

which I always carry with me ; and left that should affect them, sent it out to the End of the Bowsprit ; but I did not perceive that the new touching was of any Service; for they all continued traversing very swiftly, for about an Hour after I came on the Deck, and then on a sudden every one of them stood as well as usual. During the whole Time, the Ship had very little Motion; and I had an Azimuth Compass, and four or five others.
