

could guess by a piece of it which remained, and suppose that viii or ix Grains fell to a share.

Olaus Borrichius, Act. Med. Barthol. Vol. 4. Obs. 80. gives a Chymical and Microscopical examen of those Flies; he saith, their parts separated by Chymistry do not affect the Skin; that the points of their Particles wound it; and that through those little wounds the Volatile Salt insinuates; he attempts also to shew how they cause a Dysuria, and offend the Bladder, when applied to a part so remote as the Back or Neck. See more from the same hand, in the 5th Vol. Obs. 89.

L O N D O N, Printed for S. Smith and B. Walford at the Princes Arms in St Pauls Church-yard. 1702.

The following Books are now in the Press at Paris.

Bibliotheca Regia, sive Catalogus librorum Bibliothecæ Regiæ, in fol. 6 vol. sub pressu.

Histoire generale des Arts & des Manufactures, avec de grandes Planches, sous la presse.

Diarium & Monumenta Italica per Dom. Bernard. deMontfaucon, ordinis Sui Benedicti Congregationis S. Mauri, in 40. 6 vol. cum figuris.