CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.

An efficient and economical preparation of IRON in the form of Oxygen and Carbon by combination in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest medical authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in the best practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all conditions in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz.:

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Rheumatism, Whites, Chronic Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of long disease or the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints of a partial nature, this restorative has proved successful to a most remarkable degree. Instances of this kind are constantly occurring, and the patient, who but a few months before had only a shadow of his former self, is restored to his usual health and vigor, and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all conditions in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz.:

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Rheumatism, Whites, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed to remove the most habitual case, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has always been a balm of friends and physicians in severe and very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicine has had for more than a quarter of a century the most positively balanced preparation of iodine without any of their well known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been justly well reported, both as relieving pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must unexceptionably be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine which exerts such prompt, happy and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing fifty pills; price 50c. per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Wholesale parties to any address on receipt of the price. Allisters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

LAWS OF HEALTH.

LORD BYRON has expressed, in a few words the instinctive and unanu desire of mankind. He says: "Man's first desire is health; he then wishes for long life." The habits and customs of society, and how too many occupations and pursuits are unfortunately opposed to health, which requires as its conditions, regular habits of exercise, both of the mind and the body, regular hours of rest and repose, fresh air, wholesome food and pure water. Of course these great blessings can only be enjoyed by a small portion of the community, and of that portion too many neglect to turn their golden opportunity to account. In the absence of such opportunities, it becomes necessary to strengthen the system by the use of such preparations as harmonize with its condition and its requirements.

This fact the inhabitants of unhealthy regions of our country have long since discovered. The only question is, then, What shall we use? To this question we shall look for the means of escaping sickness and extending to its natural limit the lease of life?

It is certified by hundreds of witnesses of the highest standing and respectability in the United States South and Central America, Mexico, the Empire of Brazil, Islands of the Pacific, and other countries where Hostetter's Bitters are sold, that they are an invaluable safeguard against the epidemics and endemics of every climate a specific for weakness and general debility—a swift and certain cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and every species of disease arising from trifling remedy or intermittent Fever, Fever and Ague, and all kindred periodical disorders—a means of immediate relief in Flux, Colics and Choleric maladies—a cure for Costiveness, a mild and safe aperient and corroborant for delicate females—a good, anti-bilious alterative and tonic preparation for ordinary family purposes—a powerful ally against the frame has been reduced and attenuated by sickness—an excellent appetizer as well as a strengthener of the digestive forces—a depurative of the blood and other fluids, and a general household remedy, desirable alike as a corrective and mild cathartic, and an agreeable and wholesome stimulant.

DYSPEPSIA.

In CHRONIC INDIGESTION, is the most painful and intractable of complaints. It originates in the stomach, or rather in the obtuse muscular lining of that organ, which becomes irritable and feeble, and cannot be rete in sufficient quantity the gastric juices, which should digest the food. Dyspepsia is usually accompanied with more or less inflammation of the membrane which coats the interior of the stomach, and always with a diseased irritability of the whole digestive operations.

Constipation or Costiveness is not unfrequently a concomitant of Dyspepsia, although it sometimes exists independently of any serious derangement of the digestive functions. It is generally accompanied by headache or a feeling of fullness in the head and a partial obscuration of the memory, and in some instances of the mental perceptions generally. As indigestion proceeds from a want of tone in the stomach, so Costiveness, in many cases, proceeds from a lack of sensitiveness in the mucous membrane which lines the bowels. The moderate cathartic action of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is just what is required under such circumstances, and it is believed that any one of reasonable habitual Constipation may be readily and naturally cured by a bottle or two of the Bitters; or if taken occasionally by persons of costive habit, they will prevent the recurrence of this annoying complaint.

LIVER COMPLAINTS

and bilious diseases proceed either from want of activity in the liver, by which the flow of bile is reduced below the quality required by nature to purify the blood, or from inflammation, causing an overflow of the bilious secretion into the stomach and bowels, or from a sympathetic derangement of the liver, consequent upon some disorder of the stomach.

In ordinary Liver Complaint the sufferer has an intermitting appetite, sometimes eating voraciously, and again loathing the sight of food; is drowsy, languid, disinclined to business, melancholy, and experiences a sensation of weariness and faintness, accompanied by violent palpitation of the heart, after the most trifling exertion. The irritation created by suppressed bile frequently causes a hard, dry cough, known as the Liver Cough, together with nausea and vomiting. Space will not permit us to go into all the symptoms of Liver Complaint. Our object here is to point out the true preventive and remedy. Let persons who are of bilious habits, or who reside where bilious complaints are common, fortify their system, in advance, with Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, which, acting through the stomach upon the liver, will surely preserve that important organ in vigorous health.

are been divided into two classes, malarious and contagious; but there can be little doubt that all epidemic fevers are caused and propagated by malaria or bad air. It has been decided that Typhus and Scarlet fevers are malarious diseases, but this is a mere assumption, unsupported by proof. All the epidemic fevers unquestionably proceed from miasma or gaseous poison evaporated by the sun from rotten vegetable matter and foul water. It is a well known fact that whenever the axe sets light into the primeval forest, Fever and Ague and bilious remittent fevers are sure to get into the log-heaping. The reason is obvious. The vegetable deposits of ages are suddenly unveiled to the sun, and from decomposed leaves and rotten wood a rich compost for the farmer is formed, but a poor soil for the health of his family—there goes up a noisome exhalation pregnant with disease and death.

The best evidence of the popularity of
HOSTETTER'S STOMACH
BITTERS,
and their successful introduction everywhere, is the disposition frequently manifested to produce counterfeits. This has occasioned the purchaser much trouble and inconvenience, and to protect themselves they have been compelled to employ a travelling agent, whose exclusive business it is to ferret out injunctions against, and to prosecute parties engaged in the counterfeiting of the Bitters. As an additional means of protection to the public, the proprietors have gone to the expense of procuring a fine steel engraved label, to which is appended a note of hand, in order to enable them to prosecute for a felony the parties who counterfeit it. Their only remedy, with the old label, was to obtain an injunction, which in some instances proved ineffectual in preventing the counterfeiting of it; but with their new label they will doubtless be more successful in protecting the public as well as themselves, and with the old and new label are now used—the old in order that former customers may feel secure, and at the same time fully understand the object of the adoption of the new one.

Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters.

A specific for Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, General Debility, Chills and Fever, Liver Complaint, Bilious Remittent Fevers, and the pains and weaknesses which creep upon us in old age. For these ailments we quietly invited a trial and a verdict. The trial has come off, and the verdict is rendered, that the Bitters are to-day the most popular remedy, for the time they have been in existence, in this or any other country. It will and continues to thrive and increase in popularity with unbroken vitality, simply because the world wants it, will have it, cannot do without it. The dyspeptic demands it as his only help; the victim of diarrhœa or dysentery believes in it; the bilious sufferer dare not let one bottle run out before he gets another. Both sexes, all ages, all classes regard it as the most wonderful invigorant ever
