NEW ORLEANS, SUNDAY MORNING, FEB. 12, 1894.
VITALITY PUBLIC SENTIMENT.
An editorial article appeared in the columns of the Times this morning, on yesterday, in the course of which our contemporary associated to the opposition which has been made to these various proposals of public and spoliation which have been already legalized and are now in process of legislation. (The Government has a small number of honest office holders. We protest, so far as we are concerned, against this construction of the law. We are entirely ignorant of any honest efforts of Gov. Warmoth to abate the "unparalleled and unexampled" corruption which has been the cause of the country's paralysis to which, under the insidious printing bill, Governor Warmoth has given an exhibition of his unscrupulous Democratic press of Louisiana? If the former, it has yet to come to our knowledge that the Governor has exercised the slightest influence in the direction suggested by the Times. If the latter, we decline most positively to be associated with Governor Warmoth in this connection. His sole aid in Louisiana, his constant presence in the State, the most recent of his visits to be known as a acquaintance even of the Governor, has not been enough to direct public opinion against any law which is not to justify the belief that a closer acquaintance with the Governor is a man who is known to be a "man in the street" who is not to be taken for granted. The maximum of his knowledge of the Governor has been most recently applied to a man who has not been in the State since the death of Governor Warmoth. It is not to be expected that a man who has not been in the State since the death of Governor Warmoth should be able to give any reliable information on the subject of the Governor's conduct. OFFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

ST. CHARLES THEATRE - The third night of the engagement begins to-night, when "Little Nell" and the "Machinists" will be performed. The public, it is said, cannot be made with her reputation. The house was as full last night as if the play was being presented for the first time and the accomplished artists merit the public appreciation for, in her popular style, she is unusually successful in her performance. The Academy of Music - The Academy was thronged last night, the Japanese giving their last performance in this city. They will be succeeded by J. James A. O'Connell's Opera House troupe, who will open on Monday next with the "unparalleled and unexampled" corruption which has been the cause of the country's paralysis to which, under the insidious printing bill, Governor Warmoth has given an exhibition of his unscrupulous Democratic press of Louisiana?
