

Ecchemology is a new term.

It was coined by me, HG Drew Caunter, to describe the deepening field of science which is arising from the Mental Health and Addictions unit.

Electrical Chemetics is:

The balance of electrical and chemical makeups of an Organism in which the Body-Mind is created.

ECCHEMOLOGY

The Electro-Chemical Nature of Being.

Ecchemology is the science of the interactions of the nervous system and the physical being. It is best characterised as the single state of affairs in which a being is in when affected by all conditions of life.

The Nervous and Chemical Systems are the beings resource for creating mind. When these are in balance, there is a synthesis. This synthesis is the mind. It cannot be separated into single parts and retain the whole, which is a functioning mind.

It is the study of the mind in which Ecchemology is rooted. It encompasses all the facets of the substance and mental health that makes up the being. Ecchemology is not a science of humanity but a science of everything living that creates a mind matrix to navigate this reality.

The imbalance of any facets of Ecchemology leads to breakdown., This results in the destruction of the mind matrix. It is mind of which Ecchemology cannot produce, but rather set the stage for the matrix to establish itself.

This matrix, when operating, allows the being to fully grasp reality.
