NEW ORLEANS:

THURSDAY MORNING NOV. 14, 1867.

AUCTION SALES THIS DAY.

By Chas E Fortier, at 10½ o'clock A M., at No. 33 Bienville street, fifty barrels whisky, fifteen dozen trusses.

☞ Dr. JAMES A. HUNTER has returned to the city and will speedily resume his special practice in DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS. Due notice will be given of the same.

The Sheriff sells at auction this day, at 10½ o'clock, A M., on the premises, the contents of store corner of Royal and Conti streets, consisting of dry goods, furnishing and fancy goods, &c.

HOME MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY.—According to notice elsewhere an election for twelve trustees of this company, to serve for twelve months, from the first Monday in February, 1868, will take place at the office of the company, No. 78 Camp street, on Monday, 2d December.

DOLHEAR COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—President Dolhear has made a great acquisition to the faculty of this institution in securing the services of Prof E B Montgomery, one of the most accomplished calligraphers in America. In future he and Prof. B B Easten, another gentleman of equal attainments in the exquisite and useful art of penmanship, and long connected with the college, will have charge of respective departments which, we may venture to assert, could hardly be better filled. See the notice and card in another column.

DRY GOODS, ETC.—As will be seen in another column, Messrs. Lion & Israel, of 168 Canal street, have received their large assortment of dry goods, etc., from Europe, which they open to-day for public inspection. Especial attention is called to their extensive stock of dress goods, and ladies about to do their winter purchasing, and the public generally, are invited to examine the same before buying elsewhere, as both goods and price will hardly fail to give satisfaction. A large assortment of superior domestic goods has also been just received by this house, which all are invited to examine. But the established reputation of the Messrs. Lion & Israel is such that the mere mention of the firm is sufficient to guarantee to them an extensive patronage.

THE STEAMSHIP BAVARIA.—This splendid pioneer vessel of the newly established direct line of vessels to Hamburg, leaves for that port at an early hour this morning. An hour or two aboard of her last evening, in company with her experienced and courteous officers, enables us to assure the public that the company enlisted in this enterprise have acquired carefully in the selection of and are determined to supply us with first class steamers. The entertainment to which we sat down at table yesterday, and which is illustrative of the every day fare aboard, tell the vessels of the line are superb beyond our most sanguine expectations, while the general comfort and security of all the arrangements of the vessel are of the most superb character.

The Bavaria is commanded by Capt. Meyer, and is of about 2680 tons burthen. She leaves with a cargo of over 2000 bales of cotton and this alone will do that the provoking bar at the Balize will permit her to pass over with this draft. The vessel is about 330 feet in length, carries 10 first class and 180 second class passengers, and is provided with eight large life boats. We were pleased to notice aboard last evening, as evincing the interest the public feel in the important enterprise of this line, a number of our prominent business men and quite a few of our prominent business men and quite a full representation of the press. Parties ready for a trip to Europe could not do better than to secure passage this morning on the Bavaria

BOOKS, ETC.—Attention is called to the card of Messrs. Krull & Dickey, book sellers and stationers, No. 106 Canal street. Their stock of law, medical and miscellaneous books is large and choice, as we know from examination.

STEAMER TRIAL.—We are indebted to Messrs Edward A. Yorke & Co. for a polite invitation to witness a trial trip of their new steamer, the Thomas A. Morgan, which will start from the steamboat landing, foot of St. Louis street, to-day, noon.

DEATH OF MRS SHINE.—Mrs Shine, the old lady who was some time ago run over and severely injured by the horse cars of the Carrollton Company, on Jackson street, died at her residence day before yesterday. She had sued the Company for $50,000 damages, but the suit had been compromised with her, we learn, by the Company paying or contracting to pay her $10,000.

METEORS.—If stronomers are not at fault a grand meteoric display may be expected at an early hour this morning. It will probably have occurred before most of our readers shall have read this paragraph.

PROPOSED NEW MAGAZINE.—We notice that Mr. F. P. A. Stoughton, a gentleman of this city, proposes to publish a periodical to be called the "Cosmopolitan Monthly," on or about the 1st of December. Advertisements are solicited, to be published on each alternate page through the body of the work, thus inserting inevitable observation by the readers of the book, which will be filled with interesting original and selected matter, and distributed freely throughout the United States. Terms of advertisements: One page, $25; half page, $15, and quarter page $10.

Godey's Ladys Book for December, a most interesting number, can be had at Mr. C. G. Hille, No. 61 Exchange Alley.

THE MEETING TO CONSIDER THE CITY CURRENCY.—There was a meeting of several hundred of our citizens last evening, in the Coliseum Hall, 51 Carondelet street, to take some action in regard to the depreciation in our city currency.

Mr Cramer was called to the chair, and after an exciting discussion, in which Judge Colleton, Col Dotson, Mr. Starken and others participated, it was resolved to appoint a committee to draft resolutions, to be presented at a subsequent meeting Saturday evening, and addressed to Gen. Hancock, expressing the facts concerned the depreciation of the currency, and asking his co-operation in the matter. Messrs. Conrad Slater, Mogel, Davis, Marigny, Nungesser and Colleton, were appointed on the committee

The speakers were very pointed in their remarks, and one of them said outright that the money brokers were to blame, and another that the City Hall was the most extensive brokerage office in the city. Judge Colleton thought that the fault lay in the city's want of money with which to redeem its circulation, and that the remedy lay in enforcing the collection of back taxes due since 1868 Gen. Hancock should enforce their collection, and then city notes would speedily advance to their par value. The remarks of the several speakers named were received with marked approval.

Ex Governor Sharkey, Hon Walker Brooke, and Hon F A. Marshall visit Judge Hill to-day as counsel for Gen. Wm. H. McCardle. We are not fully at liberty to state their plan of action, but suffice it to say that no means will be left untried to secure his immediate release. Those contingent patriots yerry with them the heartiest wishes of all true men for the entire success of their mission.—Vicksburg Herald, 11th.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN OF 1867.—Under this title the National Intelligencer devotes a glowing leader to the splendid results of the October and November elections, and introduces it with these immortal verses, from England's most inspirational poet:

"For they whom greed or guile call such a change! Oh, rouse, And let us, too, a voice and power have!
Time's glory is in storm, nor less the calm
That follows it than the first breath of morn.
Freedom's a form for nothing vague or void,
I know the shape, I have seen it, I will clasp it,
Freedom herself, naked, flowing hair, limbs bare,
Head bound with victor's wreath—Virgin as pure
As when she rushed exultant on the spears
Of Marathon, or drank the flying gleam
Of Arthur's brand at Camlan. Dark the day
When she forsakes a race, and seeks some savage
Whose body is not yet profaned to pain.
Such hope is in the air, such power, such joy,
As when the prophet's word first shook the world."

CHARLES DICKENS' FAREWELL.—THE OPERA—London, Nov. 2, 1867.—Farewell dinner was given to Charles Dickens this evening at the Freemasons' tavern. The affair took place at the Freemasons' tavern. E Bulwer Lytton presided at the table and made a felicitous speech, which was responded to by Mr. Dickens. Several other speeches were made, full of good wishes and kindly feelings for the distinguished author.

Miss Louise Kellogg, the American prima donna, made her first appearance in Europe at Her Majesty's Theatre this evening, as Marguerit, in the opera of Faust. The house was crowded in every part. The Prince of Wales was present, occupied the royal box. The assemblage was brilliant, critical and enthusiastic. Miss Kellogg was all she had been from the programme, and during the progress of her performance was greeted with frequent but appropriate applause, which burst into the end of the opening scene, warm and general. Her success was complete.

It is a fact that $50,000 per week would hardly cover the cost of buildings in progress in New York.

Of the three hundred thousand operatives said in this country per annum, eighty thousand are of American.

Murder.—Joseph Cambria was arrested last night on suspicion of having murdered a man in Gopes Alley way, blood having been found in the door in the alleyway, on Old Levee at his door in the alleyway, on Old Levee street. The man killed is a fellow Sicilian and a neighbor of Cambria, who is an unarmed man, and said to be quite a desperado. A Madame Joe and one Joseph O'Mango were arrested on suspicion as witnesses. The deceased is a maker of orange boxes, and is said to have been guilty of robbing planters on the coast of oranges, during the early occupation of the city by the United States forces. Cambria is reputed to have killed an old man rather unfairly in a duel fought with razors, less than two years ago, in Algiers. The weapon with which the deceased was killed was a stiletto, found pierced through his heart, with a blade eighteen inches long. Nobody seemed to know the deceased by name. An inquest will be held by the Coroner this morning.

IMPORTANT DECISION IN BANKRUPTCY.—It has been recently decided in New York that any property that a bankrupt may have acquired after the filing of his petition, and antecedent to his discharge, is not liable for his debts contracted before proceedings were commenced. That is to say, John Doe having filed his petition for adjudication in a bankruptcy yesterday, becomes by way of legacy, or by speculation, a rich man to-morrow; but though he may not be discharged from his liabilities for twelve months, the fruit of his legacy or speculation cannot be touched for his old debts. Doubtless this is the law; and it can be defended on just the grounds that which one, when we defend the discharge of debtors at all. The evident intention of the enactment was to fix some point at which the debtor's liability should cease, else the law is of no avail. It is now authoritatively determined what that point is. It is marked by filing the first petition, and the accompanying schedules.—Nashville Union.

Scenes in the Green Room; or, John Pope and His Delegates in Secret Session.

General John Pope, Commander of the Military District, arrived in this city on the first day of the assembling of his Pudsaw Convention, and has been left this morning for his "quarters" at Atlanta. During his stay, he and Senator Ryder left this morning for the "quarters" at Atlanta. During his stay, he and Senator Ryder and Alabama, Bonaparte and Murat, are the examples of his conduct; and hate and revenge, and all the reptiles fume and gender in the hot and fetid air of the Green Room from the sun-rise here and there is reflected the nasty lack of humor. The latter is thin and streaked with grey, and there are no signs of fat upon his shoulders. The best he negligently thrust into web worn slippers, and a loose woolen jacket is given the preference over the best coat, and, when without regard to order, upon the sofa. The hat, a black felt, lies upon the table within easy reach, and it the foreign cousins in this land can see where his head has been by the sweatiness of the inside. Pope's face is of the genuine Yankee order, and his features are those of the sovereign of the United States. Affable to making speeches in Mississippi, and 150 do. at $14 75 per bbl. Choice extra is most in request and is held firmly, but the grades below are dull and drooping.

CORN—The receipts this day were only partially landed, and nothing was done on the landing in consequence. There were sales from store of 500 sacks old white at $1 45 per bushel.

OATS—Are dull, and only 742 sacks have sold, of which 80, 112, 200 and 300 at 78c, and 150, in two lots, at 80c per bushel.
