

Dr. Thomas Hochstettler is a leading figure in international education in Europe, North America and the Middle East. He currently serves as the Provost of the American University of Sharjah and was the founding Vice President of Academic Affairs of Jacobs University in Bremen, Germany from 1999 to 2004. In the meantime, Hochstettler was President of Lewis & Clark College, one of the leading liberal arts colleges in the United States in advancing global education. He has served as the President of the Board of the World Affairs Council of Oregon and is currently the Chair of the Board of Directors of the International Student Exchange Program (ISEP), the global standard bearer of high quality international education based in Washington, D.C.