By D. E. Murphy, at 12 o'clock, at the corner of Gilod and St. John streets—Anchors, rigging &c.

S. B. Howes's Circus.—The charitably disposed will not—or, at least should not—forget that the proceeds of the noon performance today are given by Mr. Howes in aid of the friends of St. Vincent de Paul's Orphan Asylum, and it is to be hoped that he may be able to return as much to the treasury of this noble charity as he did in Memphis to a similar institution, where he gave the proceeds of an exhibition, which amounted to fifteen hundred dollars. Mr. Howes has been exceedingly generous in giving the services of his company, and it is to be hoped that the public will generously second his charitable efforts.

The Circus will remain here but a few days longer, and those who have not yet visited it should lose no time in doing so.

The next steamers announced from New York were the Geo. Cromwell to sail on the 21st December, and the Evening Star on the 24th inst.

The office of the Commercial Express in this city has again favored us with an evidence of their enterprise by a prompt delivery of the latest Northern papers by steamship.

Telegraph Contemplated.—The Era bulletin board announced last evening that the publication of that journal would be continued as usual this morning.

Up to a late hour last night the Morning Star was not reported off the bar. Her passengers are given in another place.

The steamship Morning Star, Capt. Nelson, from New York 21st ult. via Havana, is still aground on a lump outside of the bar; the following is a list of her passengers:
