Official State and City Paper, PRINTED BY J. BAYON. WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1836

FOR PRESIDENT M. VAN BUREN. FOR VICE PRESIDENT RICHARD M. JOHNSON.

A meeting is respectfully called at Hewlett's Exchange this evening at 8 o'clock precisely, for the relief of those who have suffered in the Semin olewar and have returned to this city.

Our Texian friends must bear with us, while re Our Texian friends must bear with us, while remonstrating with them on the impropriety of seasiling American ships, and committing depredations on American commerce. We are sincers in advocating their struggles for independence as a nation, and in wishing them speedy and definite success: but we must deprecate any spoliation on American trade. The Texians have a right to equip and commission vessels: so has every company or individual—yet that cannot give them the right of searching and capturing vessels on he high seas. Equally might the insurance commandation. ment of that place has acted towards the merchant and insurance companies of New Orleans: would this meliorate the condition of the Texians? Why therefore will they seek to make enemies of those who might have been friends?

Merchants care little for the cause of belligerence and their property should be sacred in the present stance, at least from the Texions,—who should rather protect the trade of this country, than wantonly assai t, when they receive, require and expect favors from merchants and other citizens here.

The war in Florida has terminated for the season.—
General Scott has returned to Fort Drane with the regulers of the U S army, to remain there encamped during the summer; and has discharged the volunteers from the different states.

Apropos—why do not our citizens confer some marks of public favor on the Louistana volunteers. The officers and leading men deserve a public dinner; and many of the others merit a public subscription.

The establishment of one or more lines of packet hence to Havre and one or more to Liverpool, must prove of immense benefit to New Orleans; and indeed o all the southern states in general : particularly al connected with the valley of the Mississippi. The evils experienced by the absence of such line must be known to many of our citizens; and felt by many of our merchants. From want of regular ships many of our merenaus. From wan it regular sub-sailing punctually, our exporting merchants are neces-surily subjected to great delays, vexations and expon-ces: all it haphazard with them; and they are greatly at the mercy or caprice of ship owners and masters. From the same uncertainty, all those in the Mexican pelled to go to New York for the packets there on their voyage to Europe; yet were regular packets here established for European ports, not only would all those in the valley of the Mississippi prefer taking passage from New Orleans to Europe rather than from New York—but persons from all countries in or around the gulf of Mexico.

Our exporting merchants would thus be enabled to take early advantage of the European markets, on the sessiest terms of freightage and certainty of despatch:

so as to save probably 10 per cent on their present an-nual charges; and gain 30 on their commodities ex-ported—being thus in their favor about 30 per cent per greater importation of goods for domestic consumption.

By her lines of regular packets to various foreign ports, New York has been enabled to cantrol the domestic trade of the United States: for she has been nabled to import the greatest quantity and best quahas become the first commercial city in England. New York followed suit, and has become the first in Ameends, with a like degree of energy and canability.

New York was not contented with importing goods her merchants resolved to make their city merely is in ont. Their olan of sending out agents or factors to Next day at 4 p m, the attack of the Texian army commenced simultaneously by a preconcerted signal from their general, who had disposed them previously in proper places without the view or cognizance of the enemy. Houston sounded aloud the wood CHARGE; and every Texian promptly responded by shouting ALAMO! ALAMO! In voices that resembled the Indian warwhoop; and struck the terror of vengance into the souls of the butchering enemy. The biedthe Indian warwhoop; and struck the terror of ven-geance into the souls of the butchering enemy. The Texisns opened with the canons, which had been pre-sented by them by the ladies of Nashville; and with their grape shot did great execution. The brass how-itser of the enemy was silenced after the first fire; and all Moxican gunners picked out by the Texian rifles. Humanity and exhaustion alone terminated the deeds of death that followed: for the Mexicans were terrifi-dinto insertion; they laid deep their arms were biled into inaction; they laid down their arms, were kil-led, taken prisoners and fied. But the Texians being on the alert, caught him next morning disguised in common clothes. Two of them seized him without knowing him. He instantly took out 200 doubloons from his belt, which he offered them to permit his flight; but without avail. He then offered also a costly diamond brooch—the two Toxians instead of heing tempted supersected him to he an 'hidalpot'. of being tempted, suspected him to be an 'hidalgo;' and immediately brought him into Houston's tent. Goliad, March 25, 1836, Immediately after leaving Mattemoras I began to witness disorders of considerable magnitude committed by M—— and his soldiers, and a capt from Guanajano named Dr R ——; and becoming sometically degusted I obtained nermission to proceed in advance of mar body and incorporate myself with general Urrea's Division. I did so, and joined the latter in San Patricio. Before I reached Agus Dulce the dead bodies of foreigners stready mangled by wild besset, appeared by the way; and in San Patricio I saw the graves of the fallen, both of Americans and Mexicans. On marching to the ruins of the Mission del Rafugio we found the enemy in possession of the Charch. We commessed the assault at six in the morning and the action continued till midnight, when they field. They fought with an enthusastic valour equal to that of our own men. Several of our troops were shot within 4 paces of the wall, the enemy being invincible, and their station only known from the voluntinous flashes which issued from the building. Our loss that day, in killed and wounded, amounted to 40; and of the enemy 25 out of 30 who fell into our hands, as also some others whom we found in the church But what an awful secret did the fields present when these prisoners were executed and beil dead in heaps; and hat spectator could view it without horror? They were all young, the older not more than 30; and of fine florid complexions.—When these unfortunate youths were brought to the class.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY—Radical cure of the Syphilis, is the space of six days. The last egyptian expeditions, not only opened a new outlet for our commence in the interior of Africe, but they made us acquinted with Balgam of Baby. This vegetable balsam is in great exteem and veneration among the savage inhabitants of the country which produces it. Some Europeans, at the service of the Pacha, having penetrated to Sommar, distributed some of that calebrated remody on their return to Caira, its effects were so truly weaterful and the cures so raid that it ston gained an immense reputation. At a late period, the Doctors Barpher and Paliran undertook to reach Sammar. There, they get acquainted with Baby, African physician, who did not conceal from the many particulars relative to the Balgam, which has since received his name among all foreigners. The good and powerful rate of this remedy fulfilled all expectations it even were beyondrall what was reported of them. It was ascertained to be a vegetable axiract, flwith a very energetic action, distroying in the most aggravated cases and in very few days, the principles of the veneral diseases, and with ceasing of all pains. This remedy enables every man to cure himself with the greatest secrecy and despatch, without leaving his business or experiencing the least inconvenience.
