MISCELLANEOUS.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

IN THESE DAYS OF PATENT QUACKERY, WHEN almost every hour brings forth some nostrum or cure for all the ills that flesh is heir to, "in the sublime of quackery," each one claiming to be the only panacea, we deem it but right to make no very large pretensions in favor of the article we offer to the public, but to state that its character has been established by a test of many years' standing, and that its sales have increased to an extent unprecedented in the history of proprietary medicines. The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can assert with confidence, and point to the thousands of living witnesses in proof, that no medicine has ever been more generally or the commercial metropolis of the South, become the article has attained a reputation extensive and unbounded. A few words upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of mere assertion or boasting panegyric. The proprietors of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS feel that the time has arrived to offer a bill against calomel to the people, amounted to over a half million bottles, and from the manifest steady increase for times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medical properties contained in the preparation, and the erection of the most permanent depression in those sentence of the country where the article is not known, is undoubtedly the only monument to their patience, but are ready at all times to give testimonials as to efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangement and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the bitters, but a solid existence of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be used exclusively as time itself.

During the summer and fall the vicinity of most of our American steamers is rendered extremely unhealthy by the deadly miasma. In the south and West this is especially the case, and by say nothing of the densely populated and filthy cities, where malignant affections are equally prevalent. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found second to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. Testimonials innumerable have been given establishing the fact that the magical powers of the bitters in rendering the miasma less fatal, by strengthening the digestive organs and through them the whole system and thus arming the body against the insidious attacks of disease. The summer in all parts of the Union brings with it certain diseases of the stomach and bowels which greatly increase the rate of mortality. Not only will persons who are apparently robust with health indulge in an undue extent in fruits of various kinds, and other articles of diet once diarrhœa and dysentery; but the heat of itself will oppress the system of those who are not regularly weak, and cause pain an reservation that discomfort is to follow. The bitters have been found a speedy and certain remedy for affections of this description, and when used regularly during the warm weather a positive preventative against sickness from such causes. Indeed, it is chiefly on account of its tonic properties which are particularly efficacious in cases in diarrhœa and dysentery, that Hostetter's Bitters has achieved such a wide reputation; hundreds of persons have been restored to health by the timely use of this remedy, when all others known to physicians have failed. It operates upon the stomach, liver and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature. As a cure for diarrhœa and dysentery, there is nothing that can be compared with these celebrated Bitters, as a matter of fact. Persons of sedentary habits are often driven to the use of intoxicating liquors by bodily weakness, and the lack of some harmless stimulant, this class of our fellow citizens will find in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters precisely the article they require. It is potent as a tonic, and quite palatable to the taste, and acts upon the enfeebled functions of the system with a revivifying effect, cheering the spirits, dispelling that nervousness from which is too apt to attend physical lassitude, and the red without corresponding mental appetite for drink. Literary men and others whose occupations confine them to do without proper exercise and fresh air, will do well to apply the gentle invigorant before having recourse to stimulants that are too dangerous. Some of the best and brightest men who have contributed to the glory of this country, would have been spared a great deal of suffering and been saved from untimely graves, if they had turned from the cup of sorrow to HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS. In the hour of depression of spirit and nervous debility they generally fly to the deadening bowl, in which they find but poor relief. As a substitute for this, the bitters must be considered invaluable.

The ailments incident to old age are numerous and extremely trying. The majority of them, however, are the consequence of the weakening effect of years upon the organs concerned in digestion. A stomach which has been too severely taxed by indigestion or otherwise, generally reveals when we attain the allotted span of fifty, and the disorders that follow can only be corrected by the use of some active principles such as are contained in Hostetter's Bitters. None of the more violent remedies will accomplish the desired end, without leaving results that render them worse than the disease. Elderly persons may take the bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly beneficial for comforting declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvinating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomachic derangement, and debility; acting under the advices of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. If the aged had a decisive voice in this matter, they would prefer Hostetter's Bitters among the greatest blessings medical science has ever conferred upon the human race, for few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods where their cares are so harrassing that many of them suffer under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a resource for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to support her extraordinary trials and responsibilities. HOSTETTER'S Bitters will answer the purpose better than any other medicine now before the public, and serve to prevent that protracted period of nervous weakness so injurious drugs, which often endanger the health of both mother and child. Nursing mothers generally prefer the bitters as all other nursing mothers that receives the endorsement of physicians because it is agreeable to the taste as well as it is certain to give a permanent increase to the mother's milk.

During the oppressive and exhausting heat of the day, it is always beneficial and pleasant even as a beverage, especially when taken with ice water which it seems to neutralize and prevents any bad effects from over-indulgence in, which is too often the case in excessive warm weather.

The Bitters have been thoroughly tested in the most tropical portions of the South, where the sun has a most debilitating effect, and it is extremely perilous to indulge in the kind of spirituous stimulants such as we now have.

All those persons to whom we have particularly referred above, to-wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhœa, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases and derangements of the stomach, supernatural invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and all others, however, will commit their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters the same trial which they have received in other portions of the Union; and after such a test we have no fear that they will accord the preference to any other medicine.

Caution should be exercised by persons purchasing Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to see that every bottle has the fac simile of the Proprietor's signature on the label, which, no doubt, the fear of imprisonment has prevented being put on any of the counterfeits thus far brought to notice. Also notice that the name, Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is blown on the side of the bottles, and stamped on the cap covering the cork

All orders for the genuine article of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters must be addressed to the proprietors,

AYER'S

AGUE CURE,

FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF

Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangements, caused by the malaria of miasmatic countries.

No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe antidote for Fever and Ague. Such a one is now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of the baleful distemper. This "Cure" expels the miasmatic poisons of Fever and Ague from the system and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of every body; and in bilious districts, where Fever and Ague prevails, every body should have it and use it freely both for cure and prevention. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all, the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever known for the speedy and certain cure of intermittents is, that it contains no quinine or mineral, consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects to injure upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "Cure" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to voyagers and persons traveling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the influence of the disease, it will be a complete safeguard, and cannot accumulate in such small quantity to produce disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure, and few will ever suffer from the disease who instantly they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

In vain is the field of its usefulness, and so unsurpassed are the cures of its cures, that every community section of country abounds in persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and wherever the public go, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs. Protected against counterfeits by the many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed, and been discarded, this one gained friends by every trial, and friends that will not be shaken they are never forgot, and protected cures are numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.
