than to make known my views by means of this communication. To prevent the passage of resolutions and ordinances which are unempted to be made building by an infringement of the most positive injunctions of our legislative ting, in relation to the communication I had the honting, in relation to the communication.

That communication which contained the objections urged by me, in my official capacity and within the legal delay, against the resolution providing for the appointment of two accountants at a salary of one hundred dollars per month, each, was laid on the table contrary to the letter and spirit of the 6th section of the act to incorporate the City, of New Orleans, approved February 17th, 1805, which expression of the act to incorporate the City, of New Orleans, approved February 17th, 1805, which expression of the sate to incorporate the City, of New Orleans, approved February 17th, 1805, which express return the same, with his objections in writing; and if two-thirds of the members then present in the said such objections, then, but not otherwise, the said bylaw or ordinance shall have the force of a law.

That the Council was strictly bound to take the vote of the members present in order to ascertain whether or not the resolution would become a law, and that the majority acted dilegally in supporting the motion to lay it on the table, is manifestly obvious when we take into consideration this clear enumeration of the law.

Mr. Reynolds remarked that his views of the matter remained uschanged, notwithstanding the observations of the Mayor. He would move to lay the message indefinitely upon the table.

Mr. Freret was astonished to hear such a motion made in relation to a message enanating from the Chief Magiatzate of the City; he was the more surprised as it appears that there is a cettled design to withhold the knowledge of these messages from the public.

Mr. Peters, in replying to some strictures of the Alderman of the 4th Ward, (Mr. Davern.) said that he was falsely accused of being opposed to an examination of the Treasurer's accounts. He emphatically denied the charge. He was opposed to to the appointment of two accountants, because it would entail new expenses on the corporation. The investigation into the accounts can be effected by the Treasurer and Comproller; but let not the Connecl create new offices—let us not establish sinceures.

Mr. Freret was of the same opinion as the preceding member. Although he wished for an investigation, he was loth to establish sinceures.

Mr. Freret was of the same opinion as the preceding member. Although he wished for an investigation, he was loth to establish sinceures for the exclusive benefit of some office-seckers. He would rather pay $200 from his own purse than allow new expenses to be created. This Council ought to be guided by a rigid sense of economy. [Right! cried out a person in the lebby, go on, economy for ever!]

After some farther discussion, the motion to lay the Mayor's message indefinitely upon the table, was submitted to the Council. The years and mays were called: 6 yeas, and 6 mays—Mr. Bullitt being absent. The Chair voted against the laying on the table, and the motion was consequently negatived.
