Chartesten.

An arrival at Fortress Monros from the block-ading diest off Wilmington brings the news of the occupation of Fort Sonter and Battery Wagner by the Union forces on Monday evening. The Arago left the bar on Monday sternoon at 5 o clock, while in all probability the Florida, having an intimation that an assault was to be made that evening, delayed her departure to witness it. Even had she been lying at the bar, with the aid of her signal book she could have read the messages as they were transmitted from the victorious assentiting party to the commander of the inval forces. Having thus obtained the desired information, she probably immediately started for the Wilmington blockaders, having only about one hundred and twenty miles to run. This could have been barborophit the positive information which we publish to-day of our success. She arrived at Wilmington at 3 octock on the afternoon of Tneeday.

Witnington at 3 o clock on the atteracen of Treasday.

The capture of these formidable points of defence will greatly scalitate the task of reducing the city. The continued bombardment of the latter, however, will not advance us anything as far as these intervening obstacles are concerned. The rebels have declared—and we believe them—that they would sconer see it destroyed than allew it to fall into our hands.

It must not be imagined, however, that this sparsan determination arises merely from their hatred of us. There has long been a growing conviction smoog the people of Charleston that, owing to its difficult approaches and its malarious atmosphere, their port was becoming more and more unfuted to the requirements of their commerce. Before railroads were built, when internal traffic sad to be carried on with Savansha and Mobile by water, Charleston did very well, but now it is but illy adapted to its purpose. Its foreign trade has become of vastly more importance, and would become still more so did its harboy offer greater facilities. Hilton Head, owing to its superior climate and its fine sectrance and ashchorage, is destined to naury the place so long (scenpied by its rival. The people of Charlestog are impressed with this fact, and tence in part the declared indifference with which they whole see it destroyed sooner than allow it to fall into our possession. That they do not feel any strong interest in preserving it from the decay to which the superior claims of filtion Head spits ultimately consign it is plain, since no attempt has been made to rebuild that artegative portion of the city which was destroyed by the last great fire.

Whilst, therefore, we do not believe that the stry, we are of opinion that their destruction or capture will be the result of only a few days work— week at the forthest.

Chamiltonian his correspondence from Morris Island to the Baltimore American, says, under date of the Usi inetant:

I am sorry to learn the 300 pounder Parrott burst yesterday after the seventh fire. It was fired but seven times, the digts about fell short, but the other six went square through Samter, exploding inside. These six shells counged the whole face of the raips, lowering the mass of debris at least twenty feet, and throwing open the whole rear of the fort. The shells cow at entering through the fact wall end striking against the easemates of the front wall, some of them passing entirely through. The Mahlaka, whilst engaged with the Chamerone, Laddona, Ottawa and Dal Ching, also exploded her ten-inch ride on Friday afternoon. No ose was injured. Both of the Whitworth guits of the Navai Battery are also deabled. The linest one showed symptoms of burning, and the second, yesterday, by a premature explosion, killed four of the ganuers. They have both been abandoned as poor concerns, not to be compared with the Parrotts.

The atmosphere being clear on Thursday morning the view of Charleston was very distinct. The smoke could be seen curling up from the chimneys and from the pipes of the steamerslat the wharves. There is quite a fieet of vessele in the barbor, including several fine stamers and to have loaded them all with cotten, and are making a grate effort to run them out.
