HOUSEHOLD WORDS.—The November number of this charming periodical has been received by Morgan, of Exchange Place.

NEW ORLEANS MEDICAL AND SURGICAL JOURNAL.—We are indebted to the editor, Dr. S. DOWLER, for the November number of this sterling periodical.

PHYSICAL ASPECT OF MAN.—An examination of 29,000 infants, at the Maternité, in Paris, gives for the weight of new born 6½ pounds; the same mean value obtains for the city of Brussels. For about a week after birth, this weight undergoes a certain loss of material, owing to the tissue destruction which ensues through the establishment of respiration, and which for a time exceeds the gain by nourishment. For the same age, the male child is heavier than the female: but this difference gradually diminishes, and at twelve years their weight is nearly the same. Three years later, at the period of puberty, the weight is one half of what it is finally to be, when full development is reached.

The maximum weight mentioned by Quetelet is a little more than seventy pounds at birth, this holding good for both sexes; but since the new born female weighs less than the standard, and the new-born male more, the weight of the adult male is 137 pounds; and of the adult female 123 pounds: the mean weight of a man, from the end of the period of life, is about 107 pounds; that of a woman nearly 94 pounds. The mean weight of a human being, without reference to other to age or sex, is about ninety pounds.

M. Quetelet, to whom we are indebted for the above statistics, as the result of his researches, states that communities seem to be under the influence of such impossible laws as much as the individual.

"Thus the same number of murders and suicides occur every year, and almost in the same order. We might enumerate, beforehand, how many individuals will imbrue their hands in the blood of their kind, how many will hang, drown themselves, or poison, very nearly as the number will take place."
