MISTAKE OF THE MOTHER.

When Older Women Wear cow Print.

In the car was the now well-known g największy wotkent. The young woman, wearing a white dress, was seated in a front seat, and was accompanied by a man in a black suit.

The woman, who had been sitting quietly in her seat, suddenly turned to look out the window. The man in the black suit immediately moved closer to her, and began to speak to her in a low, but clear voice.

"You have a mistake of the mother," he said.

The woman seemed surprised by the statement, and looked at the man with aquisitive expression.

"What do you mean," she asked.

"I mean," the man continued, "that you have a mistake of the mother." "I don't understand," the woman replied.

"It's simple," the man said. "You have a mistake of the mother. You are a cow." The woman looked at him in amazement, and then burst into laughter.

"You are a cow," the man repeated.

The woman continued to laugh, and then began to speak to the man in a friendly manner.

"You are a cow," the man said again.

The woman, still laughing, turned to look out the window once more.

"You are a cow," the man said yet again.

The woman, now quite content, turned back to the man and began to speak to him in a light-hearted manner.

"You are a cow," the man said for the final time.

The woman, now thoroughly convinced of the truth of the statement, turned to look at the man once more, and then burst into a fit of laughter.

The man, who had been waiting for the woman to laugh, turned to look out the window, and then began to laugh in response.
