MAGNETISM.

MME ALLEGAND,
FRENCH SOMNAMBULIST,
No. 331, Bourbon Street, Between Ursulines and Hospital.

TREATMENT of all kinds of chronic diseases which ordinary remedies have failed to cure, and especially consumption in its first stages.

Mme Allegand, for many years under the direction of Dr. Pouparé, at France, may be consulted at her residence and calls on patients wherever her services are required.

The direct application of magnetism by Mr Allegand, assisted by Mme Allegand, has been followed by unprecedented cures, the fact is unquestionable. Out of a thousand cases of nervous affections, eight hundred at least are almost instantly cured by this extraordinary influence, while very obstinate human disorders are actually overcome by it. Those who have recourse to the Clairvoyance of Mme Allegand, are particularly successful in the treatment of nervous affections, and in the cure of all diseases of the stomach.

The New Orleans Press have often recorded the radical cure of cases of seventeen years' standing. The "Picayune," the "Delta," the "Daily Crescent," the "Bee," the "Courier," the "True Delta," the "National" and "Sun," published in 1854 and 1855, letters from well-known and highly respectable persons, whose infirmities cannot be doubted, tendering the heartfelt thanks to Mme Allegand, and fully acknowledging her wonderful success.

The same papers also spoke very highly of the surprising magnetic experiences by Mme Allegand, under the direction of her husband, (see the Courier of December 7th, 1854, the Bee of November 27th, 1854, and the Picayune of May 20, 1855.

It will be regretted that all the cures effected by Mme Allegand cannot be published, but the sisters of certain diseases renders this course unnecessary. The fact, however, is more acknowledged that patients can be perfectly cured by Mme Allegand.

A pamphlet containing such guarantees as these, and which has constantly been successful, is certainly entitle 2 to the confidence of those whom ordinary remedies have failed to cure. Those remedies are power ful in cases of nervous diseases, which are more frequent in females in consequence of epilepsy, tetanus, fever and ague, hooping and brain fevers, typhoid and the various forms of, yellow fever, bone-fever, heartburn, cramp in the stomach, cholic, gastralgy, palpitation of the heart, fainting, asphyxia, hysterics, St. Vitus's dance, convulsions, epilepsy, hemorrhage, spitting of blood, etc. In the treatment of the above complaints, many observations, carried on at the Hospitals of Paris, Professor of Medicine and Botany, honored with medals and industrial rewards.

Paris, Montorgueil, street, 19.

The numerous and authentic cures obtained by, that method of treatment in the most violent attacks, declared incurable are unequivocal proofs of its superiority over all other modes. The treatment of Dr. Albert's Compound, may observed in correspondence, or on travel, in all seasons and under all climes. Treatment and consultations by correspondence. Deposit at NEW ORLEANS, at H. GUILLOT'S, 148 Royal street; New York, M Bell Gilda, Druggist.
