NEW-ORLEANS, FRIDAY EVENING, February 19, 1841.

REMARKS.—The continuance of fair weather has had a favorable effect on business; and we have noticed considerable activity in all departments of trade. The public mind has been much omitted in relation to the late stopping of the United States Bank of Pennsylvania, which circumstance however has been productive of no serious consequences here—if we may except a further advance in the rates of Northern and Foreign Exchange.

Their we remains at the same stage previously noticed.

The operations in Cotton during the last three days, have again been on a considerable scale, and generally speaking at very full prices. On Wednesday the transactions amounted to 3,000 bales; yesterday, 5,000; and to-day, fully 4,000; making a total of 12,000, which is about the entire sales of the week to 20,000 bales. We would, however remark, that this heavy business has passed off rather quietly, inasmuch as the demand has not been of a general nature, but mainly confined to a few large parcels sorts. The bulk of the operations have been for the English market, although French buyers were by no means inactive. To-day's mail brought accounts from Havre to the 9th ult., received at New-York by the packet-ship Emerald; private letters represent a decline in that market of about 3 centimes: which circumstance, however, has produced no effect here. The following particulars embrace the transactions of the past three days:—44 bales Louisiana and Mississippi, at 10½—815 at 10—61 at 10½—46 at 11¼—8 at 10½—174 at 9½—766 at 10½—109 at 10—30 at 9¾—10 at 11¼—14 at 9½—2830 at —; 20 at —; 100 at 10—46
