THE INAUGURAL.

This is an unpretending document, exceedingly homespun in style, and containing nothing particularly novel in matter. As Gen. WALKER is careful in the outset, to inform his hearers, that he is unfitted by habit and pursuits to play the orator, his plea in abatement must be deemed an apology for the lack of clearness, vigor and elegance of diction in his inaugural address.

The topics touched upon are not numerous, but they are among the most important that can be submitted to the consideration of the general assembly. The Governor is frank and explicit in his urging the application of the elective franchise to the choice of all judicial officers. The Convention that framed the present Constitution willed otherwise, and in distrust of the principle, Gen. WALKER to the contrary notwithstanding. Let any one read the debates, as reported by the speeches of Messrs. DAWKINS, SPEAR, SOULE, and other shining lights of Democracy, and he will be convinced of the fact.

The subject of education is treated at some length, and here we heartily commend the suggestions of the Inaugural. The Legislature is to send no measure to frame, but to perfect a system of Public Education. Until this is accomplished, the General Assembly cannot be said to have fulfilled the imperative mandate of the Constitution. The remarks of Governor WALKER on this point comprise the best and ablest passages in the document.
