

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE AND OF THE CITY OF NEW-ORLEANS, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1850.

REMARKS OF THE HON. MR. CLAY...

The New-Orleans Daily Bee.

Published by J. C. Clendinning, at No. 128 N. Main Street, N. O.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC EDUCATION.

The report of Mr. Deane, the Superintendent of Public Education, is a voluminous and carefully prepared document, and contains in every page that enlarged information, and the influence of thought and reflection on the subject which its distinguished author is remarkable. The most desirable of the report will be best condensed. There are, however, a few facts of prominent interest, which it is proper to bring before the public.

On the 29th September, 1849, there were 666 public schools in operation in the State. The aggregate attendance of 29,927 scholars, the entire number of educated children in the State was at the period referred to, 377,616. It will be seen that the number of scholars attending the schools is less than half the total number of children of the age of seven years, which is a fact that should be worthy of the consideration of the State.

LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE.

Session commencing on the 15th of January, 1850.

On the 29th January, Mr. Clay offered a resolution for the purchase of the original manuscript copy of Washington's Farewell Address, which it can be obtained at a reasonable price.

The Senate returned the consideration of the motion to print the Vermont anti-slavery resolutions, and Mr. Phelps spoke at some length in favor of the principles contained therein.

The House agreed in the extended session from Iowa, to allow the parties one hundred days to make their respective cases, and the President's message on California was then taken up, when Mr. Sisson delivered himself of a long tirade against the Executive, which was warmly received and continuing his tirade.
