THEATRE D'ORLEANS.

L'ADMINISTRATION vient, pour la première fois, de donner un ballet de M. BOOTH, célèbre tragédien anglais, qui a tant agréablement diverti le public, depuis quelques mois, par la manière dont il remplit les rôles de Hamlet, Macbeth, Richard, Othello, Shylock, Jaffier, etc. etc. Ce ballet, intitulé [illegible] ou le Siège de Troie, a été donné pour la première fois à Londres, le 26 Décembre dernier, et a eu un succès prodigieux. Il sera donné

INSTITUT HELVETIQUE.

AFIN de donner plus de latitude à son plan d'éducation, Mr. De Fernex vient de s'associer Monsieur Wheelwright du Massachusetts, jeune homme aussi recommandable par ses talens que par ses qualités personnelles. Licencié au collège Brunswick, Mr. W. se chargera de toute la partie Anglaise de l'instruction. L'institut de Mr. de Fernex, offrira ainsi aux jeunes gens le double avantage de préparer les fins à être admis dans les collèges des Etats-Unis, et de fournir à ceux qui ne veulent pas un cours complet d'éducation. Toutes les différentes branches d'enseignement seront successivement traitées dans l'ordre de leur importance et avec le degré d'attention qu'elles exigent.

Des règles douces, mais sévèrement observées, donneront à cet Institut le caractère d'une Ecole de bonne compagnie. La mémoire y sera toujours aidée par l'intelligence. Tout ce qu'on étudiera sera expliqué, et la raison des principes naturels aux principes raisonnés sera soigneusement appréciée. En outre, les jeunes gens y apprendront à devenir des hommes instruits, raisonnables et modestes. Le prospectus est ouvert au domicile de Mr. [illegible] No. 116. 17 janv.

A suit of some interest was [illegible] Saturday in Washington [illegible] Bench. It was that of [illegible]TT, the [illegible] of the Bank of the Metropolis, against Mr. Force, proprietor of the National Intelligencer. The [illegible] arose from an article in the infamous [illegible] circulated during the last [illegible] election against Mr. Adams [illegible], on account of a note [illegible]ham, for the rent of a house occupied by females employed by Mrs. A[illegible] Washington.

The National Journal spoke of the [illegible] of the whole transaction, in the course of which Mr. K[illegible]'s conduct was exhibited in no enviable light. For his publication, the suit in question was instituted, and after repeated delays, was brought to issue on Saturday. The whole day was occupied in the investigation, and the Court adjourned at midnight, (having gone through all the testimony, and heard the greater part of the pleadings) to meet again on Monday, when the case would be submitted to the jury.

A correspondent who attended the trial expresses his entire assurance that the verdict will be for Mr. Force.—New York American.

Bills of Exchange. A law of this State provides, says the N. York Morning Courier, that whenever any Bill of Exchange is drawn or negotiated within this State, that shall be returned unpaid, and duly protested, the person to whom the same is made payable shall be entitled to recover from the drawer & endorser the damages hereinafter specified over the principal sum on the face of the Bill, together with lawful interest on the aggregate amount, and damages from the time at which notice of such protest shall have been given, and payment demanded; that is to say, if the Bill shall have been drawn upon any person in New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, or District of Columbia 5 per cent. If on North Carolina, South Carolina, or Georgia 7 1-2 per cent. If on any other State or place, within this continent, North of the Equator, (comprehending the West Indies, and places elsewhere in the Western Atlantic Ocean,) 10 per cent

Recovery from Suspended Animation.—A case is reported in the Bulletin Univ. by a French physician, M. Baurgeois, shewing the importance of never abandoning all hope of success in restoring animation. A person, who had been twenty minutes under water, was treated in the usual way for the space of an hour without success, when a ligature being applied to the arm, above a vein that had been previously opened, ten ounces of blood were withdrawn, after which the circulation and respiration gradually returned, though accompanied by the most dreadful convulsions. A second, and a third bleeding was had recourse to, which brought about a favourable sleep, and ultimate recovery on the ensuing day. The [illegible] will feel much obligated to M.

RUSSIA

French papers of the 24th inform us that the Emperor of Russia had gone on to Riga. [illegible] before it in a more [illegible] manner. But they ascribe this suddenness to the arrival of a courier, which had invited him [illegible] tantly to St. Petersburg. [illegible]thing of great importance must have occured to recall so unexpectedly the Russian Autocrat to his capital—evident; but nothing had [illegible] intimate what it was.—Had it been an account of the battle [illegible] would no doubt have been published with still more ostentation on the capture of Erivan, instead of being made a mystery.

Booth for his perseverance [illegible] so interesting a branch of his profession.—London Weekly Review.

In the French provincial paper we have the following statement of the expenses per head of different nations:

	France
In [illegible]	[illegible] per an.
Austria	11
Naples	15
Prussia	19
Bavaria	[illegible]
United States	[illegible]
France	[illegible]
Belgium	23
England	60

Shall we, therefore, prefer the Government of Russia? asks the French writer. No! for if cheapness were the test, Ferdinand is still cheaper; and if we wish to go farther we should drink "Long life to Sultan Mahmoud!"

From the Pittsburg (Penn.) Gazette.

Time has changed indeed!—In 1824, Magnus M. Murray, and sixteen other persons in Pittsburg, voted the Adams ticket, and in 1828, five hundred and thirty-seven persons voted the Adams ticket, and Magnus M. Murray is elected Mayor.

A letter was lately received at the Wilmington and Brandy wine (Del.) Bank, post marked Philadelphia, enclosing three hundred dollars, with the anonymous note inscribing:

"This money belongs to the Bank of Wilmington and Brandywine—the principal and interest in full."

Honest dealing.—Clean and round dealing is the honour of man's nature, and mixture of falsehood is like allay in coin of gold and silver, which may make the metal work the better, but embaseth it; for these windings and crooked courses are the goings of the serpent, which goeth basely upon the belly, and not upon the feet.—Bacon.

The Statesman says, "the democracy of New Hampshire are moving in an unbroken phalanx in support of republican principle, and democratic men." The editor speaks more truth in this than he is aware of. And yet it is not true, as he applies and would interpret it. The democratic republican of that patriotic state are firmly united—they rescued power in 1815, the precincts of such men as the venerable Parker, and Bartlett, of Morrill and Bell. They have too much good sense not to perceive how ridiculous is the pretension of Isaac Hill, that these distinguished men with thousands of others, have become recreant to the republican faith, while he alone has adhered to it. They say, and with great justice, it is far more probable, that one man should have changed, than that twenty or an hundred should have renounced their political decre. They are not imposed upon by the absurd cry, "these men, Bell, Barnet and Whipple, have sold the republicans to the federalists." They can see that ultra federlists, in every state are acting in concert with the partizans of General Jackson. They are resolved to [illegible] the possession of power by such hands; and they will [illegible] renounce all minor distinctions, and labor in concert with all, who they believe earnestly and in good faith desire the safety of our [illegible] and the welfare of our [illegible]—Boston Patreot.

A correspondent of the New-York Evening Post says that General [illegible] a member from Tennessee, gave a toast at the Jackson dinner [illegible] in honor [illegible] Mr. [illegible] which [illegible] purport of [illegible] If so, he deserves to be kicked out.—U. S. Gazette.

Irish Emigration.—A Dublin paper, amongst other subjects, contains the following observations, with regard to the report of a Parliamentary Commission, which in 1909 pursued its inquiries in Ireland. "There is a double system of location which we would consider preferable to all schemes of foreign colonization, if even the latter could be effected without any pecuniary sacrifice—we mean that which has for its object the forming of our own wastes into profitable land; and the data which our opinions on this subject are grounded are as follows:—Eighteen years ago a commission, which cost upwards of [illegible],000, was appointed to investigate the nature and extent of the [illegible] in Ireland. This commission [illegible] sued its [illegible] for four or five [illegible] and as a [illegible] result of its [illegible] has been [illegible]—that more [illegible] a fourth [illegible] land, or three millions and a half [illegible] acres are waste and unprofitable;—that nearly the whole of these acres are capable of being rendered sources of food and occupation [illegible] that there is no bog-land in the [illegible] that presents [illegible] facilities [illegible] claim's proximity [illegible] the best manure being at hand, and six-sevenths of it being one continuous tract [illegible] of [illegible] communicating with the [illegible] and placed under [illegible] most [illegible] [illegible] of its produce [illegible] and can be obtained [illegible] purchase [illegible] [illegible]—and finally [illegible] (Nimmo's [illegible] the county [illegible] land [illegible] [illegible] exclusive [illegible] [illegible]
