

ADMINISTRATION TICKET.
Dimitrie Manolache - Internal Improvements, ADAMS ELECTORS.
ANNE VILLIERS, of St. Bernard, WALTER B. BLISS, of Assumption, MOBILE, Sept. 6.

Capt. Averill, of the schr. News, left Havana on the 22d ult. He reports the arrival of 5000 Spanish troops at that place, and also the capture, by one of Com. Laborde's squadron, of a piratical vessel, which has been taken to Key West.—Register.

New-York, 16th Aug.
A Russian fleet, consisting of 12 frigates, and a line of battle ships were at Cronstadt, when Capt. King left, ready to sail for the Mediterranean first wind.

We understand that Mr. Walker has commenced the hull of a boat (of the first class) for Messrs. Anderson, Hulbert & Co.—She will measure for 470 tons, and is designed for the Orleans trade.—Pennysonian

A letter from the captain of a New-York brig dated St. Thomas, Aug. 1, states that three Commodore vessels were recruiting there, who wanted 800 men and offered $50 bounty in consequence his crew, except the steward, ran away in the small boat with their cloths and were doubtless secreted on shore.

The sloop of war St. Louis was launched from the Navy Yard in this city on Saturday morning, in the presence of a considerable assemblage of our citizens. She went off in good style, and promises to be an ornament to our navy.—U. States Gaz.

It is a remarkable coincidence, that when Mr. Adams will have served the next Presidential term, he will be sixty six years of age, and would thus come out at the very same age with his illustrious predecessors—Washington, J.
Adams, Jefferson, Madison, and Monroe.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14.
Riots in Philadelphia.—Last evening, at the head of a considerable force of civil officers, and sustained by a troop of cavalry, and several volunteer companies of infantry, the Sheriff of the city and county took post in the Northern Liberties, near where the riot of Monday and Tuesday evening had taken place. The appearance of such a power, particularly of the military—whose presence it is believed, might have been well dispensed with—caused a very large crowd to assemble, but there was no appearance of riot and confusion.—The civil officers retired about midnight, and the troops soon after day break this morning.

There are so many conflicting, and contradictory accounts, that with all reasonable diligence, we have been unable to obtain any information to be relied on as to the origin and cause of this riot. We have however, satisfactory evidence that religious zeal, bigotry or enthusiasm, have not in the least degree, mingled themselves in the affray. Further than this we do not, at present venture to assert. All is now tranquil and we trust will remain so. A few days will probably enable us to lay the whole of the facts, connected with these, among our peaceful population, unusual and much regretted occurrences.—Dem. Press.

MINES AND FUR TRADE.
The Baltimore Chronicle publishes an interesting letter from Mexico, dated June 8th, from which it appears that the prospects of the Temascaltepec Mining Company are very flattering. This mine was then entirely drained and free from water, and in a few days a fair calculation might be made of the prospects of the Baltimore Mining Company, in that mine. The writer says—

"The mines now worked by the different English Mining Companies are getting much better; at Rio Del Norte, they are doing much better than formerly, and the prospects mending daily.
At Rial del Oro and Checo, the German Mining Company are doing exte-remely well. At Zacatecas, last month, the English Company that is working two mines there, cleared seventy thousand dollars clear of all expenses. At Sambarets last month, the Company extracted three thousand four hundred marks of silver; the expense attending the working the mine extracting the silver ore, was 1300 marks; it is the mine formerly owned by the Faguardos.
At last, we have obtained the exclusive right of the fur trade in New Mexico, and the California." The government now making out the documents to deliver them to us."
*Has the Baltimore Mining Company obtained this Fur Trade.—Boston Paid.

Fertility of Mexico.—"I do not conceive, says Mr. Ward, "that the exportations in corn will ever be considerable; but, in those articles which we term colonial produce, for which there is a constant demand in Europe, and which a large portion of her territory is so admirably qualified to produce, she has a source of wealth as inexhaustible as her mines themselves. The whole eastern coast of Mexico, extending in length from the river Guascacuala to the northern frontier, and in breadth from the ocean to that point upon the slope of the Cordilleras, at which tropical fruits cease to thrive, is susceptible of the very highest cultivation; nor can any part of the new exhausted islands sustain a competition with the fertility of its virgin soil. The state of Vera Cruz alone is capable of supplying all Europe with sugar. Humboldt estimates the produce of its richest mould at 2,800 kilogrammes per hectaire, while that of Cuba does not exceed 1,400 kilogrammes; so that the balance is as two to one in favour of Vera Cruz. Coffee is produced in a ratio almost equally extraordinary. Indigo and tobacco succeeded as well; while a little to the north, the state of Texas, which enjoys nearly the same climate as Louisiana or South Carolina, is equally well adapted to the growth of cotton, the great staple of the United States."—Liverpool paper.

American Cotton Crop.—In the United States of North America, the following calculation has been made relative to the expected produce of the ensuing cotton crop—New Orleans, 300,000 bales; Mobile, 90,000; Georgia, 135,000; South Carolina, 120,000; Virginia, 60,000. Total amount of bales, 705,000. The destination of this produce was thus specified:—Home consumption, 150,000; France, and other parts of the continent, 170,000; England, 385,000.—B.

One of the letters from the Duke of Wellington to Mr. Huskisson.

My dear Huskisson—I have received your letter of this evening. I certainly did not understand your letter of two o'clock this morning as offering me any option; nor do I understand the one of this evening as leaving me any, excepting that of submitting myself and his Majesty's government to the necessary of soliciting you to remain in your office, or of incurring the loss of your valuable assistance to his Majesty's service.
However sensible I may be of this loss, I am convinced, that in these times any loss is better than that of character, which is the foundation of public confidence.

In this view of the case, I have put out of it altogether every consideration of the discredit resulting from the scene of last night, of the extent of which you could not but have been sensible, when you thought proper, as a remedy for it, to send me the offer of "placing your office in other hands." Ever, my dear Huskisson, yours most sincerely,

The Right Hon. W. Huskisson.

Mr. COBBETT affects to think that Mr. Huskisson's explanation is very unsatisfactory. In his letter to the right honorable gentleman, he says, "the incessant laughter produced in the house at the reading of the several documents, and particularly those parts of them which cut you the deepest, is a clear proof of the depth of your fall.
It is not a trip; it is not a stumble; but it is a fall down upon the belly, and with the nose grubbing up the ground.
Your toad eaters of Liverpool will now treat you as the herd does the stag that has been deprived of his powers. The 'Roman Senator' and the 'Roaring Rushton' will bellow forth upon you like hulls if you ever again attempt to show your face there, which, however, you will, I imagine, be much too cunning to do." It is difficult to say what course the individuals named in this extract may take in the event of a new election occurring; but we have no doubt that Mr. Cobbett's supposition will not prove correct.—Liverpool paper.

Irish Emigrants to the Brazils.—We are concerned to hear that our poor Irish friends are suffering great privations and distress. The Emperor wished to incorporate them with his army, but they unanimously refused to be enrolled; this led to a stop being put to their allowance of 1s. 6d. per day, which had been agreed on. The English Consul thought proper to demand an audience, and remonstrated, stating that, as the Irish had only been called there with a view to agriculture and as artisans, they could not be expected to do that for which they had not stipulated. Report says that the Emperor fell into a rage, and turned the Consul out of the room. However, the Irish were all imprisoned, to the number of 1500, and the matter was to be settled on the arrival of the Irish agent, who was burly expected from England. Disease soon made its appearance among them, and we are informed that eight or ten were carried out daily to be buried, while their wives and children were wondering about the streets soliciting charity. In the midst of all this, the German troops, who guarded the Irish, mutilated, and demanded an increase of pay, declaring they would not serve for 6d. a day, while the Irish were allowed 1s. 6d.; but, as quiet had been restored among them before the ship sailed, it is supposed that the Emperor had yielded to their demands.—Limerick, (Irish) Chronicle

A FACT.
A few days since, a stranger went into the store of one of our merchants, and as a matter of course, the Presidential Question was the topic of conversation. On being interrogated as to his preference of the candidates, the stranger was pretty vociferous in his support of Gen. Jackson, because "he had fought the battles of the Revolution." The merchant being somewhat suspicious as to the extent of his visitor's information, with well-feigned ignorance, asked him who was President now? The man hesitated and stammered awhile, but finally had to confess, that "he couldn't well keep the run of these things."
