And having all agreed to these articles. Lt. knowledge the new government. It is easy enough to explain what has given this change to the language of Russia Nearly immediately after the reguage of Russia Nearly immediately after the receipt of the news of the expulsion of Charles 10th, and before the Emperor of Russia had the time to take any determination, the Polish insurrection broke forth; his projects were then for a time post; oned, and then the Russian cabinet was olliged to alopt conciliatory measures which were in fact but the means to temper matters. But now, Polistid is subduted; the dominion of Russia daily becomes time and gains on the imiabitants on the banks the Vistula; nothing now opposes Russia from pursuing the plan adopted since the time of Catharine of Russia. We do not mean to say by this that Russia will instintly declare war. But what she wants is, a supremacy over the other cabinets of Europe, is, a supremacy over the other cabinets of Europe, is, a supremacy over the other cabinets of Europe, and any harmony of principles of the other powers with her own. Presbyterian Church destroyed.—Follower aroused by the abarm of fire, and the flames were seen issuing from the Presbyterian Church which, we regret to say, was entirely corrumed. The difficulty in procuring an immediate and abundant supply of water alone prevented the preservation of this valuable public cliffice, as a prompt application by the engines after he discovery of the fire, would, it is believed, have effectually extinguished it, before at had caused. The King of Holland has asked of the Emperor of Russia if he intends to abandon him in the stand he has taken against the revolutionary spirit; if, in one word he intended to ratify the 23d article in which the rights and interests of Holland are so out-and especially to the Presbyterian congregation, whose recent severe bereavement in the death of their late beloved and respected pasto is thus speedily followed by the conflaration o their house of worship. It is not known, a far as we have yet heard, how the fire originatd. Fortunately, the roofs of the houses were all covered with snow, which circumstance and the detached situation of the church apart from all other building prevented the further extension of the flames. The night was dark and cloudy, the snow fell ing rapidly, and the illumination from the burn ing spire was exceedingly splended and sublime

Law Pleasantries .- To say to a man enchanted my bull," Sid. 424- to say "thou atta witch," or that a person "bewitched my usband to death," Crol Eliz. 312, is clearly actionable. On the other hand, you may say o mother; "that he is a great rogue, and deserves la o be hanged as well as G. who was Enged at Newgate," because this is a mere expression of opinion, and perhaps you might think that G. did not deserve hanging. T. Jones 157. So also you may say of any Mr. Smith that you know, "Mr. Su ith struck me come in with a cleaver, and cleaved his head; the other;" because it is only to be inferred that thereby the cook of Mr. Smith died, and this in the ed case was not averred. Cro. Jac. 181 .- A fortiori, you may say, "Mr. Smith theew his wife into the Thames, and she never came up again;" or 'Mr. Smith cut off Tom's head,' and walked with it to Worcester," because this is all inference; and his cook, wife, or Tom, as the case may be, for all that the Court knows, may be still alive. - The Year Book.
