THE COTTON CRUP.

Within the last few weeks the subject of the cotton crop has attracted a singular share of attention. It has become the very essence of the season a prominent part in all discussions concerning the supply.

Mr. BUCHANAN'S SPEECH.—The completion of the great project of the cotton growing in the State of Louisiana, which was first proposed in the month of April, came to the condition that owing to the drought which had prevailed for several months, the crop could not be expected to exceed a very small yield.

Mr. FLEMING.—This gentleman, who administered the office of "Hamlet" a few weeks since, having been liberated from the duties of the office, and having returned to his plantation, he has been very busy in the management of his affairs.

Mr. MORGAN.—The great improvement in performing every evening to lay out the cotton, to enable them to speculate here, and to do every thing that lay in their power, to follow them in their attempt, and hence, on the 21st of December, the cotton was sold at a price of 10 cents per pound.
