C. G. Whitaker, Proprietor.

Terms of this Sheet.

DAILY PAPER, (one year in advance), $12
COUNTRY PAPER, (one month, one year in advance), 7 00

No mail subscription received unless give the name and post-office, in writing, before he can be entered to receive them.

The New Orleans Bee.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE ..... NEW ORLEANS, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 30, 1852.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

One square of 8 lines, first insertion, $1 50
Each subsequent insertion, 1 00
Liberal deductions to yearly advertisers.
Advertisements to be paid for in advance.
Advertisements inserted at intervals, $1 50 per square each insertion.
☞ The publication of Illegal Advertisements is prohibited, and the Proprietor will not be responsible for errors in Notices, Proposals, or other Advertisements.

THE DAILY BEE.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE STATE, GENERAL COUNCIL, FIRST MUNICIPALITY COUNCIL, AND BOARD OF LIQUIDATORS.

Friday Morning, Jan. 30, 1852.

The Northern Mail failed yesterday through Charleston. Our two back mails are thus brought in.

☞ We send a bill to the Hon. Louis Sere for his interesting statistic documents.

☞ For legislative matter see next page.

CONSOLIDATION.—MR BOBBY'S BILL.

We published yesterday Mr Rost's bill for the repeal of the three Municipalities of New Orleans, and the re-incorporation and accompanied it with a careful analysis of its various provisions. We invite attention to the next issue of the Bee, to the same subject, and especially to the general and cogent view of the aggregate, as a common body, of the recently framed document. A contemporary has fairly and not very lucid styled it "a bill to destroy New Orleans." We will presently consider the question, in which it is now aware that what is called Mr Rost's bill is the one which it is proposed finally to enact, in place of other bills, of which it is the principle to destroy New Orleans. We mean the several Municipalities and ruin the City Charter. Of the foundation for those wanton and unfounded allegations we know nothing. We take the bill of Mr. Rost as we find it, as perfect and full. It was transmitted to us with due courtesy by the Legislature of this city, and with a request by its author for our opinion upon it, as by the other papers, and to act as we thought proper. This does not look like a desire to deceive or to attempt to deceive anybody, but the citizens of New Orleans. We have no fear for the intelligence of the entire community. Mr Rost is the prosecutor of this bill — we, the defenders, that will be the exception to a universal assertion of the axiom of exception proves the rule. Except this, it would be difficult to conceive a measure more just and wise, and we trust we may be permitted, at least will be adopted. Our views on Consolidation have been long known to the public. We go heart and soul for that measure, with Lafayette, Jefferson, Rost and Bobby, without it, impracticable. We have no, whatever, of making the nomination of [illegible] one of the success of the [illegible] will in itself constitute no security, and for ourself, the election of the former formerly suspended to the gallbest at Monticello, will, no doubt, feel either talent struck or moved with [illegible] thereby, we shall explain, another victim of [illegible] or gold. They will be mistaken. I have always been perfectly happy. I feel that with old age will come independence, and it is to be hoped that with it, the means of [illegible] that I have determined to put an end to my life. This may appear strange, but I am of opinion that, when you peruse the [illegible] fortably for more than 30, that ought to have had enough of life. I was not an inhabitant of Paris. I therefore could not be responsible to [illegible] who I am. Besides I have taken every precaution for insuring this. [illegible] the last [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]