A Parallel.

Search all the Whig papers with a view of ascertaining the indignity exhibited by the Washington Union, in its abuse of Gen. TAYLOR, for we enacted copiously from the files of the National Inquirer when that paper was conducted by the present editor of the Union, for the purpose of showing that the denunciations now leveled at President TAYLOR are not less severe and virulent than those which it formerly hurled at Gen. JACKSON. Yet no one is ignorant that shortly after the election of Gen. JACKSON, the same gentleman who had declared him utterly unfit even for the office to which he aspired, was loud in expressing his success as a curse to the country, surpassed in sycophantic adulation and fulsome encomium every other journal in the country. The public will be enabled to appreciate the sincerity of the sincere employed by the Washington Union towards President TAYLOR by contrasting it with the pungent discourse which the editor was wont to launch forth against JACKSON, and by remembering his subsequent course, when the party to which Old Hickory was attached, became firmly seated in power.

[illegible] TAYLOR. [illegible] Without entering [illegible] on such a [illegible] Andrew Jackson [illegible] Richmond Enquirer [illegible] The whole [illegible] who, on any occasion, would [illegible] and necessarily [illegible] dependent upon others [illegible] advice and assistance."—Union.

[illegible] The resistance of [illegible] the Whig party (Gen. [illegible] Taylor had been [illegible] years in the camp. He had never given a vote [illegible] except at a military council of court martial, and, as far as was known, he had never attended a Federal [illegible] entertainment."—Union.

"They [illegible] people elect one eight [illegible] a Democratic [illegible] Taylor] and [illegible] to the Presidency [illegible] Taylor] whose previous occupation and habits [illegible] unfit him for [illegible] duties."—Union.

"Notwithstanding [illegible] Taylor] and [illegible] secrecy for the [illegible] of which he has assumed."—Union.

"[illegible] Taylor] want of experience in the science of statesmanship, and his lack of knowledge of [illegible] even if he had possessed a superior and commanding intellect, convinced us he would be obliged, in the event of his election, to throw himself into the hands of the men who were instrumental in bringing him into the field as a candidate."—Union.

"And this General Taylor, at the request of Washington! Gracious Heaven! Did an enlightened people ever so grossly err! Shall we not become the laughing stock of the civilized world! Is there not danger that the cause of freedom will suffer the most serious detriment throughout the hemispheres!"—Union.

Under these circumstances, however, can much confidence be placed in a journal so grossly inconsistent, and which is so factious and furious in its present hostility to the administration. If the Union will take a drab, unpack its heart with words, and fall a cursing," it cannot expect that its imprecations will be deemed worthy of special attention, or that people will do more than exclaim, "what a foul-mouthed creature it is!"

LATER FROM CAPE HAYTIEN.—Letters have been received at Boston from Cape Haytien, which state that the papers of the brig Silenus, which had been seized by order of the Haytien government at Port au Prince. The commissioners of the United States ship Raritan, had been requested to interfere in the matter of the steamer Mary Clinton, a part of whose cargo had been seized upon in like manner, but the commander refused to act in the case at all, and sailed the next day for Havana, without the slightest attempt to obtain restitution. The consignees subsequently appealed to President Polk, who acknowledged the injustice of the proceedings and made instant reparation. The conduct of the commander of the Raritan is severely reprobated at Port au Prince, and is by many regarded as disgraceful.

FURTHER NEWS BY THE NIAGARA.

We received last evening several despatches from our Correspondents at Baltimore and Washington, under date of the 13th, 14th and 16th instant. Though the news they transmit is not without its share of interest, still they cannot supply the place of well selected extracts from the foreign newspapers:

WASHINGTON, July 13th.

France.

It is thought that the existing ministry will soon be dissolved. However, the public funds have somewhat improved; the 5 per cents are quoted at 80f 45cts.

England.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs has expressed his opinion that there is now no probability of a general war in Europe.

The bill for the transportation of O'Brien and of his associates, has passed through Parliament but it is supposed that the Queen will profit by the opportunity which her visit to Ireland affords of granting them a pardon.

BALTIMORE, July 14.

Rome.

At the latest dates, it was currently reported that the French had entered the city, and that General Oudinot had offered terms of peace to the Romans On this question public opinion in England sides with the Italians, whilst in France it is decidedly opposed to the bombardment of Rome by the French army.

Hungary.

Several minor engagements have all turned to the advantage of the Hungarians. The greatest enthusiasm prevails among the Magyars.

In Central Germany, affairs are beginning to wear a more pacific aspect, as the public mind grows more calm every day.

The Austrians have ceased to bombard Ancona, and the Venetians have also proposed to declare a temporary suspension of hostilities.

Wood, who was condemned to be hung to-day, has again had his sentence respited until the 20th of the present month. It is a mystery to understand the meaning of this continued leniency.

CHOLERA IN NEW YORK.—On the 10th inst., one hundred and eleven new cases and forty-four deaths were reported. On the 11th, eighty-five cases and thirty deaths.

☞ Two Sac Indians have been arrested near Fort Leavenworth, on the charge of murdering Colburn, a trader on the plains, some two years ago. The fellows, instantly upon their arrests, confessed their guilt of the crime with which they were charged.

FIRE IN CINCINNATI.—On the night of the 10th inst., the court-house of Cincinnati was destroyed by fire.

LASSOING.—The Hungarians lasso their enemies the same as the Mexicans. The cord they throw is also armed with an iron hook that inflicts a severe wound.

VERMONT.—The Whig Convention of Vermont met at Montpelier on the 4th instant.—CARLOS COOLIDGE, of Muden, was nominated for Governor; ROBERT PIERPUNT, Lieutenant Governor, and Geo. HOWES, Treasurer.

☞ PROUDHON, the French Socialist, has recently admitted that in the "democratic and social" ranks are 30 to 40,000 wild, reckless, ungovernable men, over whom it is impossible to exercise any control whatever.

REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE AND LONGEVITY.—Mrs. Sarah Pallett died in Princess Anne county, Va., on Wednesday last. She was born on the 4th of July, 1746, and died on the 4th of July, 1849—having numbered precisely 103 years.

TENNESSEE.—John H. Crozier declines being again a candidate for Congress from the Knoxville district, Tennessee. Josiah M. Anderson is now the Whig candidate in that district, opposed by William H. Churchwell.

FIRE IN NORWICH, AND LOSS OF LIFE.—The Eagle Hotel, Norwich, Chenango co., N. Y., kept by D E Lawrence, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night of last week. The sister of Mrs. Lawrence, and two children, belonging to the landlord, were burned to death.

☞ The Island of Tabago, situated about fourteen miles from Panama, has been selected by Messrs. Howland & Aspinwall as the depot for their steamers. A correspondent of the New York Commercial says that the place has many peculiar advantages—good spring water, fine sea bathing, abundance of fruit and bracing air; the thermometer ranging about ten degrees less than at Panama.

MURDER.—One woman killed by another.—We learn from the Fort Smith (Ark.) Herald, that a murder was lately committed in Scott county, in that State, by a Mrs. Job, a young married woman, upon the body of an elderly widow, by the name of Northern. The parties met in a potato patch, when Mrs. Job drew a knife and plunged it into the left breast of Mrs. Northern, who fell dead immediately. Jealousy, the green-eyed monster, was the cause.

MINISTER TO NAPLES.—Thomas W. Chinn, of this State, lately appointed Charge d'Affaires of the United States to the kingdom of the Two Sicilies, was in Washington last week for a day or two, and proposed to leave it on the 12th on the way to his place of embarkation. Mr. Chinn is accompanied in his mission, as private secretary, by Mr. Alexander Barrow, the son of the former Senator in Congress from Louisiana.

MONTREAL, July 9, 1849.

Hon. George Moffat—His Enthusiastic Reception at Toronto, &c.

The Hon. George Moffat, President of the British American League, was received in Toronto with the greatest enthusiasm. Thousands assembled on the wharf to greet him, and on taking his seat in the carriage, with the Hon. W. Robinson, for Heroes, the horses were unharnessed, and the carriage drawn by the multitude to the hotel prepared for his reception — In the evening a grand entertainment was given to him.

The news from England has caused no excitement,

THE SPIRIT OF THE OPPOSITION.—As a specimen of the tone and manner of the opposition to General Taylor, as exhibited in the Union newspaper, and, taking the text of that paper as their cue, adopted by the opposition press of the country, generally, the Albany Gazette collects from one single editorial article, such choice epithets, as the following:—"General Taylor has been palmed upon the country"—"He is one of the most inexperienced of civil officers"—He is the least qualified to administer the government of any that could have been selected from the walks of civil life"—"He is the instrument of a cabal"—"He is outvoted at his own board by the secretaries of his own creation"—"He has sunk from the President of the United States almost into a mere cipher in the Government"—"He is not advised but dictated to by his cabinet"—&c., &c., &c., "all of the same tenor and date." We make, says the Gazette, no comments. If such a system of opposition and abuse of the patriot President of the U. States, is countenanced by the people of the country, a new leaf will have been turned over in the history of the republic.

THE EXPEDITION IN SEARCH OF SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.—The National Intelligencer says: "After the most solicitous examination into the means at the disposal of our naval service—not merely ordinary means, but any that could be applied by the resort to a bold exercise of discretion—it has been found, we are sorry to say, impossible to equip, within the necessary time, any such expedition as could be sent with the slightest prudence, or the slightest assurance against probabilities of five to one that we should lose our own vessels and men, without finding Sir John Franklin."

THE RALEIGH REGISTER.—The property in this old paper, published for a number of years in the city of Raleigh, (in North Carolina,) by Weston R. Gales, Esq., the son of its founder, has since his lamented decease been conducted by his son, Mr. Seaton Gales, in a manner which has justly, not only secured the approbation of his old friends, but procured for it many new and zealous ones. In the settlement of the estate of its late proprietor, Mr. Seaton Gales has become the proprietor, by purchase, of the establishment.

☞ We are pleased to learn that, (says the Alexandria Gazette,) in proportion to the constancy and rudeness of the assaults of the opposition upon our excellent President and his Administration, the determination of the Whigs to rally around him and his Cabinet is strengthened and increased. So far from the Whig spirit being repressed, it is rising, and will be heightened by the desire to uphold the efforts of Gen Taylor to do his duty faithfully in the discharge of the great trust which the people have committed to his hands. The opposition presses will find that they have commenced their game too soon, and in too bad a temper. They have chosen their course, however, and it is for them to pursue it, if they think it will accomplish their ends. They will discover, before they get through, that Gen. Taylor is as strong a man at the head of the government as he was at the head of our gallant troops—strong, we mean, in the affections and confidence of his countrymen.

THE PLEASURES OF OFFICE-HOLDING.—The Hon. John M. Clayton, Secretary of State, in reply to an invitation tendered him by the Whigs of Delaware, to dine with them on the 4th July, excused himself upon the plea of pressing business. We extract the following passages from his answer, to give our readers an idea of the cart-horse work that Mr CLAYTON goes through with:

"The leisure of one day to visit my home in Delaware, which I have not seen in four months, though it is but a few hours travel of it, would be a luxury to me of which you who enjoy the pleasure of locomotion daily, can hardly have any just conception Chained down to a spot from 11 to 16 hours a day, and labouring all the time, while every act I do or can perform is not only liable to misconstruction but certain to be misconstrued from some quarter or other, a man in my situation is compelled to throw himself upon the charity as well as the justice of his countrymen, or abandon his position. I cannot be mistaken when I say that from the origin of our Republic, down to this present writing, there never has been a period during which greater difficulties have beset the path of a public man, than that which comprises the four first months of a new administration. The Departments at Washington have been crowded by a host of the expectants of office, never before exceeded, not even in the first year of the advent of Jacksonism. This is no disgrace to that party which has been excluded from office for nearly twenty years. During all that time they men have been virtually distranchised, so far as regards the right to hold offices either of trust or honor. The principles they have professed have been a bar to the demand of their exclusion, and now when the first attempt is made to do them justice, sheer justice by admitting them to equal privileges as American citizens, from which they have been so long excluded, it is not surprising that many of them should rush forward to claim an equal right to share in the service and the honors of their country. But by those to whom is assigned the painful duty of hearing the applications, and deciding upon their relative claims, difficulties and embarrassments which can be better felt than described, are absolutely unavoidable.

"Upon the correctness of these and other responsibilities inseparably incident to my position, my first and most natural appeal for relief and support is to my old friends, and the citizens of my native state. Next to the approbation of my own conscience, is that of those with whom I have been associated in the land of my forefathers and the home of my own boyhood. And although the State to which I owe my humble origin is the least of all the sisters in the great family of American Republics, yet to me her encouraging voice, which has cheered me through all the vicissitudes of a long and laborious public life, would be among the sweetest consolations, as it is among the highest rewards to which my attention will ever aspire.

"For the reason already stated, every hour of my time being anxiously devoted to public duties, I cannot join in your festival, though my heart will be with you all, while the memory of your own gallant ancestors, whose blood was freely shed on more than thirty battle-fields of the Revolution, will

"Be in your flowing cups freshly remembered."

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.—Another unfortunate instance of the folly of trifling with fire-arms, occurred on Belle street on Monday evening. A white man named Reese Cook, who resides on the Island, had been out practising pistol shooting with one of Allen's patent six barrel revolvers, and coming to the iron works, he jocosely remarked to some of the workmen, that he believed he would frighten a colored man named Jerry, who was standing near. Supposing each barrel of the pistol to be empty, he raised it up in a line with the body of the colored man, pulled the trigger, the barrels commenced revolving, when one of them, unfortunately, remained unexploded, and the poor colored man was laughing in security when he met a moment's notice. The pistol ball took effect in his back, and he expired almost instantly.—A jury of inquest was promptly summoned over the remains of the unfortunate man, who rendered a verdict of manslaughter against Cook for carelessly trifling with the pistol. Cook was taken into custody, but permitted to give bail in the sum of $2000 to answer the charge. The colored man, we learn, was a slave, and belonged to the Belle Isle Manufacturing Company.—Richmond Whig.

SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.—Our readers will doubtless remember an account of a shocking murder, which appeared in our columns a few weeks ago, as having been recently perpetrated in the county of Putnam. Mr. David Ross, a very wealthy and prominent citizen of that county, was returning home to his factory on the Oconee river, to his family residence, about half a mile or three quarters distant, at 9 o'clock, on a dark night. While passing through the swamp on foot and alone, he was shot dead with a double-barrel gun, in the hands of some person unknown. One of the charges took effect in the head, and the other in the body of the deceased. The assassin stood so near as to burn his victim with the powder. The Coroner's jury, after a patient and laborious investigation, rendered a verdict, charging a son of Mr. Ross with the murder. We learn from a citizen of the county, that one of the circumstances which led to this conclusion, was the examination of one of the wads with which the gun was loaded. It appeared in evidence, that the deceased was the only subscriber to the Macon Telegraph in his neighborhood, and upon close examination, it was discovered that one of the wads was composed of a piece torn from that paper. And we learn from another source, that the number of the paper from which the wad was torn was found in a shot-bag, which had been used by young Ross on the same day the murder was committed. The piece was compared, and fitted so completely as to satisfy the jury that the wad had been taken from the same paper found in the shot-bag. This, we understand, was one of the strongest circumstances that led to conviction on the young man.—Dalton (Ga.) Eagle.

☞ DEBTS ARE DANGEROUS.—Mr. Lawrence Hill, a merchant in New York, who died last Monday of cholera, (says the Times,) was insured in the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, for $4,000. His annual payment was due four days previous to his death, when the agent called upon him for it. He put it off "for a few days," but died without effecting the renewal. That slight delay of a "few days" has deprived his children of $4,000.

GAS FOR STREETS FROM A NEW SUBSTANCE.—Two French chemists in Paris, Messrs. Livenais and Berhardt, have ascertained that the decomposition of grape skins, after the last pressing and lees of wine, disengages a carbonated hydrogen gas of a superior quality. A pound of dried grape skins, placed in a white hot retort, furnished in less than seven minutes, 250 quarts of excellent carbonated hydrogen gas. The gas burns with a brilliant white flame, is without odor, and emits little smoke, in comparison with that produced from pit coal and rosin. An experiment with the dried dregs of wine was equally satisfactory.

LEDRU ROLLIN ON THE WITNESS STAND.—A letter from Paris in the Journal of Commerce says:

Ledru Rollin, the generalissimo of the democratic parties, was examined as a witness at the trial at Bourges of the conspirators of May. He went coolly and, in the French sense, cynically, into the following digression:—"I will tell you how we revolutionary republicans set to work. We seize and turn to account some idea or topic sympathetic to the people—ad captandum. We do not say whither we go, but the ball is set in motion; when the obnoxious government is overturned, we, by a device (tour) not less ingenious and adroit, substitute another government of our own."

A NOVELTY.—We saw yesterday, lying in the harbor at the foot of Thames street, a boat so curiously and novelly constructed, as to excite the attention of all who see it. It is formed of an ordinary sail boat, of about 20 feet in length, split in two lengthwise. Each half is boxed up and made air tight, and the two are strongly connected with each other by timber kneed, with an open space of about four feet between them. The two halves of the boat thus connected present something of the appearance of a sleigh, on the top of the boxes, or runners, as they may be termed, are placed boxes with seats for the accommodation of passengers, whilst from the wood work which connects them the sails are suspended. The boat has a double steerage apparatus, made by a horizontal oar, and fitted so complete as to satisfy the jury that the wad had been taken from the same paper found in the shot-bag. This, we understand, was one of the strongest circumstances that led to conviction on the young man.—Dalton (Ga.) Eagle.

DEBTS ARE DANGEROUS.—Mr. Lawrence Hill, a merchant in New York, who died last Monday of cholera, (says the Times,) was insured in the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, for $4,000.
