THE DAILY BEE, PUBLISHED BY
C. G. CHILDS & CO.
S. F. WESTON, T. TOBEY,
E. DUVERGES, P. DUFOUR.
DAILY PAPER, [illegible] $25 00
COUNTRY PAPER, [illegible] 6 00
[illegible] will please give name of Post Office
[illegible] will be charged to discontinue.

RATES OF ADVERTISING
One Dollar for every TEN lines, in each insertion for the first insertion, and HALF that price for each subsequent one. No advertisement inserted for less than one dollar in each language.
☞ Advertisements inserted at intervals will be charged one dollar for every TEN lines for each and every insertion.
☞ The privilege of Annual Advertisements to advertisements strictly within the line of their business, and to extent to one square every other day.

The New Orleans Bee.

NEW ORLEANS, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 19, 1855.

{Vol. XVI.—NEW SERIES.
{Vol. XXVIII.—Whole No. 7631.

THE DAILY BEE.

Friday Morning, January 19th, 1855

THE MAIL.—We received yesterday dates from all points on the line, with the exception of New York, which no morning papers from the 13th were received.

A CHANGE OF FRONT.

Despatches and letters from Washington state, with much apparent confidence, that the administration has entirely abandoned the policy of annexation. Young America has been unceremoniously snubbed, "most foul and direful," like the United States Bank, is considered an obsolete idea, and the President falling back upon the traditional doctrines of our earlier rulers, repudiates all [illegible] according to the expansion of the area of freedom. Having consolidated the gigantic empire in dispensary, of accustoming the [illegible] across lying in the Mississippi valley, Mr. Pierce thinks he has acquired glory enough for his term, and henceforth will pursue the even tenor of his way, leaving to the filibusters to make as much [illegible] as they please, and grumble as they will, [illegible] off from genuine democracy, and his [illegible] relapse into the antiquated notions of old Fogyism We are told that in pursuance of the sudden access of rigid conservatism, the President has suspended all efforts for the acquisition of Cuba, even by peaceable and lawful means, and that should a treaty of annexation of the Sandwich Islands be forwarded to the State Department, it will not be transmitted to the Senate.

If these outgivings are correct, and we have no reason to gainsay them, it is evident that Mr. Pierce, under the guidance and counsels of that [illegible] gentleman, Wm. L. Marcy, is preparing to trace out a new line of policy, altogether different from that he was expected to pursue, and diametrically opposed to the views and principles of a section of the democratic party by which he was efficiently and enthusiastically supported. Nothing can be more certain than that the largest and most powerful element which was brought to bear on the late [illegible] was the principles of Young America, and the success of these principles, and the [illegible] of those principles, [illegible] were contributed their strongest efforts towards the triumph of Mr. Pierce. That they have been egregiously disappointed in his course has long since been perceptible; but we greatly question whether any of them ever anticipated so complete a change of front as has taken place. They did not require many months to discover that Franklin Pierce lacked energy, boldness, ardor of temperament, and fixedness of resolution. They found him weak and vacillating, but scarcely deemed him a political weathercock. We think the President-elect [illegible] dexterously rallied and ingratiated, and that Young America has substantial grounds of complaint. It is true there was no formal compact, and therefore can be no absolute breach of promises. An action for damages would be thrown out of court, in default of legal proof; but at the same time, Young America had at least the same time, Young America had every honorably boasted of the glorious deeds that would illustrate and ennoble the administration of Franklin Pierce. Cuba was to be ours, Canada was to claim incorporation in our Union, the Sandwich Islands were certainly to be annexed, and we don't know but that some of the more ardent members of the [illegible] looked to the absorption of Mexico, and Central America. From these biestial visions of future aggrandizement they have been rudely awakened by the President's complete forgiveness; and now for the remainder of the term of the present administration, matters are to go on in a quiet, humdrum, do-nothing way without the prospect of affording a little elbow room to Young America, and with the certainty that that sporting youth will be "cabined, cribb'd, confined" within the narrow space that intervenes between Maine on our extreme East, and California on our extreme West.—Wing [illegible]

We feel greatly inclined to sympathise with ar manifest destiny friends, for they comprise a host of gallant and noble spirits. But it must be acknowledged that they are not more abused [illegible] against their fleecing, and cannot hold them more blameless in the premises. They were [illegible] for Mr. Pierce with a view to benefits [illegible] and, without taking pains to ascertain his opinions, and to make their support conditional upon his pledged advocacy of their views. They took a leap in the dark, and barked their shins. The lesson is a bitter one, but will teach them hereafter more prudence. It does not suffice that a man should call himself a democrat, or declare with him irreverently to the secular doctrines of the progressives. Our friends of that school understand this well enough, and will take care not to be caught again.

HAVANA.

ARRIVAL OF THE BLACK WARRIOR.

The United States mail steamer Black Warrior, Capt. D. BUTLER, Commander, arrived in our harbor [illegible] this morning at seven o'clock. She left Havana on the Black Warrior's [illegible] at 12 o'clock, this day, and has had a pleasant passage of 48 hours. The Black Warrior is a new vessel, and without taking pains to ascertain her opinions, and to make their support conditional upon his pledged advocacy of their views. They took a leap in the dark, and barked their shins. The lesson is a bitter one, but will teach them hereafter more prudence. It does not suffice that a man should call himself a democrat, or declare with him irreverently to the secular doctrines of the progressives. Our friends of that school understand this well enough, and will take care not to be caught again.

By Telegraph.

Transmitted to the New Orleans Bee.

[By the National Line.]

Senate Legislature.

RICHMOND, Thursday, January 18, 1855.

In the Senate this morning the President announced that [illegible] appointed by his predecessor, [illegible] not say attention.

Mr. Pierce spoke of a future day he would introduce a bill to establish a quarantine for the protection of the South.

There being no further business the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—Mr. Pierce proposed a resolution to the effect that the senate to be informed that the House on Monday, 22d instant, at 12 o'clock, invite the Senate to meet in the Hall of the House, to proceed to the election of a United States senator—which was adopted.

The Special Committee, appointed to investigate the contested election case in Morehouse, reported in favor of throwing the election again before the people. The resolution of the Committee was taken up and passed.

The bill introduced by Mr. Roberts, of New Orleans, to abolish the usury laws of the State, passed its second reading.

The bill, from New Orleans, gave notice that he would introduce at some subsequent day a bill to give the right of appeal in the Parish of Orleans for all cases from one dollar and upwards.

The House then adjourned.

By order of Hon. Herbert was will not go before the Democratic Caucus, which was this evening, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for United States Senator.

Nomination of Mr. Gilbert.

BATON ROUGE Jan. 18.—At the democratic caucus this evening, a majority of the Legislature were present, and Hon. John Sidell was unanimously nominated for re-election to the United States Senate.

[By the Southern Line.]

Additional Foreign News.

BY THE CANADA.

FURTHER COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Recall of Lord Stratford Alexander.

PROGRESS OF PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

LATER FROM THE CRIMEA.

HALIFAX, Jan. 17—P. M.—The details of the news by the Steamship Canada possess considerable interest. The principal items are supplied.

The Canada is an arrivalle of the immediate [illegible] Lord Raglan, on the ground that he would [illegible] say attention.

Mr. Pierce spoke of a future day he would introduce a bill to establish a quarantine for the protection of the South.

There being no further business the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—Mr. Pierce proposed a resolution to the effect that the senate to be informed that the House on Monday, 22d instant, at 12 o'clock, invite the Senate to meet in the Hall of the House, to proceed to the election of a United States senator—which was adopted.

The Special Committee, appointed to investigate the contested election case in Morehouse, reported in favor of throwing the election again before the people. The resolution of the Committee was taken up and passed.

The bill introduced by Mr. Roberts, of New Orleans, to abolish the usury laws of the State, passed its second reading