FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,
HENRY CLAY.

NEW-ORLEANS:
FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1843.

We have had our laugh in our day and know how good a thing it is to dilate the lungs, expand the chest and convulse the diaphragm with jubilation. Hence we would think less of ourselves if the successive beatification of the locofocos did not give us some real comfort. Some owl of a philosopher or other said once that "man was a gregarious animal," and it is true,—for man was a gregarious animal, and to the eyes of a beast does not look like one. They that have wings do mew and cuff it, if it dares come forth into the air while they are there; and those things on all fours will hold no fellowship with it, because they think it has once flown, however ill. Nothing, therefore, is left to the poor paradox of political zoology but to flatter about when buzzard birds have gone to roost, and, in a twilight of public affairs like the present, catch insects that are looking for offices.—Nat. Intelligencer.

PAINFUL RUMOR.—The Philadelphia correspondent of the New York Tribune mentions that rumors of the most painful character are prevailing relative to the health and condition of mind of Mr. NICHOLAS BIDDLE. It is said that he is actually laboring under a species of mental aberration, brought upon him by sudden reverse of fortune and deep distress of mind. Mr. BIDDLE remains at his residence at Andalusia, on the Delaware, a few miles above the city.

MAINE.—We mentioned yesterday that the locofoco state convention of Maine had passed resolutions favorable to Mr. VAN BUREN for President, and had appointed delegates to the National Convention to meet in Baltimore in May, 1844. We see by the papers that the state convention of VAN BUREN was effected by a vote of 144 to 74, after a pungent and stormy debate which both Mr. VAN BUREN and Mr. CALHOUN were roughly handled by their respective opponents. This is the first rebuff that Mr. CALHOUN has received, and we presume it is the prelude to similar action on the part of all the New England States.

HENRY CLAY.

If humanity presents a noble and sublime spectacle it is when a pure and virtuous statesman, who has devoted to the good of his country, even in the midst of calumny and reproach, pursues the path of duty, and patiently awaits the approval which time must strength bring. The overturnal of such a man has greater power than all the seductive patronage with which the weak, the treacherous and evil-minded, may attempt to purchase a mercenary support. While crowds impelled by curiosity, may throng to gaze idly on the man of the hour—THE MAN OF THE AGE, in his far off seat, in home, with no other attraction than his stainless genius, and his lofty soul,—receives the homage of millions of hearts. His single name has a charm more potent than all the gilded honors with which Monarchs can bestow, and their fly erect. HENRY CLAY! On what far distant mountain—in what deep forest—in what boundless prairie of our broad land, is there some unknown and unlettered man, who has not heard the name, and felt that suspicion of falsehood—of treachery adheres to that glorious name? Opposing parties may for a time retard his upward progress, but there is a power in virtue, and truth, and honor, which will finally prevail. While magnanimity, and courage, and truth, are admired among men—while falsehood, and meanness, and treachery are despised—the name of HENRY CLAY will be honored throughout the world. Well may it afford to "bide his time," for the day is at hand when the rallying cry of an injured and betrayed people will be—JUSTICE TO HENRY CLAY!—Cin. Courier.

IMPORTANT FROM NASSAU—IF TRUE.—By the schooner Helena, from Eleuthera, we have the report that on the 17th of June the sloop of war Cygnet, Capt Somerville, despatched from Nassau, N. Providence, reported to Mr. Bethel, Merchant at Governor Key, Eleuthera, that a British man-of-war brig, of 18 guns, had arrived at Nassau, with information of a piratical attempt which the brig was sunk and all hands lost. This engagement was seen by several of the crews of small droggers that were passing at the time.

From every quarter, which we have made, since we received the above, we are inclined to doubt the correctness of the report, but suppose there may be some foundation for it, where there is so much smoke. This is the third or fourth report of the pirates which has reached us from that quarter. With these remarks, we leave the public to take it for what it is worth.—Commercial Advertiser.

SHIP SHARON.—The New Bedford Mercury gives an extract of a letter describing a mutiny and murder, on board the ship Sharon, of Fairhaven. It appears that three natives of the Sandwich Islands, who were taken to replace some of the crew, who had left, and while the boats were away capturing whales, the natives massacred Capt. Norris, who with a boy, was the only person left on board of the ship. The boy escaped by climbing aloft, and hoisted a signal of distress. The boats returned to the ship, and after a severe contest, and killing two of the natives, succeeded in handing the ship. The remainder of the crew was put in irons and conveyed to Sydney, where the Sharon arrived in January last.

LATER FROM MARACAIBO.

By the schooner San Jose y las Animas, Capt. Magolo, we have advices from Maracaibo to the 7th inst.—We are informed that business is very dull, and how could it be otherwise than dull has been known for many years, and a great many hardships are felt in consequence of the scarcity of money, very little of which is afloat.

The health of the place is very good. No case of yellow fever have appeared, and indeed there is very little sickness of any kind.

Everything was perfectly quiet, both at Maracaibo and in all New Grenada. From the latter place there is no news. The rebellion which was hatching at Carthagena amounted to nothing.—N. Y. Tribune.

IRISH REPEAL SOCIETY IN CHARLESTON, S. C.—We find the following account of the dissolution of this Society in the Charleston Courier of the 30th ult June:—

IRISH REPEAL ASSOCIATION.

A very large meeting of this Association was held at the Pavilion Hotel on Thursday evening.

On motion, Maj. A. G. Magrath took the chair, and stated the intentions of the meeting to be the formation of a speech recently delivered before the Royal Association in the City of Dublin, by Mr. O'Connell, on which language of the most offensive character had been used, in reference to the institutions and citizens of the Southern States.

The Hon. H. L. Pinckney then rose, and after a brief address, moved the appointment of a committee of five, to consider and report upon the subject before the Association.

In accordance with Mr. Pinckney's motion, the Chair appointed the Hon. Henry L. Pinckney, Col. C. J. Elliott, R. W. Seymour, P. Cantwell, and J. Clarke, Esqs., the Committee, who, after a few minutes consultation, submitted through their Chairman the following Report and Resolutions:—

The Committee who were appointed to prepare a Report and Resolutions in relation to a speech recently delivered by Mr. O'Connell, at a meeting of the National Repeal Association in Dublin, respectfully report as follows:

The people of Ireland having been long engaged in patriotic efforts to obtain the restoration of their domestic Parliament by the repeal of the legislative union between their country and Great Britain, the cause of Repeal as excited very great interest both in this country and in Europe. To aid a suffering and oppressed people in struggling for their rights, and to whom Americans are attached by so many ancient and kindearing ties, numerous and powerful associations have been organized in all the principal cities of the Union. Actuated by the same sentiments, and following the example of larger cities, this Association was established by the friends of Ireland here, that they too might express their sympathy for and give their assistance to a nation long trodden down by the most grievous oppression, and contending with its proud and powerful oppressor, for the inestimable right of governing itself. This Association, in its infancy, had made one remittance to Ireland in aid of repeal, and was in the act of preparing to make another, when the unexpected intelligence was received, of the speech delivered by Mr. O'Connell and others at the Repeal Association of Dublin, (and which is said to have been received with every demonstration of applause by that assembly,) in which he not only arrows his hostility to a system of domestic slavery as it exists in this country, but reviles the character of slaveholders, and particularly those of our Irish fellow-citizens included in their views, terms of the vilest slander, and with epithets of the most atrocious calumny, and even gravitates an intention at some future period to devote his energies to the overthrow of our domestic institutions. Deeply impressed with the duty this community owe to self, we live, forbids us to analyse this speech, or to exhibit its disgusting and revolting features. Had there been a reasonable doubt of its authenticity we might have delayed an expression of our feelings, until the fact of its genuineness or forgery could have been ascertained and in order that we might not prematurely or unnecessarily forego a cause in the advocacy of those principles, we have been so deeply interested. But as there can be no question whatever upon the point, we feel called upon, by our duty as citizens and by every impulse of our nature as men, to repel the atrocious charges thus made by Mr. O'Connell, and said to have been countenanced by the meeting he addressed, as promptly and decidedly as possible, and with the fullest expression of the most prompt and unequivocal we have received in our bosoms. Our primary paramount duty is to God, our country and ourselves, and therefore yield to none in sincere devotion to the interest and institutions of the slaveholding States, we pronounce the speech of Mr. O'Connell a base and malignant libel upon the people of this south; and we decline to hold any further communication with its own or body of men who are capable of uttering or endorsing the infamous calumnies to which we have referred. Calumnies, which, by repelling from their great cause the whole southern portion of the Union, will ever be fatally prejudicial to the rights and interests of their own country, than they are pitiful and impotent, as regards the people to whom they have been so ignorantly and wickedly applied. Therefore,—

Resolved, That the Association be dissolved.

Resolved, That all the moneys in the possession of the Treasurer be directed to be paid forthwith—whatever deficiency be due by this Association.

Resolved, That the Treasurer be directed to pay the moiety of the surplus funds, after the debts are paid, to the Ladies' Hibernian Society, and the other to the Society of the Sisters of Mercy.

The report and resolutions having been a warm's and eloquently advocated by Col. ELLIOTT, (who was followed by several other gentlemen on the same side), were put to the meeting, and adopted with the greatest applause.

On motion of R. W. Seymour, Esq.—

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the city papers.

The Association then adjourned.

WM. J. MAGRATH, Sec'ty.

THE POLITICAL BAT.

When Ecod, or Sabrior, or whoever the Boylos and Berlioys may settle it to have been, conquered his double about the equivocal animal that thought to reign king of all birds and beasts, by being made up of either, he certainly must have had in his thoughts some political bat like that which we now have, flitting between night and day, and belonging to neither.

It was a discreet thought of a creature of that size to supplant the eagle, that only soars by day, and the wolf that prowls only in the dark, by trying to be bird and beast at once. It does, but not enough for a bird, and loves that doubtful time of day which lards them: it has four legs, but creeps very poorly, and to the eyes of a beast does not look like one. They that have wings do mew and cuff it, if it dares come forth into the air while they are there; and those things on all fours will hold no fellowship with it, because they think it has once flown, however ill. Nothing, therefore, is left to the poor paradox of political zoology but to flatter about when buzzard birds have gone to roost, and, in a twilight of public affairs like the present, catch insects that are looking for offices.—Nat. Intelligencer.

BACON TROTTING COURSE.—GREAT SPORT.—On Monday last, some of the above Course the most splendid trot we ever had the pleasure of witnessing, for a purse of $100, mile heats, best 3 in 5, under the saddle —for which R. Titus's sorrel horse Independence, and John Bozeat's gray horse Beppo started. The following was the time made:—The first heat was won by Independence—time 2:32½; second by Beppo in 2:31½; third also by Beppo in 2:33; fourth by Independence in 2:40; fifth by Beppo in 2:35—coming by about 12 inches.

We understand the horses will probably come top their again on the 4th of July, with Lady Suffolk to make up a trio.—N. Y. True Sun.

OBITUARY.

Died on Thursday, at half past 12 o'clock M, Miss JAPHA ALLAN, daughter of the late A. ALLAN, Esq., of Louisville, Kentucky.

We have never been called upon to perform a more painful duty than chronicling the death of this amiable young lady—cut off in the morning of her days.—She fell a prey to that most formidable and jealous of all tyrants—over female excellence and loveliness—a bosom. From infancy to its early attacks, it undermined a constitution naturally feeble, and has added a bright a trophy to its remorseless conquests as any it has yet stricken to the grave.

She died at the residence of her brother-in-law, E. F. BUCKNER, Esq. Could the affectionate care and the prayerful solicitude of brothers and sisters have averted the shaft of destiny, she had been spared to diffuse joy around a household more bereft and full of woe. We could the recital of an aged mother have soothed the stern purposes of fate, the cup of bitterness, of which she has too often tasted, had not been made to overflow by these dreadful tidings.

But perhaps, what to mother, sisters and brothers was a terrible dispensation, to the deceased was a merciful and loving providence. And the spirit of one so pure, in taking its flight to that mansion in which there is neither sorrow nor weeping, might have chided the selfishness that sought to detain it here, when the gates of Eden were open to receive it.

SHIP SHARON.—The New Bedford Mercury gives an extract of a letter describing a mutiny and murder, on board the ship Sharon, of Fairhaven. It appears that three natives of the Sandwich Islands, who were taken to replace some of the crew, who had left, and while the boats were away capturing whales, the natives massacred Capt. Norris, who with a boy, was the only person left on board of the ship. The boy escaped by climbing aloft, and hoisted a signal of distress. The boats returned to the ship, and after a severe contest, and killing two of the natives, succeeded in handing the ship. The remainder of the crew was put in irons and conveyed to Sydney, where the Sharon arrived in January last.
