The Republic will give to the principles upon which the administration of Gen. Taylor came into power a cordial, zealous and constant support. It will be a faithful record of the times; it will discuss public measures in an impartial and independent spirit; it will be a vehicle of the latest and most authentic intelligence; it will be in a word, a politico-family paper, devoted to the liberalizing and progressive doctrines which prevailed in the late Presidential canvass, to the interests of labor, as developed in the wants of various classes of society, and to the cause of literature, science and general intelligence.
The Republic will acknowledge no allegiance except to the country. It will aim to merit the confidence and the support of the American people. It will be the organ of no person or party, or fraction of a party, in that conspicuous sense which would hinder whatever it concerns them to know.
The Republic will be printed upon a double royal sheet, in a large, clear, readable type.
Besides the daily paper, there will be published a Tri-weekly and Weekly Republic, made up of the most interesting important matter of the daily issue.

For the Daily Republic, $10
