Presidential Lament Sways Lowland Heart of the People.

The Loyalists in the Lowland states have been approached by the Loyalist party through the state's most approachable statesmen in an effort to obtain a fair share of the state's political power. This is the first time in the state's history that such a representation has been made to the Lowland states. The state's representatives have been instructed to secure a fair share of the state's political power for the Loyalist party, and to secure a fair share of the state's political power for the Loyalist party, and to secure a fair share of the state's political power for the Loyalist party.
